The nine lives of Mark MacDonald

In yet another comeback, the driver has gone from “knocking on Heaven’s door” three times to returning to Woodbine Mohawk Park and his native Canada.

After being based in the U.S. for 13 years, Mark MacDonald is returning to his native Canada to drive at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

To interview Mark MacDonald on Friday the 13th (of March) is oddly appropriate, if coincidental. The star-crossed driver is building up to a comeback from his most recent accident and a complicated recovery.

“I’ve just got a little pinched nerve in my back, that’s all,” he said. “Nothing too serious. I broke three transverse process in my back last year at Yonkers... I went through a few things there.”

The Canadian native has been based in Goshen, NY for the past decade, while driving in races both in and outside of the state. Despite his skill level – MacDonald was Canada’s 2005 and 2006 O’Brien Driver of the Year and has won 6,743 of 49,859 career starts – he has been injured in multiple accidents on the track.

“I was hurt Oct. 24 [2024]... I broke my back and a rib and punctured my lung,” MacDonald said. “I was beat up a little bit. And then I came back in April [2025], and then I got in another accident in May, at Yonkers, when a 2-year-old pacing colt broke my hand and I fractured my tibia.”

The sidelined driver had been working out prior to being interviewed, cross-training in preparation for his return to Mohawk.

“I haven’t touched a horse in six months, maybe, probably since the last time I drove,” he said. “I was in the hospital. That accident at Yonkers, I broke my hand and they missed [diagnosing] the leg [injury]. They thought it was my back. I did too.”

“In October [2025], I had to just step away [from racing]. I literally felt like I was going to die. I was eight days in the hospital, at the end of October... That’s the third time I was knocking on Heaven’s door.”

~ Mark MacDonald

“I was a little sore. I didn’t know. I hit the ground pretty hard, and I was just coming back from breaking my back, so I was a little sore on my left leg and I had a little tingling.”

A severe reaction to a contrasting agent used for his MRI scans complicated MacDonald’s recovery.

“I had a huge hematoma on my left hip,” he said. “It kind of went away and then it came back, which is odd. I ended up going to the emergency room.”

He was diagnosed with a fractured tibia.

“I had a reaction to the [MRI] dye and my kidneys literally stopped working,” he said. “I didn’t know, but all summer I didn’t feel good on and off. I didn’t know if maybe I had a concussion... One ankle was swelling up all the time, and I was like, ‘What the hell is going on?’”

MacDonald said that by October 2025, he was rundown from reduced kidney function and a blood pressure medication he had been prescribed as a result.

“In October [2025], I had to just step away,” he said of his extended absence from the Yonkers driving colony. “I literally felt like I was going to die.

“I was eight days in the hospital, at the end of October... That’s the third time I was knocking on Heaven’s door.”

He quickly added that his other two brushes with mortality were, “the bad one at London in ‘03 and the bad one at Mohawk in ‘11.”

There were others, notably, “the bad one at Saratoga in ‘19 and the bad one at Yonkers in ‘25,” but like the proverbial cat, MacDonald joked that he still had “five or six” lives.

Conversation naturally veered toward his next chapter, to begin at the end of the month at Mohawk.

“To be honest, I just want to race,” said MacDonald, who relocated to drive primarily in the U.S. in 2012. “That’s kind of my home and my wife’s from there too. I was born in PEI and I lived there for 16 years, but I spent most of my life at Mohawk and around that area, in southwestern Ontario and all through there.”

In addition to a chance to spend time with his brothers and their families, MacDonald said the Ontario Sires Stakes program and prevalence of Grand Circuit races at Mohawk helped him make the decision to come back to Canada this year.

“I had a rough go in the last year and a half, racing at these little half-mile tracks in New York and getting beat up,” he said.

“These tracks just beat the crap out of you down here. It takes you about six hours to get anywhere... I’m just sick and tired of driving in my car. Last year, I spent the whole summer either in my car or in the friggin’ emergency room.”

MacDonald added that he was not returning to Canada because of any negative feelings towards his adopted country.

“I like living in the States,” he said. “I have dual citizenship... but I’m really looking forward to racing and not having to drive like three or four hours every day in a car.”

The Ontario circuit appealed to him more than the unrelenting “hustle” of commuting from Goshen to Pocono to Yonkers or The Meadowlands and back, all in a single day.

“To do a Pocono-Yonkers doubleheader, forget about driving the horse, that’s five and a half hours in the car,” he said. “You’re back and forth; you just pass yourself on the highway. And if you don’t hustle like that, you know what? There’s lots of able bodies willing to take your spot. I’d rather just focus on one track and one circuit, and maybe do a little outside traveling. That’s fine.”

MacDonald turned 47 in December, putting life priorities a little more in perspective.

“I don’t mind hustle in the summertime, because it’s not as hectic... I don’t want to miss time with my daughter, to be honest, and that’s what happens, you know: It ends up you don’t see your kids for the whole summer, unless they come with you,” he said.

On the subject of family, Mark chuckled at the notion that it might take another MacDonald to challenge his younger brother, James, for the Mohawk and O’Brien driving crown.

“I don’t think anybody’s going to beat James, but I’ll gladly give it a try,” Mark said. “I’ll just be grateful for some opportunities, to be honest with you. I think that he’s the best driver in North America.

“I’m going to come back at a high level. That’s what I’m doing right now. I’m getting in shape.”

Leap To Fame (Grant Dixon) winning the Miracle Mile on Saturday at Club Menangle.

Leap To Fame solidifies legend with monstrous Miracle Mile triumph

by Adam Hamilton

THE DOWN UNDER DIARY

with ADAM HAMILTON

"I call him the mechanical horse... he can't be real with what he does."

That's how rival trainer Shannon Price so superbly summed up the greatness of champion Down Under pacer Leap To Fame after one of the biggest, best and most important wins of his incredible career on Saturday (March 14).

There can't be many doubters left.

Even the harshest judges would have to rate Leap To Fame (Bettors Delight-Lettucereason) as good as any Down Under pacer in history after yet another monstrous display last night.

As he so often does, Leap To Fame did all the work, had to dig deep when he looked in trouble and still won the $1 million Miracle Mile.

It was his third run in Australasia's premier speed test in which he has two wins (2024 and Saturday) and a brave and close second to Don Hugo last year.

Just when it seemed emerging star The Janitor was going to swoop past him, Leap To Fame found another gear and kicked back to win by a half-neck.

Leap To Fame has now won the Miracle Mile twice in three years.

It was his 15th Group 1 win, leaving him just one short of Down Under record holders Lazarus and Westburn Grant at 16.

Leap To Fame's win was his 66th from just 85 starts. He has only finished worse than second on five occasions for three thirds and two fourths.

He took his already Australasian record prize money to $5,883,234.

"He's what dreams are made of... for us and harness racing," owner Kevin Seymour said. "[My wife] Kay and I have been in the game over 50 years and he's the horse we've dreamed of getting.

"Has there been one better? Not to us. He's a champion in every sense of the word and has just kept doing it for four years in the biggest races."

As co-trainer Trista Dixon stood away from the buzz and watched, she said: "You know, it's as much relief as anything when you win.

"We're trying to enjoy every moment now. Even when you get up and go down to the stables in the morning to see him. It won't last forever."

There is growing speculation 7-year-old Leap To Fame could be retired after he chases a third Inter Dominion crown at his home track, Albion Park, in July.

"Let's talk about it then," Kevin said. "I want to savor this for now."

Next stop is another trip to New Zealand to defend his crown in the $1 million Race by betcha at Cambridge in New Zealand's North Island on April 10.

"He's back home now [to Queensland] and then we'll bring him back [to Sydney] for a flight to Auckland on Easter Saturday or Sunday," Dixon said.

Champion driver Luke McCarthy, who finished third on defending champion Don Hugo last night and holds the record with four driving wins in the Miracle Mile, was in awe of Leap To Fame.

"What can you say? He's just a champion in every possible way," McCarthy said. "One of the very greatest."

“ He’s what dreams are made of... for us and harness racing. [My wife] Kay and I have been in the game over 50 years and [Leap To Fame is] the horse we’ve dreamed of getting. ”

~ Kevin Seymour

Pete McMullen, who drove runner-up The Janitor, thought he was going to win.

"Yep, when I really let down, I thought I had him, but he just found and found," he said.

The hard luck story of the Miracle Mile was superstar 4-year-old mare Captains Mistress, who was held-up three back on the pegs with nowhere to go.

"All credit to the winner, but she'd have been right in the finish with any luck at all," driver Jye Coney said.

KEYANG ZAHARA TAKES 15TH CAREER GROUP 1 RACE

The record keeps tumbling for freakish Australian trotting mare Keayang Zahara (Volstead—Keayang Yankee).

The 5-year-old equaled the record for most Group 1 wins by an Australasian trotter with 15 when she romped home in Saturday's $100,000 Hammerhead Mile.

It matched the 15 Group wins by the great Lyell Creek, who raced with success in North America. He dominated through the late 1990s and early 2000s.

And Keayang Zahara’s scorching 1:51.5 mile last night – seemingly in second gear – equaled Maori Time’s Australasian mile record set at the same race back in 2018.

Keayang Zahara’s winning rampage has sparked comparisons with the greatest Down Under trotters of all time.

Co-trainer Paddy Lee confirmed she would now head to New Zealand next month. The target is the $530,000 TAB Trot at Cambridge in New Zealand’s North Island on April 10.

“We’ll need to find another race for her and ‘Ballerini’ (stablemate Jilliby Ballerini) before they go to New Zealand,” he said.

That could be in their hometown Terang Trotters’ Cup on March 27 where Keayang Zahara and Jilliby Ballerini (Majestic Son–Shesasundon) would switch to standing start racing and come off 30-meter handicaps.

“That looks the best option or if the race doesn’t stand-up, we could give them a private workout that night,” Lee said.

Lee’s brother, Jason, who drove Keayang Zahara said: “She did that pretty easily. I should have asked her for a bit more and we’d have broken that record.”

As she has done so often, Jilliby Ballerini ran a terrific race for second to Keayang Zahara.

“She went enormous because we lost a lot of ground on the home turn when another horse galloped in front of us,” driver Glen Craven. “We should’ve finished much closer, but I’m not saying for a moment we’d have beaten the winner.

“I’m just excited to be driving in these big races, even if we are chasing her home.

“Off to New Zealand we both go and hopefully we’ll run one-two again.”

Club Menangle/Pacepix
Keayang Zahara (Jason Lee) won her 15th career Group 1 race with her triumph in the Hammerhead Mile on Saturday at Club Menangle.

HOLLYWOOD STRIP WINS EIGHTH STRAIGHT

Unbeaten 3-year-old Hollywood Strip set up a mouth-watering clash when he toyed with his rivals in Saturday’s $200,000 Group 1 NSW Derby.

Despite sitting parked out much of the mile, Hollywood Strip powered past leader and favorite Zeus Lightning to win running way in a career-best 1:49.8 mile.

It was his eighth win from as many starts.

“He’s big, strong, and really good,” trainer/driver Brad Hewitt said. “He’s got a big future.”

Hollywood Strip heads to the Bathurst Gold Carnival now where fans await the first mouth-watering clash between him and boom Victorian 3-year-old Loucasso, who boasts seven wins from nine starts, including two at Group 1 level.

The win capped a huge night for Hewitt, who also drove the exciting Sparkling Sea to a dominant win for his father, trainer David, in the Group 3 Raith Memorial for 3-year-old fillies.

“I’m most pleased that she didn’t quite feel her sharpest self, but dug in and got the win,” he said.

TALES FROM THE CURMUDGEON

with MURRAY BROWN

A conversation with fourth-generation horseman Joe Bongiorno

by Murray Brown

Joe Bongiorno belongs to a rare fraternity. He is one of the very few, perhaps its only member, who is both a trainer/driver of a large stable and also a fourth-generation active horseman.

I was privileged to have known his great grandfather Harold R. Dancer, who died before Joe was born. Harold, Sr., as he was known, was as good a horseman as these eyes have ever seen. Stanley Dancer, Harold's brother and the best known and most successful of the three Dancer brothers (Harold, Vernon, and Stanley) has said, more than once, that of the three brothers, his oldest brother Harold, was the best all-around horseman, perhaps even the very best all-around horseman that he had ever known.

If Harold had a fault, it was perhaps that he might have been the most demanding yearling shopper that I've ever known. His less-than-open pocketbook and his discerning eye often prevented him from getting the horses that he liked the most.

It's a somewhat well-known story that if not for the vagaries of fate, Harold, not Stanley, might have been the trainer of the horse that became Nevele Pride. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Quin had been long-time patrons of the Harold Dancer stable. They had raised a beautiful Stars Pride colt out of their Hoot Mon mare Thankful that Harold had trained and raced for them.

The original plan was for Harold to become the trainer for Thankful's yearling. However, Mr. Quin was in very poor health and the Quins were not in the position to become its racing owners. The Quins asked if Harold had an owner who might be interested in buying Thankful's Star. The price was $20,000. Harold said that he really liked the colt, but that unfortunately at the time, he didn't have an owner who might be interested. He asked if it was all right if he contacted his brother Stanley to see if he might have some interest. Stanley did and he bought the colt then named Thankful's Star for Ben and Julius Slutsky. Thus, Thankful's Star became Nevele Pride and the rest is history.

Harold's son was Harold J. Dancer, Joe's grandfather, also known as Sonny. He was also a very accomplished horseman during the Golden Years of the New York metropolitan tracks of Roosevelt and Yonkers Raceways and the roaring western tracks of the Grand Circuit. Sonny's sister was Lois Dancer, who became Lois Simpson, the wife of Hall of Famer John Simpson, Jr.

Sonny Dancer's daughter, Barbara, Joe Bongiorno's mother, married horseman Bob Bongiorno, who now "rides" in the mornings for his son Joe. In addition to Joe, they have a daughter, Jenn, now retired from training, who in her own history was the trainer of one of the leading stables in the Northeast.

We are now at 32-year-old Joe Bongiorno, the scion of one of harness racing's leading active stables.

Tell us about your stable. How many do you have in training? How are they made up?

"Right now we have 55 head in training. Sixteen of them are 2-year-olds. The rest are 3-year-olds and older horses. We are stabled here at Gaitway Farm in New Jersey. We race most of the older horses at The Meadowlands and at Yonkers. The stakes horses or those that we hope will become stakes horses will race mostly in the New York Sires Stakes with a sprinkling in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. We look mostly for New York sires eligibles in our yearling shopping."

You were almost literally born into your destiny in becoming a horseman. How did that evolve?

"Of course, I was always around the stables and the horses. However, I really didn't take much of an interest in getting involved until I was 13. It was at that time when I realized that this is what I wanted to do with my life. In my first job, I worked for Buzzy Sholty in my mid-to-late teens. He started me at the bottom of the ladder. I did a lot of stall cleaning and rubbing on horses before he allowed me to ride. I realized how much I loved it. I began to participate in amateur racing. Before too long, without perhaps sounding like a braggart, I thought that I was a better driver than most of those guys. I thought to myself, 'Maybe I had a future in the game.'"

From there?

"I went to work for Mark Beckwith in Saratoga. It was there that I received the greatest education to where I feel I am now a better than decent horse trainer. Most people don't realize how great a horseman Mark Beckwith is, and, of course, he is also a great sire. His son Brett is one of the great young drivers in harness racing today. Take it from me, Mark is one of the very best horsemen there is. It was while I was at Saratoga that I first became involved with Ronnie Burke. I was getting drives while up there and doing fairly decently. Somehow, I must have come to the attention of Ronnie Burke. He started putting me down to drive on some of his better Saturday horses. We did fairly well and won more than our share of those races. Can you imagine? Me a young kid, barely into my 20s, being a catch driver for the most successful and dominating stable our breed has ever known. I was truly living the good life."

Then?

"My sister Jenn was starting her stable. I went to work for her. To say that we did well would probably be an understatement. We did exceptionally well. We became big and successful. It seemed like it almost happened overnight. But like that old saying, on even the sunniest days, some rain must fall. For about a year-and-a-half, it poured in my life. I had gotten married and it just did not work out. Before too long we were divorced. I entered into a period of a year-and-a-half or so where I suffered from severe depression. Consequently, my driving suffered. I wasn't driving well. I wasn't doing well. In the interim, Jenn decided to retire from training. Would I be willing to take over the remainder of her stable? I thought so. Would running the stable in daytime and racing at night be too much for my then fragile state? Probably. I decided to take on the task, but only part way. I would temporarily give up my driving and concentrate my efforts solely on training the horses and managing the stable."

Now you are back both training and driving the horses of one of harness racing more prominent stables. How did this transition come about?

"My life changed entirely for the better. I met my fiancé Nicole. We are now the parents of the greatest joy life has granted me, our almost 2-year-old son, Parker. I gradually got over my depression and slowly started driving again. I feel I am now able to handle the joint demands of training and driving better."

"I don't know how unique it is, but I believe that most of the better drivers possess the ability to suit their driving skill to the individual horse. I think I'm able to relax the horse that might be high strung. On the other end, I think I'm usually able to wake up the horse that needs help on improving his attention to the task at hand."

~ Joe Bongiorno

Do you feel that being both a trainer and a driver gives you an edge in either discipline?

"I do. There are things that are unique to both fields. I feel I especially can translate my training experience to driving better to the benefit of the horse, our stable and of course its owners. The same to some extent applies to driving and educating myself and my clients in regard to training."

As a driver is there any unique talent that you believe you possess?

"I don't know how unique it is, but I believe that most of the better drivers possess the ability to suit their driving skill to the individual horse. I think I'm able to relax the horse that might be high strung. On the other end, I think I'm usually able to wake up the horse that needs help on improving his attention to the task at hand."

What lies in the future for you in harness racing?

"Hopefully to learn more and to get better at what I do. You are never too old to learn. I am still pretty young, so hopefully I have a whole lot of learning to do."

A 2025 Turkish football betting scandal had dozens of suspects, players, club officials, and referees arrested in connection with allegations of fixing match outcomes for betting advantages. Among those detained were prominent players who were accused of influencing match events tied to specific betting markets.

These wagers do not have a takeout or expenses. Their infrastructure could be a basement in Bar Harbor or a condo in Capistrano. Reining in the gambling mania will be impossible. Our particular corner of the gambling market – a cumbersome, state-based pari-mutuel system and the costly economics associated with it, does not look like a growth industry.

There are countless new competitors for gambling dollars. New gambling businesses are powerful and ruthless and are here to stay. There is no sense in complaining or fighting to go back to yesterday. All we can do is adjust.

Horse racing is no longer proprietary in the gambling world. In a world of artificial intelligence, any slice of the population that wants to wager on a horse race will look for a moneyman without baggage or takeout. If horse racing survives, you want to make a wager, and the takeout is one per cent versus 20 per cent, where are you placing your assets?

Silent killers in harness horse racing are not a lack of passion, talent, hard work, or horses. They are expenses and overhead.

What do we have to lose?

by Trey Nosrac

Pari-mutuel wagering has funded the sport of harness horse racing all of our lives. When anyone suggests that wagering may not be the primary driver in the future, it is human nature to be skeptical. Discussion about new ways to race horses feels dangerous. But avoiding the future carries far more danger.

The question about the future of our beloved sport might be better framed as whether we can survive without imagining something different than our past. The new wide world of gambling has shifted everything. Recently, there was a wagering proposition on the exact day our nation would go to war. Consider a few additional vignettes.

The Cleveland Guardians found their team gutted when it was alleged that their star pitcher intentionally threw baseballs outside the strike zone, and gamblers wagered heavily on those errant pitches.

An NBA player was banned for life after investigations showed he shared confidential health information with bettors and manipulated his own court performance to benefit large wagers placed by accomplices.

Layers of overhead were built for a gambling ecosystem that leads to frustrating whack-a-mole regulation and constraining new initiatives.

We could transition to a private sport that does not rely on gambling. Consider the expenses we could save:

- No race office
- No judges or full-time officials
- No state regulators on site
- No licensing (horses, trainers, drivers, owners)
- No ship-in barns
- No detention barns or spit boxes
- No testing personnel
- No testing labs, shipping, or chain-of-custody costs
- No legal retainers or litigation reserves
- No compliance departments, minimal security
- No tractor-trailers or shipping fleets
- No massive fuel bills and pollution
- No insurance premiums tied to gambling operations
- No tote systems
- No tote boards
- No grandstands
- No data feeds that we sell back to ourselves
- No mandated race-day ratios

- No appeals process
- No intermediaries handling our money

Industries that survive disruption shed weight. Airlines cut meals. Newsrooms cut printing presses. Music cuts CDs. Our sport, for the most part, continues running in the same old circles.

If people find the formula to remove gambling from the center of the sport and implement a private model, the incentive structure changes. A self-contained, invitational, private racing environment does not mean there is no money on the table for your racehorse. Rather, we create our own financial incentive structure for the participants.

This environment does not mean the wild west; it means being privately regulated. Peer accountability replaces bureaucratic enforcement. Reputation replaces punishment. Participation replaces compliance. If we let go of a gambling mentality, harness racing will offer a cleaner, fairer, more wholesome product.

A cleaner, smaller, transparent sport built for participants is far easier to re-monetize than a bloated relic gasping for subsidies. We are racing towards something. Maybe in the future we can squeeze some revenue from the wagering public - but we cannot bet on it.

Harness racing will survive not by betting on gambling, but by betting on itself.

Recent observations

by Bob Heyden

As spring approaches it's time to take a look at a few fun facts before new ones start to bloom.

LEADING MAN AGAIN?

At 61, David Miller is the leading money-winning driver in North America in 2026 as of mid-March.

FOR THE RECORD

Part of the ownership of 2025 Dan Patch Pacer and Horse of the Year, Beau Jangles, is Jonathan Roberts who campaigned possibly the most unlikely all-time leading trotter in a country, Great George Two. Two decades back, Roberts drove the son of Hobokenbahamamamas to the fastest trotting mile in both Canadian history (1:52.1) as well as at Syracuse (1:52.3).

HALL CALLS

Driver Bi Shively, 89, went into the Hall of Fame in 1967 while trainer Frank Ervin went in the following year. The pair were 26 years apart in age. Ervin's career was monumental, huge, worthy in anyone's book. He raced Adios, sold Proximity, and was the first repeater (Good Time) and three-peater (Bret Hanover) in HOY balloting. Ervin also groomed for Shively way back when; long before Shively, a Spanish-American War veteran, became the oldest driver ever to win the Hambletonian in 1952 with Sharp Note at 74.

LET'S PLAY TWO

Who remembers Meadowlands double headers? They had eight of them in all, from May 17, 1980 through Feb. 6, 1988, with 16 total race cards averaging 15,931 per in attendance and $2,228,452 bet on track only. April 4, 1981 had the highest combined attendance (40,159) and handle ($4,960,993).

CLAIM TO FAME

March 16 this year marks the 47th anniversary of the sports very first $100,000 claim, Taurus Romeo. A son of 1966 Triple Crown winner Romeo Hanover, Thomas Fay from New Hampshire took him. Two years later on the very same weekend he did so once again, that time it was Sure Show.

HISTORY MAKING PAIR

Is this the most unbreakable record in all of racing? Stabmate trotter and pacer each retired as the richest ever on their gait, Cardigan Bay and Su Mac Lad. Stanley Dancer trained trotter Su Mac Lad who retired in 1965 with $885,095 followed three years later by pacer Cardigan Bay with $1,001,548. Did I mention they were both owned by Irving Berkemeyer?

BOYS OF SUMMER

How do HOYs do in their first starts of their award-winning years? This "Fab Five" didn't get the ball rolling until that June: Chapter Seven on June 23, 2012, Real Desire on June 1, 2002, Malabar Man on June 15, 1997, Glidemaster on June 10, 2006, and Mack Lobell as a sophomore in 1987 after a 20-start freshman year got underway on June 28.

HITTING THE MARC?

Is this the Marcus Melander breakthrough year in the Hambletonian? Has anyone ever had a better bio in this race prior to winning it? Melander turns 34 on July 1. Ron Gurfein was 53 in 1994 with Victory Dream winning his first Hambletonian, Jimmy Takter was 36 in 1997 with Malabar Man, and Chuck Sylvester was 46 in 1987 when Mack Lobell got him on the board with his first of four visits.

WHAT ARE THE ODDS?

Speaking of the Hambletonian, did you know that none of the last three Triple Crown winners was either first or second choice in the Hambletonian? In 2004 it was Windsong's Legacy who paid $11 as the fourth choice, in 2006, Glidemaster ($14) was third choice, and in 2016, Marion Marauder ($7) was also third choice. In 1972, Super Bowl was the last trotter favored in the Hambletonian to win the Triple Crown and he was the overwhelming favorite.

MEADOWLANDS SWEET 16

With the recent success of the International Women's Day celebration at The Meadowlands, what better time to look back to 2004 when Leah Vandevort completed The Meadowlands own "Sweet Sixteen."

Here are the first 16 ladies to visit the winner's circle in East Rutherford, NJ:

JoAnn Looney, Jackie Ingrassia, Susan Looney, Bonnie Butler, Linda Gentile, Brooke Nickells, Gail Coppersmith, Linda McNatt (McDonald), Anne Wheeler, Flo Browne, Diane Browne, Anna-lena Ljunggren, Teresa Powers, Lynn O'Donoghue, Karen Fekete, and Vandervort.

No Bea Farber you ask? Nope. In limited Meadowlands action in the late 1970s she got several checks with Easy Irv, but welcome to the Immortals Hall of Fame Queen Bea!

Periculum (Scott Zeron) storms home to win last year's Cutler Memorial by a neck over Lexus Kody.

Stakes season set to sizzle following brutal Big M winter

by Debbie Little

When Daylight Saving Time began last Sunday (March 8), it signaled that, despite this weekend's cold temperatures, winter was ending, spring is coming, and at The Meadowlands, that means it's almost time for stakes season to start.

Despite how competitive racing has been this winter at the mile oval, things should get kicked up a notch as The Big M's perennial top drivers return from hard-earned holidays.

According to a press release sent out by The Big M on Friday (March 13), the track's president/chief executive officer Jeff Gural has already reached out to their top drivers to ask them to come back and drive starting on March 27.

The presence of those drivers generally signals a change in the quality of the competition on the track, especially since a little over a month from now, The Big M will kick off five straight Saturday stakes nights, starting with the Home Grown Series for 3-year-old male and female pacers on April 25.

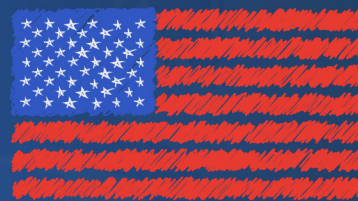

May kicks off The Meadowlands Championship Meet with the first Saturday (May 2) always a big day/night combination for both thoroughbred and standardbred sophomores, as fans will pack the track in East Rutherford, NJ, during the day to watch and wager on the simulcast of the 152nd edition of the Kentucky Derby from Churchill Downs, followed by a live evening card on track that features The Big M's first graded stakes race of the season, the Dexter Cup (Grade 3).

The Dexter Cup, for 3-year-old male trotters, will be featured alongside the Lady Suffolk, its companion race for 3-year-old filly trotters, as well as the first leg of the New Jersey Sire Stakes (NJSS) for 3-year-old pacers.

RESULTS & REPLAYS

US & CANADIAN RESULTS/REPLAYS AVAILABLE IN EACH ONLINE EDITION

www.harnessracingupdate.com

Leg 2 of New Jersey Sires Stakes (NJSS) action for sophomore pacers will take place on May 9, succeeded the following week by the Arthur J. Cutler Memorial (Grade 3) and Garden State Stakes for 3-year-old colt and filly trotters.

The Cutler kicks off the Grand Circuit season for older trotters and in its 28 previous editions, has never failed to deliver top performers and exciting finishes.

According to Ron Burke, 2025 Dan Patch Trotter of the Year Lexus Kody is being aimed for the Cutler.

If “Kody” picks up where he left off last season, he should be the one to beat, however, he did finish second by a neck to Periculum in last year’s Cutler.

According to the conditions for the Cutler, the 11 highest 2025-26 combined money winners – using USTA records – declared will race at a distance of one mile.

Last year, Aetos Kronos S did not make the top 11 cutoff based on money, so perhaps that one has something to prove this year should he return at the same high level.

For older mare trotters, the first leg of the Miss Versatility Series (Grade 3) will be featured on May 23 alongside the NJSS finals for 3-year-old pacers and the first leg of NJSS action for sophomore trotters.

With the retirement from racing of M-M’s Dream, who won two of the last three Miss Versatility finals (2023 and 2025), the door should be open for standout rivals Elista Hanover, 2025 Dan Patch Older Female Trotter of the Year Warrawee Michelle, and Nelsonbriteagle NO, who won the Miss Versatility final in 2024.

Legs 2, 3, and 4 of the Miss Versatility Series will take place at The Meadowlands on July 11, Aug. 1, and Sept. 4, respectively, before the final on Sept. 24 at the Delaware (Ohio) County Fairgrounds on Little Brown Jug Day.

EUROPEAN REPORT

with THOMAS HEDLUND

Iguski Sautonne dominates on the Riviera

by Thomas Hedlund

Last Sunday's (March 8) $230,000 Grand Criterium de Vitesse on the French Riviera at Cagnes-sur-Mer turned into a magnificent performance by a trotter who had already captured a Group 1 race earlier in 2026.

Go On Boy and Romain Derieux went off as the favorites in the mile contest, but the start proved demanding for the son of Password. He was forced three-wide through the entire first turn before settling on the outside of early leader Iguski Sautonne (Village Mystic), who had quickly taken command with his trainer Matthieu Abrivard in the sulky.

Iguski Sautonne had somewhat surprisingly captured the $770,000 Prix de Cornulier a week before the Prix d'Amérique, in only the second monté start of his career. On Sunday, the handsome stallion showed that he belongs among Europe's elite in harness racing as well.

From the lead, Iguski Sautonne set a solid tempo and gave his rivals no real chance over the long Cagnes-sur-Mer stretch. The winning time was 1:50.2.

With the victory, Abrivard's trotter became just the third horse in history to complete the Prix de Cornulier / Grand Criterium de Vitesse double in the same year. Masina (Quinio) first achieved the feat in 1962, while Bellino II (Boum III) repeated it in both 1975 and 1976.

"Just like in his very best days, he was flying today," Abrivard said after the race. "I saw us on the big screen and felt so confident that I even had time to wave to the crowd.

"There's incredible pride in this. Winning the Prix de Cornulier and then coming here to win the Grand Criterium de Vitesse shows what a complete horse he is. He truly does everything."

Abrivard also admitted he had some doubts beforehand.

"I had a bit of anxiety before this race because I hesitated to drive him aggressively last time," he said. "But 'Iguski' loves being in front and setting his own pace. When he gets to do that, he's almost unbeatable."

Harley Gema (Bold Eagle) finished second in 1:50.4 after a trip in third-over and steadily gained ground in the stretch, but never truly threatened the winner.

Go On Boy (Password) could not challenge after his demanding trip outside the leader and had to settle for third in 1:51, while Inmarosa (Amiral Sacha) finished fourth from the pocket in the same time.

Sunday's victory marked Iguski Sautonne's third Group 1 win. In addition to the Prix de Cornulier, he has also captured the Prix de l'Atlantique (€200,000) at Enghien. Another major success came in the Group 2 Grand Prix du Sud-Ouest (€200,000) at Beaumont-de-Lomagne.

IDAO DE TILLARD RETURNS

Idao de Tillard (Severino), the two-time Prix d'Amérique winner trained by Thierry Duvaldestin, made his comeback last Thursday (March 12) after dealing with colic problems that required surgery and a lengthy break.

The performance did not raise many eyebrows, however, as Idao de Tillard finished seventh at Caen and showed little punch in the stretch.

"He will need time and we have to be patient," Duvaldestin told Paris-Turf after the race.

"It has been a bit of a race against the clock to prepare him, but things will improve. He raced with heavier shoeing than usual when finishing seventh. The plan now is to gradually build his form."

Duvaldestin added that the Prix de l'Atlantique on April 18 might come a little too soon.

"Right now, it looks tight, especially since he will likely make only one more start before that race," he said. "Perhaps the Prix Kerjacques at Vincennes on April 4."

FIRST ELITLOPPET INVITATION ISSUED

The first invitation to the Elitloppet at Solvalla was handed out on Saturday evening (March 14), and unsurprisingly it went to the defending champion Go On Boy (Password).

Romain Derieux's trotter has shown he thrives at Solvalla and over the mile distance, and he will once again be among the favorites to win the race.

The Elitloppet will be held on May 31, and more information about the event can be found here.

The walking death of pari-mutuel racing in Tennessee, Part 9

Memphis is a landmark city in Tennessee mostly due to its 20th century cultural importance. It became the “Birthplace of Rock N Roll” even before Alan Freed invented the phrase. It was at Sun Records’ rank recording studio where the likes of Johnny Cash and Jerry Lee Lewis and a score of others lined up behind Elvis Presley to bombard the world with a new genre that forever broke all barriers of race and the music industry.

There in Shelby County – the westernmost and most populated county in Tennessee – is Graceland; 120 acres adorned with Elvis’ memorabilia pressed into a mansion and museum and a Four-Diamond resort hotel. Millions of visitors trek to Graceland from all over the United States and do so easily because Graceland rests in the part of Tennessee bordered by Arkansas and Mississippi.

“What better place in the state for any kind of racetrack?” said the state racing commissioner.

“Mr. Conrad,” I said, “it is a great spot. Already attracting tourists and the populations of two huge states. But mechanical horses?”

“It’s complicated,” he said. “We can’t just start restart a racehorse industry quickly. But while we do, we can introduce the pari-mutuel part to new and seasoned folks. Heck, it’s more than a two-hour ride to Hot Springs in Arkansas.”

“Oaklawn Park, you mean?”

“Yeah. Not much traffic heading down there with us up here.”

“But mechanical horses?”

“We’ll work with what we got and try to get more going.”

In the following weeks Mr. Conrad told me there was progress at the Memphis mechanical racetrack. He remained optimistic. I wanted to visit the site but a trip across the state did not fit into my schedule. I reminded myself over and over not to spend too much time on the pari-mutuel scoop. It was taking time away from my high-paying job and profile in the Opry empire. I had strong evidence I was not on their political team concerning the issue and pursuing it would only have a negative effect on me.

I did not hear from Mr. Conrad for a few weeks but I did get a call from one of my horse racing connections in Pennsylvania (let’s call him Robbie).

“A big British company is showing interest in that pari-mutuel law you were following,” Robbie said.

“I doubt if your source has a better connection than I do,” I said.

“I don’t know his connection down there but I know his connection overseas. And he swears there’s a lot of money ready to be spent to back it.”

“Listen. I do not believe the forces against building pari-mutuel racetracks are going to come through.”

“Who said anything about building racetracks?” Robbie knew my history with horse racing in Britain from my reports in various

Above the foal, the text reads "HRU WANTS YOUR BEST FOAL PHOTOS FOR OUR NEW FEATURE" in bold, stylized fonts. Below the foal, the words "Foal Spotlight" are written in a large, red, cursive font. industry magazines. "I'm talking about the financial boom from betting revenue from tracks outside of Tennessee. Forget about those mechanical horses you told me about."

I thought I knew what he was getting at and said, "Stop there. This state is not about to set up a Bookie Community like the Brits have. That would be like condoning an underground network of the bad and the ugly without the good."

"Stupid. You don't know anything about where you live, do you?"

"Maybe too much."

"Look at a map of Tennessee."

Robbie made me feel stupid. I deserved it because when I took out my trusty multi-folded Rand-McNally map of the United States I was witness to a conspicuous reality.

Tennessee is in the shape of a parallelogram – "a quadrilateral whose opposite sides are both parallel and equal in length." This particular parallelogram-sized state is so wide that it hosts the borders of eight other American states.

On the southern borders are Mississippi to the south and Missouri and Arkansas to the west. To the north sits Kentucky and to the northeast is Virginia and to the direct east North Carolina and South Carolina. And to the south there are Georgia and Alabama.

The populations of those neighboring states equaled over 347 million. My eyeballs bulged. I called Robbie back.

"You figured it out?" he said.

"You bet I did."

The off-track betting (OTB) probabilities were mind-blowing. Even if no one in the state of Tennessee placed a bet there were enough betting bodies that could cross the borders of neighboring states and wager at an OTB network in the Volunteer State.

Robbie said, "Most of the border states are hungry for the kind of money OTBs can share. Maybe Tennessee doesn't even have to have a home track. I haven't read their law."

"Imagine that," I said. "Such a business does not have to compete with the tourist money at Graceland. Or the racing in Arkansas or Kentucky."

HARNESS RACING PRESS RELEASES, NOTES & ANNOUNCEMENTS

Winning Key Farm named title sponsor of Hambletonian at The Meadowlands

The Hambletonian Society, which owns and administers America's premier trotting race, the $1-million Hambletonian, is proud to announce the addition of Winning Key Farm, owned by Patty Key, as the race's title sponsor.

Founded in 1926, the Hambletonian will celebrate its 100-year anniversary on Saturday, Aug. 8, 2026 at Meadowlands Racetrack in East Rutherford, NJ.

Patty Key, who re-envisioned the dynastic operation started and run by her late husband Bob into a boutique breeding and racing operation, welcomed the opportunity to participate in the historic anniversary of the Hambletonian.

"Winning Key Farm is honored to sponsor the 101st edition of the Hambletonian," she said. "The prestige and excitement that this race brings to trotting fans is second to none.

"With its international audience, the Hambletonian is the perfect opportunity to promote our farm and bring attention to the quality yearlings that we will be offering in this and future years."

Patty and Bob Key's Winning Key Farm has been one of the most prolific and successful standardbred breeding and racing operations for the last four decades. Located in Worthington, PA, Winning Key Farm housed more than 300 horses at one point.

The Keys, in partnership with the late John Glesmann, bred and raced 1993 Hambletonian champion American Winner. American Winner was a son of Super Bowl and the Speedy Somolli mare BJ's Pleasure, who Key and Glesmann purchased as a yearling. A superior trotter, BJ's Pleasure was successful on the track but shone as a broodmare. She was inducted into the Harness Racing Hall of Fame in 2001 as the dam of 20 foals with more than $3.3 million in collective earnings. Both American Winner and Bob Key, who passed away in 2021, were inducted as Immortals of the Hall of Fame in 2025.

Patty has continued her late husband's legacy while putting her distinctive stamp on the farm in recent years, reducing the broodmare band and acquiring top-shelf stallion shares and mares to rebrand the Winning Key name at both yearling sales and racetracks.

Over the last four years Winning Key has remained in the top 20 breeders by earnings list amidst far larger and more established farm names. She was also part-owner of the 2022 Dan Patch champion freshman trotter Volume Eight, and retained her interest in him as a stallion at Hanover Shoe Farms. His exciting first crop of yearlings will hit the sales rings this fall.

It is Patty's belief that sponsoring the Hambletonian will give the farm an elevated and international platform to showcase its breeding program and further raise the profile of the Winning Key name.

"Your next trotting champion might be waiting right here at Winning Key Farm," she said. "We can be your 'Key to Success!'"

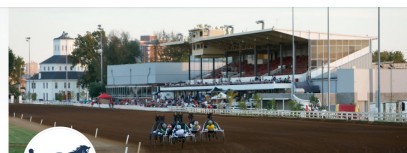

The Winning Key Farm Hambletonian will headline a stakes-laden race card and be nationally televised on FOX Sports and CBS Sports Network. The farm will also be featured in the Winning Key Road to the Hambletonian and the 101st Hambletonian broadcast on CBS Sports Network.

"The Hambletonian Society is honored to welcome Winning Key Farm as the title sponsor for our 101st Hambletonian," said Hambletonian Society president/chief executive officer John Campbell. "Winning Key has made it their mission to breed standardbreds that compete at the upper echelons of our sport which fits perfectly with the Hambletonian Society's mission of offering and promoting the highest quality stakes races.

Harness Racing Update

“We thank Patty Key for her vision and commitment to the Hambletonian and look forward to their participation in the greatest day in harness racing.”

First contested in 1926 at the Syracuse Fairgrounds in New York, the Hambletonian Stake was created by the Hambletonian Society to promote the standardbred trotting breed. The race has been hosted by The Meadowlands since 1981, the longest-running venue for the sought-after event.

Hambletonian Day at The Meadowlands is consistently the highest-handling event in harness racing, generating more than $115 million in single-day wagering since 2010.

Gural’s cautiously optimistic Big M forecast

Things are tough all over in harness racing. And despite being the No. 1 venue in the entire sport, all things at The Meadowlands are not exactly strawberries and cream.

Handle is down, and the mile oval still has no casino to bolster its purses as every bordering state with harness racing does.

But Jeff Gural has made some moves designed to get the track through the upcoming stakes season with the hopes that down the road, the track can return to the juggernaut it once was.

“We are pleased to report that we have received approximately $400,000 in stallion payments, which we plan to use to cover our significant operating losses,” said The Big M’s chairman/ chief executive officer.

“Our handle has been significantly lower thus far this year, partially impacted by the winter weather when we had six cancellations. We have reached out to our [“A-list”] driver colony for them to come back and drive starting on March 27 in the hope that will help restore the handle back to where it was last year.

“Obviously, the Championship Meet (which begins the first weekend in May) will follow, and we are making progress on our effort to get a casino and expect to be able to provide a progress report within the next week or so.”

For this season, The Meadowlands instituted an Early Closer Participation (ECP) payment on foals of 2024, which had to be made to The Meadowlands to gain eligibility for nomination to all Meadowlands 2-year-old Early Closers in 2026.

For stallion owners and syndicates, participation in The Meadowlands Early Closing program for foals of 2024 is contingent upon the sire having been nominated by paying the equivalent of half (50 per cent) the cost of an annual breeding with a minimum of $1,000 (USD) for any stallion standing in North America for the 2023 breeding season.

Horses standing in Canada shall adjust their annual breeding fee to the USD equivalent on the day of application. Horses standing outside North America are exempt. Private treaty horses may be addressed on a case-by-case basis.

This stallion payment provides their foals of 2024 the opportunity to gain the option of nominating to Meadowlands Early Closers for the life of the horse by making the one-time $400 Meadowlands EC Participation payment.

“We received what we expected from the industry and we appreciate the breeders and yearling buyers for their support,” said Gural, “and, hopefully, we can get a casino and these payments will go away because we’d be able to increase purses as a result of the slot revenues once we are up and running.”

The Big M’s staking department has $1,302,550 in total deposits, with $340,610 of that in stallion payments and $658,150 in Feb. 15 stakes money. That leaves $303,790 in ECP $400 payment money, which will go towards Meadowlands purses, specifically stakes events.

OHHA announces extension of staking nomination deadline

The Ohio Harness Horsemen’s Association has announced the extension of the nomination deadline for Ohio-hosted stakes events.

Due to postal delays and horsemen not receiving the 2026 Ohio Stakes Guide in a timely manner, the nomination deadline has been extended to March 20, 2026. To be eligible, all nominations must be postmarked by that date.

The 2026 Ohio Stakes Guide is also available online.

For more information regarding nominations, contact the OHHA office at 614-221-3650.

'Boy' bullies field in Big M feature

With stiff winds in their faces down the backside, the front end wasn't where you wanted to be Friday night (March 13) at The Meadowlands, but the veteran 7-year-old gelding Bully Boy Hill, despite some anxious moments, was able to go wire-to-wire in the featured TrackMaster 77.5 on the trot.

Off a nose defeat in his Big M return last week, Bully Boy Hill was bet down to 1-5 in the field of six (after two scratches) and was used early to grab the lead out of the first turn. He reached the quarter on the point in a leisurely :29.3.

The pace continued sleepy down the backstretch, which gave Remarkable De Vie the opportunity to sprint up on the rim and put some heat on the leader as the half was timed in a slow 1:00.

"Tough to say [if Vinny Ginsburg, driving Remarkable De Vie, was going to get by me]," said winning driver Brett Beckwith, "but he came from last and I still had the plugs in."

Another rated fraction had the duo at three-quarters in 1:29.3, but "Bully" was starting to pull away as Remarkable De Vie made a break, making it clear that the veteran son of Muscle Hill—Lauramarie would prevail with ease, and the Eric Mollor trainee did just that, extending his advantage from 2¾ lengths at the head of the lane to 3½ at the finish. Massive Matter was second with Soeur Mary placed third after Gillys De Vie was disqualified for racing inside several pylons through the stretch drive.

"He was not great gaited but we managed to get the job done," said Beckwith. "I wasn't happy with the way he was going but it turned out pretty good. He's got a lot of high speed when he's right and as long as Eric can keep him going, he'll climb the class ladder a little bit."

After completing the mile in 1:56.4, Bully Boy Hill lifted his lifetime stats to 20 wins in 130 tries, good for earnings of $277,536 for owners Durazzano Stable. He paid $2.40 to win.

A LITTLE MORE: Mark Herschberger and Joe Bongiorno tied atop the driver leaderboard with three winners each, while Ivan Llopez took three walks down victory lane to top the trainers... All-source wagering on the 14-race program totaled $2,283,590.

This week's fines and suspensions

HRU is providing links to publicly-available fines and suspension lists for convenience.

Readers are reminded that because a person's name appears on the list does not necessarily mean they are guilty of an offense. Many times, cases are not finalized and many of the accused are still entitled to due process.

Also, please note, for context, the first link is to the Association of Racing Commissioners International's classification system of drug penalties to give readers a sense of the difference between a Class 1 and a Class 4 positive.
