

Wiggle It Jigglet Wins a Race for the Ages in the 2015 Little Brown Jug

By Garnet Barnsdale

DELAWARE, OH - You couldn't script a harness race any better than the way the 2015 Little Brown Jug unfolded.

Doing it the tough way for the second time in a couple of hours following a hard-fought elimination win over Artspeak, heavy favorite Wiggle It Jigglet survived an all-out war with first elimination winner Lost For Words to nose that rival out right on the wire in 1:49 3/5.

In an incredible performance, Wiggle It Jigglet captured the Little Brown Jug - photo by Mark Hall (USTA)

It's hard to describe what was witnessed at the Delaware Fairgrounds. There were no breathers in this race as Lost For Words was sent out on a speed mission by driver Dave Miller as the gate pulled away. Wiggle It Jigglet got away to a "bad third" according to winning driver Montrell Teague which would force his hand to take the overland route again, same as he did in his elimination where he battled toe-to-toe with Artspeak and put that foe away late.

Lost For Words rocketed off the gate and paced the first 1/4 in 27 flat with Wiggle It Jigglet content to sit third for that opening frame. Lost For Words reached the 1/2 in 54

1/5 with Wiggle It Jigglet coming to call on the outside and Yankee Bounty in the pocket. Artspeak was on Wiggle It Jigglet's cover heading for the 3/4 and looked momentarily like he had a shot. The two leaders sprinted as much as they could go down the backstretch and when they hit the

3/4 as a team in 1:21 1/5 it became apparent that the sustained battle they had engaged in would yield the winner.

Around the last turn and for most of the stretch it appeared as though Lost For Words had inched away to Little Brown Jug glory, to the point where winning trainer George Teague said he "dropped his eyes down and stopped watching." But right on the shadow of the wire with 46,721 fans roaring, Team Teague's superstar sophomore surged up and etched himself a place not only in Little Brown Jug history, but also harness racing history in what is sure to go down as one of the greatest races ever.

"He's the gutsiest horse I've ever seen," jubilant winning driver Montrell Teague exclaimed. "He's just special and does not want to lose. He just digs down deep within himself and always finds something more."

"I thought he was beat," said the winning trainer. But then I was told he was coming back. I still cannot believe he won today. I've trained a lot of horses but I've never seen one like him. He is actually much better with a target and that's why we have always wanted to race him from off the pace. It's like he thrives on it."

Teague added that Wiggle It Jigglet will go to Hoosier next where he could engage in another battle royale with the other star Indiana-bred sophomore pacer Freaky Feet Pete. "They actually wanted us to come there this weekend, but this was the one I really wanted to win."

Wiggle It Jigglet was winning for 18th time in 20 career starts and raised his career earnings to close to $1.7 million for owner George Teague Jr. of Delaware.

Lost For Words wins first Little Brown Jug elimination in 1:50 2/5

Lost For Words took full advantage of his inside draw to lead from start to finish in the first Little Brown Jug elimination to win as the prohibitive 1/2 favorite.

The Brian Brown-trained Well Said colt who motored to the front and set a 27 flat first 1/4 fraction, was never in danger after backing the pace down to the 1/2 in 55 3/5 and repelling 2nd choice Dudes The Man's challenge in the second 1/2.

Lost For Words kicked home in 54 4/5 and kept pocket-sitter Yankee Bounty at bay by 1 1/2 lengths. Rockin In Heaven, who sat third on the inside the entire trip, finished 3rd beaten three lengths.

Winning trainer Brown said he felt confident when his horse hit the 1/2 mile pole. "I wasn't nervous with those fractions," he said. "I'd have been a lot more nervous if the first half was paced in 54 or quicker."

Lost For Words returned $3 to his many backers and combined with Yankee Bounty for a $10.80 exacta payoff. The trifecta with Rockin In Heaven 3rd returned $38.60 for every $2.

The win was Lost For Words 5th in 12 starts this year and the winner's share of the purse raised his seasonal earnings to more than $390,000 for owners Country Club Acres, W. Robinson, R Lombardo and Strollin Stable, all of Ohio.

Wiggle It Jigglet needs a track record mile to win the first Jug elimination

Scott Zeron indicated in pre-race interviews that he was intending to send Artspeak right to the front and do everything he could to beat Wiggle It Jigglet in an effort to draw the rail in the final.

True to his word, Zeron sent Artspeak and that duo never let up and it took a superior effort by Wiggle It Jigglet – punctuated by a 26 2/5 third quarter throwdown – to beat them. It would take a track record 1:49 2/5 performance by Wiggle It Jigglet to dispatch Artspeak. That clocking also equalled Rock N Roll Heaven's stakes record.

Winning driver Montrell Teague gave all the credit to his charge following the victory. "Hats off to Wiggle It Jigglet," he said. "It didn't work out as much as I wanted to. He was really strong behind the gate, so I figured I'd float out anyway and see where Artspeak was. I saw that he went out there strong, so I was just ducking in and I'm glad that Matt (Kakaley, driver of Papparazzi Hanover) helped me out a little bit because I could have been parked."

When Artspeak made the front immediately, it became apparent on the first turn that Zeron was intent on leading and was ready to leave anybody that had different ideas parked in no man's land. When My Hero Ron grabbed the pocket early and Wiggle It Jigglet tucked in third, it was obvious that Montrell Teague would need to send his gelding first up and that he did as the field hit the 1/2 in 54 3/5.

Down the backside Artspeak did everything in his power to keep his rival parked but Teague turned up the heat to the tune of a sizzling 26 2/5 third 1/4 and Wiggle It Jigglet poked a neck in front at the 1:21 3/4 pole.

The race was far from decided at that point as Artspeak gamely held his position, but the taxing third 1/4 got the better of him late as Wiggle It Jiggles it edged away in the stretch to win by 1 1/4 lengths in 1:49 2/5 over a game Artspeak. My Hero Ron was nosed out of 2nd.

The popular winner paid $3 to win and combined with Artspeak for a $4.20 exacta payoff. The trifecta combo returned $9.

French Laundry sets a world record in the Old Oaken Bucket

French Laundry stepped out of stablemate Pinkman's shadow in a big way here Saturday, easily winning the $126,000 Old Oaken Bucket and setting and lowering the world record for a 3-year-old trotting colt on a half-mile track in the process.

Under a confident drive by Yannick Gingras, the sophomore son of Muscles Yankee took over the lead just past a 28 flat opening 1/4 and was never seriously threatened. He slowed the pace to the 1/2 - reaching that station in 57 2/5 - then threw two quicker quarters at his opponents coming home and coasted to victory in a new standard of 1:53 4/5.

The former world record of 1:54 1/5 was previously set by Archangel in 2012. French Laundry's time also established a new track record at the Delaware County Fairgrounds, bettering the previous record of 1:54 2/5 set by Triumphant Caviar in 2009.

Late-closing Andy Ray, in rein to Tim Tetrick closed late for 2nd on the far outside and early leader Mesmerized held on for third. This race was all French Laundry though and his owner Marvin Katz praised the new world record holder in the winners circle.

"This colt is definitely not as temperamental as (his dam) Creamy Mimi," said co-owner Marvin Katz. "She could be cantankerous and be a handful. This colt is not like that, but he does have her ability. He has showed that just by making half a million dollars.

"This year he has just had some bad luck. That includes racing luck and some bad draws. Like the outside in the Hambletonian for instance. But we always knew he was talented and are very pleased with his win here today."

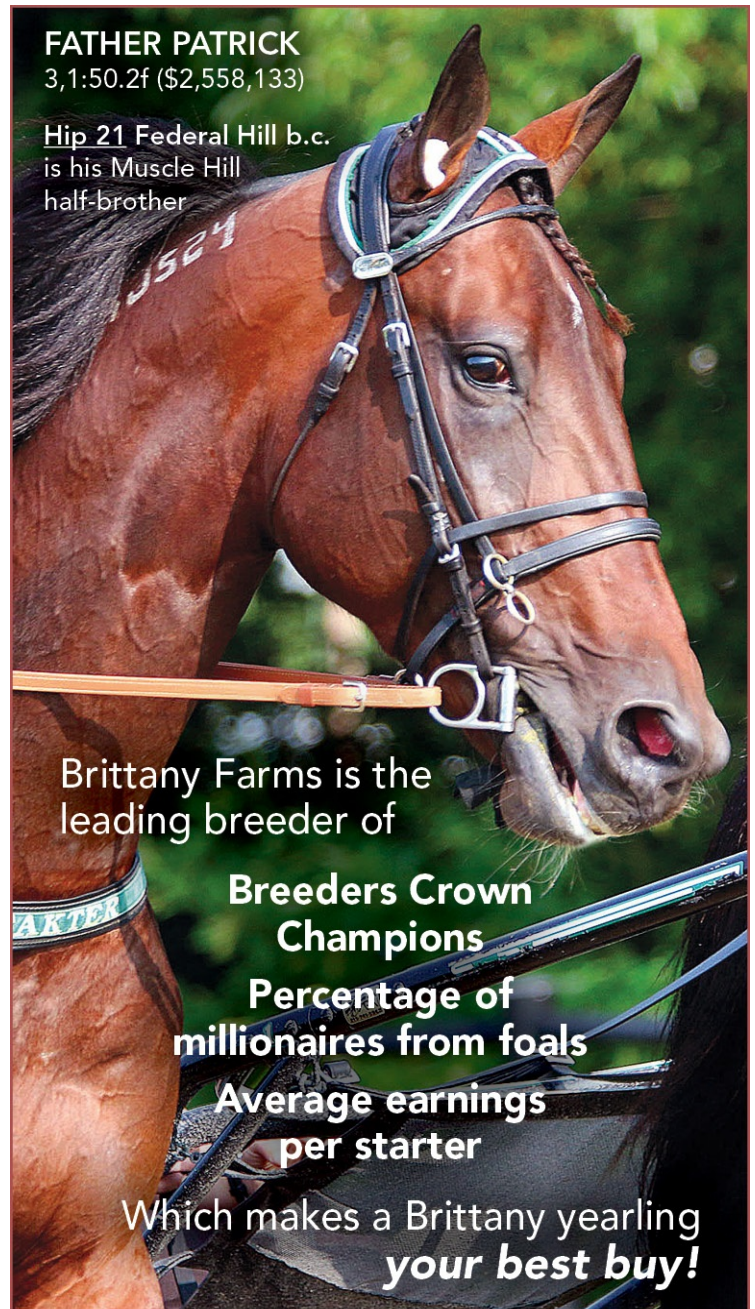

The win was the fourth this year in 14 starts for French Laundry and increased his season's earnings to close to $212,000 and boosted his lifetime earnings to more than $500,000 for Katz and partners Christina Takter, and John and Jim Fielding. All three of those partners also form a good chunk of the group that owns Pinkman, this year's Hambletonian winner.

Wiggle It Jigglet is Why We Love This Glorious Breed

I watch harness racing for a lot of reasons. I bet, I am a fan, and sometimes I watch as a horse owner. But what really gets me excited, what keeps me glued to watch any event, are great horses. I think I've watched just about every stakes race in the sport, since forever. It's just what I do, and a lot of you do exactly the same thing.

I don't know about you, but why I like it so much is that I really like the Standardbred, and what he or she represents. We do not have super well-bred million dollar yearlings or homebreds. We don't go to a two year old in training sale and spend $10 million on a horse because he or she can travel 220 yards in nine seconds. Our horses are not sports cars with seven figure price tags, they're SUV's with eight cylinders, ready to take you where you need to go. They might have a dent or two, or a hitch, or an ailment, but the true great ones race through it.

Watch the old tapes of iron-tough Dan Patch going heat after heat, watch Most Happy Fella, or Albatross, or Rambling Willie. Take out some old video of the Pacing Machine, Cam Fella, or maybe have a look at Life Sign's Little Brown Jug. You know exactly what I'm talking about.

Our great horses are just different. They have their own kind of greatness. That's the pure joy of the great old-fashioned Standardbred.

Those horses are few and far between and often you and I have to search our memory banks for them. But today - I expect we can all agree - we saw one. Wiggle It Jigglet is not Somebeachsomewhere, or Muscle Hill or Mission Brief. Those horses are great, yes, but they are modern great. They're advanced breeding great. They're slick gaited great. They're teletimer great. Wiggle It Jigglet - to me anyway - is throwback great and he strikes every note that I love about this breed.

In the first elimination today, Wiggle It was - for all intents and purposes - beaten. Barreling into the first turn he was three-high for a spell, and put in steps. Artspeak, who right now is as fast as any sophomore in harness racing, had rail control and a massive advantage. Montrell Teague did what he had to and battled Artspeak, mercilessly first-over, putting in a step or two on the far turn. Most everyone expected Artspeak to come back on, to take advantage of the well-spent and funky gaited challenger. But that never happened. The big horse dug in and got the job done.

Moving on to heat two, we probably all expected a usual second heat, i.e. a horse at 1-5 moving to the lead, securing it, and dawdling through softer fractions to victory. I am sure Team Teague would've loved that, but it didn't happen. Instead, we saw almost an exact replay of the first heat.

That was one of the toughest performances I have ever seen a hose put in. Just incredible. Wiggle It Jigglet was just incredible.

Into turn one, Wiggle It again put in some steps and an audible gasp came from the crowd of 46,000. This time it wasn't Artspeak who held rail control, but heat one winner Lost For Words and driver David Miller. Having to move early, just like he did in heat one, Montrell and the big horse battled the talented Brian Brown-trained colt and this time it looked like the tandem's luck ran out. Only it didn't. You all saw what happened.

A good deal of the time we are prone to hyperbole when a horse wins a race that's fresh in our minds. This isn't one of them. This horse was not supposed to win the first heat, let alone the second. This horse was beaten, both times. In fact, I submit that if you showed the best handicapper in the history of the sport the first seven-eighths of a mile of both heats, turned off the video and asked him or her to predict the winner, Wiggle It Jigglet would be answered in the affirmative a grand total of zero times.

So far this century we've been blessed in this sport to see a lot of good performances. We saw Somebeachsomewhere hung the mile in the Messenger, locking wheels with Shadow Play in that driving rainstorm, and still extricating himself to win. We saw Mission Brief in a world of her own in Lexington. We saw Snow White at the same locale, blow the doors off a world record. We saw Muscle Hill win the Hambo under a hold in 50. We saw Eternal Camnation race three high for almost three-quarters of a mile in a Classic Series leg and still win. For my money, this one needs to be included in that list, and if you place it at number one with a bullet, I don't think you'd get too many arguments.

Congratulations to George, Montrell, Clyde and the entire crew, but most of all, thank you to Wiggle It Jigglet. You are a true throwback, and it's horses like you that remind us why we all fell in love with this breed in the first place - the tough as nails, fight through adversity, try your guts out, Standardbred.

--"I watched a little of the USTA speaker series and caught a few gems from George Teague, son Montrell and trainer Clyde Francis. There were so many snips that made me say "that's harness racing." Trying to pry information from a Thoroughbred trainer about a horse's health and soundness is like uncovering the combination to Fort Knox.

In harness, George and crew were open, honest and willing to discuss their horse. It's a huge difference between the two sports. I also enjoyed George's comments about racing horses. 'We are not going to duck anyone, we won't overmanage him, he is in the box to race', paraphrasing. That's old-time harness racing.

--Jugette Day was enjoyable, and Sassa Hanover - last year's bridesmaid to JK Shesalady- rose to the top with a deserved victory. In the pools, the power of the pick 4 in harness racing - especially those of the 15% takeout or lower variety - was on display. The pick 4 in race 12 outhandled the exacta and trifecta pools combined. That's rare folks. Overall, handle was good.

--Spider Man Hanover is a big strong guy who really lit up the teletimer in the 2nd division of the Standardbred. I think we have to keep an eye on this son of Western Ideal late this year, and into next.

--I'm pretty amazed how these drivers go for it in the Fair finals Jug week. To see this many back halves of 1:01 we'd need to step into a time machine and dial up 1971 Roosevelt.

--Speaking of Sam McKee and crew, I thought they did a good job again this year.

--46,721 was the announced attendance. The Little Brown Jug - no matter what happens to the sport of harness racing - will be around forever.

CHAPTER SEVEN

Meadowlands Looking To Drop Thursdays, Race in September and Do Away With Late Closers

By Bill Finley

Meadowlands track owner Jeff Gural reports that he will be asking the New Jersey Racing Commission to allow changes to the 2016 racing schedule that will include dropping Thursday racing in the winter and adding cards in September.

Traditionally, the Meadowlands has closed after the Hambletonian. The 2016 plan calls for racing to shut down briefly after the Hambletonian and then resume in September for a month of Friday and Saturday night cards.

In addition, Gural says he and his staff are looking at dropping many of the wintertime "late closer" races.

"What we want to do is drop Thursdays and replace them with three, maybe four weekends in September," Gural said. "We'll see what happens. One of the reasons for that is that we want to find ways to make use of the building 52 weeks a year. Also, by dropping Thursdays in the winter it should make for better racing when we do race. We'll be carding 25 races a week, instead of 35.

Gural said that the late closer races are on the chopping block because they traditionally have not attracted good betting fields.

"In the late closers we don't get enough horses to make them decent races," he said. "What you wind up having is too many 1-5 shots. With the lack of horses out there, I just think we're better off not having them."

In addition, Gural said some Grand Circuit-type stakes races may be dropped in 2016 because of the addition of the Breeders Crown events to the schedule. And he will be looking to other tracks, besides the ones he owns, to pick up legs of the Graduate Series, which is restricted to 4-year-olds.

New Entry Rules Passed in New York

To the relief of horseplayers who hate 1-9 entries, the New York Gaming Commission has approved new rules that will uncouple horses in races worth $100,000 or more. A similar rule for thoroughbreds went into effect for the thoroughbreds at the start of the Saratoga meet in July, but, until yesterday, the standardbred rules had been different.

Whenever the Commission approves a rule there is a brief waiting period before it goes into effect, usually about

WEG Adds Pick-5 for Woodbine Standardbred Meet Wagering Menu

TORONTO, ON - A new wager will be introduced when Standardbred racing returns to Woodbine on Thursday, October 1.

A Standardbred Pick-5, which will offer a 20-cent bet minimum and a 15% takeout, will be added to the betting menu, kicking off nightly in Race 1 and be paid out every card.

The Standardbred Pick-5 requires fans to select the winner of the first five races on the program on one ticket.

"The Standardbred Pick-5 is an attractive proposition for our core fan base with its low bet minimum and low takeout," said Greg Martin, Senior Director of Wagering Operations for Woodbine Entertainment Group (WEG), which will host the 2015-2016 Premier Standardbred racing season in Ontario at Woodbine through March. "Players will have the flexibility to use many horses in multiple races affordably with the 20-cent minimum presenting a chance at a lucrative payoff instantly."

The Standardbred Jackpot Pick-6, a wager that was added for the 2015 Mohawk meet, will offer a mandatory payout this Tuesday, September 29, the final card of the campaign and be discontinued. The current carryover is $8,623.84.

The popular Jackpot Hi-5 bet, with its large mutuel pool and low takeout, will continue nightly and currently offers a carryover of $284,450.84.
