Burke dominates; Pure Country rebounds

One race after Pure Country won the inaugural Miss Pennsylvania, Ron Burke trainees finished 1-2-3 in the inaugural Pennsylvania Classic won by Check Six at The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono.

Ron Burke trainees finished 1-2-3 in the inaugural $561,500 Pennsylvania Classic final for state-sired three-year-old pacing colts and geldings Saturday night at The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono, with Check Six going a big mile on the front end to reduce his mark a tick to 1:50.3. In the companion filly event, the $313,800 Miss Pennsylvania Final, Pure Country bounced back from her first loss in the previous week's elimination race, going the first-over route and matching the 1:50.3 clocking of Check Six.

Check Six led a Ron Burke brigade to the wire in the inaugural Pennsylvania Classic Saturday at Pocono.

Check Six was three-wide a good part of the first turn. When The Catamount Kid backed off from between horses, Check Six was sent to the front by driver Yannick Gingras to go around stablemate Big Top Hanover, with the first quarter of :27.2 not too taxing despite the extra real estate. Check Six got a further breather when the half was tripped in :56.1.

The price of pacing went up exponentially down the backstretch when another Burke trainee, Check Six's fellow Classic elimination winner JK Will Power, advanced to give a stern first-over challenge. The three-quarter marker was tripped in 1:23.1, and then despite going into a stretch headwind the battling duo still stormed home in :27.2, with Check Six holding off JK Will Power (12-1) by a neck, with Big Top Hanover another one-and-a-quarter lengths back. Catamount Kid held for fourth, with Lyons Snyder (a slight favorite over the winner with both sent off at 2.10-1) unable to capitalize on second-over position and settling for the last check.

Burke took home $488,850 of the rich purse in the Classic, while Check Six became the second-largest money-winner of the year by boosting his 2016 bankroll to $301,250. The son of Somebeachsomewhere out of Southwind Vanna increased his career bankroll for Burke Racing Stables LLC, Weaver Brusceci LLC, William Switala and James Martin to $416,139.

Gingras, who drove both elim winners for Burke, picked Check Six for his Classic mount, "but the choice was closer than I would have thought earlier. JK Will Power really showed me a lot last week, and he was big again tonight." But Check Six came up biggest of all at the finish and took in the glory of winning the first Pennsylvania Classic.

She's b-a-a-a-a-c-k!

Pure Country, last year's champion two-year-old filly who suffered her first career loss in a Miss Pennsylvania elimination last Saturday in her seasonal debut, looked like a filly who could rank with the greats when she overcame a hard first-over trip to win the Miss PA final in the same time as Check Six. It was a new lifetime mark for the homebred daughter of Somebeachsomewhere—Western Montana owned by Diamond Creek Racing of Wellsville, PA and trained by Jimmy Takter.

Curtis Salonick

Pure Country (Brett Miller) was her old, dominant self Saturday in the Miss Pennsylvania at Pocono.

Pure Country settled midpack early as Call Me Queen Be went a stinging :25.2 first quarter, then yielded to 4-5 favorite Darlinonthebeach (Pure Country was the 2-1 second choice, the first time she had gone off higher than 3-5 in her career). Darlinonthebeach went on to the half in :53.3, with driver Brett Miller having Pure Country in gear first-over at that point and advancing the length of the backstretch to be right in contention at the 1:21.3 three-quarter pole.

Pure Country just kept on advancing the turn, gaining the lead past the curve's midpoint, and continued on strongly through the lane, holding off the late rush of second-over I Said Diamonds by one-and-a-quarter lengths, with Call Me Queen Be, Newborn Sassy, and I Said Please getting the minor awards in that order; the favored pacesetter Darlinonthebeach tired and finished seventh.

Speaking of her Miss Pennsylvania elim loss, Takter noted that "she had been a little sick and I had lost two weeks" of preparation for her 2016 debut. The "real" Pure Country showed up at Pocono Saturday, and the smiles on the faces of Takter and owner Adam Bowden of the Diamond Creek operation were big indeed.

From Harness Racing to Two-Time Derby Winner

by Bob Duff

** Edited excerpts from a feature originally published in June 21, 2012 issue of The Canadian Sportsman.

Some 37 years before winning yesterday's Kentucky Derby with Nyquist, owner Paul Reddam's first foray into horse racing involved a standardbred acquired while he was a student at the University of Toronto.

"The first horse that I owned a piece of was in 1979 when I was still living in Toronto," Reddam said. "I was part of a claim of a horse, a standardbred at Greenwood."

The horse was a pacer called Bred Hanover, but his lines didn't live up to his name.

"Not that well," the Windsor, ON-born Reddam said when asked how the horse fared on the racetrack.

Was he the least bit deterred about future investment into the sport?

"No," Reddam said emphatically. "When you get the bug, you get the bug."

Reddam became the face of horse racing in 2012 after his three-year-old colt I'll Have Another captured the Kentucky Derby and Preakness Stakes before the colt was scratched the day before the Belmont Stakes due to a tendon injury in his left front leg resulted in the horse being retired to stud.

Saturday (May 7) at Churchill Downs, the same connections that gave the world I'll Have Another — Reddam, plus trainer Doug O'Neill and jockey Mario Gutierrez — delivered a second Derby triumph when favored Nyquist (2-1) remained undefeated in eight lifetime starts. Nyquist finished one-and-a-quarter lengths ahead of second choice Exaggerator (5-1).

Reddam owns a PhD in philosophy, and when you think about it, could there be better sources to try and seek answers to the ups and downs of horse racing than the works of Plato, Aristotle and Descartes?

After I'll Have Another won the Derby, Reddam quoted the German philosopher Ludwig Wittgenstein. "Ludwig Wittgenstein said, 'After all the philosophical problems have been solved, nothing of importance will have been accomplished,'" Reddam said. "So we got into horse racing."

Actually, he was into horse racing long before Reddam turned to philosophizing.

"I used to go to Windsor Raceway when I was in high school," Reddam said. "My friend Carlo Fisco was a groom at Windsor and I got to know a couple of the drivers and trainers."

The route Reddam originally chose for his life was far removed from the excitement and risk of horse racing. After graduating from the University of Windsor with a bachelor's degree in psychology, he left the city to study philosophy at the University of Toronto.

"I got my master's (degree) at Toronto and started my doctorate there," Reddam said. "One of my professors was also teaching at USC and I went out there for a visit in the winter of 1979. He said to me, 'Why don't you study out here?' Well, winter in Southern California is a lot nicer than winter in Toronto, so it didn't take much convincing to get me to stay."

California became and remains Reddam's home. He lives in Sunset Beach, CA with his wife Zillah and stepdaughter Chanel and, for a time, taught philosophy at Cal-State L.A.

Then, this professor of logic made what many would view as a very illogical choice: He gave up his teaching career. "I messed around a bit with syndicating standardbreds and then went into the mortgage business," Reddam said.

He started a mortgage loan company called SL Funding with his father John, who still calls Windsor home. After they sold that business, in 1995 Paul started up DiTech.com, an Internet mortgage company. Four years later, he sold that company to General Motors for more than $200 million. Today, he serves as president of CashCall, a finance lending company based in Fountain Valley, CA that has faced a number of lawsuits in recent years for allegedly violating consumer protection laws.

Reddam, 60, got into the thoroughbred racing game in 1988, claiming a thoroughbred named Ocean Warrior.

Besides his interests in thoroughbred racing, Reddam also once campaigned a thriving stable of harness racing horses.

Today, he's completely out of the harness game, though, for years, he raced standardbreds at Windsor Raceway with trainer Randy Fulmer.

Throughout I'll Have Another's journey, Reddam was a positive source of energy for horse racing, giving much of his time to promoting the game. "I think that I have a responsibility to not be a jerk," Reddam said of his role during their magical run that ended so disappointingly. "Hopefully, that comes somewhat naturally, though some would disagree.

"If the horse were to have won (the Triple Crown), of course it's a big national story and spotlight. I would like to cast what we do in a positive and fair light. I hope that to the extent that I'm supposed to be the ambassador, that I can fill that role."

Even when they announced the end of the dream, there was a positive for the sport in that it displayed to outsiders that even with such a monumental opportunity in front of them, I'll Have Another's team still put the horse's welfare ahead of their chance to become legendary.

The true heartbreak for Reddam during his Triple Crown run was that he wasn't able to share it with two of the people closest to him – his mother Grace and brother Peter, both of whom passed away before Paul's moment of glory arrived.

Peter Reddam, a Windsor dentist who also owned standardbreds that raced at Windsor, died nearly eight years ago after a brief bout with cancer. "He was someone I could talk about the horses with, what our strategy should be," Paul said. "What do you think of this horse, or that horse? He was quite an influence.

"My brother and my mother were both huge racing fans. My dad used to tell me how my mother would see one of our races on TV, and she would be so excited, she would just bounce up and down almost to the ceiling. I thought that was a lot of hyperbole. I was visiting them years ago and was home when we were racing one. I saw it and I couldn't believe it.

"It's in one way sad that they're not here to see this, but in another way, naturally I think they're looking down on it."

As far as not winning the Triple Crown, naturally, Reddam is philosophical about the loss, noting that it had been his lifetime dream to win the Kentucky Derby, so in that sense, he's actually ahead of the game.

"I've just kind of tried to deal with the present," Reddam said. "Even winning the Kentucky Derby doesn't totally seem real in a certain way. I've had to go home and watch the race a few times and say, 'Oh yeah, that did happen.'"

"I am very fortunate to have been in this position."

Today, he is even more fortunate as a two-time Derby winner.

In the fifth race at Yonkers Raceway on Friday (May 6), six-year-old Gallant Seelster won a $40,000 claimer by 10-and-a-quarter lengths in 1:51.4. It was the pacer's fourth straight win.

Just four starts earlier, Gallant Seelster was racing in a $20,000 claimer at Yonkers, had only won once in nine starts in 2016 and was consistently pacing in the 1:55 range when he was claimed by trainer Rene Allard.

Allard — who lost the pacer for a week to Frank Caleca, who lowered Gallant Seelster's seasonal mark to 1:51 at Yonkers — claimed Gallant Seelster back two starts ago.

Different breeds, different Triple Crowns

by Dean A. Hoffman

Yesterday was the 142nd edition of the Kentucky Derby, which has been marvelously marketed under the slogan “The Most Exciting Two Minutes in Sport.” The race kicked off Nyquist’s Triple Crown quest, which will absorb millions of Americans in the coming month.

Triple Crown fever is an incomparable asset to the thoroughbred game, and it’s one that harness racing simply cannot match for several reasons. One story illustrates why.

About five years ago, I was with two longtime friends who share my passion for harness racing. Between the three of us, we had more than a century of experience in following the sport.

One question arose during our conversation: when and where was the Messenger Stake that year?

It was astonishing that none of us knew when it would be raced. Even worse is that none of us really cared.

The Messenger Stake, of course, is one of the jewels in the pacing Triple Crown. It was the first $100,000 single dash race in harness history and for many years was the richest jackpot for pacers.

(In fact, when Thor Hanover won the 1962 Messenger at 71-1 odds, the purse was higher than the Kentucky Derby purse that year).

But after Roosevelt Raceway closed in 1988, the Messenger became a virtual vagabond, moving to Yonkers for a year to Freestate to Rosecroft to The Meadows to Harrington and then back to Yonkers.

The plight of the Messenger Stakes illustrates why the Triple Crowns in harness racing have lost their significance. The Triple Crown events have lost their continuity on the map and on the calendar.

Contrast that with the thoroughbred Triple Crown. Every year when spring arrives, you know that the first Saturday in May will be Kentucky Derby Day. You can sip a mint julep, sing “My Old Kentucky Home,” and watch the “Run for the Roses” beneath the towering twin spires of Churchill Downs.

Two weeks later you’ll be singing “Maryland, My Maryland” as the colts race for the blanket of black-eyed Susans at Pimlico.

Three weeks after the Preakness, it will be “New York, New York” as the Triple Crown hopefuls try to win the test of champions in the marathon Belmont Stakes.

The thoroughbred Triple Crowns have fixed places on the racing map and continuity on the calendar – two assets that harness racing’s crown jewels lack.

Everyone had long recognized this, of course, but fixing the problem hasn’t been so easy. Who controls the Triple Crown?

Twenty years ago a USTA director introduced a rule change that would make the Meadowlands Pace, North American Cup, and Little Brown Jug the Triple Crown for pacers.

Great idea – and others had said the same previously – but the USTA had no control whatsoever over the Triple Crown. All the rule changes in the world could not alter it. (It was also amusing that this USTA director made no proposal to alter the Triple Crown for trotters, and this was at a time when top sophomore trotters regularly skipped the Yonkers Trot).

Yes, harness racing has far greater challenges than reconfiguring its Triple Crowns to give them some real meaning. But just think of the enormous benefits that thoroughbred racing enjoyed last year when American Pharoah ended the drought of almost four decades and won the Triple Crown.

(By the way, can you think of the last trotter and last pacer to win a Triple Crown in harness racing? Can you?)

The standardbred Triple Crowns were formed in the mid-1950s in an attempt to emulate the thoroughbred business.

For trotters, two time-tested classics – the Kentucky Futurity and Hambletonian – were paired with the new and lucrative Yonkers Futurity.

For pacers, the Little Brown Jug, then less than a decade old, was paired with the jackpot purses of the Messenger and Cane Futurity. (The futurity format was later dropped and the two Yonkers events became the simply the Yonkers Trot and Cane Pace).

Scott Frost was the first Triple Crown winner in 1955, but the lack of consistency in the trotting Triple Crown soon became evident. Scott Frost won the Hambletonian in Goshen, but two years later the Hambletonian was raced about a thousand miles to the west in DuQuoin, IL.

Another problem was that the New York-based Triple Crown events had no fixed dates on the calendar. They were raced according to the dictates of racing schedules. One year, the Messenger Stake might be contested in the spring and the next year it might be raced in chilly autumn weather.

As harness racing enjoyed its greatest boom years in the 1950s and 60s, the locations remained consistent, but upstart events wanted to elbow their way into the Triple Crown.

Roosevelt Raceway started the Dexter Cup for sophomore trotters and by the late 1960s it offered higher purses than the Hambletonian, Kentucky Futurity, or Yonkers Futurity. How could it be ignored?

It couldn't be ignored, so the Triple Crown became the Grand Slam with the addition of the Dexter Cup. When Liberty Bell created the Colonial with $100,000+ purses, the Grand Slam became the Big Five. Nevele Pride and Lindy's Pride swept the Big Five in 1968 and 1969.

When the Adios was first contested in 1967, it became an instant classic because of the Midas touch of Delvin Miller and it was added to the Triple Crown to become a pacing Grand Slam. Later the L.K. Shapiro at Hollywood Park became part of the Big Five for pacers.

The prestige of the Triple Crown remained intact, however, until Big Apple racing declined seriously in the 1980s. Roosevelt closed in 1988 and Yonkers was swamped by the popularity of the Meadowlands. The Triple Crown didn't seem so important when the Meadowlands Pace started offering $1 million purses in 1980.

Also, many trainers of the best sophomore trotters consciously refused to race their horses in the Yonkers Trot because of questionable track conditions on the half-mile oval.

I distinctly remember a lively debate at Breeders Crown time in 1999 over Horse of the Year honors. My choice was clearly Moni Maker based on her international success. A friend said that it simply had to be Self Possessed because of his heroics in the Hambletonian and Kentucky Futurity and his speed records.

The third person, who had a thoroughbred background, "No, idiots, it's got to Blissfull Hall. He won the Triple Crown. End of story."

Moni Maker got the title. I didn't think winning the Triple Crown would mean that much for Blissfull Hall. After all, two years earlier, Western Dreamer had won the Triple Crown and yet it was Malabar Man who claimed the 1997 Horse of the Year crown.

It was much the same scenario in 2004. Windsong's Legacy became the first trotting Triple Crown winner since Super Bowl in 1972 and yet the pacing filly Rainbow Blue was voted Horse of the Year.

How can harness racing "fix" the Triple Crown? Or can it be fixed?

Many ideas have been put forward over the years, but that nagging problem of control remains. Who calls the shots?

What track official wants to say, "Yes, our event was once very prominent, but times have changed and it's no longer relevant or important. So we'll gladly drop our Triple Crown affiliation."

But let's hope that yesterday you took the time to sit back, sip a julep, and watch Nyquist win the Derby. Regardless of the breed, nothing beats a good horse race.

Dante takes Dexter

The $355,000 yearling purchase is now two-for-two in 2016 for Ake Svanstedt.

by Ken Weingartner / Harness Racing Communications / USTA

Ken Weingartner

Ake Svanstedt drove his trainee Dante to victory in the Dexter Cup Saturday at Freehold.

Ake Svanstedt says Dante possesses the ability to cover short distances extremely quickly. On Saturday (May 7), the colt used that skill to win the $140,800 Dexter Cup at Freehold Raceway.

Starting from post seven, Dante and trainer/driver Svanstedt blazed to the front prior to the first turn and coasted from there, winning the Dexter Cup by one-and-three-quarter lengths over Cufflink Hanover. Credevie finished third.

The time for the mile was 1:59.4 over a track labeled good. Dante, part of the favored entry with Dominion Beach, paid $4.20 to win.

Dante benefited from several horses – including Dominion Beach – going off stride in the first turn, which enabled Svanstedt and his horse to separate from the field by several lengths.

Dominion Beach rallied from more than a dozen lengths back, going three wide at the halfway point, to get alongside Dante on the backstretch, but was unable to sustain his drive in the stretch. Dominion Beach finished fifth, beaten by four-and-a-quarter lengths.

Dante and Dominion Beach won their respective Dexter Cup eliminations last weekend.

“He’s very quick and he feels much better this time after his last race,” said Svanstedt, who trains Dante for owner Anders

Strom’s Courant A B stable. “He’s in very good shape. (The horses making breaks) made it more easy for us. It was an easy race; not so fast.”

Dante, a son of Credit Winner out of the stakes-winning mare Michelle’s Angel, was bred by Diamond Creek and purchased as a yearling for $355,000 at the 2014 Lexington Selected Sale. He is a full brother to millionaire Archangel.

Last year, Dante was winless in two races. This year he is two-for-two.

“He’s a different horse,” Svanstedt said. “He was very nervous last year. He was stressed last year and did not trot so good. He was always pulling. Now he is nice to drive. He’s grown up and is a much better horse.”

The Dexter Cup is the first major stakes event for three-year-old trotters on the road to August’s $1 million Hambletonian at the Meadowlands Racetrack. Dante is not eligible to the Hambletonian, but is staked to races on the New York circuit as well as the Breeders Crown.

Earlier on the card, Dazzling Dollars won the $58,000 Lady Suffolk Stakes for three-year-old female trotters by a half-length over Southwind Hope in 2:00. Curikee finished third. Dazzling Dollars went off at 10-1 and paid $22.60 to win.

Favored entymates Flowers N Songs and American Gal K both went off stride.

Trond Smedshammer trains and drives Dazzling Dollars for owner Purple Haze Stables. Dazzling Dollars has won two of 10 career races and earned $128,624. The filly, by Cash Hall out of Designed To Dazzle, won a division of the New York Sire Stakes last year and finished second in the NYSS championship.

Nickle Bag steals the show in Horse of the Year showdown

The much anticipated match up between State Treasurer and Wiggle It Jiggleit developed around the final turn Saturday night at Mohawk Racetrack, but neither horse came away with the victory.

New Image Media

Nickle Bag (Trevor Henry) defeated both the reigning U.S. and Canadian Horses of the Year Saturday at Mohawk.

Nickle Bag spoiled the Horse of the Year showdown with his 10th victory of the season in the seven-horse $34,000 preferred.

State Treasurer, the 2015 Canadian Horse of the Year, showed good early speed and cleared to the front ahead of Nickle Bag heading into the first turn. State Treasurer and Chris Christoforou posted opening fractions of :26.2 and :55.

U.S. Horse of the Year Wiggle It Jiggleit and Montrell Teague left alertly, but quickly dropped into fourth. Wiggle It Jiggleit got his cue to charge first up heading into the final turn.

State Treasurer and Wiggle It Jiggleit went toe-to-toe by the three-quarter pole in 1:22.4, but waiting patiently in behind the superstars was Nickle Bag and driver Trevor Henry.

Wiggle It Jiggleit wrestled the lead away from State Treasurer and had a few lengths on Nickle Bag with an eighth of a mile to go, but the veteran tracked down the Teague stable star to win by three-quarters of a length in 1:51.1.

State Treasurer battled hard to finish third.

A six-year-old gelded son of Rocknroll Hanover—Buckle Bunni, Nickle Bag scored his eighth preferred victory of the season Saturday. The Bill Robinson trainee has now won two of his last three starts to improve his overall 2016 record to 10 wins from 16 starts.

Nickle Bag has earned $184,860 in 2016 for owners Linda and Harry Loyens. His latest preferred victory gives him 29 career wins and pushes his career earnings over $640,000.

Nickle Bag paid $14.90 to win.

Wiggle It Jiggleit's second-place finish was just his sixth loss in 33 career starts and trainer Clyde Francis admitted he was disappointed.

"We thought he would race a little better than he did," said Francis. "He didn't look as good as he did when we trained him the other day. I hope there is not much to it."

Francis indicated Wiggle It Jiggleit never really found comfort during the course of Saturday's race and at moments appeared to be close to going off stride.

"He's always had a little funny way of going, but he was worse tonight."

Wiggle It Jiggleit's next start is just a week away in the Confederation Cup on May 15 at Flamboro Downs. Francis has full confidence Wiggle It Jiggleit will bounce back.

"You just back up and regroup and try to find out what the problem is."

Wiggle It Jiggleit last start at Mohawk before Saturday's contest was a second-place finish in last year's Pepsi North America Cup.

Also on Saturday, War N Munn recorded the WEG Series hat-trick with a huge performance in The Diplomat final.

A field of nine three-year-old pacing colts and geldings battled in the $57,600 final and it was action packed from start to finish.

Dreamfair Mesa fired out from the middle of the gate to grab command and post a hot opening-quarter of :25.3. Several rivals began to charge up on the outside in the second-quarter, including the 1/5 favorite Gerries Sport.

Dreamfair Mesa surrendered the lead to Worthy Art moments after posting a half-mile time of :54.3. Gerries Sport and Sylvain Filion were left first-over, while War N Munn, who had yet to see the pylons after leaving from post-nine, sat second-over.

Gerries Sport took a narrow lead at the three-quarter pole in 1:22. The heavy-favorite tried to seal the deal in the stretch, but War N Munn and driver Jonathan Drury fired off cover and grabbed the lead midway down the lane.

War N Munn finished the job in a career-best 1:50.2 for a two-length victory over Shocking Image and Worthy Art. Gerries Sport dropped back to finish fourth.

Trained by Carmen Auciello, War N Munn turned in a massive parked-out effort for his sixth win in 10 starts this season. The three-year-old son of Stonebridge Regal—Stonebridge Venus has now scored victories in The Count B, Youthful and The Diplomat Series finals this season.

“He shows up every night,” said Auciello following the victory. “I knew tonight was going to be tough with the nine-hole, but J.D. (Jonathan Drury) couldn’t have done a better job at working out a trip.”

War N Munn pushed his seasonal earnings over the $100,000 mark with the victory for owner George Munniksmä. The sophomore pacer now has career totals of eight victories and earnings exceeding $148,000.

War N Munn paid $11.50 to win.

Pacing fillies and mares also shared the spotlight on Saturday night.

Chris Matthews trainee Lay Lady Lay went gate-to-wire to win the $57,400 Princess Series final for three-year-old fillies in 1:54. Doug McNair guided the daughter of Up The Credit—Lady D M to her first win in three starts this season.

Lay Lady Lay is owned by 1posse2steves3brothersstb of Guelph, Ontario. She paid $5.60 to win.

Luck Be Withyou wins Rose invitational

Luck Be Withyou, a five-year-old son of Western Ideal—Trim Hanover who loves The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono, came out of the pocket behind a blistering pace set by JK Endofanera to win the $50,000 Rose invitational by a neck. “Luck” left strongly to get the garden spot behind JK Endofanera, who whistled to the quarter in :25.4, rated the half against the wind to a fairly-moderate :54.3, then tacked on a :26.2 third quarter (:52.3 in the odd-numbered quarters) to open a clear lead at and past the 1:21 three-quarter pole.

But George Napolitano Jr., the Downs’ all-time leading driver, got “Luck” narrowing the gap into the stretch, with P H Supercam, the only other horse connected to the front, swinging three-wide as the winner vacated the pocket. Luck Be Withyou drove down the center of the track and picked up JK Endofanera late to win by a neck, with P H Supercam just another neck back in third. Rockeyed Optimist, the favorite from post six, was away sixth and had nonflowing cover, and only able to rally for fourth; Levy hero Bit Of A Legend N, stuck with the outside post nine, was also thwarted by the speedburners inside him, took back, raced fourth-over, and could do no better than sixth.

“The two of us get together on this track pretty well,” said Napolitano, who also noted, “And this was only second start after a long layoff.”

Before his 2016 debut last week, Luck Be Withyou had last raced at Balmoral on Nov. 7. Chris Oakes is the horse’s regular conditioner when he is racing in the area, and John Craig saw his veteran raise his lifetime bankroll to $1,138,781 with the fastest mile of the year at Pocono, taken with the mercury in the low 50’s and with a decent stretch headwind.

Three $30,000 divisions of a Pennsylvania All-Stars event for state-bred three-year-old trotting colts and geldings were featured on the afternoon portion of the Pocono doubleheader, with some sophomores who had been flying “just under the radar” at two taking advantages of breaks by the divisional favorites and getting their 2016 stakes seasons off to a fast start.

In the opening cut, Tyson picked a good time to break his maiden, in control of the situation for the last half in a 1:55.4 mile, last quarter in :28.3 for driver Corey Callahan, trainer Trond Smedshammer, and the ownership combine of the Purple Haze Stables LLC, American Viking Racing Stable, Anderson Farms, and Marc Goldberg. The altered son of Donato Hanover—Southwind Amiga stayed steady throughout the mile while his main rivals kept knocking themselves out of competition – first 2/5 chalk Love Matters, then quick-leaving Pilgrims Tide (6/1), and finally pocket-sitting Hollywood Highway (7/1), who had yielded command to 9-2 second choice Tyson and his move in front of the stands the first time. Tyson went on to an easy two-and-a-quarter-length win over Edinburgh, with Will Self rallying for a distant third.

Mikkeli Hanover, named after the Finnish countryside oval where Varenne once set the world standard for five-eighths-mile tracks, might have a little ways to go to come close to the talent level of that one, but according to driver Yannick Gingras, he’s still a little green, and yet he was able to lower his mark three seconds by winning his division by a length in 1:56.3. The Andover Hall—Musetta Hanover colt, the 7-1 third choice, made a second move to go to the lead past the five-eighths, then benefited when favorite Massive Clout, who had followed him down the back and had retucked in the pocket behind him, made a break on the far turn, leaving Mikkeli with a four to five-length lead late on the turn. Second choice Granite State and Marion Gondolier came on with late bids, but they had to settle for minor honors behind Mikkeli Hanover, who is trained by Ron Burke for his Burke Racing Stable LLC, Weaver Bruscelli LLC, Crawford Farms LLC, and Panhellenic Stable Corporation.

The third division was also the fastest, and it produced a second All-Stars winner for driver "Captain" Corey Callahan in 14-1 shot Hititoutofthepark, who worked to the lead at the quarter, shook off the first-over challenge of favored Make Or Miss (that colt eventually broke), and then staved off potential rocket Lagerfeld by a head in 1:55, lowering his lifetime best by a tick, with Cloud Nine Hanover third. The Yankee Glide—Celebrity Liza ridgling, a five-time winner at two, is conditioned by John Butenschoen for owners Give It A Shot Stable, Kurt Welling, and VIP Internet Stable LLC.

Curmudgeon responds to Mr. Robert O Heintz:

I certainly would not argue strongly against the inclusion of Brooklet's Pride among the Honorable Mentions in the list of the greatest of the greatest female pacers I have seen. She — and I am sure others — belong there. Strictly speaking, and I am picking in nits here, I cannot recall ever seeing Brooklet's Pride race. She was a truly great racemare, but according to my specs, would not have been eligible for inclusion. That's not to say I might not have cheated a little if I felt she belong in the top 13.

Curmudgeon responds to Mr. Philip Shafit:

Hazel Hanover was one of my all-time favorites. I loved her. At her best, she was one of the greatest two and three-year-old fillies I'd ever seen. She was one of the only fillies to ever earn money in the Meadowlands Pace. The problem, in my estimation, was that she was not at her best for a long enough period of time. Holmes Hanover was a very good horse and became an extraordinary sire Down Under. The broodmare production of the fillies and mares was a non factor in choosing the horses. They were picked entirely for their prowess on the racetrack.

Big M a big joke?

I have been a long time supporter of harness racing. I do not like the ending of most horses which needs to change in law.

As for the quality of racing in the States, the Big M is a big joke.

I wish you had an article and spoke to the GM, on what happened.

Sorry, the new clubhouse is like living in a shoe. It sucks and the purses, drivers and racing is terrible.

If the Big M wants to get back to racing, how about doing something about making the track even for closers which produces better racing, higher payouts and more excitement. The racing is all half-mile style now. There is no movement. The payoffs tend to be lower. The quality is a joke.

Racing in NJ is a joke. I know. I live in NJ.

Freehold is an awfully-run track by a bunch of nitwits who hate the patrons and still has broken machines, lousy food and no reason to visit.

For me, simulcast has changed the direction of racing. The problem is the people who run it do not care about the bettors or who comes to the track.

For one, get rid of .10 and .20 and .50 wagers. Why? Racing is catering to people with no money. Rolling pools create bigger pools which create excite and no wave of bettors.

Racing should have international pools which means the people in racing should reach out with the technology to have money from Asia, Australia, New Zealand, Europe, Middle East, etc. in its commingled pools.

Instead, racing begs casino operators to save it.

Have you seen the handle at Pocono? Dover? Chester? These are tracks with good racing. Guess what? TVG does not promote it. The people who run it do not promote it. The people who work for the casino do not care.

It seems to me that the current technology can bring this racing to the masses if anyone cared.

As for the .10 wagers, this shows me who the people in racing want to bet, broke, over 60, no money and scrape up $2 to buy a program. That is the future in racing.

Change makes sense so, why not do this, go to Congress, change the racing takeout laws, IRS laws, eliminate .10, 20 and .50 wagers, IRS form not filled out until you hit at least $10,000 for a $1 wager and there is no takeout until you collect $25,000 on a $1 wager. Can this work? Yes, it would bring money back to the track to be invested in racing.

No one in racing has bothered to cross promote foreign racing as well.

How about a Woodbine – U.S. track Pick 7, $1 wager?

Does anyone remember the V64 or V7 from Sweden? This wager of the Pick 7 used to have around $11 million dollars a week. Create this wager and make it a wager you have to go on track site to get a bonus. Reward those for going to the track, as well.

By the way, racinos in some of the track in Delaware have steadily dropped purses over the years. Note to horsemen in those states, the money will dry up as other states build more casinos.

NJ plans on having a vote in November for two casinos in North Jersey. I just think it would make sense if someone woke up and wrote about it.

Bet of luck.

May the horse be with you.

– John Kaniuk / New Jersey

Bettor takes it in NJ over exchange wagering takeout

After many years of debate, the powers that be have finally reached agreement on exchange wagering in New Jersey. Despite being heralded as a low takeout wager in Europe, the racetrack operator could not even match the vig on straight up sports betting and the takeout is also higher than many daily fantasy pools. Once again, the bettor gets it right up the you know where.

– David Haaker / Livingston NJ

Great older pacers make for marketing opportunity

I am a harness racing lifer – whether toiling in the business, or, merely as a fan. What can I say? I love the sport! And because I do, I don't want the sport I love to blow a major opportunity – one that is now presenting itself.

It is, essentially, a marketing perfect storm! The planets are in sublime alignment and the industry as a whole ought to put some real promotional muscle behind it and take full advantage!

Specifically, several of harness racing's biggest and fastest pacing stars, are all in fine fettle and ready to do battle in some of the sport's biggest races this season.

There's last year's harness horse of the year, Wiggle It Jiggle It, who won 22-of-26 races in 2015. Breeders Crown three-year-old pacing champ, Freaky Feet Pete, who beat WIJI in two-of-their-three meetings, the scary fast FFA'er Always B Miki and Bit Of A Legend N, a lightning-fast Australian import who finished in a dead heat with WIJI at Yonkers, before capturing the prestigious George Morton Levy final.

Nothing creates interest in horse racing better than great horses doing great things on the racetrack!

So, let's take full advantage, shall we? Presentation is key. If the industry acts like it's a big deal, then the public will get the message! But, the drumbeat must be hard, steady and relentless! Let our sport's stars shine a light – bright enough for all to see!

– Steve Ross / Medford, NJ

MESSAGE TO OUR READERS

When we brought HRU back in January, we asked for your support both as readers and advertisers. We have been overwhelmed with the response so far on both ends, but still need your help to make HRU viable and sustainable. Here are three ways you can help—and they're all free:

1. If you haven't already, please subscribe to receive HRU and encourage anyone you know who might like HRU to do the same. It's quick and easy and, again, free!
2. Support the advertisers that support us. Click on their ads and check out their websites. Most ads are linked to their sites. Tell them, or us, if you like one of their ads and why. The advertisers keep HRU free for readers.
3. Write more letters. One of the most popular features of HRU is Sunday's Feedback section. We want to hear from you!

THANKS
from the new HRU Team!
