Miller's Time

David Miller won his first Pepsi North America Cup and trainer Casie Coleman her second as Betting Line rallied from fifth to equal the 1:47.1 Canadian record in the $1 million Mohawk event.

David Miller was ecstatic at the wire after Betting Line gave the driver his first Pepsi North America Cup triumph in his 16th attempt.

David Miller had tried 15 times before over 22 years to win this damn Pepsi North America Cup, so you can understand why the normally low-key driver was positively joyous after guiding favored Betting Line to the 1:47.4 victory Saturday night at Mohawk in the $1 million (Cdn) event in front of a crowd estimated to exceed 15,000.

Miller celebrated his first NA Cup by thrusting his whip in the air at the wire and grinning his head off in the winner's circle.

"That was great. That was great," he said, shaking his head, his face a picture of bliss. "That was as awesome as I thought it was going to be."

Betting Line, an Ontario Sired son of Bettor's Delight out of Heather's Western was fifth, seven-and-a-half lengths out of it at the three-quarter pole, but rallied in the stretch to pass front-runner Control The Moment and hold off a surge by Racing Hill to defeat the latter by a length. The mile equaled

It was the second NA Cup victory for trainer and part-owner Casie Coleman who won the 2010 Cup with Sportswriter.

the track, stakes and Canadian record set by Thinking Out Loud in the 2012 NA Cup. Betting Line's win in the 33rd edition of the Cup is also 19th time that an elimination winner has also won the final.

"I was a little bit concerned around the last turn that I wasn't closer, but (Betting Line) really has as big gear to him when you ask him. I asked him halfway through the stretch and he just took right off," Miller said.

Control The Moment tired a bit after setting tough fractions of :26.4, :53.4 and 1:20.3 out of the nine-hole, but still hung on for third, five lengths back of the winner. Boston Red Rocks was fourth and Michael's Victory was fifth.

In his 15 previous NA Cup drives, Miller has finished second twice— with Sutter Hanover in 2007 and Twilight Bonfire in 2013 — and third three times — Cinderlane Sam in 1995, Buckeye Hanover in 1999 and Betting Exchange in '15.

"I finally got there," he said. "I was thinking, 'This ain't going to happen.' But (Betting Line) was my first favorite. I will say that. That was the first favourite I've ever had."

Miller said he owes it all to trainer Casie Coleman. "Believe me, I couldn't be more grateful to her giving me the opportunity to drive this horse. I'm very thankful," he said.

Coleman said she couldn't be happier to have played a role in Miller breaking his Cup maiden.

"Me and Dave have been partners. We've owned horses together. He's driven for me quite a long time and he had never won the Cup, yet," she said. "I thought we had a chance with McWicked, but it just didn't work out. (Miller) has had lots of other chances and they just didn't work. We've been joking with him that he's never going to win this race. So, it's great for him to get it done. He's a Hall of Fame driver. He's a great guy and I'm really happy for him that he got this race under his belt."

It was the second Cup victory for Coleman, who won the 2010 edition with Sportswriter.

"It's phenomenal," said Coleman, who also owns a piece of Betting Line. "This is the biggest race. It's the only million-dollar pace race there is and it's on our home track in our backyard. I live 20 minutes from here (in Cambridge, ON). I don't know how to put it into words, but it's absolutely phenomenal just to race in it, let alone win it twice."

The victory comes after the five-time Canadian trainer of the year decreased the size of her stable substantially, making the victory particularly sweet, said co-owner Steve Calhoun.

After suffering a stroke and a heart attack recently, co-owner Ross Warriner (with his wife, Margaret) said he was "walking on the edge of the moon" to win his second NA Cup.

"Casie needed to get her stable to a more manageable number. The stress of the bigger stable was killing her, literally," Calhoun said. "Getting to a smaller stable and still being able to produce a champion like this is a testament to Casie's skill with horses, both selecting yearlings and also bringing them along."

Betting Line was bred by Fair Winds Farm of Cream Ridge, NJ and purchased for $60,000 at the Standardbred Horse Sales Company's 2014 yearling sale in Harrisburg, PA by a group of some of Coleman's most loyal owners — Ross Warriner, Mac Nichol and Calhoun, all from Ontario.

"Ross Warriner, Mac (Nichol) and Steve have been with me probably 15, 16 years now," Coleman said. "They're great guys. I couldn't get a better bunch of owners. They've been my best owners and they finally got together. They always just owned by themselves with me. Now they've all joined together and it's a great combination. We all get along great and think the same way. You couldn't get a better group."

Warriner, who recently suffered a stroke and a heart attack, said winning the NA Cup was a good tonic, despite Betting Line testing the owner's heart with his late-race heroics.

"I feel like I'm flying around. I'm walking on the edge of the moon at the moment," Warriner said.

In was the 10th win in 17 career starts and fourth victory in five 2016 outings for Betting Line, who pushed his lifetime earnings to $1,119,922 (Cdn).

"Casie (Coleman) told me when he was a baby when he was going in about 2:40 that he'd be a good colt, top of the line. She was right," Calhoun said.

"From day one when I broke him, this horse has always been sensational," Coleman said. "Training back, he trained back with (four-year-old) Reverend Hanover and there was actually a few times that I was a little bit worried about (Betting Line). He was training well, but not as well as I thought he might have been. Now saying that, I don't normally train a three-year-old with Reverend Hanover, but I didn't have any other three-year-olds of his caliber to train with him."

Coleman then deferred a lot of the credit to driver Jonathan Drury, who has driven Betting Line in three of five starts this year.

"(Drury) did an unbelievable job prepping this horse for me. He knew he wasn't going to get to keep driving the horse and he couldn't have driven the horse any better. Whenever he goes his training miles, he does the training on him for me. He talked to Dave (Miller), told him all about him. Jonathan will still drive him again in some (Ontario Sires Stakes) Golds when Dave can't make it."

As for what lies ahead for Betting Line, Coleman said she is giving the colt a week off and then he will compete in an Ontario Sires Stakes Gold event at Mohawk. She is not racing Betting Line at Pocono or in the Meadowlands Pace.

"I never paid him in. I've just had bad luck with (the Meadowlands Pace)," she said. "I'd love to win the race, no doubt. I'd love to win every race. But it was Sportswriter's last race ever. It was Art Colony's last race ever."

A mandatory payout of its Jackpot Hi-5 wager helped the Woodbine Entertainment Group (WEG) set a new wagering record both for Mohawk Racetrack and Pepsi North America Cup Night on Saturday when bettors pushed $5,241,508 through the windows.

The previous wagering high for North America Cup night was around $4.3 million, said Jamie Martin, WEG's executive Always B Miki set a 1:47.1 Canadian record when David Miller drove the older pacer to victory in the $100,000 Mohawk Gold Cup invitational. Trainer Jimmy Takter said Always B Miki is just getting started. “I have not starting putting pressure on him, yet. I’ve been babying him along and keeping him maintained. The races have three weeks apart and two weeks apart. I don’t train horses between. I do everything a little different. The four-year-old trotting mare set a track and Canadian record – and equaled the four-year-old world mark – while winning the $267,000 (Cdn) Armbro Flight at Mohawk.

by Sandra Snyder

Hannelore Hanover and Yannick Gingras were flying in the Armbro Flight.

Her competitors may not have been aware of it, but Hannelore Hanover was in command of the $267,000 (Cdn) Armbro Flight Final on Saturday night well before the Mohawk Racetrack starting gate pulled away from the field of 10.

“Heading to the gate she was pretty grabby, and so she decided what the race was going to be tonight, not me,” said driver Yannick Gingras. “The first quarter I was definitely (along) for a ride. She was gone, that wasn’t my decision.”

Hannelore Hanover fired off the gate to a :27.2 opening quarter and never gave Gingras cause to glance over his shoulder. Through a :56 half and 1:24.1 three-quarters the mare maintained a comfortable lead, and when Gingras allowed her to trot on in the stretch she accelerated away to a six-and-a-half length win in a spectacular 1:51. The mile established a new stakes, track and Canadian record and equaled the four-year-old mare world record set by Mistery Woman at Lexington in 2014.

“When she got to the front she relaxed really nicely so the middle half I just let her do her thing,” said Gingras. “I just tried to keep the pace honest – even though I was one to nine I didn’t want to jam them all up behind me – and then I let her trot a little bit down the stretch. She could have gone faster than this.”

The win was the Swan For All and High Sobriety daughter’s seventh in a four-year-old season that has surpassed the expectations of her connections. Raced just twice at two, as a three-year-old Hannelore Hanover posted a personal best 1:54 and amassed a record of eight wins, eight seconds and two thirds in 19 starts, earning $295,574 for owners Burke Racing Stable LLC of Fredericktown, PA, Weaver Brussemi LLC of Canonsburg, PA and Frank Baldachino of Clarksburg, NJ. This year the mare has only been bested once, finishing second in an open invitation at Hoosier Park on June 2.

“She’s a little healthy filly and when we were training her back this year she just came in stronger and more, just heavier set, and her attitude has been absolutely great coming back,” said trainer Mickey Burke. “We’re kind of surprised, to be honest with you. I mean, we knew she was good and a nice filly, but we’re seeing more with her than we were even expecting.”

While they have been pleasantly surprised with Hannelore Hanover’s transition to the aged mare ranks, Burke admitted that the trotter’s record setting time in the Armbro Flight Final was not entirely unexpected.

“Actually, Yannick predicted it last week,” said Burke. “After the race he goes, ‘Mickey, I was wrapped up. She’ll trot in 1:51 next week,’ and sure enough...”

A Pure Thing

by Lauren Lee

New Image Media

Pure Country (Brett Miller) returned to form to win the Fan Hanover.

After a somewhat worrisome week and a definitely worrisome first-half trip, Pure Country wiped all those cares away in an instant with a late charge past her rivals to claim the $438,000 (Cdn) Fan Hanover Final for sophomore pacing fillies on Saturday at Mohawk Racetrack.

Shuffled into the middle of the pack for most of the race while elimination winners Good Will Hanover and Darlinonthebeach fought for supremacy, Pure Country, driven by Brett Miller, fired out wide in the third quarter and stormed down the stretch to earn a one-length victory in a career-best 1:49.3.

"She was so far back and it's tough to do that here, especially against these top fillies," said trainer Jimmy Takter. "But she's just a champion. There's been two big races this year and she won them both. She's just that special.

The victory elevated Pure Country, last year's two-year-old pacing filly of the year after an undefeated 10-for-10 freshman campaign, to millionaire status and allowed her to re-establish herself as the alpha female in the division which had been called into question after two early losses in 2016.

"Last year she was so fantastic but, by the same token, the other fillies have gotten a bit better. She was better than most last year, but the competition always gets tougher at three. It's so tough to have two seasons at the top," said Takter, who scored the victory over second-place finisher Darlinonthebeach — a filly trained by Takter's daughter Nancy Johansson. Canadian champion L A Delight was third.

Despite unwavering confidence in his champion filly, owner Adam Bowden of Diamond Creek Racing had some cause for concern after last week's second-place finish in her elimination, which prompted him to text driver Brett Miller after the race and ask how she was, as she did not seem like herself to his eye.

"At first he said, 'You know, she can't be sharp for every, single race,'" said Bowden, with a laugh. "And then he texted me back less than an hour later and said, 'You're right, she scoped sick.'"

"It made me feel better to know that there was something up last week and she was much, much better tonight."

In hindsight, Bowden admitted there is hardly ever a reason to doubt Pure Country, who pushed her 2016 record to 2-1-2 from in five starts.

"I know she shows up for the big races when the money is on the line. Jimmy always has her ready," said Bowden.

"Darlinonthebeach has beat her twice this year and that's a great filly, who was second again here tonight. Along with LA Delight, those are the top three fillies and I think they'll trade blows all year and it will be a great season. I'm looking forward to it."

Gural hands Faraldo “lifetime ban”

Jeff Gural, the owner of the Meadowlands Racetrack, Vernon and Tioga Downs, said Standardbred Owners Association (SOA) of New York president Joe Faraldo is no longer welcome to race at the three tracks.

by Dave Briggs

Jeff Gural

Jeff Gural said via email Saturday that he has handed Joe Faraldo a lifetime ban from racing at Gural's three racetracks – the Meadowlands Racetrack in New Jersey and Tioga and Vernon Downs in New York.

“(Faraldo) has a lifetime ban. Last night (Friday) he entered two horses in the Billings that were trained by Richie Banca who is not allowed to participate at my tracks,” Gural wrote. “(Faraldo) put himself down as the trainer and looking at the program it was obvious that when he raced in New Jersey he put himself down as trainer and when the horse raced the next week in New York, Banca was back down (as trainer)... I thought this was a serious violation of our policies regarding drug trainers.”

When contacted, Faraldo initially referred to an email he wrote to others and asked it be published verbatim. It reads as follows:

“The horse I own Lucky Fan, racing at Vernon, just had its entry refused. So now not only am I prohibited from racing there, but so are my horses or any I own in partnership. In addition, because Gural did not get the law passed to let him race his horses – which he and the directors at Vernon personally own – in overnights, the following edict was put in place: No horse will be permitted to race or qualify if said horse is stabled at any track where the state recognized horsemen's association joined in the opposition to that proposed law.

“The law prohibiting beneficial owners of a racetrack or race secretaries from racing horses they own at their tracks came about many years ago because of abuses by a New York track owner years ago. Some of those abuses are very subtle and almost impossible to pick up, even to the discerning eye.”

Gural stressed the ban just applies to Faraldo, not others in New York that lobbied against a proposed New York State law that recently was not approved. The law, if passed, would have allowed Gural to race his horses in overnights at his own tracks (stakes are allowed).

“I can't race at either (Tioga or Vernon),” Gural said. “The law would have only affected Vernon and Tioga and was subject to having an agreement with the horsemen's association. It allowed them to revoke the privilege at any time. It was supported by the horsemen at both Vernon and Tioga and was opposed by the other horsemen's associations in New York on the grounds that integrity is very important.

“I breed in New York and own quite a few New York-breds. I have three trainers that I use that are stabled at Vernon and they have to ship two or three hours to race unless it is a stake... As a result, I no longer will allow horses stabled at other New York tracks to qualify at my three tracks. If they are at a training center or farm they are welcome and they are welcome to race at my three tracks if they are not on our list of banned trainers.”

Faraldo later added to his initial comments on the matter in a follow-up email.

“When Mr. Gural makes all the decisions in this game as arbitrarily as his temper may dictate on any given day, we are all in serious trouble,” Faraldo wrote. “Mr. Gural has placed himself as judge and jury over people’s rights in this game and has done so in a very hypocritical fashion. That has been documented. My horses train via a swimming pool and many times when amateurs race at different venues sometimes the owner/amateur driver is down as trainer. I didn’t take the entry twice, the Meadowlands did. The truth is because Mr. Gural can’t get away with some ethical breach by taking horsemen’s money via racing his own horses some BS excuse must be found to justify further arbitrary action.

That justification came after the New York State Legislature would (not) enact a provision allowing him to race his own horses at his two New York tracks. A provision affecting (Yonkers owner) Tim Rooney and others without objection for many, many years.”

Gural wrote that Faraldo, “had all of the leaders of the horsemen groups write a letter opposing (the law that would have allowed Gural to race in overnights at his tracks) on the grounds that it would threaten the integrity of the sport. Interesting since integrity doesn’t seem all that important at Yonkers with all of the trainers (the Meadowlands has) banned racing there and doing quite well including Banca... (Faraldo) is lecturing me on integrity. Everyone is afraid of him.”

Hoffman's article "perfect"

Dean (Hoffman's) article in (the June 12) issue of HRU "same old, same old" regarding the continuing declining interest in harness racing, is perfect. Here we have a business hanging on by a thread — that thread being slot machines — yet the constituents within the industry will not look at change. I could go on and on and repeat what Dean said and give personal instances of trying to explain this situation to horseman, horseman associations and track owner/operators. But that would be a total waste of copy in HRU.

My personal opinion though — and that of many horseman — is that we love harness racing. Period! We love going to the barn. We love a good race. Me, I totally love going to my great friend George Teague's barn. I get totally immersed in the people, the horses and going a fast mile with a young pacing colt/filly making sure I time my finish and beat the others to the wire! Man oh man, is that a total "high" for this near 70-year-old who has been doing the same thing for close to 50 years.

I also love the "grass roots" of harness racing, i.e. county fair racing with the stands filled with fans of all ages. What's interesting about both my last statements is I never mentioned gambling. Harness racing is THE horse racing sport where fans of all ages can get close to the action. It is tradition. It is the reason county fair racing is so popular.

So... blah, blah, blah. What's your point Jimmy? My point is that harness racing can learn from what is working. Local fans out in the wheat fields love the sport. Kids follow their parents and friends to the races. I really support the USTA's efforts with Youth Beats magazine and their efforts targeting this demographic. Folks, you are never going to get back the old days of "going to the trotters" to bet. And as the cabbie said to Dean "can't make no money betting on the trotters."

Horsemen, get with the program. This is your livelihood. Each and every one of you, promote the sport of harness racing to the youth of America. It's the KISS principle.

— Jimmy Bernstein / Boynton Beach, FL

Stop whining and think outside the box

Please let me know when the major tracks are through with the stupid amateur driver and camel racing. In the meantime, I'll go elsewhere to gamble. That's the reality of marketplace. I can only assume that the same old 1990's marketing people are pedaling this crap. In my home city we have four major casinos all within five minutes from one another. The racing community would be well served by visiting one of these casino hubs and look at the changes being made. The casinos have not put clowns in the aisle ways or piped in ridiculous music like some racetracks. They have expanded the games they offer with some being lower takeout games. If the racing community still doesn't get it then perhaps their time has come and gone.

How's this: Why can't you offer a low takeout horserace game and simply let me bet on odd or even. Odds are not even required. I am frankly tired of the whining from an industry that will not think outside of the box.

— David Perry / Dearborn, MI

Stop turning blind eye to integrity matters

I've been around harness racing for nearly 60 years and have seen just about everything one can imagine. Some good, some bad and unfortunately most ugly. In the last five or so years I have read or heard about more disgusting and disturbing infractions performed by our "licensed" participants that it makes you wonder what it takes to actually lose the "privilege" and or the "right" to race.

Apparently, killing horses due to illegal race day injections warrants no more than a slap on the wrist. Repeated driving violations such as "lack of interest" or for all you novices out there, NOT TRYING TO WIN, seems to be no problem. Betting another horse in a race you are in is no big deal. Repeated drug violations seems to get you five or six new owners, a lawyer and a list of available beards if you need one. Where is enforcement?

Harness racing is struggling to stay relevant and not perceived as nothing more than professional wrestling and yet we have convicted criminals setting up shop at most tracks such as Monticello with little or no problem. Monticello has rolled out the red carpet for trainers and drivers with off-track arrest records consisting of rape, spousal abuse, attempted murder and drug trafficking. I'm assuming serial killers were denied a license.

With that being said, I have to laugh at all these so called symposiums run by the almighty USTA with the intent of figuring out how to market our sport more effectively. Umm...how about hiring the producers of the TV show Cops to market harness racing? I can see it now... driver at Monticello tackled to the ground during the post parade by police for beating up his girlfriend in the paddock for forgetting a pair of knee boots. How about watching a trainer gets arrested at Monticello for breaking the windshield of a veterinarian's truck because he was all sold out of Glaucine and Cobalt?

Harness racing will never be perceived as legitimate until it cleans house and rids itself of these tainted trainers and drivers and yes we all know who they are, Also, key members of racetrack management and various commissions who either intentionally turn a blind eye to this problem or are just plain ignorant need to be replaced as well and yes we know the day the teat of slot money dries up will be our last.

MESSAGE TO OUR READERS

When we brought HRU back in January, we asked for your support both as readers and advertisers. We have been overwhelmed with the response so far on both ends, but still need your help to make HRU viable and sustainable. Here are three ways you can help—and they're all free:

1. If you haven't already, please subscribe to receive HRU and encourage anyone you know who might like HRU to do the same. It's quick and easy and, again, free!
2. Support the advertisers that support us. Click on their ads and check out their websites. Most ads are linked to their sites. Tell them, or us, if you like one of their ads and why. The advertisers keep HRU free for readers.
3. Write more letters. One of the most popular features of HRU is Sunday's Feedback section. We want to hear from you!

THANKS
from the new HRU Team!
