Is earlier Big M post a waste of time?

As one seasoned Meadowlands bettor said, having less time between races and ending the card earlier would be a more promising development.

MEADOWLANDS MATTERS with DEBBIE LITTLE

Starting last week, The Meadowlands officially shifted to an earlier post time, moving to 6 p.m. from their traditional 6:20 p.m.

According to Big M chief operating officer/general manager Jason Settlemoir, the earlier post will stay in play for the next couple of months.

"We're going to stay at 6 o'clock until we get closer to the Championship Meet [which starts on May 1], then we'll make a decision about it," Settlemoir said.

There is no question that Mother Nature has not been on the side of horsepeople or gamblers in East Rutherford, NJ, this year since six of the last 11 cards were canceled due to extreme cold temperatures and inclement weather.

Perhaps the highlight of the meet so far came on Jan. 24, when that Saturday night card saw the mile oval handle over $3 million for the first and only time this season.

That card was not a typical night at the track, since the 14 races started at 6 p.m. rather than 6:20 p.m., and were judiciously expedited by the powers that be in order to get horsepeople, employees, and customers home safely before the impending blizzard that eventually dropped over a foot of snow on the area. Race 14 went off that night at 10:47 and handled $176,124, a more than respectable number for the last race on the card.

Since then, The Meadowlands has conducted three live cards — Feb. 6, 13, and 14 — all with a 6 p.m. first post but without the same fast pace throughout the night as on Jan. 24.

To be fair, the three February cards all had 15 races, which, no matter how you slice it, would take longer than 14, but the question that some fans/bettors are asking is "Why so much longer?"

HRU contacted a seasoned big bettor at The Meadowlands to get his take on the Jan. 24 card and the earlier start time.

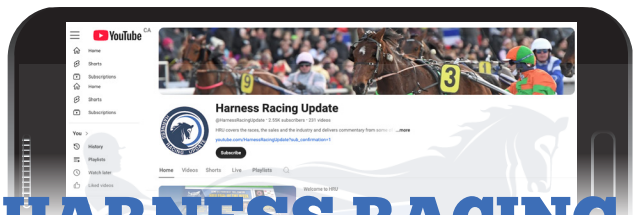

"I'll be honest with you, Saturday night (Feb. 14), I turned [The Meadowlands show] on for a little bit at the end, after coming back from dinner, and it was just dragging so slow, I just tuned out in the last couple of races," he said. "I'm like, this is just taking too long. This is getting boring."

Race 15 on Feb. 14 went off at 11:39 p.m., just as it did the night before, almost an hour later than it did on Jan. 24, and the handles for the last race on those two later nights were $122,706 (Feb. 13) and $149,508 (Feb. 14).

The Big M big better said he did watch and wager on the Jan. 24 card and even though he's not a fan of the 6 p.m. start time, because traffic makes it hard to get there on time on a Friday night, he is a fan of less time between races and for the entire card.

"A regular Meadowlands bettor like me, at some point on Wednesday or Thursday night, has gone through the program already... so, what am I doing between the races?" he said. "The Meadowlands would be more attractive to me as a casual fan if I knew I could get there at 6:30 for the first race, and I could probably catch the whole card and be out of there by 10:30. Not many people stay there past 9 o'clock, 9:30, except the hardcore guys."

His suggestion was to try to repeat what they did on Jan. 24, but to let bettors know in advance what's coming.

"Let the public know that The Meadowlands is going to be doing an experiment where not only are they starting at 6 o'clock, but there's going to be a hard cap of 15 minutes where the next race is going to be 15 minutes later," he said. "And if everyone knew about that, I don't think you're going to lose money in the pools, and the people won't be blindsided, and they know they've got to get their bets in… I'd rather be at a sporting event for two hours than four hours and be entertained. I'd rather be at the races for three and a half to four hours and get through a card than be dragging it six hours, because, again, what are people doing between races?

"If they're handicapping the card for the first time it gives them a little time, but the ones that are handicapping between races probably don't really know much about handicapping, so they could do it in probably three minutes, because they'll pick the name of the horse or the color or who looks cute out there, and the hardcore 'cappers have probably already read the program the night before, so you're not going to lose betters by speeding it up. That's my opinion."

Even though one of the biggest arguments made against lessening the time between races is that bettors will not have enough time to get their bets in, he said it's not true.

"If there are 12 minutes between the races or 24 minutes, I'm going to get my bet in; it's not like I'm going to get shut out," he said with a laugh. "But when you drag it on, bettors like me, we lose interest as it gets to the end of the card, especially if you're at the track, and then you've got to get home afterwards, and I'm not home till 12:30 or 12:40 a.m., it's just too long."

He mentioned how the 15-second pitch clock has dramatically shortened baseball games and would love to see harness racing implement their own version of it.

"It's shorter because we live in a society now where people's attention spans is not there," he said. "They want to be entertained, but they don't want it to drag on. With a horse racing experience at The Meadowlands, you'll say 6:20 post time, but half the time that first race goes off at like 6:35. You can't captivate everyone's attention for five and a half, six hours. We live in a society that kind of likes quick action.

"That's the beauty of horse racing, here it could be rapid fire, but it's the lag between races, and does it really add money to the pools? If everyone knows that the post time really is going to be in 13 minutes, and there's not going to be a drag, and it's consistent, then people are going to know they've got to get their bets in, and you won't lose bettors later in the card. I've got to imagine you're losing bettors later in the card because of it."

Comparing one card to another is more like equating apples to oranges than apples to apples, since unforeseen delays such as equipment or tote issues or inquiries and accidents can totally change what happens and how long it takes.

The total handle for the three cards that have taken place since Jan. 24 — Feb. 6 ($2,608,671), Feb. 13 ($2,829,403), and Feb. 14 ($2,753,693) — are good, but not close to $3,379,086.

The Jan. 24 card proves it's possible to start a card at 6 p.m. and have it take less than five hours and still handle well. It's not just speculation. Can it be replicated? We won't know until somebody tries.

The seasoned big bettor said one of his biggest concerns is that the sport is going to fade out because people like him who love it continue to get older, and there are not necessarily a ton of replacements waiting in the wings.

"Thank God for John Rallis and Cheyenne Christman and Meadow Twaddle, but there's not enough young people that like it because they don't understand it and when they come for the experience, it's entertaining, but a five and a half or six-hour experience is just too long for new people," he said.

O'Donnell's work in Ontario was instrumental in earning Bergstein-Proximity Award

Hall of Famer Bill O'Donnell, the president and co-founder of the Central Ontario Standardbred Association that represents the province's horsepeople, will receive the USHWA Stan Bergstein-Proximity Award on Sunday at the Dan Patch Awards in Orlando, FL.

There are multiple reasons the harness racing industry should celebrate the fact Bill O'Donnell permanently deferred his spot in electricians' school as a young man – not the least of which is the fact he is still alive.

"Knowing myself, I would have been dead long ago," O'Donnell said, laughing. "I would have fried myself with electricity."

> "When I first saw the Dan Patch nominees [for the Stan Bergstein-Proximity Award], I said, 'Why the hell would I be on that list?' I'm dumbfounded, really. But any time your name's affiliated with Stan Bergstein, that's quite an honor."

Bill O'Donnell at the 2024 Lexington Selected Yearling Sale.

Instead, O'Donnell took a permanent detour into the harness racing industry.

He was instrumental in ushering in the catch-driver era, became one of the greatest drivers in the sport's history, was the first person to surpass $10 million in purse earnings in a single year (1985) and is now enshrined in multiple Halls of Fame, including the Canadian Horse Racing Hall of Fame, Canada's Sports Hall of Fame, the U.S. Harness Racing Hall of Fame, and the Nova Scotia Sports Hall of Fame in his home province.

But it's O'Donnell's post-participant work as the co-founder and only president of the Central Ontario Standardbred Association (COSA), as much as anything, that has earned him his latest honor: the United States Harness Writers Association's (USHWA) Stan Bergstein-Proximity Award to be presented Sunday (Feb. 22) at the Dan Patch Awards banquet in Orlando, FL. The award is USHWA's highest honor solely voted on by its membership.

COSA represents the harness horsepeople at all 12 of Ontario's standardbred racetracks. During O'Donnell's 17-year tenure, there has been labor peace with the Woodbine Entertainment Group (WEG) that operates racing in the province.

"I really admire [O'Donnell] for everything he's done for the horsepeople in Ontario," said John Campbell, president/chief executive officer of the Hambletonian Society and O'Donnell's long-time friend and former driving rival. "It's a thankless job.

> "I really admire [Bill O'Donnell] for everything he's done for the horsepeople in Ontario. It's a thankless job."
> ~ John Campbell

"[Maintaining labor peace is] good business on both sides. Harness racing is not dealing from strength as an industry at this time. So, I think any inner turmoil we have is detrimental to what we're trying to do moving forward – putting the best product out that we can and presenting what we're putting out there in the best possible light. The worst thing we can do is have inner turmoil at this time in any jurisdiction.

"Not that Bill won't stand up for what he thinks is right. But, rather than confront people, he'd rather work and try and get it worked out so it benefits both sides."

O'Donnell, who is loath to speak about his accomplishments, will allow that he's proud that COSA has provided important benefits to its members and has been able to sign a number of long-term contracts with WEG.

> "Bill [O'Donnell] deserves tremendous credit for taking the lead role in organizing COSA at a time when horsepeople did not have representation at WEG tracks. I don't think anyone else had the respect of leading owners and trainers to carry it out, and the desire to take on the effort."
> – Jamie Martin

"We've had two or three five-year ones, I think, and then we got three years this last time," O'Donnell said. "[The industry is] getting tougher for damn sure, so just to have a relationship with [WEG is important]. There's no sense in fighting with them. You can't win. Besides, they're not that unreasonable to deal with in the long run."

Former WEG vice president of racing Jamie Martin used to sit across the negotiating table from O'Donnell and COSA.

"Bill deserves tremendous credit for taking the lead role in organizing COSA at a time when horsepeople did not have representation at WEG tracks," Martin said. "I don't think anyone else had the respect of leading owners and trainers to carry it out, and the desire to take on the effort."

Long-time standardbred owner Bill Manes has been a COSA director for about 12 years. He said O'Donnell, "wears many hats, and he's very knowledgeable about the industry. I think he takes a lot of unjustified complaints from people that don't maybe know the industry [as well]. He's a good leader on the board, he's very approachable and you can call him any time… He's a good guy."

Manes said O'Donnell also sits on numerous industry boards, including the board of Ontario Racing, where he represents Standardbred horsepeople. O'Donnell also sits on Ontario Racing's executive committee and is on the Standardbred Horse Improvement Program (HIP) administration committee.

"He is probably on half a dozen boards, at least," Manes said. "Anything to do with the racing and he's on it."

But that's all more recent history. More than 15 years after his regular driving career effectively ended, O'Donnell is still revered as one of the greatest to ever sit in a sulky. He is also regarded as the man that changed the game.

Before O'Donnell and Campbell and others dominated the sport with their ability to make horses go fast, those horses were predominantly driven by their trainers. In 1984, legendary horseman Billy Haughton took himself out of Nihilator's sulky and handed the reins to O'Donnell for the $2.1 million Woodrow Wilson final at The Meadowlands. O'Donnell promptly drove Nihilator to victory. Given the stature of Haughton, Nihilator, and the Woodrow Wilson, at that time, it is regarded as the ceremonial beginning of the era of driving specialists that still exists today.

But O'Donnell, one of the sport's master storytellers, said he believes the catch-driver era actually began a year earlier when he filled in for Haughton and drove Signed N Sealed to victory in the Kentucky Pacing Derby at Louisville Downs.

"Afterward, [Haughton] was washing his face in the washroom when I came back from the winner's circle," O'Donnell said. "Billy Popfinger was in there, too, and they didn't get along very well. Popfinger said to Haughton, 'You're going to ruin this business bringing these catch drivers around to drive our horses on the Grand Circuit.' Haughton looked at him and said, 'Whose business? I just got five per cent [commission] and I didn't have to do anything.'"

O'Donnell said he owes his career to having the good fortune of being first at a few important junctures – the catch-driver era, the $10 million season, etc.

"It's not something no one else has done, but it's being the first," he said. "There's not going to be two firsts."

O'Donnell said winning an award named for the late legend Stan Bergstein is incredibly meaningful. Bergstein had many prominent roles in harness racing – TV broadcaster, race caller, publicist, race secretary, journalist, founder of both the Harness Tracks of America and the World Driving Championships, and many more.

"The first I knew of Stan Bergstein was watching him, and he was really promoting me on his TV show [in New York City], which helped a lot," O'Donnell said. "Then, I got to meet him and know him, and he was such a genuine guy, and loved the business. He absolutely loved the business, and he was good at it. How he thought about the industry was on a different level."

As for his speech in Orlando, O'Donnell said it's going to be short.

"When I first saw the Dan Patch nominees, I said, 'Why the hell would I be on that list?' I'm dumbfounded, really. But any time your name's affiliated with Stan Bergstein, that's quite an honor."

Brinkerhoff's connection to Beau Jangles' family spans generations

by James Platz

Dave Landry

Bloodstock consultant Bruce Brinkerhoff is also the co-manager of the Lexington Selected Yearling Sale.

Sunday night in Orlando, FL, undefeated Beau Jangles will be recognized as the sport's top freshman male pacer during the Dan Patch Awards. The colt is also a strong contender for both Pacer of the Year and Horse of the Year honors. For Bruce Brinkerhoff, the evening will be a dream realized.

"It's a dream come true," he said. "I started as a young kid following harness horses, and I was interested in pedigrees and the breeding end of it. So, to be associated with these kinds of horses, it's a dream come true and it's such a pleasure."

Brinkerhoff serves as co-sale manager for the Lexington Selected Sale, but he is also a successful bloodstock consultant. He counts Tara Hills Stud, breeder of Beau Jangles, as one of his longtime clients. When the Port Perry, ON farm relocated stallion Cattlewash to the province, Brinkerhoff had a hand in identifying and acquiring mares to be bred to the son of Somebeachsomewhere. This is where his past affiliations helped influence the future.

March will mark 40 years since Brinkerhoff first crossed paths with what would become the family of Beau Jangles. The date is forever seared in his memory.

"I went to work for Bob O'Donnell's Hobby Horse Farm in Grafton, OH," Brinkerhoff said. "I started March 23, 1986. I became the manager of the breeding division. The reason I know that is because I came in that morning and there was a foal laying there, he had been born that night. And that horse's name was Chris Can't Miss."

Raised at Hobby Horse Farm and sold for $77,000 at the Kentucky Standardbred Sale as Hip #6, Chris Can't Miss would debut as a freshman with a new name, Kassa Branca. The son of No Nukes went on to capture the Woodrow Wilson in a world record 1:52.3, breaking Nihilator's mark from four years earlier.

While Kassa Branca is not tied to the lineage of Beau Jangles (apologies for the slight digression), mare Richelle Hanover is. Upon his arrival at Hobby Horse Farm, Brinkerhoff was also charged with raising a foal from the Dancer Hanover mare by first crop sire Ralph Hanover. The filly, named Osh Kosh B Gosh, was the 10th from the mare, then 17 years old. She would go on to race under the name of Buzzy's Gal, only making $1,383. Her real value came later as a broodmare.

Brinkerhoff's stay at Hobby Horse Farm lasted only three years, as O'Donnell retired and sold the property. He departed with a great appreciation for Richelle Hanover, which would come into play in the decades to come. For her part, the mare produced 12 different winners, including Jugette champion Misty Raquel, and the family has proven to be incredibly productive. More on that later.

Fast forward to the Harrisburg sale in 1999. Brinkerhoff was at the sale looking for New York-bred pacing fillies for a client. He settled on a yearling whose pedigree connected back to his Hobby Horse days.

"We looked at quite a few New York bred pacing fillies, and they wanted to know which one I liked the best," he said. "Well, I kept coming back to one particular filly. She was a great granddaughter of that Richelle Hanover mare that I had at Hobby Horse Farm. I knew that pedigree and I loved that mare. I liked her conformation. I thought she was the best one for them to buy, which they did."

Bunny Lake was the yearling in question. Her second dam, Rah Rah Rah, was a daughter of Richelle Hanover, and a six-time winner on the track with a 1:58.1 clocking. Bred by Peter Heffering, Bunny Lake would go on to win just over $2.8 million and was named the nation's top sophomore pacing filly, Pacer of the Year, and Horse of the Year in 2001.

Leading into the 2022 Tattersalls Winter Mixed Sale at The Meadowlands, the Heffering family needed to acquire additional mares to pair with the new stallion they added to the Tara Hills offerings. Brinkerhoff worked with the family to put together a list of prospects that they felt could complement Cattlewash, one of which was purchased out of the Harrisburg sale. Still looking to add another, David Heffering attended the Tattersalls sale with the list.

"We looked through the catalog and picked out three or four mares that were in that catalog that would fit the budget we were looking for," Brinkerhoff said. "Once again, I had found a mare that was from the family of Richelle Hanover, and this mare herself was a granddaughter of Bunny Lake. David had our list, and then he sent me pictures of the mare, and I thought she looked like she'd work."

> "It's a dream come true [to see Beau Jangles honored at the Dan Patch Awards]. I started as a young kid following harness horses, and I was interested in pedigrees and the breeding end of it. So, to be associated with these kinds of horses, it's a dream come true and it's such a pleasure."

Mrs Major Hill won five times in her career, pacing in 1:53 as a sophomore. The Art Major mare is out of Bunny's Legacy, the first foal from Bunny Lake and one of only four mares produced by the champion.

"She looked like she was a well-balanced, correct mare," Brinkerhoff said. "And, you know, Cattlewash is a true 'Somebeach' line horse. There's a lot of substance to him, and he's a stout horse. She didn't seem to be too big and too heavy, and would complement what Cattlewash was physically."

And complement the sire she did. Beau Jangles, Mrs Major Hill's first foal sold with the name TH Bo Jangles, turned in a flawless freshman campaign that could net additional hardware for the pacer's connections Sunday night. Should the votes fall in Beau Jangles' favor and he is named Horse of the Year, it would bring things full circle for the Heffering family. Brinkerhoff credits Tara Hills' approach to breeding and the goal of producing top horses.

"The efforts with Tara Hills, it's a team effort," Brinkerhoff said. "With David Heffering and Norah Heffering and Matt Harrison, the farm manager. We put our heads together and we all have our different strengths, but we all work together to try to produce good horses.

"There are no guarantees in the breeding game. You just have to use your best judgment, and then hopefully it all works out."

Last month Beau Jangles was named 2-Year-Old Pacing Colt of the Year and Horse of the Year in Canada. The success of the Dr. Ian Moore trainee again reinforced Brinkerhoff's belief in the maternal line.

> "I've certainly done well with that family [of Beau Jangles]. It has treated me very well."
> ~ Bruce Brinkerhoff

"I've certainly done well with that family," he said. "It has treated me very well."

Brinkerhoff believes that the descendants of Richelle Hanover have done so well that she merits consideration for the Hall of Fame. Besides Bunny Lake and Misty Raquel, horses tracing back to the broodmare have combined purse earnings of $81 million. That group includes the likes of two-time Dan Patch Award winner See You At Peelers, millionaires Chairmanoftheboard, Southwind Gendry, and Speed Again, O'Brien Award winner Its A Love Thing and Dan Patch 2-Year-Old Pacing Filly of the Year Geocentric.

"She was a special mare for us to be associated with," Brinkerhoff said of Richelle Hanover's potential candidacy. "There's no better time to try to do it than right now. Strike while the iron is hot with Beau Jangles."

Just the facts Orlando edition

by Bob Heyden

Horse of the Year will be announced this weekend on Sunday (Feb. 22) in Orlando, FL.

Let's dive into a dozen facts looking at past winners, some of this year's honorees, and some what-ifs surrounding the possible Pacer, Trotter, and Horse of the Year (HOY).

1. It's been 26 years, the longest gap ever, since anyone repeated as Horse of the Year: Moni Maker (1998-99). That may be in jeopardy if Beau Jangles is named HOY on Sunday. Three other male freshman won the HOY title and all three repeated at 3 with a combined 92.2 per cent of the first-place votes: Bret Hanover (1964-65), Nevele Pride (1967-68), and Niatross (1979-80).

2. If Lexus Kody is crowned Horse of the Year, he will be the first 7-year-old to do so since McWicked did it in 2018.

3. If Chris Ryder, who trained last year's Horse of the Year Twin B Joe Fresh, repeats with a female HOY with Miki And Minnie, it would be the ninth time a trainer has repeated (Stanley Dancer did it twice). But no trainer has done it back-to-back with a pair of pacing females.

4. Good Time was in the top four in the HOY balloting four-straight years: 1949 (winner), 1950 (third), 1951 (fourth), and 1952 (winner again).

5. With just 10 starts in 2012, Chapter Seven had the fewest ever for a HOY.

6. Bret Hanover (1964-66) and Nevele Pride (1967-69) remain history's only HOY three-peaters. Bret took down 69.9 per cent of the vote (392 of 561) combined and Nevele Pride followed right on his heels with 61.4 per cent (412.5 of 672).

7. Eight of the first 23 HOY winners had a time trial as their lifetime mark.

8. It's been a quarter-of-a-century since the HOY had double-digit losses. If Lexus Kody (11 wins in 21 starts) wins the top honor this weekend, he will join Gallo Blue Chip who won in 2000 with 19 wins in 29 starts.

9. Trainer Ron Burke, off his record year, will be prominently featured throughout the evening on Feb. 22. He actually shared his first divisional winner with his father Mickey, Buck I St Pat (2008).

10. Seven of the first eight Horses of the Year did not reach $100G. Good Time was the first to do it in 1952 ($110,299).

11. It's not how you start but how you finish. Right? Well, for those not in the Lexus Kody camp, they better hope for some widespread amnesia. You see, Lexus Kody made $947,400 in his final six starts. That figure is more than any other older male trotter for the entire 2025 season.

12. Sam Bowie will be in the building on Feb. 22 and presenting Trotter of the Year. The former University of Kentucky center and 11-year NBA veteran is an avid fan and successful owner. Drafted ahead of Michael Jordan in 1984 at No. 2, you simply can't argue with the top 5 chosen that year with Akeem Olajuwon No. 1, Bowie (2), Jordan (3), Charles Barkley (4), and Sam Perkins (5). That was the 1985 NBA All-Rookie Team.

MANE ATTRACTION

with JOHN BERRY

Odds and ends: BDHC members have questions

by John Berry

Anybody who bets on our beloved horses becomes a member of our BDHC (Broken Down Horseplayers Club).

Some members have been in this distinguished club for many, many years (66 years for me) and they tend to have questions here and there about all the nuances that happen from set post times to today's drag when the gate opens and the bell rings signaling "off" time and no more bets.

Here are a couple of the more interesting ones we've tackled in this Mane Attraction.

The first question is from M.P.

"If most of the money is bet during the time the [betting] window's open, what might be the cause of a horse's odds going from, say, 15-1 down to 6-1 after the start of a race?" he said.

Actually, the vast majority of wagering on our equine athletes is in the final stages of the betting — a minute or so — and the tote board could take as long as the "normal" 45 second cycle to post the final odds.

That's when all of the final bets are dumped in the system and that's exactly when the significant odds changes occur.

Like it was mentioned in the last Mane Attraction, if you see a significant bump downward such as 6-1 down to 9-5 or similar, it could very well increase the value of wagers on other horses — so one huge downward tick might be a boon to the other entrants and their odds.

The new phenomenon of algorithm betting — explained below — may play a huge roll in the betting pools and these algorithm bets might just benefit the non-favorites since favorites lose 60-65 per cent of the time.

Algorithm bets are automated systems that are based on statistics and data to predict value driven opportunities by analyzing an overwhelming number of points including past performances, drivers (or jockeys), trainer statistics, weather, and historical situations, whereas the average BDHC punter is looking over a program that judges performances over a limited period of time, maybe, even, just a few days.

Algorithm bets also take away any bias that we, as horseplayers, tend to see, such as a beautiful grey horse on the track or one that may look a bit iffy in its warm-up — which may, indeed, be a negative in algorithm betting.

> "For every horse in a prestigious stakes race, there are thousands of owners that were kept in business because of The Red Man. Didn't matter if they paced or trotted in 2:02 or 2:05, when we got the checks, the time wasn't on it, just some nice numbers in back of a dollar sign."
> ~ Allan G.

There are modeling techniques used in this form of betting, as well, the system attempts to find true probability against the posted odds.

That leads us to the next question.

HRU reader Luke the Pan Man asked, "What is your opinion of the morning line in horse racing?"

Personally, I LOVE IT!

I love it because you, as well as other BDHC members, can take advantage of miscalculated morning lines.

All pari-mutuel tracks have a magic number, which is determined by the takeout on win wagering.

That magic number may be as low as 118 or as high as 127.

In making a morning line, each horse is assigned a number of points, i.e., 3-1 equals 25 points because 3+1 = 4 and, then, 4 divided into 100 equals 25, so a 3-1 morning line equals 25 points of the magic number.

The magic number is the total number of points of all the listed horses in a race less the takeout percentage to bring the number down to as close to 100 per cent as possible — the net payout available to the winners.

An example of this would be, if a track has a 19 per cent takeout for win wagering, the magic number would be 123 because 19 per cent of 123 equals 23.27, bringing the net pool payout to 99.63 per cent, about as close to 100 as possible, the remainder known as breakage.

Some morning lines are done by computer and some by the human hand.

> "Besides my brother, Buddy Regan played a role in any success I have had. He is a great trainer and I am a great driver, so it was a really nice match."
> ~ Carmine Abbatiello

The morning line is only valid if it can be achieved on a tote board.

It looks like most morning lines are trying to show who the logical winner might be.

My Mane Attraction philosophy is that the morning should show where the money will flow and not, necessarily, which horse will win.

And there lies your advantage, coupled with the fact that, if you are on track or have a very large screen television, you can visualize your selection for soundness in the post parade.

Yes, if the professional morning line odds maker does it by his own hand, he or she has the advantage of watching every single horse take every single step in every race and see things the average fan might not see.

If it is done by computer, all of that visualized information advantage is lost with the computer assigning the morning line odds on past performance lines.

A disadvantage, of course, is that the morning line is prepared a couple of days in advance so the morning line odds maker can't use the post parade to pass that info along to the patron.

Here are the points for a few "odds" that are common in the morning line: 15-1 = 6.25, 10-1 = 9.09, 6-1 = 14.38, 9-2 = 18.18, 7-2 = 22.22, 5-2 = 28.57, 8-5 = 38.46, and 1-1 = 50.

I have seen horses that are 15-1 in the program morning line and as low as 3-1 on my personal morning line. Just remember to do your own morning line first before even looking at the one in the program as that may influence you in changing your mind.

I have seen it the other way, as well, as the early morning-line favorite is at 5-2 and is 8-1 on mine.

Most of you BDHC punters have been at this a long time and your opinion is as worthy as theirs.

Finally, I have seen a whole slew of commentary on the passing of Carmine Abbatiello, just about all of it very complimentary but one or two others in a weak attempt at being the devil's advocate, including a comment from Jerry L. that he didn't travel out of the Roosevelt-Yonkers circuit.

Soooo, here's my answer to Jerry L.

Abbatiello did more in popularizing harness racing throughout his career than could ever be imagined.

After his Port Richmond High School days in Staten Island, he went right into the sport, his "Harvard" education concerning harness racing was from his older brother, Anthony (Tom or Tommy to his friends) and that education lasted eight years, at which time Carmine opened his public stable.

He was winning races years before graduating "Summa cum laude" under Anthony's tutelage with his very first win in 1957 at the age of 19; even finishing in the top 25 in dash wins in 1962 finishing that year just $2 shy of $100,000 in purse earnings.

Yes, Carmine was so popular that the fans named him "The Red Man" as his dominance on that local circuit was undeniable.

As standardbred owner Allan G. recalled, "For every horse in a prestigious stakes race, there are thousands of owners that were kept in business because of The Red Man.

"Didn't matter if they paced or trotted in 2:02 or 2:05, when we got the checks, the time wasn't on it, just some nice numbers in back of a dollar sign."

While his skills kept countless owners afloat in a difficult vocation to show profits, they reached far beyond that closely knit RR-YR circuit as he not only won driving titles there, he also won titles while prominent at Monticello, Freehold, and The Meadowlands.

Year after year after year, he was in the top 10 in wins and, in many instances — 15 — he was in the top 10 in purse earnings for owners, enriching them to the tune of $50 million dollars.

And, when he delved out of his supposed personal comfort zone competing in overnight events, he proved he could handle himself in the elite races, as well.

From the prestigious George Morton Levy Memorial with Newt Lobell (1981) and Curragh (1988) to the Sheppard Pace with All In One (1974) and Smooth Fella (1975) to the Su Mac Lad and the Dygert Memorial with Manfred Hanover (both in 1986), and let's not forget Smartest Remark in the Meadowlands Pace consolation that same year, these were just a handful of stakes wins in the company of the elite.

Throughout his career, he plied his trade against the best drivers in the sport — Herve Filion, Buddy Gilmour, "Toothpick" Del Insko, Billy Haughton, the Dancers and dozens and dozens more — and remained at the top for over a quarter century.

Confident beyond words, he said to me many years ago, "Besides my brother, Buddy Regan played a role in any success I have had."

Carmine added with a smile, "He is a great trainer and I am a great driver, so it was a really nice match."

Recalling his exploits in the elite Schaefer Beer winner's circle commercial from many years ago, it's sad to see The Red Man silenced, but, surely, this day, he's in the most elite circle above.

May The Horse Be With Carmine!

THE DOWN UNDER DIARY

with ADAM HAMILTON

Longtime leviathan owner Mick Boots on a roll early in the season

by Adam Hamilton

The Mick Boots show has just started.

Boots, a former garbage man, pub worker, and truck driver, made a fortune transforming his father's landscaping business and selling it a few years ago.

He got the "bug" for harness racing in 2009 through his first pacer Jaydens Castle and has turned into a dynasty since selling the business.

"I've got over 300 racehorses now, plus the mares and babies at home," he said.

Boots is notoriously reclusive, but his emergence as a huge force, initially through champion stayer Swayzee, has forced him into the public eye.

He doesn't enjoy the limelight, but he knows it's important for the game.

That was clear for all to see when the self-proclaimed "knockabout bloke who will have a beer and chat with anybody" was front and center on his biggest and most successful night at the races on Hunter Cup night at Melton last Saturday.

Boots won three feature races at Melton, including the Group 1 Hunter Cup itself for the second successive year with Swayzee (Rock N Roll Heaven—Lettucereason).

Stuart McCormick

Mick Boots (left) and driver Cam Hart after Swayzee won the Hunter Cup on Feb. 14.

It was the first time a pacer has won back-to-back Hunter Cups since former champion Kiwi mare Blossom Lady in 1994-95.

Boots' brilliant young mare Captains Mistress (Captaintreacherous—Imaginary Bet) thrashed her rivals in one of Australia's best mares' races, the Group 1 Queen of the Pacific.

And another of his favorites, injury-plagued star speedster Hi Manameisjeff, won the novel 1,200-meter dash called the Mercury80 as he prepares for the $1 million Miracle Mile at Menangle on March 14.

As Boots' dominance was unfolding at Melton, he propped in front of a TV screen to watch his awesome 3-year-old Hollywood Strip stretch his unbeaten record to six races with a stunning first-up victory at Menangle.

"[Mick Boots is] just salt of the earth in every way. He's become so important to the game and he loves it. You see these big-name horses with big stables, but he's always quick to support young trainers coming through. So many big owners would focus on one stable, but not Michael. He'd have them spread between, 40, or maybe even 50 different trainers to support them all. And that's all across Australia and New Zealand."

~ Brittany Graham

The Brad Hewitt-trained Hollywood Strip (Sweet Lou—Bang Bang Molly) cruised home in a 1:50.4 mile. It's the fourth run in a row he's clocked a sub-1:51 mile.

His first big target this season is the Group 1 NSW Derby on March 14. He's clearly the horse to beat.

Boots is as relaxed and matter of fact as they come, but he was buzzing by his standards at Melton.

Actions speak louder than words.

Boots is normally hiding in the background, but he didn't miss a presentation or photo and, incredibly, did a series of interviews.

"Why would anyone want to talk to me?" he said with a grin.

Hopefully it's a sign of things to come given the force Boots will be in so many upcoming major races.

He gave context to Swayzee's amazing Hunter Cup win that very few knew.

"The win was a real surprise to me," he said. "After he got really sick last year, we weren't sure he'd make it back [to the races].

"He had a really bad bowel infection after his trip to Perth [last April] and that's why he missed so much racing through the middle of the year.

"Jason [Grimson, trainer] has done a great job of getting him back to races as good as he was before it.

"I thought a top four finish would be great given what he'd been through, but he doesn't like getting beaten, does he.

"He's been an incredible horse for us all and Jason's been such a big part of that."

> "I've got over 300 racehorses now, plus the mares and babies at home."
> ~ Mick Boots

For all the stunning success Grimson has had with his incredible "splash" in Down Under racing over the past five or six years, that second Hunter Cup win was his greatest achievement so far given the background Boots outlined.

Swayzee has banked almost $2.5 million with major wins including two Hunter Cups, two New Zealand Cups, a Victoria Cup, and a Blacks A Fake.

The gelding's next target is the $1 million Miracle Mile at Menangle on March 14. He will need to qualify through one of two lead-up races the week before at the same track.

Those qualifiers are on the same night Boots' new sensation, Captains Mistress, will try to become just the fourth mare to beat the boys in Australia's biggest 4-year-old race, the Group 1 Chariots Of Fire.

Stuart McCormick

Captains Mistress (Cam Hart) winning the Cranbourne Cup on Jan. 31.

Captains Mistress beat Australia's best mares by 25 meters in last Saturday night's Group 1 Queen of the Pacific.

Since joining Grimson's barn from New Zealand late last year, she's won her four starts by an aggregate of 79.7 meters.

"She's starting to challenge Swayzee as my favorite horse," Boots said.

Driver Cam Hart added: "Swayzee's the greatest horse I've driven, but this mare is the most exciting."

Boots also got a huge thrill from Hi Manameisjeff's Melton win. It was his 16th win from 24 starts for Grimson, having joined him with a history of nasty tendon issues.

That's where Boots is no average owner. Insiders say he played a key role in Hi Manameisjeff's rehabilitation at his farm in country NSW.

Australasia's foremost harness media presenter, Brittany Graham, knows Boots well and gave a deeper insight into the man.

"He's just salt of the earth in every way," she said. "He's become so important to the game and he loves it.

"You see these big-name horses with big stables, but he's always quick to support young trainers coming through.

"So many big owners would focus on one stable, but not Michael. He'd have them spread between, 40, or maybe even 50 different trainers to support them all. And that's all across Australia and New Zealand."

When you know that, it's impossible to begrudge Boots a night like last Saturday.

And it looks like there will be plenty more like it to come.

Nocive du Choquel strikes in Criterium des Jeunes

by Thomas Hedlund

The first Group 1 event for the newly turned 3-year-olds in France was contested at Vincennes on Sunday (Feb. 15), and although the winner had already captured several major races among the N-crop, she was not heavily backed in the $220,000 Criterium des Jeunes.

The filly in question, Nocive du Choquel (Face Time Bourbon), capitalized on a perfect second-over trip. Race favorite Normandie Niemen, trained by Philippe Allaire, appeared to have things under control for much of the stretch, but Nocive du Choquel unleashed a sharp late kick, digging in gamely and showing the kind of determination that defines top-class performers.

Well before the wire, driver François Lagadeuc could sense victory was secure for the Nicolas Bridault-trained filly, who stopped the clock in a 1:58 mile rate over 2,700 meters. Normandie Niemen held second ahead of Nelson Emge.

Earlier this winter, Nocive du Choquel captured both the $125,000 Prix Une de Mai and the $125,000 Prix Gelinotte at Vincennes and entered Sunday's Group 1 as the richest runner in the field.

The 3-year-old filly is linebred to Love You, who appears as both her maternal grandsire and great-grandsire.

BAZIRE'S NEW STAR EMERGING

Four-year-old Minuty du Gers (Royal Dream) delivered an eye-catching performance in Sunday's (Feb. 15) $105,000 Prix d'Orthez at Vincennes, marking his sixth win in 10 career starts.

The Nicolas Bazire trainee has now won four straight at Vincennes. On Sunday, he made the lead midway through the 2,850-meter contest and simply toyed with the opposition.

From the front, he was never threatened, drawing away with authority to score in a 1:59.1 mile rate.

MARATHON TEST AHEAD: PRIX DE PARIS

Sunday (Feb. 22) brings the final Grand Prix event of the Paris winter meeting. Following the Prix d'Amérique and the Prix de France, the spotlight now turns to the marathon $440,000 Prix de Paris, contested over 4,150 meters — more than two full laps of the Vincennes oval. After the first round of withdrawals, both Prix d'Amérique winner Hokkaido Jiel and Prix de France heroine Iroise de la Noe are no longer in the field.

Among the French contenders, Just Love You, Ibiki de Houelle, and King Opera currently attract the most attention. The most accomplished runner attempting the grueling distance is Daniel Redén's Francesco Zet, whose all-American pedigree will now be tested over one of the sport's ultimate stamina examinations — proving whether the "Yankee bloodlines" can handle the classic French staying test.

THE STATE OF THE GLOBAL TROTTING SIRE MARKET 2025

Two continents, two systems – one global breed

The 2025 season confirms what many breeders have sensed for years: the global trotting market is no longer a single hierarchy — it is a dual structure.

North America dominates the economics. Europe dominates the geography. And Oceania sits strategically between them.

If total earnings are the metric, the United States remains the undisputed financial powerhouse of the sport.

The American sire lists are driven by: large purses, dense racing programs, strong 2- and 3-year-old markets, and high starter frequency.

The Chapter Seven dynasty continues to produce commercial firepower, while Walner has solidified himself as a generational young sire. Behind them, the ever-present influence of Muscle Hill still defines the structural backbone of North American breeding.

The American model is built on internal strength. Top stallions tend to dominate domestically rather than internationally, but the volume is unmatched. The U.S. market rewards precocity and early speed, which shapes both stallion demand and yearling valuations.

In pure dollar terms, America leads the world.

EUROPE: THE EMPIRE OF DISTRIBUTION

Europe operates differently. Instead of one dominant market, it is a network of strong national circuits — France, Sweden, Italy, Finland, Norway, Denmark, Germany, the Netherlands, and beyond — all interconnected through breeding mobility.

Here, the Ready Cash line continues to define the era. From Face Time Bourbon to Readly Express, from France to Scandinavia, the bloodline remains the most internationally influential in modern trotting. And at the center of Northern Europe stands Maharajah, whose cross-border consistency makes him arguably Europe's most globally distributed sire in 2025.

European stallions frequently earn in four to six countries within a single season. That breadth of geographic impact is something the U.S. model rarely produces.

While average purses may not rival American stakes money, European sires command influence through international penetration rather than pure domestic volume.

Europe exports genetics. America exports scale.

OCEANIA: STRATEGIC HYBRID TERRITORY

Australia and New Zealand present a hybrid market.

Genetically, the region leans heavily toward North American blood — particularly the Muscle Hill line. Yet European stallions, notably from the Ready Cash and Love You branches, have carved meaningful influence.

The Oceanian market is smaller in absolute numbers but often efficient on a per-starter basis. Imported stallions play a major role, and the region frequently acts as an extension of North American breeding strategy with selective European reinforcement.

It is less about dominance and more about strategic adaptation.

THE TWO PILLARS OF 2025

Across all jurisdictions, two sire lines continue to shape the global breed:

Muscle Hill — structural dominance in North America and Oceania

Ready Cash — territorial dominance in Europe

Around them orbit powerful secondary branches — Chapter Seven, Walner, Face Time Bourbon, Maharajah — each representing evolution within their respective systems. The global trotting sire market in 2025 is not defined by one universal champion.

It is defined by systems:

America: economic volume and commercial precocity

Europe: genetic distribution and international reach

Oceania: adaptive hybrid strength

Swedish harness racing media sulkysport.se recently published the stats about stallions all over the world and all numbers are taken from its year-in review issue.

David Miller becomes first driver to reach $300 million

Brad Conrad

On Tuesday, David Miller surpassed $300 million in North American earnings by driving Perfect Paradise to victory at Miami Valley.

On Tuesday (Feb. 17) at Miami Valley Raceway, David Miller became the first driver to reach $300 million in lifetime earnings (North America earnings only).

Miller, six days removed from passing John Campbell for the lead in all-time earnings, required $14,123 entering the Tuesday card to hit $300 million and had picked up $7,730 via a second and two fourth-place finishes prior to the 14th-race finale. He then steered 11-1 shot Perfect Paradise to victory to reach the milestone.

After initially showing speed from the inside post, Miller slid Perfect Paradise ($25.60) back into the fourth to the quarter in :27. The 5-year-old son of Well Said-Its Perfect saved ground through the half in :56.4, lagging behind pocket-sitter Housethatsantablt (Cam McCown) as the tempo quickened down the backstretch. He pulled back to that one's helmet before Housethatsantablt popped the pocket past three-quarters in 1:24.4, leaving Perfect Paradise locked in the two-hole rounding the final turn. "The Buckeye" found his gelding room at the outside in the stretch, and Perfect Paradise rocketed up to catch Housethatsantablt at the line to win by a neck in 1:54.3. Sm Hugo (Sam Widger) was third. Chris Presley owns and trains the winner, who took his first win since June 2025 to improve to seven-for-77 lifetime.

Miller reached $300 million in 88,062 career starts, 14,903 of which have been wins. A Grand Circuit mainstay, the reinsman has won many of the sport's most illustrious events, including 30 Breeders Crown trophies. He is the only driver to win five Breeders Crowns in one night.

The three-time U.S. Driver of the Year made his pari-mutuel debut in 1981, and he has won more than 200 races every year since 1989 and earned more than $10 million in 18 separate seasons. The 61-year-old Columbus, Ohio native was inducted into the U.S. Harness Racing Hall of Fame in 2014. He is fifth all-time in wins in North America and is fewer than 300 away from fourth-placed Herve Fillion.

Greg Merton reaches 6,000 wins

It would be hard to be more Monticello than Greg Merton, he jogged his first horse at 6 and was in the business full time by the time he was 16 at the famed Catskill Mountain oval. Wednesday afternoon (Feb. 18), the 52-year-old horsemen reached another milestone in his long career, his 6000th win aboard Lanas Desire in 1:57.3 for trainer Art Green.

He and his siblings (Michael, Thomas, and Veronica) were born into the industry, as his father Robert was the track superintendent at Monticello Raceway for decades.

The Monticello native sports some impressive numbers in his 37-year driving career. Greg's first drive was in 1989 and he recorded three wins in his first year of driving. He eclipsed the million-dollar mark in driver earnings 16 times in his stellar career, and his best year was 2017 when he drove winners for purses of $2,934.479. When you take into consideration that the majority of the tracks he raced at were not premier tracks, the fact that he broke the million-dollar barrier driving primarily at Monticello and Plainridge is a testament to his ability and durability. His best year for wins was in 2005 when he racked up 352 and he has amassed total lifetime earnings of $30,049,127.

Greg is a two-time leading dash winning driving at Monticello and has also won two titles at Plainridge Park. Greg has reached his 5,000 win five years ago at Monticello.

Following the win, Greg was greeted in the winner's circle from his fellow horsemen and friends.

On to win No. 7,000.

Roberts scores 5,000th career win

Driver Jonathan Roberts reached the 5,000-win milestone of his career on Monday (Feb. 16) at Rosecroft Raceway when he teamed Freaky Feet Beast to a 12-1 upset in the night's eighth race, a $7,500 conditioned claiming pace.

Roberts powered to the front from post 9 with Freaky Feet Beast and controlled fractions of :27 and :56.3 before facing a stern first-over challenge from Playin For Real (driven by Justin Walters) up the backstretch and through the far turn. After shrugging off Playin For Real upon cornering for home, Freaky Feet Beast and Roberts dug in to stave off a ferocious late rally from 3-5 favorite Levi At Play (Roger Plante, Jr.) to win by a diminishing neck in 1:54.4.

Roberts' father, William "Bib" Roberts, trains Freaky Feet Beast for Kiwi Stables — of whom Jonathan is a partner — and Graham Grace Stables. The 4-year-old Freaky Feet Pete—Keene Supreme gelding paid $26.20 to win.

Four races later, the 44-year-old Roberts came back to score his 5,001st win, doing so with Sheer Terror (1:52.1, $2.40) in a $9,000 top-level conditioned pace.

Contest, carryovers certain to create a crowd at Big M

A recurring $1,000 handicapping competition plus a pair of carryovers will be served this weekend to please the palates of punters at The Meadowlands when 14-race programs take place tonight (Feb. 20) and Saturday. Post time is 6 p.m.

The popular monthly handicapping contest features the same basic rules as in 2025, with the top-two finishers from each monthly "qualifier" earning a berth in the December invitation-only $10,000 "final."

The first leg of the contest this year took place on Saturday (Jan. 10), with Del Kern and Stefan Ferrara finishing 1-2 to earn spots in the year-end competition.

Tonight, will be the second of the 11-leg contest, and defending champion Sean Loebs, who took home the grand prize of $5,000 in last year's final, is raring to go.

"I'm not the biggest tournament player in general, but a contest like this was very appealing because I like to play doubles, Pick-3s, Pick-4s, and Pick-5s," said Loebs, "and a contest where you can choose your bet and everybody starts with the same bankroll and we see who tallies up the highest at the end of the night, that's what was appealing to me."

Is this contest about picking the most winners or is it about the guy who knows how to play the game?

"I consider myself a good handicapper but I think I'm a better player," said the 35-year-old Loebs, a Big M regular from Cresskill, NJ. "The better bettor will always come out ahead in terms of dollars than the handicapper. I know some great handicappers that are not the best bettors, and I know some decent handicappers that know how to make money. I try to be a mix of both but more in line of being a player than a handicapper."

Being a shrewd player came in handy for Loebs, who owned a now-retired horse that won seven times at The Meadowlands.

"The contest in November, I was down to $36, and I bet an $18 base-bet Pick-4 ticket and hit it and went from last to first," said Loebs. "I might not be doing that if I'm first or second, but if I need a score, that's where the contest gives you an option to do that."

That second qualifying win gave Loebs two entries in the final, so that one bet played a major role in Loebs taking home the title last year.

Is a repeat in the making?

"I'm definitely going to participate," said Loebs. "I airballed in January, but this Friday, I'm going to give it my best shot and, hopefully, get a seat at the final table again.

"The contest is a lot of fun. I see a lot of the same guys and new faces. I can't think of a reason why anyone wouldn't get in."

2026 contest schedule:

- Leg 2 — Friday (Feb. 20)
- Leg 3 — Saturday, March 21
- Leg 4 — April 17
- Leg 5 — May 23
- Leg 6 — June 12
- Leg 7 — July 24
- Leg 8 — Aug. 22
- Leg 9 — Sept. 5
- Leg 10 — Oct. 23
- Leg 11 — Nov. 14
- Invitation-only $10,000 final: Dec. 12

Each monthly contest will follow the same format:

- Contestants must bet a minimum of five Meadowlands races.
- No minimum or maximum bet per race.
- All wagers offered on The Meadowlands program are eligible for the contest.
- Contestants keep all pari-mutuel winnings.
- Unlimited entries per person.

There is no entry fee (a $100 live-money bankroll is required) for players, and the prize pool is guaranteed at $1,000, funded by The Meadowlands.

On the night of the contest, players must register/check-in at the Clubhouse Lobby by 6 p.m. A $100 betting card must be purchased to participate, as this is a live money/wagering contest.

The top two finishers from each contest earn spots in the $10,000 tournament "final" on Dec. 12 (22 total players).

CARRYOVER REPORT: There will be a pair of carryovers to entice players when racing returns tonight.

The $1 PK-8 failed to produce a winning ticket on Saturday (Feb. 14), creating a carryover of $52,961 after a sequence that saw winner's odds of 1-2, 8-5, 5-2, 3-1, 3-1, 3-1, 12-1, and 6-1. Those with five correct collected $82.20.

The 20-cent Pick-6 also failed to yield a winner Saturday night, creating a carryover of $4,500, after a sequence that saw winner's odds of 3-1, 12-1, 6-1, 6-1, 2-1, and 23-1. Those with five correct collected $500.08.

The $1 PK-8 is offered on races 3 through 10 while the 20-cent Pick-6 can be played on races 8 through 13.

A NEW PAIR: There will be a new team on the Sam McKee Memorial Broadcast Set this weekend, as Mike Bozich and Andrew "Shades" Demsky will sit in the host and co-host chairs, respectively, for both tonight and Saturday.

The Big M's pregame show gets underway nightly at 5:25 p.m.

Bozich has become a regular in The Big M rotation while Harrah's Philadelphia is dark during the winter months. The voice of the five-eighths-mile oval normally serves as a co-host when in East Rutherford, but has proven to be just as adept when hosting the show.

Demsky, the regional director of racing at Tioga and Vernon Downs, selected six winners on top when last seen in The Big M co-host chair in December. In addition to his numerous administrative duties overseeing day-to-day operations, the jack of all trades at Tioga calls the races when not hosting proceedings for the track's many successful promotions.

Ken Warkentin and Joe Romanelli will serve in their usual capacities, as track announcer, and back-paddock interviewer and FanDuel Television (FDTV) analyst, respectively, tonight and Saturday.

'Santorini' swerves and scores at Big M

Soho Santorini A benefited from a superb steer by driver Colin Kelly to take the $19,000 high-end claiming handicap pace at The Meadowlands on Saturday night (Feb. 14) to complete a weekend sweep of the nightly features for Kelly and trainer Doug Dilloian, Jr.

Friday night, High Speed Swan took the $25,000 marquee dash for trotters.

As for Soho Santorini A, drawing inside of some of the tougher foes in a stacked 10-horse field proved to be a big help as the 8-year-old gelded son of Sunshine Beach—Hannah Isabella A was away quickly from post 3 to secure a spot behind a parked-out Mamba (post 10), who had the lead at the quarter in a snappy :26.4, and the pocket-sitting Sun Of A Show (post 7).

They lined up Mamba, Sun Of A Show, Soho Santorini A past the half in :55.1 as a flow started to develop on the rim.

In search of a fourth straight victory, 5-2 favorite Mamba was still on the lead at three-quarters in 1:23.4, but was dealing with pressure from Saulsbrook Raptor, who provided a live tow for the second-over Caviart Lotus.

With a half-dozen horses still in the hunt when they turned for home, it was time for Kelly to shine, and the 32-year-old pilot swung Soho Santorini A, who was using Lasix for the third time, off the rail and quickly into the three path following Caviart Lotus for the sprint to the wire. 'Soho' went around that foe midway down the lane and powered his way down the center of the track to an impressive three-quarter-length score over 30-1 long shot Caviart Lotus. Effingham rallied well for third.

The win was the 14th in 73 lifetime tries for the Australian import, who made his North American debut last September. This marked his first win in the States in 13 attempts. He is owned by David Linker, Brian Loman, and Robert Venable, and paid $8.20 to win as the 3-1 third choice in the betting.

"He was really good tonight," said Kelly. "He was loaded in his last start [when a close-up third]. Tonight, I just had to get him in play, it seems like he has one run, so when I stayed third at the rail, we got out and got behind Vinny [Ginsburg, driving Caviart Lotus] and got there. He's really good. I think he's just kind of getting into a good groove."

CARRYOVER REPORT: There will be a pair of carryovers to entice players when racing returns tonight (Feb. 20).

The $1 PK-8 failed to produce a winning ticket, creating a carryover of $52,961 after a sequence that saw winner's odds of 1-2, 8-5, 5-2, 3-1, 3-1, 3-1, 12-1, and 6-1. Those with five correct collected $82.20.

The 20-cent Pick-6 also failed to yield a winner, creating a carryover of $4,500, after a sequence that saw winner's odds of 3-1, 12-1, 6-1, 6-1, 2-1, and 23-1. Those with five correct collected $500.08.

The $1 PK-8 is offered on races 3 through 10 while the 20-cent Pick-6 can be played on races 8 through 13.

Free past performances for every race of every Meadowlands program are available at The Big M's website, playmeadowlands.com.

A LITTLE MORE: Joe Bongiorno had hot hands, leading the driver colony with four winners on the night. Bongiorno-trained horses also did well, winning twice to end the evening tied with Shane Tritton, Bill MacKenzie, and Andrew Harris atop the conditioner leaderboard… All-source handle on the 15-race program totaled $2,753,693.
