Pennsylvania Power

Ron Burke trainees won both eliminations for the inaugural $561,500 Pennsylvania Classic at Pocono, while Dan Patch winner Pure Country had her career undefeated streak snapped in one of three eliminations for the $318,300 Miss Pennsylvania.

JK Will Power (1:51.1) and Check Six (1:50.4) both posted new lifetime marks Saturday (April 30) at The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono while winning the two $25,000 elimination races for next Saturday's inaugural $561,500 Pennsylvania Classic for PA-sired three-year-old colts and geldings.

JK Will Power (Yannick Gingras) edged The Catamount Kid (Jody Jamieson) by a neck in the first Pennsylvania Classic elimination, won by trainer Ron Burke.

The winning duo also contributed to give trainer Ron Burke a familiar position of domination, as he sent out both winners, a second-place finisher, and a third-place finisher from four starters. The Classic Championship is to be held during the evening portion of the Kentucky Derby Day doubleheader next Saturday at the mountain oval.

The Burke Stable had the two favorites in the first Classic elim in JK Will Power (1/2) and Manhattan Beach (9/5), and they finished 1-3 respectively, split by Canadian invader The Catamount Kid. JK Will Power, off a strong 2016 bow at Philly, went by his stablemate early, briefly gave up the lead to the parked The Catamount Kid at the :26.4 quarter, but was quickly in the move to reclaim the front. Explained driver Yannick Gingras, "I wasn't sure, with my driving the favorite, that Jody (Jamieson) and his horse were the ones to sit behind from the program, but as it turned out I could have gone either way."

JK Will Power got a real rest during panel and hit the half in :56.2, continued on with a tailwind to put up a 1:23.3 three-quarter split then sprinted home in :27.3 – and needed all of that dash through the lane as The Catamount Kid tried hard to emulate the three “pocket rocket” winners of the Miss Pennsylvania elims. His Pocono Pike late effort, at 11/1, came up a neck shy, with Manhattan Beach holding his third spot ahead of Western Dynasty. Burke conditions the victorious Somebeachsomewhere—What’s New Pussycat colt for the 3 Brothers Stable.

In the other elim, Check Six and Big Top Hanover were coupled in the betting as the 3/5 favorite, and they finished a nose apart on the money, just ahead of Lyons Snyder. These three had been in the thick of the action throughout – Lyons Snyder claimed the front, yielded to Easy Lover Hanover before the :26.3 opener, then was quarter-mover number one to the lead in front of the stands, yielding to quarter-mover number two Big Top Hanover, who took the field to the half in :55.

Check Six and driver Yannick Gingras, completing the Classic elim sweep along with Burke, came up first-over and made a bold backstretch brush to clear his stablemate by the 1:22.1 three-quarters, then stayed game late as Big Top Hanover came outside from the pocket for the drive and lost by the smallest possible amount, with Lyons Shadow only a half-length off the win; Duke Of Delray was fourth, and from this division JJ Flynn had the faster clocking of the two fifth-place finishers and thus was the last horse advancing to the final.

Somebeachsomewhere picked up his fourth sire credit in the five stakes elims, two at each sex, with the victory of Check Six, who is out of Southwind Vanna and owned by Burke Racing Stable LLC, Weaver Brussemi LLC, William Switala and James Martin.

Mound is in the interesting position of having two horses in the final with different trainers: Manhattan Beach (Burke) and Lyons Snyder (Mark Silva).

Earlier, three $20,000 eliminations for next Saturday's inaugural $313,800 Miss Pennsylvania Pace for PA-sired three-year-old pacing fillies were held, with the pocket the racing position to be in. All three winners rallied from the two-hole – one outside, the other two inside up the famed "Pocono Pike."

In the first elimination, Pure Country, undefeated in 10 starts at two and national divisional champion, fell from the ranks of the unbeaten, as in a :54.3 sprint home she couldn't go enough in her seasonal bow. She had to settle for third, and a position in the Miss Pennsylvania, behind the victorious Darlinonthebeach, a 1:50.4 winner, and Pocono Pike-shooting second-place finisher Newborn Sassy.

Driver David Miller sent the Somebeachsomewhere–Darlin's Delight filly Darlinonthebeach directly to the front, ceding the lead at the :26.3 quarter to the 50-cent favorite Pure Country, with Newport Sassy sitting third. Pure Country got a breather into the second quarter headwind and hit the half in 56.1, picking up the tempo to reach the three-quarter pole in 1:23.3.

Turning for home, Miller pulled Darlinonthebeach (second choice at 2-1) outside and sailed right on by, with Miller sitting chilly in the bike. Newport Sassy came up the Pike to grab second, a length behind the winner and a neck ahead of Pure Country. Nancy Johansson had the winning filly ready for a 1:51.3 seasonal bow victory here, and now the fast miss is two-for-two in 2016 and possessor of a new speed badge for owner/breeder White Birch Farm.

"She was really strong all through the mile," Miller noted after the race. When reminded that a win in the Miss Pennsylvania would put Miller in the $200 Million Club in driving earnings, joining John Campbell and Ron Pierce, Miller gave the thumbs up and said, "Something to aim for!"

The two-hole was again the place to be in the second Miss Pennsylvania elimination, as the Well Said–Silksndiamonds filly I Said Diamonds, parked to the :26.1 quarter for the top then yielded to sit behind Sail To The Beach through :54.2 and 1:22.3 middle splits. I Said Diamonds used the inside route to get the decision in a personal best of 1:51. I Said Please, uncovered from late backstretch, stayed game for second, a length back and completing the "I Said" Exacta, with Sail To The Beach hanging in for third, another half-length behind the victorious 3/5 favorite.

Matt Kakaley handled the sulky duties for Little Bapa LLC and trainer Matias Ruiz, who got the filly to train in the offseason and enjoyed victory with her at first asking. "She is by far the best horse I have ever trained," said Ruiz after the race with a smile. "She was good last year, and she's a little bigger, a little stronger this year."

Driver Scott Zeron watched the first two elims and settled on a winning strategy in the third elim, sailing up the Pocono Pike to an easy two-and-a-quarter length triumph in 1:51.3

with the Somebeachsomewhere–Preppy Party Girl filly Call Me Queen Be, an even-money choice in her first start of the year. Zeron and the "Queen" parked main rival Ivy League to a :26.1 opener, and even when the pacesetter got a breather to the 56 half, Zeron was not worried: "This filly has great speed, and can do anything on the racetrack," he said after the race.

And sure enough, after a 1:23.3 three-quarter, Call Me Queen Be waited for the inside lane to open, then darted through with lightning quickness to go by with ease; Save The Treasure was along from third-inside position to get second, one-and-a-half lengths ahead of Ivy League, who held for third. Ross Croghan trains the winner, who also took a new mark, for the Let It Ride Stables Inc. and Dana Parham.

These top three fillies for each division will return for the Miss Pennsylvania Championship during the evening card of a Kentucky Derby doubleheader next Saturday at The Downs. David Miller has the only driving decision to make, as he guided Darlinonthebeach and Ivy League; Ivy League's trainer Jimmy Takter, who also handles Pure Country, was the only conditioner to land two in the rich event.

Stronach Group to take over Rosecroft Raceway

by Bill Finley

The Stronach Group, best known for its ownership of some of the top thoroughbred tracks in the U.S., is in the process of purchasing Rosecroft Raceway and will take over operation at the conclusion of the current harness meet.

Penn National Gaming currently owns the track. The current meet ends June 11.

The Fort Washington, MD track will be operated by the team at the Stronach-owned Maryland Jockey Club tracks, Pimlico and Laurel. MJC general manager Sal Sinatra said the purchase of Rosecroft was made because it would give the Stronach Group wider control of the Maryland OTB network.

"All tracks control the OTBs within a 35-mile radius of where they are located," Sinatra said. "This gives us control of OTBs in the Washington, D.C. area and also the chance to get an OTB into the new MGM casino, which opens in the fall."

Sinatra said the Stronach Group paid $11 million for Rosecroft. Penn National, which re-opened the track in 2011, after it had shut down the year before, purchased Rosecroft for $10.25 million. The transfer from Penn National to Stronach is likely to be a positive for the track as the Stronach company is widely viewed as a racing operator that believes in racing and is willing to invest in it. Penn National's reputation is that of a casino-centric company that doesn't particularly like horse racing.

"We're not going to try to blow up anything, but we'll fix it up a bit," Sinatra said. "They average about $17,000, $19,000 a day in handle with no effort. I think I can get it up to $25,000 a day."

Rosecroft opened in 1949 and has had several owners in its history. When Penn National purchased the track it made no secret of the fact it was motivated primarily by the desire to open a casino there. When it was passed over for a casino license, its interest in operating a racetrack only, waned.

The Stronach Group owns Gulfstream Park, Santa Anita, Golden Gate Fields, Portland Meadows and the two Maryland thoroughbred tracks. This is its first foray into harness racing, but the company's predecessor, Magna Entertainment, leased The Meadows and ran it from 2001 to 2006 and owned Flamboro Downs in Hamilton, ON from 2002 to 2005.

Better Together

Ontario's Standardbred Alliance made great strides in its second year – including a nearly 10 per cent increase in all-sources wagering – indicating working together may just be key to harness racing's survival.

by Dave Briggs

Jeff Gural said the industry could learn a lot from Ontario's Standardbred Alliance.

New Image Media

Ontario racing is on the rise thanks, in part, to the early success of the Standardbred Alliance

Gural, the owner of the Meadowlands, Vernon and Tioga Downs, has long preached the need for tracks to work together on a major marketing plan and better coordinate schedules to combat the horse shortage problem.

"I think Ontario has a major advantage over the tracks in the U.S. because Ontario tracks do work together," Gural said of the Alliance, a consortium of eight Ontario racetracks – Mohawk and Woodbine at the premier level; Flamboro, Georgian Grand River and Western Fair at the middle signature level and Clinton and Hanover at the grassroots level. The Alliance was created in April of 2014 to work together to coordinate schedules, promote wagering and stakes opportunities for all and provide a more consistent customer experience across the group.

Wagering numbers seem to indicate that working together has distinct benefits over the old system where the province's tracks operated in fiefdoms and competed against each other for customers, horses and wagering dollars.

In its second full year of existence, the Alliance saw all-sources wagering increase 9.63 per cent from just over $394 million in its first year to more than $432 million through March 31, 2016.

Dr. Ted Clarke, general manager of Grand River Raceway in Elora, ON, said, "we have succeeded in reversing the trend in wager, which is, for sure, a first step and a necessary first step."

Clarke said the elimination of rancor between racetracks is key to that wagering growth.

The Alliance is managed by the Woodbine Entertainment Group (WEG), which helps coordinate schedules, promote the Alliance racing product in its vast simulcast network and even manages smaller tracks' stakes programs, which has also increased exposure for those stakes.

"The wager last year on Industry Day when we ran the two stakes that we run was the highest it has been anytime since we came to Elora. So, the promotion, awareness and delivery all have something to say about that," said Clarke, referring to Grand River's stakes-rich card featuring the Battle of Waterloo and Battle of the Belles races.

Clarke said the smaller tracks in the Alliance have benefited from WEG's exposure on TVG. Often, early races at Grand River and The Raceway at The Western Fair District appear on TVG prior to the start of a card at Mohawk or Woodbine.

"We start a bit earlier than Mohawk and because TVG is going to carry Mohawk, they take us for the first two races because they can do it without having to change their supplier network chain. We would never gain that exposure without the Alliance," Clarke said.

Jamie Martin, chair of the Alliance, said the export market has flourished for the Standardbred Alliance.

"We have also seen the coordinated racing model, competitive racing and increased distribution into markets outside of Ontario contributing nicely to our wagering handle and fan interest metrics," Martin said.

Home Market Area (HMA) wagering, which includes live and simulcast betting at the Alliance tracks, WEG's on-track, HPIbet.com and Champions Off-Track operations, was some $836 million in 2015-16. That is an increase of about $28 million over the $808 million bet in 2014-15.

"We are pleased to see our customer-focused model working for the Standardbred Alliance," Martin said. "The Champions Off-Track brand has expanded its footprint to all corners of the province and betting on horse racing is available and convenient to many Ontarians within their neighborhoods. This coordinated effort proves the key factions within the horse racing industry can work together to offer an outstanding product for our current fan base and potential new long term customers.”

Clarke said challenges still abound both in terms of horse supply and purse levels at the middle (signature) and lower (grassroots) tiers of racing in the province.

“I don’t think there’s anybody in the horse business in Ontario that doesn’t know that there isn’t enough purse money at a good number of racetracks. The cloud that hangs over racing is that,” Clarke said. “We need to pick up the slack and find purse money so people can participate.”

As for horse supply, the number of mares bred in Ontario dropped precipitously from some 2,897 to 1,817 (37 per cent) between 2012 and 2013, the year the province announced the cancellation of the Slots at Racetracks Program (SARP). The number went down to 1,724 in 2014, which is contributing to the horse supply problem.

Fortunately, the breeding industry in the province seems to have rebounded thanks, in part, to new breeders awards and an annual $100 million funding agreement from the province that runs through 2021.

The number of mares bred in Ontario increased 22 per cent in 2015 to 2,111 and word is the number is expected to be up marginally in 2016, as well.

“I don’t know that we can say that we have solved the problem of horse supply,” Clarke said. “But we certainly have more mares bred last year.

“The increase in foals born in Ontario in the face of a negative response everywhere else is, I think, something worth commenting on as a point of success.”

Martin said, “going forward it may be difficult to keep field size up. We intend to work with government, Ontario’s horsepeople and other industry influencers to ensure we are able to avoid detracting from the great strides we have made to deliver an outstanding customer experience.”

For the time being, Ontario’s Standardbred Alliance is proving working together has a number of benefits.

Top western Canadian horseman Bill Davis dead at 54

Standardbred Canada reported Saturday that longtime horseman Bill Davis of Langley, BC has died at the age of 54. The cause of death was not reported prior to press time.

Davis was a two-time O'Brien Award winner, receiving the O'Brien Award of Horsemanship in 2003 as the inaugural recipient and again in 2014.

Perennially a top trainer and driver in British Columbia, Davis won 5,477 races and nearly $20 million as a driver. He had 3,466 wins and earnings of more than $13 million as a trainer. Fifteen times since trainer statistics were first kept in 1991 Davis posted a UTRS of more than .400, including 11 straight years from 1998 through 2008.

Davis is the father of Ontario-based driver Billy Davis, Jr., who has more than 2,000 wins and $16.5 million to his credit.

More information will be reported when made available.

State Treasurer fourth in '16 debut

State Treasurer, Canada's 2015 Horse of the Year, finished fourth in his 2016 debut Saturday (April 30) in the $34,000 preferred handicap at Mohawk Racetrack dominated by Bill Robinson trainee Nickel Bag.

Trevor Henry drove Nickel Bag to a four-and-three-quarter length victory over Mohawk Warrior and The Rev in a career best 1:49.

State Treasurer, trained by Dr. Ian Moore and driven by Chris Christoforou, started from the nine-hole in the field of nine and finished five lengths back. The seven-year-old son of Real Desire—Ideal Treasure has earned $1.8 million on the track for Sally and Allan MacDonald of Prince Edward Island and their nephew Paul MacDonald of Toronto.

In 2015, State Treasurer won nine of 19 starts and $865,807 and was named the Older Pacer of the Year in both Canada and the United States.

8th straight for Freaky Feet Pete

On a chilly night in Indiana, odds-on favorites were hot at Hoosier Park Racing & Casino on Saturday (April 30) as both of the heavy favorites delivered in the $21,000 featured trot and pace. Each of the featured events saw familiar faces in the winner's circle as both races produced repeat winners from the previous week.

Freaky Feet Pete, the 2015 Breeders Crown Champion for three-year-old pacing colts, turned in another dominant performance to score his second consecutive Hoosier Park victory in the $21,000 invitational pace and his eighth straight pari-mutuel win going back to Oct. 3, 2015. With regular driver Trace Tetrack at the lines, Freaky Feet Pete stopped the timer in 1:50.2 over a sloppy rated track.

Using the same front-running tactics as the previous week, Freaky Feet Pete dictated first half fractions of :27.1 :55.2 while Fearless Diablo and LeWayne Miller benefitted from a pocket trip. With the heavy betting favorite calling the shots on the front, the rest of the field remained in single file line down the backside.

Bluehourpower and Ricky Macomber Jr. were the first to commit to the outer flow but Freaky Feet Pete began to inch away from the field with every stride. With a three-quarter clocking in 1:23, Freaky Feet Pete began to put his talent on display as the rest of the field struggled to stay within striking distance.

Freaky Feet Pete cruised to the wire under a hand drive from Tetrack finishing six-and-a-half lengths in front of Fearless Diablo. SF Donttelsonme and Joey Casagrande used a late closing kick to round out the trifecta.

With the win, Freaky Feet Pete notched the second win of his four-year-old campaign and 26th career victory from 29 lifetime outings. The homebred son of Rockin Image—Skyway Lori has now earned $1,136,724 lifetime for his owners Mary Jo Rheinheimer and Marty Rheinheimer.

In much the same fashion on the trotting side of things, Hannelore Hanover and Ricky Macomber Jr. extended their winning streak as they easily handled an abbreviated field of six in the $21,000 invitational trot in 1:52.4 over a track rated good. Hannelore Hanover was unhurried from the gate and settled along the rail in third behind Churita and Trace Tetrack who reached the first quarter mark in :28. Macomber Jr. gave Hannelore Hanover the green light down the backside and the Ron Burke trainee easily reached the front to dictate middle fractions of :57 and 1:24.4.

As the field turned for home, Hannelore Hanover was two lengths in front of her next closest competitor and used a :28 final panel to coast home three lengths to the good. Churita maintained her position to finish second while Rever Ever rallied nicely to finish third. As the heavy betting favorite, Hannelore Hanover returned $3.20 at the betting window.

The four-year-old daughter of Swan For All—High Sobriety notched her fourth consecutive victory and remains undefeated in four starts in 2016. Owned by Burke Racing Stable, Weaver Brusceini, and F. Baldachino, Hannelore Hanover has now amassed $345,324 lifetime.

Triple Crown winner No Pan Intended has died

Triple Crown winner, No Pan Intended, died Friday (April 29) after a freak accident at Oakwood Stud in Ireland.

He was 16.

Derek Delaney reported the son of Pacific Fella—Classic Wish had exercised earlier in the day as he always does and then when being led to the breeding shed, No Pan Intended had reared up, flipped over backwards and landed on his head and was dead.

“It was the same routine we did with him all the time,” Delaney said. “He is always feeling good, full of himself, so we exercise him in the paddock or hook him up to a jog cart and go a few miles to take some sting out of him before going to the breeding shed. It was just a freak accident, nothing more. We sent his body to the equine hospital for an autopsy.”

Bred by Winbak Farms of Maryland and purchased as a yearling by Robert Glazer of the Peter Pan Stables, No Pan Intended was trained by Ivan Sugg.

As a two-year-old he showed speed and ability, taking a record of 1:55 and earning $115,883 in 13 starts. At three, No Pan Intended crushed nearly every foe he faced.

No Pan Intended became only the 10th horse in history to win the pacing Triple Crown back in 2003. As a three-year-old, he won 17 of 21 starts with earnings of $1.46 million.

His Triple Crown victories came in the Cane Pace, Little Brown Jug and Messenger Pace. That year he also won the Breeders Crown, James B Dancer Memorial, Tattersalls Pace and the Art Rooney Pace, ending the season with a lifetime mark of 1:50.3. He was driven exclusively during his three-year-old season by David Miller.

As a stallion, No Pan Intended has had 551 registered foals with 424 of those foals racing and sporting combined earnings of more than $35,150,000.

He was voted the 2003 Harness Horse of the Year by the U.S. Harness Writers' Association.

No Pan Intended is a brother to two other world champion million dollar plus performers, Hall of Fame inductee Bettor's Delight ($2.5 million) and Roll With Joe ($1.8 million).

“We are just sick over this,” Delaney said. “He was set to be the best stallion in all of Ireland and the UK with a full book this season and then in June he was to fly to Australia and stand the season there.”

Gotmoneyinmypocket wins Hackett at Miami Valley

Gotmoneyinmypocket put money in owners Jerry Zosel and Kathy Ratcliff's pockets on Saturday night (April 30) at Miami Valley Raceway, capturing the $35,000 James K. Hackett Memorial championship in impressive fashion.

The three-year-old Ohio-sired son of Feelin Friskie set sail immediately for driver Kayne Kauffman, settling in briefly in fourth despite drawing an outside post position. Realizing the fractions were relatively soft, Kauffman moved Gotmoneyinmypocket to the outside shortly after the :28.2 opening quarter and was lapped on to the leader at the :58.2 halfway point.

Immediately after crossing over to the lead, a host of other Buckeye-breds mounted challenges that looked promising, but in the end the winner pulled away to a three-and-a-half length triumph in 1:53.1, including a final panel in :28 flat. Bill Dailey trains Gotmoneyinmypocket, who now sports an $88,600 bankroll in just a dozen lifetime starts.

Cufflink Hanover, Dominion Beach win Dexter Cup elims

Cufflink Hanover's driver and part-owner David Miller converted a pocket trip into a 1:57.3 victory in the first of two $16,000 Dexter Cup eliminations Saturday afternoon (April 30) at Freehold Raceway for next Saturday's $130,000 final.

Cufflink Hanover (Andover Hall—CR Savoie Faire) defeated heavily-favored Steed by one-and-a-quarter lengths in the field of six. Credevie was third. Cufflink Hanover is trained by Richard “Nifty” Norman for Miller and the Enzed Racing Stable of New Jersey.

In the second elimination, Dominion Beach and Marcus

Johansson defeated Sir Royson by a half-length in 1:58. Cloud Nine Hanover was six lengths back in third.

Dominion Beach, a son of Muscle Hill out of Windylane Hanover is trained by Johansson's wife, Nancy, for Courant AB of Stockholm, Sweden.

Callahan wins six at Big M

With many of the regulars racing at The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono, driver Corey Callahan took full advantage and won six races on the 12-race program Saturday (April 30) at the Meadowlands.

A win behind Mel Mara in the featured $17,500 conditioned pace were among Callahan's half-dozen.

Callahan's six pack came with Amped Up ($3.60 to win) in the second race, Backdraft Hanover ($3.20) in the fourth, Mel Mara ($3.80) in the seventh, Alexie Mattosie ($4) in the ninth, Calvin B ($13.20) in the 10th and Ourea Nourrir ($13.80) in the 11th.

SUPER JACKPOT: The 12th race 20 cent Jackpot Super High Five did not get hit again, upping the carryover for the next program to $204,233.16.

Total wagering on the card was $2,887,281.

Next week, the Meadowlands will alter its schedule. The track will go dark for live racing Friday and then race Saturday (May 7) at the usual 7:15 p.m. before a special Mother's Day program on Sunday, May 8, which has a special early post time of 12:40 p.m.

Cheaper fees for fractional groups in Canada

On Wednesday (April 27), Standardbred Canada's Board of Directors approved a fee change that will make it easier, and more cost effective, for new owners to become involved in harness racing through fractional stables and partnerships.

Effective immediately, new members, or returning members out for a full period of two or more years, who enter the industry in a stable with a minimum of eight people, will receive two years of full Standardbred Canada membership for $45 plus applicable taxes (to their birthday in 2018). The Stable registration fee remains the standard rate of $130.

New members involved in fractional stables will have the same privileges as all other paid members, plus they will receive a one-week free trial to Trackit.

"Management has worked in consultation with industry stakeholders and the Board to develop this program," said Linda Bedard, Standardbred Canada's Registrar and Manager of Member Services. "We recognize with large syndicate groups that new people may enter the business owning as little as one per cent of a horse. It is our goal to help transition these new owners into a full membership over a period of time."

For more details on the program, contact Standardbred Canada's member services department.

Buyer for Balmoral?

Loeb Winternitz, the Chicago, IL-based company in charge of the Balmoral and Maywood Park auctions, has posted a legal notice on their website (click here to go to that site) stating that they have received an offer to purchase Balmoral Park and have temporarily suspended the auction for the Crete, IL racetrack. The offer will be presented to the Bankruptcy Court on May 3.

The notice does not identify the potential buyer and notes that this offer doesn't have any effect on the Maywood Park auction.

The following is the legal notice posted on the Loeb Winternitz website:

The Debtors have advised us that, on April 27, they received an offer to purchase Balmoral Racing Clubs' real estate and all tangible personal property in Bulk. After consideration of the offer with its primary creditors, advisors and other parties in interest, the Debtors have determined to present the Bulk Offer with regard to the Balmoral Assets to the Bankruptcy Court on Tuesday, May 3rd at 9:30 a.m., and to seek authority to proceed with the Bulk Offer as being in the best interests of the Debtors' Estates. As a result of this offer, the Debtors have instructed us to temporarily adjourn the auction, and take no further action until the results of that Court Hearing are announced. Accordingly, we will update our website upon notification after the hearing, anticipated to conclude on May 3rd.

* The Bulk Offer does not include any property of Maywood Park, and the auction of the Maywood property remains unaffected.

More on Milici: NY Commission “a failure in protecting the wagering public”

When the New York State Racing and Wagering Board (RWB) was funded by money generated by racing, it would never license Mr. Milici.

It is great to hear Tom Milici has got his life sober and in now a happy man. But, as for the integrity of racing, he belongs nowhere near a racehorse.

Tom did do things the way he was supposed to. He got professional help and is maintaining sobriety.

He has documented proof of his employment and on-going treatment for drugs and alcohol.

This is what the board wants to see, when making decisions on who gets another chance and, who does not. His employment with Jimmy Takter sure did enhance his chances too, as the old RWB always put a great deal of stock in the company you keep.

This is why the current New York State Gaming Commission (NYSGC) is a failure in protecting the wagering public from purveyors of proven bad acts and the likelihood they will repeat, if licensed. NYSGC has no skin in the game of racing. It is funded by a general fund with little if any consequence if racing flourishes or fails. Life at NYSGC goes on, with or without racing.

Never would the old RWB license Milici to train horses linked to a person they refuse to license and another they have suspended. Yet, this commission knows full well who is connected to Milici's stable and just looks the other way.

There is no doubt, ownership of many of Milici's horses being Howard Taylor, plays a role in their decision to allow this cancer to continue. NYS Gaming Commission is not interested in long court battles with well-funded lawyers. There simply is no budget for this. The governing body has no skin in the game, therefore nothing to win. Their mandate to police the game is hampered by their lack of commitment from the state and opposition from racing interests.

This is what you get when your entity is a liability and not a revenue generating portion of the operating budget. It has no political power or will.

So, as long as 90 per cent of money in racing is generated by entities other than racing, you will get a New York State Gaming Commission, giving you a 10 per cent effort.

Owners need to organize and demand better

I have been breeding and racing horses for many years and have noticed many irregular things going on in our industry. Trainers are claiming horses from very good honest trainers and in the very next race performing like they never have in the past — and even in some cases coming close to or even breaking existing track records.

It is obvious that there is wide-spread cheating going on at most if not all venues in harness racing. All of a sudden we have super trainers in the business. They are doing horrible damage to the integrity of the sport. These criminals are also robbing the bettors, horse owners, other trainers, drivers, grooms and everyone else involved in the business.

It takes much money to buy a yearling or raise one and then train it. Then you have the other expenses involved like staking and other charges to get your horse to the track. The field is very tilted and has resulted in many breeders leaving the business or down-sizing.

The penalties are a joke when these scoundrels finally get caught. They lawyer up and there is no shortage of sleazy attorney's that jump on these cases and protect these criminals. These people need to be banished from racing for life and made to pay back all money they have stolen from all the people involved. We need to start an organization of concerned horse owners that actually want a level playing field and put pressure on the tracks and racing commissions to once and for all clean up this sport before it goes down the drain and we are all scratching our heads in disbelief.

There is a reason there is a horse shortage and it stems from all of the above. I am personally sickened at how these glorified losers can get away with cheating so many people. The few always seem to ruin it for the many. I ask all responsible horse owners and supporting staff including honest trainers to help me find a way to stop this destructive and disgraceful behavior before we are all finished. The clock is ticking.

— Jerry Giuliano / Solebury, PA

Trust the Commission? No chance

Unfortunately, my experience in harness racing led me to shudder after reading Dave Briggs' article on reporting foul deeds and Dean Towers' article extolling the virtues of exchange wagering (HRU – April 29).

At first blush, astute handicappers should be licking their chops in anticipation of using their knowledge to make some handsome profits on exchange wagering based on their knowledge of the tendencies of horses, drivers and trainers. Easy money. Right?

Then Dean Towers identified trainer Justin Abbott as someone who gamed the system in Australia. Some of us who remember accusations against Mr. Abbott here in the States are not totally shocked. Mr. Towers then soothes our fears with, "Well, you'd best think twice. Betfair's back end, and its technology, has pretty much perfected catching people doing such things. Unlike the aforementioned 1950's when paper trails with betting were impossible, today it's all one big paper trail." Well, to quote Ace Ventura, "Oh, re-he-heally." The gathering of statistical information and then having the knowledge to apply it properly are not one and the same.

Referring back to Dave Briggs' article on reporting foul deeds to those who can do something about it he said, "I appreciate the frustration of those that want to report wrongdoing, but decide against it because they don't expect the racing commission or track in their jurisdiction to act."

Let me relay a recent experience of mine on trusting the powers that be being able to correctly analyze data. I reported an unsatisfactory drive to the NJ racing commission where the driver refused to tip his horse for clearance despite having no horse blocking him. The commission accepted the explanation from the judge who indicated 'based on the past performance and the layoff, the horse was not going to win anyway.' Apparently, the commission accepts the notion that a horse should not be expected to win off a qualifying race. Note: The horse who should not be expected to win went off at 1-2.

Needless to say, I will never waste my time again by contacting the commission. And now we should trust the racing commissions to know the difference between wagers based on astute handicapping and race manipulation based on the analysis of the paper trail and the commission's ability to handicap races? Reminds me of a Seinfeld episode where Jerry finds George laying on the floor of his apartment and says, "And you want to be my latex salesman?" Well I see the commission laying on the floor in its underwear because they can't sell latex and they can't handicap races. Trust the commission? I DON'T THINK SO!

Dante's Inferno, part 1

(In response to the article about "Being Robbed without a Protest:" (HRU – April 29))

This topic has been tossed around on various online forums for several years.

I have repeatedly asked why anyone would let someone pick their pocket without a fight, and the answer I've always gotten back was a sort of "black hand" mobster type of influence over them.

This suggests that there is a large criminal enterprise at work which I do not believe.

If someone is stealing my money by deceptive means, the only way to correct it is to make it stop, and by any means possible.

When authorities either cannot or will not lend a hand, one must do that for themselves, and by any and all means possible.

I have long asked why the people policing the sport cannot seem to figure out who a beard is, when I as a fan know.

"Everyone knows" has much truth to it. It surpasses rumor in most cases.

Maybe someone from the press cannot print based on that, but someone can certainly investigate, can't they?

I'm expected to believe that Tom Milici (lately) has become an unbeatable trainer because he no longer drinks? (This is from published articles, not my opinion).

And because he stopped drinking he suddenly developed a long list of owners? Okay.

I was able to find out who he beards for with a single phone call. And the hint is the trainer (she) has found quite a bit of trouble in the last year or so.

Haven't the lowlife cheaters run off enough of the players, the people who really bankroll the game?

Are the people who run the sport waiting until there is nobody left to bet so they can say, "Well, we really did try our best but it was stacked against us."

Without slots and casinos, many of the harness tracks would have long since been closed and turned into shopping malls.

What are they waiting for?

The time to take action was LONG AGO, and yet we still get the Lou Pena types who go from basically nothing to the greatest trainer in the world in a five-hour plane trip from west to east.

Look at what happens to Ron Burke after a positive and more stringent drug testing.

If I can figure this out, shouldn't someone with a little bit of clout be able to do the same?

Let's wake up guys, although I think the alarm went off years ago and you all continued to hit the snooze button.

– Vic Dante / Bloomfield, NJ

Dante's Inferno, part 2

(In response to Dean Towers' article about exchange wagering: (HRU – April 29))

The fact that a scumbag like Justin Abbott is even allowed to race anywhere on this planet says a lot for the sport and the people worldwide who run it.

His antics in NJ (mostly Freehold) should have been enough to land him in prison.

His escape and exile back to Australia was and should have been the only thing keeping him out of prison.

And I suppose the guys in Australia heard none of this? (Not a "rumor" as has been suggested elsewhere in this publication).

Much of this starts looking more like they "don't want to know" as opposed to "they can't find out."

Why not start by policing with some real teeth? Let's get past the idea of ignoring the bad press in order for everyone to keep their job.

We are far beyond that now. Without the slots, most have no jobs in harness racing.

Look at what the Meadowlands has become. Two night weekly of cheap horses that would not have been allowed to qualify there 15 years ago.

Leave it to NJ to screw up a new concept. We have the highest taxes in the nation here, so it's no surprise that they would over tax a new idea.

And that idea won't save the game. The people who left are not coming back.

And that's what happens when a regulatory body is incapable or unwilling to do the right thing.

You are now sleeping in the bed that you made.

Elitlopp a "once-in-a-lifetime adventure"

Regarding the connections comments, about the upcoming The Mack Lobell Elitlopp Playoff, and whether they would actually go to The Elitlopp or not, if invited (HRU – April 24): Two things:

1. The connections are worried about missing out on some U.S. races if accepting the invite. There is a difference this year to keep in mind. A sponsorship has made it possible for the Swedish track Solvalla to charter a plane for the horses and fly them in to an airport close to Stockholm. Previous years, horses have flown to Holland/Belgium and been trucked up. Some horses where traveling 70+ hours each way. Not easy to perform well and, of course, many horses needed a recovery time when back home. With this direct flight, horses can fly a few days out, race and fly back home a day or two after the race. This will improve the horses chances to perform on top and it will shorten the recovery time when back home.

2. The connections say that there are so many races for their horses over here and so much money to race for and earn here in the US. True, and that is good thing. My question is: Do you only have your horses to earn money? If you do, then I understand. But... what about taking your horse on a once-in-a-lifetime adventure? Experience the top of the world in harness racing? Ron Burke has it right, it is an extraordinary experience and if you can win, you will never forget that day, or copy it.

With the chartered plane there is a chance that other horses could be invited to race in other races during that weekend. They have three-year-old Elite (Open and fillies), four-year-old Elite (Open and fillies), Elite mares, Sweden Cup (Heat racing for the class just below The Elitlopp horses) and Harper Hanover, which is a longer race and may not be suited for most U.S. horses, but maybe some.

To go and race in the Elitlopp, you need a very good horse and in excellent form. It is a tough race, tough horses and a different way of racing. The "regular" top of the line FFA trotters will usually not do. You need the top, like Bee A Magician, Shake It Cerry, JL Cruze or that level. If you have a horse of that caliber and in form, take the chance! It is a once in a lifetime experience. Ask John Campbell or other people that have raced there!!

Hey, Curmudgeon: what about Brooklet's Pride?

The Curmudgeon's list of the greatest mares he has seen was pretty comprehensive. I can't imagine there are many great horses over the last 50-plus years that he hasn't seen. Of course, he has helped sell many of them.

There were only five horses on his list, including the honorable mentions, that I didn't see myself. There is one largely forgotten mare The Curmudgeon fails to mention that definitely belongs with all the great mares that he did. I'm talking about Brooklet's Pride and anyone who followed Chicago racing in the mid-'80s would be hard-pressed not to agree. This was a time when racing circuits were much more self-contained than they are today. The purses in Chicago at the time were good enough that there was no real reason for Homer Hochstetler to take her out East to take on horses like Green With Envy and May Wine. If he had, I'm sure she would have at least given a good account of herself, if not crushing them at a nice mutuel price.

Brooklet's Pride regularly took on and easily defeated the free-for-all colts in Chicago, usually in wire-to-wire fashion. She simply laid over all the locals mares, and there were plenty of good ones in that era. At the time, she took her record of 1:54.1 at Sportsman's Park, I believe only Cam Fella and Albatross had ever paced that five-eighths-mile oval faster. It was just an unbelievable mile. So here's to Brooklet's Pride, a great race mare that deserves to be remembered.

Hazel Hanover deserves better

Hazel Hanover produced Holmes Hanover, and therefore should not be an honorable mention, but on the list.

Kudos for Canterbury

Thanks for the article noting the reduction of takeout at Canterbury Park (HRU – April 24). I also liked the comparison to the high takeout of our racetracks here in Pennsylvania. As your readers know from my previous letters, I noted that as well as a fan I own stock in several racetrack and or casino companies. One of my oldest and successful investments has been in Canterbury Park.

The Sampson family and other local horse owners and breeders saved this track from extension. It has not been an easy job for them. Over the years there were doubts as to whether this small regional track could succeed. One constant has been they worked hard to keep their horseman and on track fans happy to be there. As horse owners they have seen to it they provide the best backstretch accommodations as possible. On the fan side they employee some of the friendliest staff I ever encountered at the many tracks I have visited. This is just another example of their owners trying to expand their market through the off track, inter track wagering outlets.

As a fan who attends both Harrah's and Pocono Downs I hardly ever bet their trifecta or other high takeout bets. Harrah's does absolutely nothing to promote their racing side and does not seem to care about their on track fans. At least Pocono Downs does some promotions and makes their on track fans feel welcome. But if either track wants to progress they should send some of their racing managers to meet with some of Canterbury's staff for best practices for both horseman and fans. Thanks again.

Don't allow betting on "lunk-heads"

As a longtime harness racing fan, I'm in favor of those things that improve the racing/betting experience. Improved oversight including :Oversight of those that are put into place to protect us, lower takeouts, better purses, full, competitive fields, SP betting or fixed odds betting, etc.

However, this is not dressage where the patrons watch but don't bet. IT'S ABOUT THE MONEY.

That being said, what sense is there with tracks expecting us to wager on amateur races where we simply ignore the handicapping skills we have acquired over the years. Even with a few talented drivers, the field is always stuffed with lunk-heads that have no idea what to do and screw the race up for the others. At the very least, I would expect the track to require the want-to-be drivers to complete drivers training courses, Being an owner or trainer does NOT mean you have the requisite driver's skills. I see the same drivers making the same mistakes race after race. If the track wants to include these type of races in a program then they should make them non-wagering events. I have little interest in amateur racing and things like shooting tee shirts into the stands with canons, as a customer what I would be interested in are things like pre-race analysis of the program by PROFESSIONAL handicappers.

What we seem to see over and over again is the tracks relying on the same marketing departments that let their customer base erode and expecting their "New" concepts to change anything.

Its time for nitro-methane, diesel fuel is no longer good enough,

MESSAGE TO OUR READERS

When we brought HRU back in January, we asked for your support both as readers and advertisers. We have been overwhelmed with the response so far on both ends, but still need your help to make HRU viable and sustainable. Here are three ways you can help—and they're all free:

- 1. If you haven't already, please subscribe to receive HRU and encourage anyone you know who might like HRU to do the same. It's quick and easy and, again, free!
- 2. Support the advertisers that support us. Click on their ads and check out their websites. Most ads are linked to their sites. Tell them, or us, if you like one of their ads and why. The advertisers keep HRU free for readers.
- 3. Write more letters. One of the most popular features of HRU is Sunday's Feedback section. We want to hear from you!

THANKS from the new HRU Team!
