What does reduced Borgata entrants mean for the older pacing division?

The number of entries for one of Yonkers' premier free-for-all stakes events is down 36 per cent since 2021.

by Brett Sturman

When the list of eligibles was announced for the upcoming 2024 MGM Borgata Pacing series at Yonkers, the number of nominees compared to years past was glaring. In total, 30 horses were nominated to the annual start of the free-for-all stakes season, which begins on Monday.

At 30 eligibles, the number of nominees reflects a sizable drop from the 37 horses that were made eligible to the race last year. Going back further and including the 40 eligible horses from 2022 and 47 from 2021, the number of horses eligible for the Borgata series is down 36 per cent and has dropped four consecutive years. The number was 46 in 2020 and had reached the 50s over the years.

When the entries were drawn for the first of the five preliminary legs, there were 24 horses entered which led to four divisions of six horses each. From a wagering standpoint, it's not exactly for the faint of heart.

What is the cause for the accelerating trend of reduction in the number of horses in the series, and what does it mean, if anything, towards the larger view of quality in the upcoming older pacing division? Are the two questions related to each other?

The 2024 Borgata series could foreshadow what the older pacing ranks will be like this year. In the group, you have presumably the defending champion Bythemissal along with Allywag Hanover beginning clear at the top, and then a host of others who make for a more compact but competent group. Same with the Borgata, where I'd singularly peg new series shooter Linedrive Hanover as the one to beat and posing the question if anyone else from the smaller-ish group can break from the pack and rise to his level.

Beginning with the horses that have been entered for Monday's first preliminary leg, there's only eight of those who raced in the series last year. That group is led by Hellabalou, who shocked at 47-1 in last year's final and whose total series earnings paved the way for him to finish fifth in earnings for all older pacers in 2023. Borgata repeaters for this year also includes two other prior series winners, Funatthebeach N (2022) and This Is The Plan (2021). Covered Bridge, Semi Tough, Idealsomemagic A, Hemsworth N and Leonidas A, all horses who were prominent in the series last year are back too. Backstreet Shadow, who is no stranger to the free-for-all wars and had raced in the series last year, was nominated to 2024, but is yet to qualify back.

What's interesting will be to see how the 16 new horses fare against the Borgata veterans. There's a few in there that will pose a real threat to overthrow them and compete for the series title, and it begins with Linedrive Hanover.

Linedrive Hanover is the one in here with the most experience consistently racing at the highest levels of the division, and his mark of 1:47 last year was second to only Ruthless Hanover. He rounded out last year with a third-place finish in a Breeders Crown elimination won by Tattoo Artist and was third in the Potomac Pace, behind only Bythemissal and Tattoo Artist. He has half-mile success too, setting the all-time Canadian record on a half-mile track when he won the 2022 Juravinski Memorial Cup at Flamboro in 1:49 (2023 Juravinski winner Fouever Boy also makes his Borgata debut this year). Linedrive Hanover qualified last week when he ripped from the pocket at The Meadowlands to win going away in a time of 1:50.4. Fellow Borgata starter This Is The Plan, making his return to the track since November, was second in that qualifier.

Another newcomer to keep an eye on is Canada's 2021 Horse of the Year, Desperate Man. He's looked like his old self since coming to Yonkers in the latter part of last year, shot right up the ladder and had his win streak derailed when he just missed by a nose to Covered Bridge in a December open. Since then, he sports three return qualifiers for trainer Travis Alexander, the most recent of which came two days ago and there's no reason he can't be a major player in this year's series.

I Did It Myway, another new one for this year, has been stakes tested throughout much of his career and he took his 1:47.3 mark last year in a Graduate split. He enters the Borgata off racing in the open ranks at Dover this winter. There are three different 4-year-olds who will give the Borgata a try this year that include New York-specialist Thunder Hunter Joe and the Per Engblom trained Coaches Corner. The latter has been a machine since coming east to Yonkers last year and most recently won here at the NW30000L5 level. In February he was second to Covered Bridge by a nose in a Yonkers invitational.

Which of these horses will be able to step up and compete on the free-for-all stage as the year goes on? Last year Tattoo Artist who actually had been snake bitten of sorts in this series the past couple years went on to knock heads with Bythemissal for much of the year. Jimmy Freight was another big name from last year. Idealsomemagic went on to surprise later in the year in the Gerrity, while Borgata winner Hellabalou went on to compete in major races such as the Canadian Pacing Derby final and the Hoosier Park Pacing Derby.

Four of the top 10 and five out of the top twelve richest older pacers from last year raced in the Borgata series. So, while the Borgata group traditionally may not produce horse after horse that will necessarily be the fastest of the older pacing group, the series does produce an all-around group that is capable of grinding it out against most of what the best of the group can offer.

Saturday snafu snuffs out Meadowlands' $3 million handle streak

Network issues prevented the possibility of betting over the mark for 13th straight card.

by Debbie Little

Fans watching The Meadowlands' races last Saturday night (March 9) may have thought they were watching the wrong signal or needed to adjust their sets when the handle for the first four races came back uncharacteristically low.

For example, the third race, which is normally one of the lowest-handling races on a typical Big M 14-race card, only took in $88,946, far less than usual. That number would have been good for many other tracks, but not at the mecca of harness racing.

Following the best year of wagering at The Meadowlands since Jeff Gural took over in 2011, the track picked up where they left off with strong handle performances in 2024.

Through 19 nights of racing this year, the track has bet over $3 million on 16 occasions, including 12 in a row, a streak that was broken last Saturday due to technical difficulties beyond the track's control.

"My understanding is, it was the hardware failure of a third-party supplier that was responsible for this past Saturday's tote issues," said Jason Settlemoir, chief operating officer/general manager at The Meadowlands, who was made aware of the problem shortly after it started.

The Big M was not alone in experiencing issues on Saturday as tracks across the country were also reportedly affected.

"I feel absolutely terrible for Tampa Bay [Downs], you know, on their biggest day to have something like this happen where they had to race the Tampa Bay Derby as a non-wagering event," Settlemoir said.

"It obviously caused our handle to be off on Saturday as well because the AmTote places were not able to get their wagers in on The Meadowlands and several other racetracks that were racing that evening."

A joint statement released by AmTote and Roberts Communications Network, published in the Paulick Report on Sunday (March 10), said, in part, "A communications network failure on March 9 resulted in wagering disruptions at numerous racetracks and guest locations operating through the Mid-Atlantic hub of AmTote International..."

"The issues were not the result of a tote system failure. Rather, the communications network – both primary and backup – that connects the AmTote Mid-Atlantic hub to other wagering hubs failed. Roberts Communications Network (RCN) provides the communications network that connects AmTote's Mid-Atlantic hub to all other tote company wagering hubs worldwide. RCN designs and installs the communications network in a manner designed to prevent outages of this type. However, the unprecedented nature of the connectivity outage yesterday, which impacted the third-party providers from which RCN provisions bandwidth, took down both the primary and back-up networks."

Having no idea of the severity of the issue or how long it would last, Settlemoir started pushing back the first race at The Meadowlands.

"We've already pushed back 10 to 15 minutes and we're pushing back another 10 just to see if maybe, by the grace of God, that they were able to get it back up within that 10 additional minute period and obviously that didn't happen," Settlemoir said.

Settlemoir pointed out that wagering is one of several factors that need to be considered when deciding how long they can wait for the start of a race.

“My understanding is, it was the hardware failure of a third-party supplier that was responsible for this past Saturday’s tote issues... I feel absolutely terrible for Tampa Bay [Downs], you know, on their biggest day to have something like this happen where they had to race the Tampa Bay Derby as a non-wagering event.”

~ Jason Settlemoir

“We have Lasix issues, and you have to worry about customers starting to get restless,” he said. “So, we certainly wanted to make sure that we were taking care of our on-track customers and, additionally, those that were out there in the simulcast world that were able to still wager on the product.”

Lost, perhaps, in the technical issues was the fact that The Meadowlands was celebrating International Women’s Day (IWD), a very popular event at the track.

Last year wagering on The Big M’s IWD card went over $4 million.

There are three tote companies that The Meadowlands works with: BetMakers (formerly Sportech), United Tote and AmTote, which is why even though there was an issue on Saturday night, there was still money in the pools.

“We deal with all three of them on a daily basis for being able to transfer the pari-mutuel pool money back and forth so that they get the correct odds and everything like that,” Settlemoir said.

Although the first four races on the card did poorly, the last 10 races averaged nearly $222,000 putting the total handle for the night over $2.6 million.

“You know, they did everything they possibly could on Saturday to try to get things rectified,” Settlemoir said. “I was told that, I guess at about 8, 8:30 on Saturday, that a few of the places were able to start wagering again.”

For several weeks, The Meadowlands has been running a still stating: “In the event of a tote communication failure in a race featuring any guaranteed pool, the guarantee will be canceled and the pool will be based on the money in the pool once the wagering is closed, minus refunds.”

The Big M’s two nightly Pick-4s — races 6-9 and 10-13 — have guaranteed pools of $50,000. On occasion, in the past, there have been guarantees for the Pick-6 and Pick-8 pools, but that only occurs when those pools have not been hit for several days and have built up a large carryover.

According to Settlemoir, the Pick-4 guarantee is partly provided for by the USTA Strategic Wagering program and the still is run to inform bettors of the restrictions connected to the wager.

Thankfully, on Saturday night, things had returned to normal enough that the guarantees were not a problem.

“It’s always a bummer when something like this happens, but at the end of the day, it happens,” Settlemoir said. “Technology is great when it works, but when it fails, it’s not so great. I’m just glad it doesn’t happen routinely.”

THE VIEW FROM WOODBINE MOHAWK PARK

with MELISSA KEITH

Sky Racing presenter Brittany Graham coming to Ontario to cover 41st Pepsi North America Cup

by Melissa Keith

On Tuesday (March 12), a Down Under powerhouse revealed that she would be part of the 2024 Pepsi North America Cup show on Saturday (June 15) at Woodbine Mohawk Park. Brittany Graham first obtained her Australian training and driving licenses in 2013, and told Harness Racing Update that there was never a time when she wasn't active in the sport.

"I have been involved in harness racing my whole life; like many, I have a strong family background," Graham said. "My dad [Darrel Graham] has trained and driven over 2,000 winners and had some very nice horses, so I was always bound to be involved in some way."

The Fernvale, Queensland horsewoman has also worked as an on-air presenter on Sky Racing since 2017. She became a full-time racing commentator with the Tabcorp-owned Australian racing broadcaster in 2019. On Dec. 10, 2022, she drove family-owned 2022 Queensland Trotter of the Year Majestic Harry NZ (TR1:55.8ms; $163,585 Aust.) to a fifth-place finish in the $250,000 Group 1 Inter Dominion Trotting Championship Grand Final at Melton.

"I really love all my roles in the industry," Graham said. "Harness racing is my passion, and I find myself very lucky to be able to do something I love so much as an occupation. I have also become quite interested in the breeding side of the game recently."

Expanding her presence in the racing world now means covering her first Pepsi North America Cup, which Graham said came as a pleasant surprise.

"I received a call from my bosses at Sky Racing to let me know I was heading over for the North America Cup, which was really out of the blue and extremely exciting," she said. "I have since had some conversations with Lindsay Bax [associate manager of marketing – wagering for Woodbine Entertainment] and this is a part of a program she runs with international media, so I feel very privileged."

Graham said she did not have a chance to go to Mohawk on a memorable past trip to the Northern Hemisphere.

"I visited Canada on family vacation as a young girl around Christmas time," she said. "We were subsequently stuck in a blizzard for a few days, so unfortunately didn't get to see much. I watch a lot of racing from Woodbine Mohawk Park on Sky Racing, but this will be my first official visit."

Brittany Graham in the sulky Down Under.

Her participation on the media side of the North America Cup is a marketing coup for both Woodbine Entertainment and Sky Racing.

“Interest in North American harness racing is very high in Australia and the recognition of the importance of this great race is clearly there,” Graham said. “The success of Australasian trainers and drivers [in North America] I am sure has a lot to do with that. We are excited to be streaming the excellent track simulcast back to our Sky Racing audience for them to watch and wager on.”

The 2022 Dan Patch and O’Brien 3-year-old male pacer of the year Pebble Beach (p, 3, 1:48.1s; $1,720,875) captured the 2022 North America Cup for former Queensland driver Todd McCarthy, winner of the 2021 Dan Patch Rising Star Award. Pebble Beach was trained by Noel Daley, another Queensland native. It did not go unnoticed that a record $6.3 million was wagered on the card, the highest-ever handle for the annual stakes-filled night at WMP.

Graham said she hopes to be able to interview Southern Hemisphere racing participants at the 2024 event.

“It will be excellent to see many of the Australian and New Zealand expats in action on North America Cup night and catch up with them for a chat,” she said. “As I mentioned, the interest here locally is immense, and I am sure many would love to hear from their previous colleagues.”

“ I am a very keen follower of the North American harness scene and I guess it’s always been a pipe dream to spend some time up there if the right opportunity presented itself. It sounds as though I’ll be lucky enough to sit in on the [WMP] simulcast, which will be fantastic, and that will be beamed back into Australia for all to watch. I am an avid viewer and am really looking forward to meeting the team. ”

~ Brittany Graham

“Throughout the week [leading up to the North America Cup], I am looking forward to interviewing many of the major players and sending that back to our Australian audience via Sky [Racing]. I am hoping to be at the post position draw as part of the build-up week. We all know how much a race can change after that is completed.”

~ Brittany Graham

While last weekend's International Women's Day race for female drivers presented a rare opportunity for some to compete at Mohawk, Graham comes from a place where women drivers are anything but rare. Her younger sister Stephanie Graham is also an accomplished trainer and driver.

"It's certainly a different colony of drivers in Australia where most major races have female drivers and the opportunities are definitely far greater," said Brittany. "It really isn't uncommon for races to have a 50/50 split of males and females, and particularly the younger crop of drivers coming through... I understand that it isn't as common for females to drive [in Canada and the U.S.], although it's been great to see the likes of [Australian expats] Natasha Day and Lauren Tritton kicking goals."

The on-air racing analyst noted the strong recent strike rate of women trainers in the North America Cup.

"It's fairly clear that the success of female trainers over there is immense, though, with six of the last 10 North America Cups won by female trainers," Brittany said.

Her close friend Nancy Takter won back-to-back million-dollar finals with Captain Crunch (2019) and Tall Dark Stranger (2020).

Brittany herself enjoyed on-track success from the start, training and driving her own $2,000 pacer named The Falcon Ute (p, 1:56.3ms; $123,390). He retired with 24 victories from 239 lifetime starts after winning the 2016 Queensland Awards Night Pace at Redcliffe with Brittany in the sulky. In May 2015, she captured the BOTRA Queensland Young Drivers' Championships at Albion Park, earning a racing-oriented trip to the U.S.

"I love visiting North America and have been lucky enough to on quite a few occasions now," Brittany said. "In 2015, I won a scholarship to spend a month in New Jersey with Ross Croghan which was wonderful, and I was also lucky enough to have a race drive for Darran Cassar at [Harrah's Philadelphia]."

She said she welcomes the chance to share this year's North America Cup with an international audience of fans and bettors. As WMP announced Tuesday (March 12), the 41st annual edition attracted the nominations of 67 3-year-old male pacers.

"I am a very keen follower of the North American harness scene and I guess it's always been a pipe dream to spend some time up there if the right opportunity presented itself," Brittany said.

"It sounds as though I'll be lucky enough to sit in on the [WMP] simulcast, which will be fantastic, and that will be beamed back into Australia for all to watch. I am an avid viewer and am really looking forward to meeting the team."

Her involvement will not be limited to the North America Cup final. Brittany said she was looking forward to experiencing the whole week, from the eliminations to the main event.

"I'll then head to New York and New Jersey to catch up with friends for a week before heading back to Australia in time for our big Winter Carnival in my home state of Queensland," she said.

Her excitement for the assignment is evident.

"Throughout the week, I am looking forward to interviewing many of the major players and sending that back to our Australian audience via Sky," she said. "I am hoping to be at the post position draw as part of the build-up week. We all know how much a race can change after that is completed."

She added that she hoped to meet stars of Canadian harness racing whom she had watched from afar, especially two on the equine side.

"I was so impressed by [O'Brien 2-Year-Old Male Pacer of the Year] Legendary Hanover [p, 2:1:50s; $303,114] last year, particularly his brave second in the Metro Pace, and hope to see him in action," she said. "It would also be great to see [2020, 2022, 2023 O'Brien Older Pacing Mare of the Year] So Much More [p, 7, 1:49.1s; $1,216,771] in the flesh, as her longevity and overall record is so admirable," Brittany said.

While not planning to catch drive at Mohawk during her visit, never say never. Brittany remains active in the sport, from the sulky to the simulcast.

"I am definitely open to having a spin on one during my visit," she said. "It would be great to get my fix while visiting. It's certainly a plan for me to visit plenty of the nearby training centers during the week to see the sights and learn."

EUROPEAN REPORT

with THOMAS HEDLUND

No drama in record time?

by Thomas Hedlund

No other trotter has been faster in Europe, ever. Alessandro Gocciadoro won the $220,000 Criterium de Vitesse in Cagnes-sur-Mer on Sunday (March 10) afternoon, but the winning horse was not the expected one. His Vivid Wise As chased his fourth win in the prestigious race, but as it turned out, Gocciadoro sat behind the winner himself. Vernissage Grif (Varenne) has been in the game for a long time now and from post 1 behind the gate, Gocciadoro managed to keep the lead with the chestnut trotter.

And nothing really happened along the way in the Criterium de Vitesse. Vernissage Grif was more or less outstanding when he hit the lead and quick finishers Emeraude de Bais and Go On Boy had too many lengths to make up with the leader, so the victory became safe in a European record time of 1:49.3!

Replay here.

Pretty much the entire field was gathered, not far behind the winner at the wire and this makes one wonder if the time is right? So, after checking the race 10 times, measuring the time from photo wire-to-wire (1,288 meters according to official reports in France), Vernissage Grif went the distance in 1 minute, 30 seconds and 66 hundreds of a second, meaning that the mile rate for the winner landed on 1:53.2 over 1,288 meters. We can agree on one thing, that it's highly improbable that the race's first 321 meters would have reached pace levels that ends up in a 1:49.3 mile.

But the winner was undisputed. The best horse won and it's not Vernissage Grif's or Gocciadoro's fault that the chronometer in Cagnes-sur-Mer seemed a bit out of order.

MEMORIES OF 1981 ELITLOPPET DAY

In 1981, my mother forbade me to follow my dad to Solvalla when I wanted to the most. I had been introduced to the event Elitloppet, live, the year before and fell in love with it the year before that, in 1979 when Berndt Lindstedt steered Pershing to victory in front of many thousands of spectators.

Stefan Melander
Delvin Miller and Joe O'Brien at Solvalla for Elitloppet in 1981.

The next year, 1980... well I don't remember so much from that day at Solvalla, but my longing for the 1981 edition started probably pretty soon after leaving the arena that day. But I wasn't allowed to go. My mother thought it was a better idea to let her 7-year-old son be her sidekick in the car as she had to visit grandmother on Mother's Day, some 50 miles from home.

And even if it was a long time ago, I still remember this day and remember nothing positive and fun at all. My mother was a terrible driver to start with and in addition to that, no Elitloppet.

And if I could turn back time, visiting one particular race day that I've missed, it would be the 1981 Elitloppet.

Americans coming to European harness racing events has always fascinated me, so one can say that I truly missed something very special as I, probably, was served raspberry juice and cinnamon rolls at grandmother's place.

Three of the all-time best trainers/drivers from America were participating in Elitloppet the same year and the best of it all was that a fresh Hambletonian winner was invited to the race.

Billy Haughton, Delvin Miller and Joe O'Brien, were competing at the same time at Solvalla. O'Brien had presented himself in front of the big audience in 1973's Elitloppet, when he won one elimination with Flower Child and even as a winner with Fresh Yankee in 1969.

Billy Haughton won an elimination heat with Keystone Pioneer in 1977; so, there had been American celebrities at Solvalla before 1981. Now, they were three of the best ever and I wasn't there.

How did it go? Hambletonian winner Burgomeister won his elimination in the hands of Haughton, but the final became more or less miserable for the American contribution in the race.

The replay of Burgomeister from post 2 in the 1981 Elitloppet final can be viewed here.

O'Brien and Miller never reached the final with Glenquin and Devil Hanover, respectively, but they surely brightened up an already sunny day at Solvalla in 1981.

This is the first of many short stories about Americans in Europe. More to come next week.

GRASSROOTS PERSPECTIVE

with CHRIS LOMON

Steve Wetzel pulled his harness racing career out of a hat

by Chris Lomon

It was just over two years ago when Wetzel, a cattle farmer by trade, found himself at Shenandoah Downs on a rainy Virginia afternoon.

He had brought his daughter to the adjacent fairgrounds to take part in a cattle-showing competition, and figured he might as well step outside the bovine ring to catch some horse racing action.

Little did he know that decision would set into motion a series of life-changing events.

It started when Wetzel entered his name into the Own a Horse For a Day contest.

Along with six other entrants, he waited to hear if his name would be called.

And it was.

So far, so good.

The odds of being the person to keep the $2,000 purse money for the winning horse were certainly reasonable.

CC Big Boy Sam, the horse who carried Wetzel's hopes, was 5-1, the fifth choice on the tote board.

Wetzel, perhaps to increase the odds of victory, headed to the paddock for a brief pep talk with the pacing son of Nobleland Sam, who would rack up 327-lifetime starts and 42 wins, including in his final start on Jan. 24, 2022.

Leaving the wings from post 6, CC Big Boy Sam glided off the gate and settled into the second spot. Third at the half-mile mark, he was second at the stretch call and closing in on the leader.

Wetzel liked what was unfolding in front of him.

He was even happier when CC Big Boy Sam dug in and crossed the wire a quarter-length on top in 1:57.3.

Processing what had transpired took a few moments.

"It was a great moment," he said. "There weren't that many fans in the stands because of the weather. When we found out about the contest, we decided to throw our name in the hat and hoped for the best. It couldn't have turned out any better."

The story of Wetzel and his association with harness racing does not end there.

It was, in fact, just the beginning.

"Things just grew from that moment," Wetzel said. "I bought one horse with my winnings and acquired a few more horses. My trainer got sick, and those health issues meant he was going to have to leave the business. I had been going with him to the tracks and he was showing me the ropes, so to speak."

Wetzel listened attentively to the veteran horseman, eager to broaden his knowledge of the sport and its stars.

Then he had a light-bulb moment.

"I thought, 'If you are going to get out of it, I think I'm going to sell my cattle farm and get into it,' so that's what I did," he said.

Homebase is the horse ranch Lineweaver Acres, where his racehorses, numbering close to 10, and three broodmares take up residence.

At one time a harness racing ranch, Lineweaver Acres is a stone's throw from a track, owned by another family, which Wetzel uses for jogging his band of trotters and pacers.

"Farming is a lot of hard work and it's the same thing with racing. The most important thing is that you have to love what you do and that is the case for me."

~ Steve Wetzel

Although he now works with a different type of animal, the long hours, early mornings, late nights, and everything in between, are by no means a new way of life for Wetzel and his family.

"Farming is a lot of hard work and it's the same thing with racing," Wetzel said. "The most important thing is that you have to love what you do and that is the case for me."

He isn't the only one in his family who feels that way.

It was something he discovered when he was in Pennsylvania just over two years ago.

"My favorite one – this happened at the Harrisburg sale in 2022 – is a horse named Sea Of Life," Wetzel said. "We went to the sale just to get a feel for the experience. I had been to a lot of cattle auctions and saw how they went, so this was going to be something I could learn about."

“The most challenging part is making sure you know as much as you can. You talk to anyone in this sport, and they will tell you that you learn something new every day. It doesn’t take you long to realize that. I have been around horses for about three years. A lot is still new to me, so you can’t be afraid to ask questions – that will only help you.”

~ Steve Wetzel

As it would turn out, Wetzel came away with a lot more than newfound racing knowledge.

“My wife and I were sitting in the balcony, just watching the horses come in, and around three in the afternoon on the last day of the sale, Sea Of Life came out,” he said. “My wife loves sea turtles. She had to leave for a few minutes, and she told me that we should buy him.”

Wetzel pondered the probable price tag and figured it might not pan out.

But, just like that day at Shenandoah Downs, racing luck was on his side.

“I looked at the lines and thought he would go for around $100,000 or a bit more,” he said. “We actually got lucky and got him for a very good price. That was the moment when my interest in the sport really took off.”

Last year, as a trainer, Wetzel posted 10 wins, along with $60,073 in purse earnings and 33 top-three finishes from 72 starts.

He’s on track to eclipse those numbers in 2024.

Wetzel doesn’t need to be reminded that attaining any goals, current or future, will need a team effort.

Fortunately, that’s exactly what he has.

“My wife’s big thing is working with babies,” he said. “Whenever a calf was born, it was as if it was better than Christmas. She wanted to have babies at the farm, so we bought three broodmares. We were new to the business, so we spoke with a lot of people and did a lot of research so that we would do right by the horses.”

Being relatively new to the industry brings its share of challenges.

For Wetzel, the biggest hurdle is the steep learning curve.

“The most challenging part is making sure you know as much as you can,” Wetzel said. “You talk to anyone in this sport, and they will tell you that you learn something new every day. It doesn’t take you long to realize that.”

“I have been around horses for about three years. A lot is still new to me, so you can’t be afraid to ask questions – that will only help you.”

It already has.

“The best part about learning is that you can take great advice and then incorporate it into your daily routine,” he said. “It’s satisfying when everything comes together, and you get to see the results of your efforts.”

“From the training to taking care of the horses, you need to be on top of everything, every day.”

One of Wetzel’s main objectives is to breed Virginia-born horses and have them race in the Virginia state races.

He likes what he sees in the direction racing is heading in his home state.

A longer Shenandoah meet is welcome news.

“We live five minutes away from Shenandoah, so the fact that it is going to 14 weeks a year also sparked my interest in racing,” he said. “Before it was a lot less than that and now it is 14 weeks. It’s nice to race close to home. Our meet starts on April 6th, and they continue to do a lot of great things for our sport.”

As is Wetzel, who pulled a horse racing career out of a hat.

He can remember the day of good fortune as if it were yesterday.

“It all started on a Wednesday afternoon at Shenandoah,” Wetzel said. “It was a miserable day with all the rain, but I think it has all worked out pretty well since then. It’s been a whirlwind. I have had some success, had some nice horses, and acquired some nice ones too. It’s been a lot of fun.”

Wetzel hopes there is even more of it to come.

Gimpanzee filly out of Hall of Famer Southwind Serena arrives at Hunterton

story by Debbie Little | photos by Heidi Laaksonen

A daughter of Hall of Fame broodmare Southwind Serena arrived on Saturday (March 9) at Hunterton Farm in Kentucky.

The filly – Southwind Serena's first by Gimpanzee – is a half-sister to Hall of Fame filly Mission Brief (t,3,1:50.2f $1,599,587) and 2023 USHWA Sire of the Year Tactical Landing (t,3,1:50.2m $812,300).

Southwind Serena, a 20-year-old daughter by Varenne out of the Pine Chip mare Spice On Ice, has seven registered foals and was USHWA's Trotting Broodmare of the Year for 2018. She was inducted into the Hall of Fame in Goshen, NY, in 2019.

New York

Kyle Swift is living his dream

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

When Kyle Swift learned that he was going to receive the 2023 Rising Star Award from the Upstate New York chapter of the U.S. Harness Writers Association and Batavia Downs, it was a special moment for the 18-year-old driver. Not simply for the honor and recognition, but for being emblematic of Swift coming full circle to the career he dreamed of as a child.

"I grew up 20 minutes from Batavia and anytime I could go to the track, I was there," said Swift, who is the son of driver Ray Fisher, Jr. and trainer Ryan Swift. "I grew up there. Anytime I could put colors on, or get in the jog cart, or was able to sit in the seat in the winner's circle, that was always really cool to me.

"When I got to go to the track, that was everything."

It still is.

Kyle got his first win in July 2021 in a New York County Fair Sire Stakes division at Batavia Downs. The victory came with Pink Delight, a 2-year-old filly pacer trained by his mom, two weeks after Kyle's 16th birthday.

After totaling nine fair wins in 2021 and 2022, he notched his first pari-mutuel triumph last July with Big Place, also trained by his mom, at Buffalo Raceway. When the action moved to Batavia in late July, Kyle notched 15 wins there during the meet, good for 10th place in the driver standings.

"When I was a little kid watching my dad drive and my mom train, this was everything I wanted to do," he said. "I always wanted to drive, but it was because I wanted to be the guy in the winner's circle. Now, I want to be the guy that helps a horse develop, helps a horse become a better horse."

So far this season, Kyle has 15 wins in 115 drives. He notched 11 triumphs at Batavia, which tied for eighth at the oval, before Buffalo kicked off its meet on March 2.

"I was picking up a decent number of drives when I first started, but I've gotten really lucky with the horses I've been getting now and I'm driving more horses for the same people," Kyle said. "[Trainer] Candace Brandstatter, I've got to give her all the credit in the world. Probably one-third of the races I've won have been with her, so I give her a lot of credit as far as picking up work.

"When the sheet comes out and I'm driving for people I've never driven for before, and horses I've never sat behind but on paper look pretty good, that's cool for a kid that's really just started out. That means everything to me right there. I've been picking up six or seven or eight drives a night. I never thought I was going to pick up drives like that. I'm very grateful for all the opportunities I've gotten."

Kyle began developing a connection with horses when he was young, around the age of 6 or 7. One horse in particular at that time, Pacific Mariner, remains memorable.

"He trusted me and would let me do anything to him," Kyle said. "I still have pictures of me standing on a bucket cutting his hair and he just stood there and thought I was the greatest thing ever. That was really cool to me."

As he got older and began working with the horses on a regular basis, his appreciation deepened.

"When I got my groom's license at the age of 14, and got into it more, I learned a lot and really fell in love with the animal," Kyle said. "There is nothing better than the horses. It doesn't matter if we have two or 20, I love walking in the barn and seeing them. That makes it all worthwhile."

Kyle's dad has won 4,808 races and captured multiple driving titles at Buffalo Raceway. His mom has 553 victories as a trainer.

"They've taught me everything and always supported me," said Kyle, who also acknowledged his grandparents for their backing. "And I have to give credit to the trainers. There are always guys that are sitting on the bench, so when they choose you to drive, you've got to perform. There is always somebody that can take your spot. People are putting me down that I never thought would put me down."

With just more than 400 career races under his belt, Kyle knows his maturation as a driver is an ongoing process. But he already can see improvements.

"My dad told me that when you start driving everything is happening so fast when you're out there," Kyle said. "He always told me the more you drive, everything will slow down. That's what has started to happen. Everything has started to slow down. I've made mistakes before and now in a race I know not to do that again."

"Patience is the biggest thing I've learned. When I started out, I always wanted to pull the right line. If I had any pace at all, it was pull, pull, pull. But ever since winning for the first time by sneaking up the rail and through the passing lane, I've learned not to move if I don't have to move. The main thing is to drive the horses to the best of your abilities and give them the best chance to do well."

Louis Rapone, 98, dies

Louis Rapone, 98, passed away on March 10, 2024.

Rapone was one of the original members of harness racing's 1,000-win club and was known as one of the premier "gate-men" in harness racing.

Born in Caledonia, NY, on July 9, 1925, "Louie" lived near the fairgrounds in that town, leading to his long and successful career in harness racing.

Formal schooling ended after grade school but, as he said, "I got a 'Harvard' education" beginning at the age of 13 from Mark Kyler.

Subsequently, he moved to the Hatchell Stable until he was called into the service and wound up with the Navy.

He played in the theatre – the European Theatre – during the war years (1944-46) and participated in the landings at Anzio, Normandy and Palermo; the latter landing resulting in a severe injury where he was hospitalized for several months.

After being honorably discharged from the service, Rapone came back to the States and bought his first horse, Flaxey Girl, making his first start at Batavia Downs.

"I learned a lot from the masters like [Billy] Haughton, [Delvin] Miller, and the Senior Simpson [John] and they taught me just about everything I got to know in treating problems that come up with our horses," he said years ago.

"I had a 'knee-knocker' by the name of Scudder, and he was a notorious knee knocking pacer and I couldn't make any progress with him so I turned him into a trotter and he was good going after that, too."

But Rapone didn't make a name for himself with the 'Scudders' of the world but, rather, with trotters like Grace Frost and Bold Colby and the pacers Jimmy Norman and Pole Adios, among many others.

"Pole Adios was a nasty thing," Rapone said. "Nasty but very game; but nasty enough that he had to be trained to a pick-up truck."

Pole Adios was one of the rare sub-2:00 horses back in the late 1950's and early 1960's leading Rapone to be in high demand as a rare catch-driver.

Even prior to that, Delvin Miller realized the talent in Rapone and had him catch-drive Dale Frost for him at Vernon Downs in a stakes event, which he won.

"Yeah," Rapone said with a laugh. "He beat some pretty good horseflesh like Dottie's Pick, Speedy Pick and Adios Harry. He could pace in [1]:58 when that kind of mile was really something!"

Longtime friend Odell Thompson recently reflected on his 60-year friendship with Lou Rapone saying, "I first met Louie back at Washington Park back in the early [1960's].

"He was one terrific horseman and he would get messages all day long at the stable-gate because all these folks wanted Louie to drive for them."

One of Rapone's great wins was in the early 1950's saying, "It was my birthday and I was driving a pacer that hadn't won in a couple of years; I can't remember her name [Note: Liza Jane Grattan, with a mark at 2:24] and she won in 2:09 and a piece and you'd thought she won a $100,000 stake because she broke 2:10."

It was Lou Rapone's 27th birthday and she lowered her mark by 24 2/5 seconds.

During his career, Rapone was successful at such venues at Hollywood Park, Washington Park, both one-mile ovals, the seven-eighths track at Vernon Downs, Sportsman's Park and their fabled five-eighths surface and all half-mile tracks in New York.

His 120-pound frame carried him into the winner's circle 2,069 times, primarily in an era when racing was conducted eight months a year.

When asked about his greatest moment in racing, Rapone said, "No doubt, it was Sept. 20, 1958 when I won four races at Batavia Downs, I can tell you their names, too, Governor Baldwin, Dixie Lee Direct, Will Counsel and Blue Skylark.

"I'll never forget it because that was the day my daughter, Betty Lou, was born. It just doesn't get any better than that."

It hasn't been all a "bed of roses" for Rapone as his son, Patsy, passed away from brain cancer in 1996 and another son, Louis, has passed as well.

"He was a helluva a horseman," Rapone said about Patsy. "And you never get over anything like that; losing a son... and I lost two beautiful ones."

Survivors include, daughter Betty Lou (Thomas) Buckley, sons Francis (Nancy) Rapone and Louis DiSanto, granddaughter Jennifer Allums, grandsons Christopher (Liz) Buckley, Aaron Buckley and great-grandson Elijah Buckley.

Information on services for Louis Rapone are pending.

Former standardbred trainer Monte Gelrod has Cobalt positive with thoroughbred Thoroughbred Daily News' Bill Finley reported on Tuesday that a thoroughbred trained by former standardbred trainer Monte Gelrod has received a positive test for Cobalt.

The Gelrod trainee named Ratified tested positive for Cobalt after racing on Feb. 19 at Parx. Gelrod was notified of the positive by the Horseracing Integrity and Welfare Unit (HIWU). Gelrod faces a suspension of up to two years, but that suspension has been put on hold while the HIWU awaits the results of a B sample test.

Finley wrote that, "Gelrod is a relative newcomer when it comes to thoroughbred racing. Gelrod was a close associate of top standardbred trainer [the late] Bill Robinson, who was banned at Woodbine Entertainment Group's tracks for more than 11 years for repeated drug violations. Gelrod trained standardbreds on his own from 1991 to 2015 and won 676 races."

In 2002, Gelrod received a five-year suspension in New Jersey and a $5,000 fine for what a 2003 story in the Daily Racing Form, said was a fourth positive for milkshaking. He began training thoroughbreds in 2023 and has amassed a career record of 4-for-20."

Blue Chip Matchmaker Series begins tonight at Yonkers, Borgata starts Monday

The Grand Circuit stakes season for this year kicks off on tonight (March 15) with three $40,000 divisions of the opening round of the Blue Chip Matchmaker Series for pacing mares at MGM Yonkers Raceway.

Lit De Rose (post 2, Jordan Stratton listed to drive for trainer Mike Lachance) heads the first grouping in the second of 12 races on the program. Lit De Rose, a 9-year-old Leader Bayama mare owned by breeder Guy Corbeil, won a leg of the Blue Chip Matchmaker Series a year ago and then finished a rallying second to Amazing Dream N in the $328,200 final. She enters today's test off a victory on March 1 in the F&M invitational pace at Yonkers. Her competition includes Mikala (post 4, George Brennan listed to drive for trainer Nik Drennan), who captured a pair of Grand Circuit Stakes finals in 2023.

The second split is race 4 and Karma Seelster (post 3, Stratton listed for trainer Andrew Adamczyk), who has made the last two Blue Chip Matchmaker Series finals, will look to get off to a strong start. The 7-year-old daughter of Sportswriter, owned by Karen Hauver and Shady Hill Racing Stable, won her final prep at Yonkers over non-winners $30,000 last five company on March 8 in 1:52.3. Tony's Mom (post 1, Yannick Gingras listed for trainer Per Engblom) also merits attention as she won a F&M invitational pace at Yonkers on Feb. 23 and then was second in the race won by Lit De Rose in a subsequent try.

Three more of last year's finalists — Racine Bell (post 1, Jason Bartlett listed for trainer Dave Dewhurst), Incaseyou didnt know (post 3, Andy McCarthy listed for trainer Cory Stratton) and Dougs Babe A (post 7, Dexter Dunn listed for trainer Nifty Norman) — will compete in Friday's final flight in race 9. Racine Bell also made the 2022 Blue Chip Matchmaker final and came up just a nose short of winning.

Preliminary round action in the Blue Chip Matchmaker Series will continue through Friday (April 12) with the $125,000 added final on Monday (April 22).

Four $50,000 divisions of the first of five preliminary rounds of the MGM Borgata Pacing Series for horses and geldings are set to take place on Monday (March 18) at MGM Yonkers Raceway.

The first split goes as race 3 on the 12-race program. Former Canadian Horse of the Year Desperate Man (post 5, Matt Kakaley listed to drive for trainer Travis Alexander) is among the entrants, as is Fouever Boy (post 4, Scott Zeron listed to drive for trainer Linda Toscano), the champion of last year's Charles Juravinski Memorial at Ontario's Flamboro Downs. Hemsworth N (post 6, Joe Bongiorno listed to drive for trainer Jared Bako), who captured a leg and last year's consolation, is also in this section.

Race 4 has Hellabalou (post 4, Yannick Gingras listed to drive for trainer Ron Burke), the upset champion in the 2023 $511,000 MGM Borgata Pacing Series final. Another one of last year's finalists, Funathebeach N (post 6, Jordan Stratton listed to drive for trainer Jeff Gillis), is also in this tilt, as are former MGM Grand Messenger Stakes victor Pleaseletmeknow (post 3, Kakaley listed for Alexander) and multiple stakes winner I Did It Myway (post 5, Tim Tetrack listed to drive for trainer Chuck Crissman, Jr.).

This Is The Plan (Gingras listed for Burke), the 2021 MGM Borgata Pacing Series champion, is in the third flight in race 6. In addition to his title, This Is The Plan has made two other finals, finishing eighth in 2022 and fourth last year. Covered Bridge (Stratton listed for Gillis, post 5), who finished third as the favorite in the championship a year ago, was also drawn into this event.

Leonidas A (post 4, Austin Siegelman listed to drive for trainer Matthew Medeiros), who was second in last year's final and Idealsomemagic A (post 1, George Brennan listed to drive for trainer Cory Stratton) top the final division (race 8). They'll be taken on by the likes of Linedrive Hanover (post 2, Zeron listed for Toscano), who beat the great Bulldog Hanover in the 2022 Juravinski Memorial final and Dunkin' (post 5, Tim Tetrack listed to drive for trainer Scott Di Domenico), who had the most wins by a standardbred in North America in 2023 with 21, and series veteran Semi Tough (post 6, Gingras listed for Burke).

Here are the full fields for Monday's races:

A weekend to celebrate the Irish at Big M

The three-day St. Patrick's Day weekend celebration comes to the Metropolitan Area starting today (March 15), and with temperatures expected to be at or near 60 degrees, millions will be in a partying mood, so The Meadowlands welcomes everyone to the grandest of racetracks, and you don't have to hail from County Cork or County Mayo to be part of the action.

Big M fans will be hoping the luck of the Irish will be smiling on them when live action takes place today and Saturday with a first-race post time of 6:20 p.m.

In the aftermath of last Saturday's (March 9) night-long downpour, with the weather this weekend (March 15-16) expected to be far better, it's a perfect time to head out to The Big M to take in the racing live, and while you do, enjoy a delicious Irish-themed buffet as you celebrate Ireland's best-known patron saint.

In addition, last Saturday, both the 20-cent Pick-8 and 20-cent Pick-6 went unhit, so there will be a pair of carryovers to titillate the pallets of multi-leg players when racing resumes tonight.

The Pick-8, which paid out $437.24 to those with seven winning selections, will start out with $6,980.20 up for grabs, while the 20-cent Pick-6, which returned $121.30 to those with five winners, will begin with $6,535.74 in the hat.

DRIVER OF THE YEAR ON SET: Scott Zeron, who recently collected the hardware as the 2023 Dan Patch Driver of the Year, will be Dave Little's guest on Big M TV's live simulcast pregame show on Saturday.

"In the Sulky" will reunite Zeron and Little, who last sat together when Zeron served as color commentator for the 2022 Hambletonian on the live simulcast show while nursing several injuries. Saturday's interview, which will include video highlights from Zeron's super season, will begin at 5:50 p.m.

MADC HANDLE SURPASSES SOARS: Last week we mentioned what a sensational run the Meadowlands Amateur Driving Club is enjoying in 2024, offering some of the biggest fields and pools in racing.

Two weekends ago, the most wagered-on race in the country was an MADC event, which handled $324,585. Last Friday, race 6 took in $316,646, and represented the second-highest, single-race handle in the U.S. behind The Big M's sixth race on Saturday, which saw $341,749 pushed through the windows.

WHAT A SHOW BY THE LADIES: Last Saturday, a ray of sunshine on a rainy night was the celebration of International Women's Day, which included two races that featured all-female drivers.

Annie Stoebe (Alta Blues A, race 5, $10.60 to win) and Devan Miller (Beach Vibes, race 7, $7.40) were the winning drivers in the dashes, while Jenna Otten joined sister Jessica on the live broadcast. Dawnelle Mock handled the back paddock interviews.

The two races with the lady pilots were hotly contested and well received by the wagering public, as the first dash took in $223,495, and the second, $205,667.

"Thank you to all of the ladies that participated on what was a very special night," said track chief operating officer/general manager Jason Settlemoir. "It was quite an evening, and it gave all of the powerful females in our sport an opportunity to show what they can do, both on and off the track."

CALLING ALL HANDICAPPERS: After a brief hiatus, The Meadowlands is bringing back a live money handicapping contest on Saturday, March 23.

There is no entry fee ($100 live money bankroll required) for players and the prize pool is a guaranteed $5,000, which will be fully funded by The Big M. The night of the contest, players must register/check-in at the Clubhouse Lobby by 6:20 p.m. A $100 betting card must be purchased to participate as this is a live money/wagering contest.

The contest format:

- Contestants must bet a minimum of 10 Meadowlands races
- $10 minimum bet per race; no maximum bet
- Win, Place, Show and/or Exacta wagers only
- One horse per race
- Contestants keep all pari-mutuel winnings
- Unlimited entries allowed per person
- Players keep all pari-mutuel winnings

For complete contest rules and regulations, go here.

FREE PROGRAMS EVERY NIGHT: Past performances for every race of every Meadowlands card are available free of charge. All one has to do is go to playmeadowlands.com to access the information.

THE POTENT PICK-4: As usual, betting on last weekend's four 50-cent Pick-4 wagers was vigorous, easily surpassing the $50,000 guaranteed pool every time.

On Friday, the Early Pick-4 saw $82,480 wagered, while the Late Pick-4 pool totaled $85,349.

Total action of the first P4 on Saturday was $84,057. The second took in $74,104.

The grand total on the four P4s for last weekend was $325,990, good for an average of $81,497.

The low payout was $76.95, while the other three returns were $418.85, $391.20 and $652.20.

CHECK OUT THE SHOW: The Big M's live "Racing from The Meadowlands" pregame show takes place before every live race card from the Sam McKee Memorial Broadcast Set.

The broadcast begins at 5:45 p.m. on both Friday and Saturday, before the live racing kicks off at 6:20 p.m.

Tonight, The Big M's "A"-team of Jessica Otten and Dave Little will be on set, while on Saturday, Little will welcome Anthony Stable into the co-host's chair.

Sunday nights at Lexington's Red Mile? Send it in!

As Lexington's Red Mile readies for its 2024 championship season, Gabe Prewitt, vice president of racing, has announced that Sunday night racing has been approved and will return to the iconic track.

Red Mile, celebrating its 150th season, will open July 21 with a Sunday night program with a 5:05 p.m. post time and will host nine such Sunday night programs with Kentucky Futurity Day scheduled for Sunday (Oct. 6) returning to an afternoon 1 p.m. post time.

In announcing that Red Mile "will be the place to be on Sunday nights," Prewitt also said, "We will have stakes racing every single racing program during the meet and, to kick things off on opening day, we will feature over $400,000 in purses highlighted by eight $50,000 Kentucky Proud Sire Stakes finals. We're very excited about the return of Sunday night racing, as it was received very enthusiastically last season and we are appreciative to have the opportunity to build on that.

"On Sept. 15, we will have $3.4 million in purses up for grabs as we host the Kentucky Sire Stakes finals for 2-year-olds and 3-year-olds, which is one of our many days filled with stakes events and we are looking forward to hosting these prestigious events."

March 15 nominations due to Scioto

Nominations for events held at Eldorado Scioto Downs — the Moni Maker, Nadia Lobell and Ohio State Fair races — are due today (March 15).

The Nadia Lobell, for 3-year-old pacing fillies, and the Moni Maker, for 3-year-old trotting fillies, will move to Scioto for 2024 and be held on Saturday (July 6). The nomination fee for both $120,000 events is $750. The $1,000 sustaining payment will be due on April 15, with the declaration fee set at $1,500. Nomination and sustaining payments should be made out and mailed to The Red Mile.

The Ohio State Fair races for Ohio-sired 2- and 3-year-olds also have a nomination fee due today (March 15). That fee is $250 and should be made payable and sent to the Ohio Harness Horsemen's Association. Ohio State Fair races will be held Aug. 1-3 at Scioto.

Conditions for all events are available on the USTA website at horsemen.ustrotting.com.

The 90-day 2024 Eldorado Scioto Downs race meet will open on Thursday (May 9) and conclude on Saturday (Sept. 14). Races will be held Tuesday-Saturday, with special holiday cards on Memorial Day and Labor Day taking place instead of the Tuesday card that week. First post will be 5:45 p.m. each day except for Friday (Sept. 13) which will have a 6:15 p.m. post to help accommodate horsemen attending the Ohio Selected Yearling Sale. More information about racing at Scioto can be found on the Eldorado Scioto Downs website.

Rankin sponsors 2024 BGRA youth contests

The Bill Galvin Racing Alliance (BGRA) is pleased to announce that prominent standardbred breeder and owner Tom Rankin will again be supporting the Alliance's youth contests in 2024.

This year the Alliance will offer a Youth Literary Derby and a Youth Art Derby.

For the Youth Literary Derby, Ontario elementary school children in grades 3 to 8 will submit either a poem or a short story about something standardbred related. There will be junior (grades 3-5) and intermediate divisions (grades 6-8) for this contest.

For the Youth Art Derby, as well as the junior and intermediate divisions, a senior division has been added for Ontario students in grades 9-12. Drawings or sketches must have a standardbred theme.

Thanks to Rankin's support, cash prizes will be awarded to the top three in each of the contest divisions. The deadline to enter is midnight on Saturday (Aug. 31).

In 2023, Rankin sponsored the youth contests and welcomed the general public to an open house event at his standardbred breeding operation in St. Catharines. Over 300 people attended the event to meet the broodmares and foals, and some of the youth contest entrants were inspired by their interactions with the horses.

"Tom has again generously offered to sponsor the prize money for these youth contests," said Karen Hauver, a volunteer director of the BGRA. "We sincerely appreciate Tom's commitment and involvement and we're extremely excited that he's willing to host another open house."

Again in 2024, Equine Guelph will be offering their Youth Horse Behavior and Safety online courses to winners that are 13 years of age or older.

For any educators or youth group leaders who would like more details or promotional items on the two contests, please email info@bgracingalliance.ca.

Complete rules and details for these contests can be found on the BGRA website at bgracingalliance.ca.
