Joe Lee is a successful amateur driver thanks, in part, to the New York Yankees

Joe Lee, 45, grew up in New York's Throggs Neck section of The Bronx and then in Yonkers, loving horses, but it took the New York Yankees to make him a driver.

"We were always at the track as a family," Lee said. "My parents had owned standardbreds when I was a little kid... My mom [Gail] had a groom's license as well as my dad [Dennis]. My dad might have even had a trainer's license.

"I can remember being a little boy and seeing the International Trot at Roosevelt, and then later on at Yonkers, and I thought

“I was always the kid that was at the rail the last two races, looking in the program to see who was going to be done for their night, and begging them over the rail to give me their whip. To this day, I probably have 250 to 300 whips in my basement. A lot of them have their names on the whips, and if they didn’t, I would write their name on it, and the horse that they drove.”

it was the greatest thing; they turned off all the racetrack lights, and they would have a spotlight on each horse, telling you about that horse, and playing the national anthem from the country that that horse represented. I mean, I thought the International Trot was like the greatest event.

“I was always the kid that was at the rail the last two races, looking in the program to see who was going to be done for their night, and begging them over the rail to give me their whip. To this day, I probably have 250 to 300 whips in my basement. A lot of them have their names on the whips, and if they didn’t, I would write their name on it, and the horse that they drove.”

Lee said getting those whips as a kid were special to him.

“That’s what really made me a fan of the sport for life,” he said. “Bill O’Donnell and Ron Pierce gave me their whip every time I asked them, and [Cat] Manzi, too. If a kid asked Cat Manzi for the whip, Cat threw it over the fence; it didn’t matter how good or bad a night that he had.”

In addition to spending time at the track, Lee also spent time with his dad at his real job.

“My dad used to be in charge of the visiting locker room in football for the Jets,” Lee said. “I was 7,8 years old, going with him to Giants Stadium at The Meadowlands and helping him out with the football team. So, if the Jets were playing the Miami Dolphins, I would be an 8-year-old kid on the sidelines working the Miami Dolphins-Jets game doing water and Gatorade on the sidelines, or answering the phones from the coaches that are up in the booth. And they’d be like, ‘Oh, go get me number 82.’ and I’d be like, ‘82, coach is on the phone.’

At 15, Lee traded in the locker room for a clubhouse in The Bronx, where he remains 31 years later as the assistant equipment manager for the New York Yankees.

“I just say I’m a clubhouse assistant, because I feel like we all share in the duties of what makes that clubhouse run,” he said. “I work all the home games, so, that’s 81 home games, plus the playoffs, plus I’ll go on a road trip here or there. If they go to the postseason, I travel with them. It’s not my main source of income, but I still go down there because of the relationships that I developed over the years.”

Yankees manager Joe Torre and coach Don Zimmer, like Lee, were huge horse racing fans and would often go to the track together, especially Lee and Zimmer.

“Zimmer would go to simulcasting in the afternoon [at Yonkers], if we had a night game,” Lee said. “His wife would drop him off at the Empire Terrace and I would come from Fordham Prep and meet him at the Empire Terrace. He would buy me lunch and we’d bet a couple of races, and then he would drive with me from Yonkers down to the stadium, so that his wife wouldn’t have to make that trip. And then, if we had a day game, he would say, ‘What are you doing tonight?’ I’d say, ‘Nothing,’ and he’d say, ‘Okay, well, I’ll meet you at The Meadowlands.’ And after the day game, we would go to the Terraces Restaurant at The Meadowlands and stay all night and watch the harness races, because The Meadowlands, at the time, was racing five nights a week. And if we had a day game on Saturdays or Thursday afternoon, we always went to The Meadowlands afterwards. Zimmer would take off his uniform, get right in the car and go right to the track, and he’d be there until I got there, and then we would go to dinner, and then I would drive him back home to Rye Brook. We did that every day for every year that he worked with the Yankees.”

20 minutes we're at Turf Paradise, because he wanted to bet simulcasting on the East Coast tracks.

“One day we got to Turf Paradise and the parking lot wasn't even open. We're in a cab and we had to wait for them to open the gates because he didn't know that they didn't take the first couple of races from the East Coast. We were sitting there like two bums, waiting for them to open the race track. I went to so many tracks across the country with those guys.

In the mid-2000s, Torre introduced Lee to standardbred owner Sandy Goldfarb. Torre owned thoroughbreds with Goldfarb.

“Sandy knew I was a racing fan, so he said, ‘If you ever want to go to the farm and jog or train some horses, I'll hook you up with my man Buzzy [Sholty],’ Lee said. “So, I said, ‘Yeah, that would be great.’ Because, I mean, I rode equestrian for a long time. I've been around horses for my whole life. I show-jumped horses, and I took riding lessons, so, I was like, man, I have to go to the farm and do this, just to see what it was like to sit behind one rather than ride one.”

Lee showed enough talent that Sholty suggested he get a license and by 2010 he was in his first pari-mutuel race.

“I didn't race the amateurs in the beginning, because I didn't even know that there was amateur racing,” Lee said. “I didn't know how it worked, who was running it, who to talk to. Buzzy didn't give me any of that info.”

Lee joined the amateur ranks in 2014 after paying back the little he had earned as a driver. To maintain amateur status, a driver must donate the 5 per cent.

A graduate of Fordham Prep and Fordham University, Lee has been a financial advisor since 2001.

Although his life is pretty full between his real job, harness racing and the Yankees, Lee said he will never forget what he learned from the greats and will always pay it forward.

“It's funny, these kids were at the rail [at Freehold] saying ‘Hey, Joe Lee, can I get your whip after the race?’ And I'm like, ‘Yeah, if I win, here it is,’ and I throw it over the fence, because that could be a kid that loves racing for the rest of his life because of that connection.

“One kid asked me for the whip, and I didn't win, but instead of going right back to the paddock, I took the horse all around the track again and then tossed the whip over the fence. I just think that I owe that to whoever is at the fence asking me nowadays for a whip, because the pro drivers back in the day did that for me, and that's why I'm sitting in those race bikes going behind the gate.

Lee said he will never take the opportunities he's been given for granted.

“It's the greatest thrill for me every time I go behind that gate,” Lee said. “Every time the [starter] at The Meadowlands, Moe [LaFontaine], says, ‘All right, bring them up. Let's get them together behind the gate,’ it's the biggest rush. Every day is like the first race every time I go behind that gate. It never gets old, win or lose.”

Ponda Warrior, Hochstetler regroup after trying 2024

The 2023 Dan Patch champ returns following a nine-month absence due to a tendon problem.

by James Platz

This evening (March 28), Dan Patch Stakes champion Ponda Warrior will make his 2025 debut for trainer Jay Hochstetler. The now 6-year-old Rockin Image gelding will line up behind the gate for his first pari-mutuel start since July of last year. He returns to action after being shelved for nearly nine months with tendon issues.

"He had a small tendon injury, and you know, I thought we could nurse him through it," Hochstetler said. "It just was going to get worse, so I stopped before it got to be a major, major injury and just gave him plenty of time off. So far, so good on coming back from it, so fingers crossed."

After winning Harrah's Hoosier Park's signature event in 2023, the conditioner had high hopes for Ponda Warrior returning at 5 last season. The pacer, however, managed only three starts before being sidelined with the tendon injury.

"He kind of had it real early in the year, like in April, and I gave him a short break," Hochstetler said. "We thought we had it healed, and then after that third start, the line doesn't look bad, but I said, 'Something's not right.' So even though he didn't show any real signs on the track, I looked at it again and the ultrasound didn't show any major injury, but I said it didn't look as good as it did before he started racing again. So, I just said let's just stop. There's no point in trying to create a disaster here."

A 12-time victor with over $730,000 on his card, Ponda Warrior is owned by the partnership of Hochstetler, Finkelberg Racing and South Of The Tracks Racing. He enters tonight's sixth race, a $16,000 event attracting a field of five, off a March 19 qualifier where he won by more than 10 lengths in a time of 1:54.2.

"That was a really windy day, and he did it really within himself," Hochstetler said. "I thought about qualifying him again, but, you know, he seemed like he was plenty fit, and we had trained him hard a couple times before then, down at Pinehurst."

“I’m going to race [Ponda Warrior] at Hoosier for a while here just to kind of get his bearings, and then I focused most of his Grand Circuit stuff at the end of the year. He’s got the two races at Hoosier; he’s got the Breeders Crown. I think if I can replicate what he was at 4, you know, I think with the way the aged landscape is right now he’ll be a pretty good contender.”

~ Jay Hochstetler

The trainer and co-owner was concerned his charge would have to make his first start in 266 days going straight into the open ranks. Instead, he will debut in a contest for non-winners of $15,000 (Indiana sired $16,500) last four starts. After the long layoff, Ponda Warrior returned to training around Christmas.

“He’s really easy, honestly,” Hochstetler said. “He gets his fitness back really fast, and, you know, he’s so mellow on the racetrack that it’s pretty easy to keep him regulated and just train him at the speed you want him to.”

The plan is to campaign Ponda Warrior at Hoosier Park before taking aim at the Grand Circuit.

“I’m going to race him at Hoosier for a while here just to kind of get his bearings, and then I focused most of his Grand Circuit stuff at the end of the year,” said Hochstetler, 2023 USHWA Rising Star Award winner. “He’s got the two races at Hoosier; he’s got the Breeders Crown. I think if I can replicate what he was at 4, you know, I think with the way the aged landscape is right now he’ll be a pretty good contender.”

Losing Ponda Warrior last season was a bitter pill to swallow. It was made even more difficult when Ponda Title, 2023 Indiana Trotter of the Year, didn’t return to the track after being diagnosed with Cervical Vertebral Malformation.

“We had her turned out after her 2-year-old season and the farm manager calls one day and said, ‘Hey, she’s just not walking right,’” Hochstetler said. “Then it was a couple of months trial trying to figure out what was actually wrong with her.”

When Ponda Title was diagnosed with Cervical Vertebral Malformation, Hochstetler was told the condition very seldom happens in fillies, and is very rare in standardbreds. He was also told that the ailment is often discovered and diagnosed in yearlings, not 3-year-olds.

“That was brutal,” he said. “I mean, hers was just a one-in-a-million type of thing. She had a freak spinal genetic condition where her spinal cord kind of started collapsing on itself. It ended up costing her life last fall.”

As a freshman, Ponda Title registered seven wins and banked $483,420 for the partnership of Connie Hochstetler, Robert Buddig and Allen Schwartz. Retired from racing, she was in foal when the condition continued to worsen.

“When they diagnosed her, they said she should be fine to be a broodmare,” Jay said. “And she was for a while. We had her at Victory Hill and they called and said she’s really getting worse. She just got so bad where it just wasn’t even going to be sustainable.”

The trainer has another trotting filly that he has high hopes for this season. As a freshman, Ponda Fashion scored a pair of Indiana Sires Stakes leg wins and finished the year with a 1:55.1 mark and $73,750 on her card.

“She didn’t finish the year well last year, but I think she’ll go back to the name she made for herself at the start of the year last year,” Jay said. “She just had some gaiting issues, just 2-year-old growing issues at the end of the year, but she’s training back really, really well. I’m hyped up to see her start her season.”

Also back in action is veteran trotter Ponda Jet. Now 5, the gelded son of Dover Dan has earned over $550,000 in his career. Ponda Jet finished third in his seasonal debut March 22 at Hoosier Park.

“I didn’t stake him really heavy to the Grand Circuit, but he’s got the Caesars Trotting Classic and he’s got the Dayton Derby, so he’ll have a shot to stretch out a little bit,” he said.

MANE ATTRACTION

with JOHN BERRY

The wounds that never heal

by John Berry

Back around 1949 or 1950, I remember having a big cut on my arm.

A huge scab formed over the wound and, being a bit stubborn, I decided to yank the bandage off and, of course, after ripping it off, it bled like a sieve again and rekindled the hurt... again.

It was that memory that spawned this Mane Attraction, as the tragedy of recent days unfolded.

I – we – have witnessed a lot over our lifetime and are fortunate enough to still be around, instead of being the ones witnessing our own ending and misfortune, which, guaranteed, will, someday, come.

From Francis McIsaac in 1979 to Hunter Myers, with Wayne Smullen, David Dunckley, Billy Haughton, Shelly Goudreau, Hal Belote, even Lew Williams – but in a different, tragic farm circumstance – among others, when time tries to heal our wounds from one incidental tragedy in our sport, the “bandage” is ripped off with another tragedy and our hearts bleed all over again.

This tragedy even brings me back to the “Pop” Geers days, who died on the very day honoring him on “Pop” Geers Day at a fair over 100 years ago.

History doesn’t lie and, sometimes, it wounds us all very badly. But our sport is no different than any other.

There have been 128 deaths of drivers, and spectators, at NASCAR events with another 14 losing their lives at the Daytona Speedway, including the now legendary Dale Earnhardt.

Bill Masterson died from an injury sustained in a National Hockey League game.

Ray Chapman passed away after being hit in the head by a pitch during a baseball game.

Chuck Hughes expired after suffering a heart attack and died on a field during an NFL game.

Nomar Kumaritashvili lost control of his sled during a training run for the Olympics and died.

The pro-wrestler Owen Hart died during a pre-fight event.

These are just a few of the relatively few tragedies in sports and they all competed in a sport that they loved and in which they excelled.

Sports will find tragedy and death in just about every category, from canoeing and cricket to diving and skiing.

During my lifetime – 81 years, thus far – 113 boxers have lost their lives in the ring, the most recent being John Cooney on Feb. 8, of this year.

Will there be conversations about making the sports safer?

Of course.

One day after Earnhardt’s death in 2001, the safety revolution began and hasn’t stopped since with changes to seats, headrests and belts, among other improvements.

One notable quote read, “The impact that Earnhardt had after his death on the safety of auto racing has been something that is far greater than would have happened with anybody else.”

We are all one or two seconds away from death every breath we take.

From traffic on the highway – especially with today’s careless and “wreck full” drivers – to the next bolt of lightning, to a tornado strike, to the person standing next to you with a concealed weapon, you never know.

But one thing that the NASCAR did that our sport seems reluctant to do is seek advice outside of our own little, private bubble.

Personally, I haven’t gotten over the passing of McIsaac, Mullen, Dunckley, Williams, Goudreau, Belote and, of course, Haughton, among others.

The Hunter Myers tragedy will be with me until my dying breath.

I spoke with both Bill O’Donnell and Wally Hennessey about this situation and both acknowledged the improvements in today’s helmet that have saved countless lives and prevented serious injury over the years when split second situations occur on our tracks.

Our sport is a dangerous one.

Most sports are.

But, when auto driver “Pete” Snell died in 1957 when his helmet failed, the Snell Foundation became a reality and great strides have been made, especially from the soft hat days.

Safety is a paramount issue in our sport, or should be.

Whether it’s the difference in hand holds, say, between here and Italy and other nations overseas, or judges in close up vehicles to the inside of the track following around, or whatever.

I am hoping that the legacy of Hunter Myers might be placed indelibly in history with the formation of the Hunter Myers Research and Development Organization, which just might lead to a future of unprecedented changes in safety for our sport.

It shouldn’t take more than 1:45.3 to put this suggestion into reality.

Scott Coulter newest member of the 6,000-win club

by Matthew Lomon

A phone flooded with messages and a celebratory drink awaited Scott Coulter following his milestone triumph in race 5 at Flamboro Downs on Saturday (March 22).

While he still had some unfinished business to attend to in the interim, the swell of support for the newest member of the 6,000-win club had already started to take shape.

"Immediately after, off the track, a handful of the guys I drive against regularly were there to congratulate me," Coulter said. "I was lucky my brother [Steve] and dad [Robert] had a horse in the last race of that card, so they were there too.

"My wife, my daughter, and my in-laws were cheering me on from home. They all sent me texts right after – I didn't get them until after the races, but they sent me a whole bunch of messages. It's been a few days since, and I've been getting nice messages pretty steadily."

Scott entered the Dundas, ON oval's nine-race program sitting on 5,998 career wins.

He wasted no time collecting number 5,999, holding on with 5-year-old trotter Allstar Goldi for a 1 $\frac{3}{4}$ -length score in race 1.

After coming up short in races 2 and 4, the third time was ultimately the charm for Scott.

Paired with 163-start veteran Run Like Hill for the second time in as many weeks, the Brantford, ON reinsman adopted a different strategy to steer the 8-year-old trotter to the winner's circle.

"Last time out, he was up in a little tougher company, and he'd been faltering on the front, so I drove him a little more cautiously this time," Scott said. "He prefers a front-end journey – the first start I was maybe not in the position I should have been in. On the night I won with him, everybody left, I got away fifth and ended up with a perfect second over cover, and the fractions set up and he came from off the pace to win.

"He's a big one-speed horse. I was sitting off hot fractions, moved him over, and he kept his one speed going until he passed them all. That race just worked out."

Scott's memorable evening continued with two more victories in the seventh and eighth, bringing his total for the night to four, and his career to 6,002 (as of March 26).

That grand slam was very nearly a five-piece, but Scott came up a neck shy with his brother's horse Goodashim in the finale.

Even so, he has no complaints with how the night played out.

"It was a good day," he said. "Couldn't have worked out any better."

Tracking down major milestones is nothing new for the humble horseman, who last June hit the $40 million career earnings plateau.

Scott secured win number 5,000 on April 17, 2019, behind Spicey Victor in an $8,500 claiming trot at the Raceway at Western Fair District.

As the numbers have already displayed, Scott has held firm as one of Ontario's top drivers since his professional debut in 1995.

Over the years, Scott has ranked amongst the 10 winningest drivers in Canada on several occasions, headlined by a career-best 467 wins in 2011 that saw him rocket to second on the national leaderboard.

In other words, he's made plenty of owners and trainers very happy. In the wake of his latest accomplishment, Scott also made it clear that the feeling is mutual.

"I could never pick one; 6,000 races, that's a lot of support from a lot of different directions," he said. "There's been highs and lows with all of them. There's been great runs with certain people and then there's been stale times. But you have to give it to everybody that's given me a leg up through the years, because without them, I don't get to hit the racetrack. I couldn't pick one person. I'd have to paint everybody with the same brush."

As for what keeps the decorated racer motivated some 30 years and 43,000-plus starts later, the answer is simple: there's no need for extra incentive when you do what you love.

"I've always been very steady and been able to stay in the upper ranks at the B circuit, so just keeping steady as she goes," Scott said. "It's my life. It's what I do. I treat it very much like a job. I go to work, and I do the very best I can while I'm there, and then I shut the lights off, come back, and try it again the next day."

Looking ahead, Scott intends to keep his wheels in motion... Next stop, 7,000 wins?

"I'm going to keep working towards it," he said. "I'm 55 in November, and I've got my aches and pains like anybody who's 55 that's raced horses for that long, but I'll keep plugging away, and I'll let my body tell me."

GRASSROOTS PERSPECTIVE

with CHRIS LOMON

There's nothing tedious about Darla MacEachern's love for horses

by Chris Lomon

Darla MacEachern is not one to be bound by tedium.

For as long as she can remember, MacEachern, who hails from Prince Edward Island (PEI), has always steered clear of the mundane – whether in the standardbred barn or in any other aspect of her life.

"I'm a little OCD and like the barn work done a certain way," MacEachern said with a laugh. "I enjoy that more than jogging. I get bored easily. But training... I love that!"

MacEachern has been training since 2020, during which she sent out 14 starters, earning two second-place finishes and three thirds. Her milestone first win came with W C Little Willie, a bay gelding she also owned. The win, which took place on May 24, 2021, at Summerside Raceway on PEI, marked a special moment in her career.

To date, while working full-time as a medical administrator, MacEachern has won seven races and recorded 30 top-three finishes from 78 career starts.

Her modest stable is operated with a modest personality and unalloyed love of horses.

That love for horses and her strong work ethic were nurtured during her formative years in Milo, a small community in eastern PEI.

"My father Dwane, who is my role model, had horses his whole life," Darla said. "I don't recall a time we never had any. He would jog on the side of the road and also swim them in the [Atlantic] ocean, so horses are definitely in my blood."

"I started out with ponies. Pat Murphy, a good family friend, brought one home for me. I got my first job at 13 and saved my money and bought my first horse and have owned them ever since."

Several have left an indelible impression on Darla, a lengthy list that includes Life Savior.

A bay gelding by Life Sign out of Hannah Banana, Life Savior was originally purchased for $20,000 at the 2006 Lexington Select Yearling Sale. He went on to have a long and successful racing career.

"My father had about 15 horses at the time and Life Savior rolls into the barn for owner Kevin Macmillan – my dad didn't tell me until he landed," Darla said. "I looked at him and said, 'Seriously?' This horse had ankles on him the size of baseballs. My dad said that I could look after him and get the boarding money."

Darla MacEachern.

“Our goal is to just have fun. We hope all drivers and horses come off the track safe and sound. I have met a lot of great friends who have become more like family through the sport – I wish them all a great, safe racing season. Of course, we are always looking for more wins.”

~ Darla MacEachern

The gawky-looking bay would be a home run for father and daughter and eventually find his own field of dreams.

“Later on, down the road, I ended up buying him myself,” she said. “He was 4 when we got him, and he had eight wins and eight seconds. He ended his racing career with 60 wins and 49 seconds from 277 lifetime starts. We retired him at 10. He’s now 20, living the field life with Sara, a donkey, at a beautiful farm just 15 minutes away from me.

“They say that you can’t keep them all. But he deserves a good retirement. I was fortunate enough to find a great home for him with retired vet Dave Thomas.”

Porthill Alf, a son of Largo (NB)—Island Perretti, bred by Marvyn Webster, was another standout pacer in Dwane’s stable.

“He raced in an invitational and won a Governor’s Plate elimination, back in 2007, with Gilles Barrieau driving,” Darla said. “He finished his career with 64 wins.”

Darla also has high praise for Goodmorning Nova, a pacing daughter of Arthur Blue Chip—Goodmorning Ky, who earned 2-Year-Old Filly of the Year honors on PEI.

“I guess you can say I’m more of a gelding kind of girl, but we also had the opportunity to train Goodmorning Nova,” she said. “A great friend and horseman, Frank Banks, raised her. Unfortunately, he got sick and passed away before she raced. He had asked my father to train her. We raced her for her 2-year-old season around the Maritimes. In 10 starts, she had six wins and banked $55,000. Those were special moments that I’ll never forget.”

Currently, Darla and her father have three horses training back. They also have a welcome part-time helping hand on race days.

“I currently own one of my horses with Kevin Macmillan, a longtime family friend and horseman,” Darla said. “His granddaughter, Zoey MacEachern; I can see the passion she has for horses. She’s my little sidekick on race days. I’ve been showing her the ropes. I can see a lot of myself in her. There is no task she won’t try, like myself.”

When the 2025 PEI racing season kicks off later this spring, Darla will once again be part of a vibrant racing scene in the province of just under 179,000 people.

“It’s very family oriented here in PEI,” she said. “No matter where you go, you always feel welcome. The friendships you build – you meet a lot of great people in this industry. Everyone is always willing to lend a hand.”

The main objective for her small operation is, as always, to enjoy racing experience.

“Our goal is to just have fun,” Darla said. “We hope all drivers and horses come off the track safe and sound. I have met a lot of great friends who have become more like family through the sport – I wish them all a great, safe racing season. Of course, we are always looking for more wins.”

Whether it happens this year or in the coming years, Darla is considering obtaining her driver’s license.

Finding the time to do it might be the biggest obstacle.

“My days start early at the barn, around five in the morning,” she said. “I get the horses jogged, trained, the stalls cleaned out, and get them in their stalls. Then I’m off to work – usually late depending how barn chores go – and on lunch break, the horses are fed. After that, it’s back to work, then back to the barn after work for supper chores and anything else that was left undone. So, it’s usually early nights.”

Darla’s recipe for relaxing after a busy day in both the office and barn is, on occasion, to raise a glass.

“I will unwind from a long day with the odd cold beer,” she said with a laugh.

Beer might be replaced by champagne, at least for one day, if Darla ever has the chance to race one of her horses at a well-known Ontario racetrack.

“I’ve been to Mohawk for the North America Cup, but unfortunately, it was during COVID, so things weren’t normal,” she said. “I definitely didn’t get the full experience, but I watch a lot of racing there and would like to race my horse there someday.”

It’s an exciting prospect for a horsewoman who has never been one to settle for boredom.

Jockey Omar Moreno steps into the harness racing world

by Chris Lomon / Woodbine communications

Omar Moreno's horse racing journey has taken several unexpected yet rewarding turns, particularly through his growing relationship with horses and his active involvement in the standardbred racing community.

It was around two years ago when Moreno, Canada's champion apprentice jockey of 2009 and winner of both the Sovereign and Eclipse Awards for the same in 2010, was sitting at home on a non-descript weekend evening, talking to his friend, longtime horseman Arthur Silvera.

"I was acting grumpy and pouty," Moreno said. "At one point, Arthur remarked, 'You need to get out of the house.'"

The journeyman rider, who lives two minutes away from Woodbine Mohawk Park, one of the top standardbred racetracks in North America, repeatedly resisted Silvera's offer to go watch the races at the seven-eighths-of-a-mile oval in Campbellville, ON.

Finally, Moreno relented, slipping on his shoes and throwing on a coat.

Minutes after they arrived the two made their way to the bustling paddock situated not far from the finish line.

Silvera introduced Moreno to Amanda Fine, a trainer he had come to know through his sales work with an equine and pet supplies company.

"I just stood there, listening to the conversation," Moreno said. "I didn't contribute much – and that was it."

One and done, he thought.

"Some time went by, and we started communicating again," Moreno said. I ended up going to the farm where Amanda is and then I went to the racetrack to see her horses race."

Silvera, son of the late thoroughbred trainer Laurie Silvera, no longer had to plead with Moreno to accompany him to Mohawk – now it was the other way around. If Silvera couldn't make it, Moreno would go on his own.

Friendship between Moreno and Fine soon turned into a relationship.

At first blush, the two might be horse racing's version of The Odd Couple. Dig deeper, however, and they are very much on the same page in many ways.

"When her horses have an off night, I feel it too," said Moreno, who graduated from the jockey program at Olds College in Alberta. "Watching her emotions, I can relate to it. As a jockey, if we don't win, it's tough to turn it off. As a trainer, it's the same thing – you question what you could have done differently or better."

Jockey Omar Moreno
with a standardbred.

Moreno, a former boxer, who made his first Queen's Plate appearance aboard Maple Leaf Kitten in 2011, stepped into the standardbred ring with a sense of curiosity and wide-eyed wonderment.

"I began by visiting Amanda's barn and observing how she worked with her horses – the care and attention to detail that went into everything," Moreno said. "It made me respect her work even more. I am not biased because she is my girlfriend, but even before that, I watched the level of care and attention she has for her horses, and it just had this effect on me."

As the bond grew between Moreno and Fine, so too did his connection with the pacers and trotters Fine doted on.

She quickly took notice of it.

"Having Omar come into our barn has been a pleasure," said Fine, who launched her training career in 2019. "Omar definitely helps my day get shorter. He enjoys putting a horse away or helping with whatever our barn needs a hand with. He brings a positive vibe pretty much everywhere he goes. I respect Omar's willingness to be open minded and his genuine compassion towards horses."

Fine added, with an accompanying laugh, "There is a reason I call him 'happy feet.'"

Working so closely with his girlfriend's horses prompted Moreno to recollect the times when his relationship with thoroughbreds was vastly different.

"I had a love for racing – that's what it had always been for me," he said. "I was the type of person who if I went on a trail ride, and the horse wasn't tacked up, I wasn't interested in going. I was always about the fast pace of racing and nothing much more."

That began to change a few years ago.

"I started galloping for [thoroughbred] trainer Michelle Love and I found a whole different perspective of horses and horsepeople," Moreno said. "I finally woke up from my entitlement mentality. I fell in love with horses."

Fine, who posted a career-high 28 wins in 2024, was delighted in what she saw.

"Having him try out our breed and come out for race nights has been a blast and it's nice to see the genuine love and compassion towards the horses that he has," Fine said. "I think that has been my favorite part. He truly just enjoys being around them and seeing the different personalities they all have."

Moreno's unbridled joy for the breed and its equine stars gave him the confidence to make the leap from inquisitive bystander to active participant in Fine's barn.

"Amanda and I have been together just over a year now and this past winter is the first time I started grooming some of her horses," he said. "She is very particular about how she cares for her horses, and I wanted to make sure I respected that. She has very high standards."

Which is why Moreno was somewhat hesitant when he approached Fine early last year with an ask: the jockey who had saddled up for 5,433 career starts, wanted to jog a standardbred.

Fine's answer was to hand him the lines.

"She told me that there was only way to learn, to just go out and do it," Moreno said. "I get on horses all the time, but this is something completely different. Amanda was in New York at one point in 2024, and I asked her if I could try jogging a horse."

The trainer with 105 lifetime wins gave Moreno an uncomplicated pacer to work with.

"She gave me a horse and told me to go four laps," Moreno said. "The speed was obviously different from that of a thoroughbred, so I wasn't sure if I was going too fast or too slow. This horse wasn't a tough horse, but I had to hold him for four laps – my arms were like jelly after I was done."

"With a thoroughbred, you might have to hold them for six furlongs, maybe, a mile and a half – these standardbred ones are so strong too. You need soft hands with them."

This winter, Moreno was back in the sulky. Trepidation had been overtaken by exhilaration.

By the time the snow had disappeared, he had hit his best stride on the training track.

"It is amazing," he said. "Amanda's dad couldn't do it one day, and I offered to help. I just enjoy being in the moment, feeling that closeness with each horse."

Just as it is with the jockey's life.

As the days draw closer to the start of the thoroughbred season in Ontario, Moreno, like his contemporaries, is up before the sun rises above the Woodbine backstretch, working horses for various trainers.

Gone are the times when Moreno would work his last horse of the day and then be on his way.

"The love of the horse part is what has changed for me," he said. "If you had asked me three years ago, I would have never imagined this. With the thoroughbreds, it was always about the racing – you would have never seen me hot walking a horse. I see things a lot differently. I love horses. If I can grow from that, my life will be full."

In many ways, it already is.

Moreno is a fixture at Woodbine Mohawk Park and other racetracks where the Fine horses compete. Some nights he is there as a fan, others he helps Fine in the paddock, certain ones he does both.

Whatever role he plays, he's grateful.

"I love it," he said. "I try to go to all her races. Since I groom some of her horses and I jog some of her horses, I feel like I am part of the team. When I am at the races, if she needs me to do something, I let her tell me. It's a lot of fun being part of this world."

It isn't only the horses who Moreno has connected with.

His passion for horses has also allowed him to forge meaningful connections within the harness racing community, from drivers like James MacDonald to fellow horsepeople, all of whom have embraced him.

"James, who is the best driver in Canada and one of the top ones in North America, never fails to say hello to me," Moreno said. "Sometimes, we have conversations about him being a driver and me being a jockey – the mentality we have. We are both athletes and we both want to win. It's interesting to get into the mind of a top driver. I also talk to Jason Ryan, who drives for Amanda at Flamboro.

"Everyone is very welcoming."

MacDonald, Canada's four-time defending Driver of the Year, has enjoyed getting to know Moreno.

"It has been great having Omar around," MacDonald said. "He was in our barn for a while, and it was awesome to be able to pick his brain about thoroughbred racing. He also asks lots of question about driving standardbreds as well.

"He's inquired a bunch of times about training a horse together, which we will do now that the weather is better. However, he has implied he wants me to do the same with a thoroughbred as well – not sure I have what it takes to do what he does though. We all look forward to seeing him around lots more."

It is one more reason why Moreno feels right at home in the harness racing community.

Fine is happy to have him along for the ride.

"It's really just two breeds and one passion that we both share," she said.

As to where his harness racing experience might lead to, Moreno, closing in on 600 career wins, isn't sure.

"I am not looking that far ahead," he said. "I am just enjoying the moment and the learning process. My focus now is thoroughbreds. I am very excited about the upcoming season, and I can't wait to get racing. Hopefully, it's a great year."

Silvera, aside from his matchmaking duties, has taken the role of jockey agent for Moreno.

He has seen a different side of his longtime friend over the past three years, a more content and grounded person.

"Omar is always smiling," Silvera said. "I think this is the happiest I have ever seen him."

Moreno, happy feet and all, is exactly that.

"Career-wise, the past few years haven't been my best years, but they have been my happiest ones," he said. "It is a whole different way of looking at things."

Especially the way in which he views all horses.

"I love every single one of them," Moreno said. "Amanda sometimes asks which is my favorite, but each horse has its own unique personality – on and off the track – and that's what makes them so special to me."

It's a thought that comes to mind whether Moreno is in the irons, in the sulky, grooming, walking hots, or cheering from the rail.

"I'm incredibly grateful for all I've learned in the past three years," he said. "Horses are a gift, and every day spent with them makes my life better."

Big M wants players to bet big in tribute to Hunter Myers

Since the tragic event that took the life of 27-year-old Hunter Myers in a race at The Meadows in Pennsylvania, on March 19, it seems like just about everybody from every facet of the harness racing industry has pitched in to support Hunter's fiancé, Chloe Fisher, and young son, Hayden Myers.

On Saturday (March 29) night, everyone who likes betting on Meadowlands races has a chance to help out as well. The fourth dash is the "Hunter Myers Memorial Race," and all proceeds from the one-mile event will be donated to help Chloe and Hayden.

In addition, Big M chairman/chief executive officer Jeff Gural has pledged to match all monies raised.

"What an amazing young man, gone far too soon," said Meadowlands chief operating officer/general manager Jason Settlemoir on his Facebook page. "This breaks my heart! Every time I saw Hunter it was 'Hey boss or Mr. Settlemoir.' Last year at the Delaware County Fair, we settled on just calling me Jason.

"Hunter sure did love our sport and we sure did love Hunter. His energy, his passion, his smile, his genuine and spirited attitude towards life. He was a great young man and a talented young driver. Pray for his family and pray for our sport. This certainly hurts and puts everything in perspective. Fly high, young man, fly where only angels soar. My thoughts and prayers to his family and friends. This is tragic."

The race that honors the fallen driver who amassed 2,450 lifetime victories is one that should attract a lot of attention from bettors. It's a TrackMaster 83.5 pace with a full field of 10 where half of the field shows at least one win in their last five starts.

"We urge our fans, whether they come to the track once a week or once a month or bet us on their favorite ADW (Advance Deposit Wagering) site to bet on the fourth race Saturday," said Settlemoir. "Small bettors, big bettors, we urge them to get involved and be a part of helping Chloe and Hayden."

QUALIFIER REPORT: In the first of six qualifiers that take place Saturday afternoon, trainer Marcus Melander sends out a pair of intriguing Swedish shippers.

Aetos Kronos S qualified third at The Big M a week ago. The 9-year-old son of Bold Eagle—Will Of A Woman, a lifetime earner of $1.3 million, raced in the $1-million Prix d'Amerique in January of 2024.

His stablemate, S I P, is a 6-year-old son of Bar Hopping—Barbara Brooks, who hasn't raced since October of last year. Melander is likely hoping the potent pair will be able to race in the upper-echelon events for older trotters this year.

A horse well known by Meadowlands regulars will also be qualifying in the opener. The Ron Burke-trained Lexus Kody, the Big M track-record holder for an older gelding of 1:49.4, won eight of 20 starts a year ago and banked over $200,000.

In the second qualifier, Burke's Cheers Hanover, who earned $108,250 a year ago, and Nifty Norman's Yannick G Kemp, $85,870, will get their 3-year-old colt trotting seasons underway, while the fifth qualifier finds three lifetime earners of $500,000: Robert Cleary's Soaring Now, Jeff Cullipher's Sonny Weaver N and Shane Tritton's Springsteen.

The qualifiers begin at 4 p.m., and can be seen live on The Meadowlands website (playmeadowlands.com) or rtn.tv (Racing Television Network). To see the entries, go here.

CATCH THE SHOW: Check out the live "Racing from The Meadowlands" pregame show at 5:45 p.m. every Friday and Saturday when track announcer Ken Warkentin opens up the mic with a scene set and program changes.

Warkentin will then throw to the Sam McKee Memorial Broadcast Set, where The Big M's Dave Little will be joined by the editor of DRF Harness, Derick Giwner, for both tonight's and Saturday's broadcast. The duo will provide news, notes, selections and a look at the night's featured races.

Joe Romanelli will handle interviews from the back paddock as well as providing commentary and selections on the FanDuel Television (FDTV) feed.

A GRAND NIGHT: The fourth edition of the 2025 Meadowlands Monthly Handicapping contest takes place on Saturday (April 19). The event goes for prize money totaling $1,000.

For those interested in taking part, these are the details:

- There is a $1,000 prize pool and the top two finishers earn entry into a December invitation-only tournament that will go for $10,000 in prize money.
- Contestants must be on-site to participate.

JL Cruze scores 75th win in Rosecroft feature

Double millionaire JL Cruze took advantage of a clear stalking trip and a closer-friendly track bias en route to his 75th career win, a 1:54.2 score in Wednesday's (March 26) $12,000 open handicap trot at Rosecroft Raceway.

In line to Russell Foster, the 14-year-old Crazy gelding perched off a :26.3 first-quarter duel between Spy Booth (driven by Jonathan Roberts) and 4-5 favorite College Tuition (Johnathan Ahle) before enjoying a 3-hole ride through middle splits of :55.3 and 1:24.4. Just prior to entering the far turn, Foster angled JL Cruze off the pegs, and the veteran responded at once to collar the tiring Spy Booth at head-stretch and draw clear to win by a measured 2¼ lengths.

College Tuition rallied up the open stretch to narrowly save second out of a failing pocket; Bur Bun (Roger Plante, Jr.) closed belatedly for third.

Eric Ell trains JL Cruze, who paid $11 to win as the 9-2 third choice, for the partnership of Ken Wood, Bill Dittmar, Jr. and Steve Iaquinta.

McLenaghan wins Grit & Grace Drivers Challenge

Local horsewoman Stacey McLenaghan topped a field of eight female drivers to take the $500 top prize in the Grit & Grace

Drivers Challenge, a two-race competition that attracted reinswomen from the Mid-Atlantic, New England and the Midwest.

After finishing third in the first leg with Money Or Roses, McLenaghan piloted Scott Warnick trainee Hey Siri to a 12-1 upset in the second leg, sealing victory over Marianna Monaco, who won the first leg with 30-1 outsider Wiggling Jenna. Also competing were Stacy Chiodo, Doreen Dailey, Alexandra Goldin, Lauren Harmon, Leslie Joyce and McKenzie Sowers.

Live racing returns to Rosecroft on Monday (March 31) with a pair of carryovers: $676.71 in the Pick-5 (races 3-7); $5,322 in the Jackpot Hi-5 (race 10). First post is 7:15 p.m. (EDT). 2025 Blue Chip Matchmaker Series starts at Yonkers

Harness racing's Grand Circuit begins for 2025 tonight (March 28) at MGM Yonkers Raceway with four $50,000 divisions of the first round of the Blue Chip Matchmaker Series for older pacing mares.

Coachellabound N (post 5, Yannick Gingras driving for trainer Ricky Bucci), who was second in last year's Blue Chip Matchmaker Series final, is among the entrants in the first section (race 4). She'll face five rivals, including Aardie B Miki N (post 6, Jason Bartlett, Per Engblom), a Group 1 race winner in Australia who makes her U.S. debut off a strong qualifier at The Meadowlands.

Last year's Matchmaker champion Lit De Rose (post 3, Pat Lachance drives and trains), headlines the second split (race 6). She'll take on the likes of Walkin On Sunshine (post 5, Bartlett, Brett Pelling), who is three-for-three in the invitational for fillies and mares at Yonkers thus far in 2025.

Rocket Deo (post 4, Bartlett, Pelling) makes her 4-year-old debut in the third flight (race 7). Rocket Deo, whose stakes wins a year ago included the Shady Daisy on Hambletonian Day at The Meadowlands, is matched up against six foes, among them Silk Cloud A (post 5, Jordan Stratton, Peter Tritton), a two-time runner-up in the invitational for fillies and mares at Yonkers this year.

The last Matchmaker tilt is race 8 and former Dan Patch Award winner Grace Hill (post 5, Bartlett, Virgil Morgan, Jr.) headlines the field of seven. Looking to defeat her will be the likes of Ohio Sires Stakes champion Seaside Diva, who makes her first start on the East Coast from post 1 for driver Yannick Gingras and trainer Ron Burke.

The preliminary rounds of the Blue Chip Matchmaker Series will continue through Friday (April 25) with the leading point earners advancing to the final on Friday (May 9). A major change in 2025 revolves around the added money for the final of the Blue Chip Matchmaker, which gets a boost from $125,000 to $200,000, equaling the MGM Borgata Pacing Series total. With that increase the Blue Chip Matchmaker final will certainly offer the richest purse in recent history and far eclipse the $276,200 purse from 2024.

Speaking of the MGM Borgata Pacing Series, that event kicks off on Monday (March 31), and the draw for the first round took place on Tuesday (March 25).

MGM Yonkers Raceway is currently racing Monday through Friday nights with post time at 6:45 p.m. (EDT).

Draw held for MGM Borgata Pacing Series opener at Yonkers

A total of 38 horses were dropped into the entry box for Monday's (March 31) opening round of the MGM Borgata Pacing Series at MGM Yonkers Raceway, meaning there will be five $50,000 divisions on the 12-race program.

Back-to-back series champion Hellabalou starts his quest for a three-peat from post 7 for driver Yannick Gingras and trainer Ron Burke in the first split (race 5). His competition includes Chase H Hanover (post 3, Anthony Napolitano listed to drive for trainer Cory Stratton), who has been racing well in the top class over at Pocono and $2.2 million earner Charlie May (post 4, David Miller listed to drive for trainer Heidi Cushing). Charlie May invades from Pocono off a 1:49.1 win in his last outing.

The second section goes in race 6 and Coaches Corner (post 7, Jason Bartlett listed to drive for trainer Per Engblom) is the headliner. Coaches Corner was second in the MGM Borgata Pacing Series final and also the MGM Grand Prix Pacing Series final in 2024 at Yonkers and makes his second appearance of 2025 in Monday's tilt. He'll face the likes of Dunkin' (post 2, Tim Tetrick listed to drive for trainer Scott DiDomenico), who won two legs and was fifth in the series finale a year ago, and the razor-sharp For Once In My Life (post 3, Jordan Stratton listed to driver for trainer Cory Stratton).

Venturesome Arden N (post 7, Bartlett listed to drive for trainer Ricky Bucci) is among the horses entered in the third flight (race 7). Venturesome Arden N took a leg of the MGM Borgata Pacing Series last year and then came back to capture the consolation as well. Another horse to watch is Humble A (post 8, Bartlett listed to drive for trainer Scott Blackler) as he went eight-for-eight in the U.S. last fall and enters off a victorious qualifier at Pocono.

Desperate Man (post 3, Matt Kakaley listed to drive for trainer Travis Alexander), who went four-for-four in the MGM Borgata Pacing Series prelims but then got caught up in a duel and had to settle for third in the final, starts his 7-year-old campaign in the fourth showdown (race 8). He gets to face off against horses such as the four-for-four in 2025 Mossdale Ben N (post 6, Jordan Stratton listed to drive for trainer Peter Tritton) and stakes winner Combustion (post 7, Jason Bartlett listed to drive for trainer Doug Dilloian, Jr.).

Veteran campaigner Rocknroll Runa A (post 6, Matthew Athearn listed to drive for trainer Larry Stalbaum) is back in the MGM Borgata Pacing Series in Monday's final tilt (race 9). Rocknroll Runa A captured two legs and was sixth in the final a year ago. He'll take on 2024 MGM Grand Prix Pacing Series champion Typhoon Banner N (post 1, trainer Joe Bongiorno listed to drive) and stakes winner Admiral Hill (post 4, Yannick Gingras listed to drive for trainer Per Engblom).

The MGM Borgata Pacing Series prelims run through Monday (April 28), with the $200,000 (added) final and $100,000 (guaranteed) consolation on Friday (May 9) where they will be joined by the $200,000 (added) final and $100,000 (guaranteed) consolation of the Blue Chip Matchmaker Pacing Series. The Matchmaker kicks off tonight (March 28) with four $50,000 divisions.

In addition to those two Grand Circuit events kicking off, and in conjunction with the SOA of New York, purses at MGM Yonkers Raceway will increase by 10 per cent starting on March 31.

MGM Yonkers Raceway is currently operating on a Monday-Friday live racing schedule with post time each night at 6:45 p.m. (EDT).

Harrington Raceway's 79th year of live racing opens April 14

Harrington Raceway's 79th season of live harness racing is set to kickoff Monday (April 14), post time 4:30 p.m. with a Monday through Wednesday schedule most of the season.

Horsemen are reminded that the first qualifier will be Tuesday (April 8), and will occur primarily on Wednesdays after that point throughout the season.

Improvements to the race paddock were started immediately following the conclusion of the 2024 season, including paint, all new stall mats, new chairs, benches and stall gates on all race stalls.

Applications are due March 28 and can be submitted online through the website here.

Fans will be treated to a tumbler giveaway on opening night (while supplies last) at 4:15 p.m. in the grandstand lobby. Free program pages to nightly race cards will again be available on the website courtesy of the Delaware Standardbred Owners Association.

The first draw for qualifiers will be Monday (April 7) and the first race draw on Tuesday (April 8).

Also new this year is racing will occur on the first night of the 10-day Delaware State Fair on July 17 with a special 5 p.m. post time.

On the wagering front, a pair of Pick 4 (50 cents) wagers will remain, starting in race 2 and again for the last four races on the program. A 50-cent minimum base Superfecta will be available in most races except for the opening legs of the Pick 4 and non-full fields. There is no consolation payout on the Pick 4 and Superfecta as they will feature 100 per cent carryovers.

There will be a customary summer break, except for the fair night card, until Aug. 11 when racing will resume through Oct. 22.

Wide-open final after GOC prelims conclude

On Tuesday afternoon (March 25) at Pocono Downs at Mohegan Pennsylvania, there were 10 $9,000 divisions of the third and final preliminary leg of the Game Of Claims Pacing Series for horses base-tagged this week at $15,000. And of these 10 winners, only one of them, Chiefs Beach, has a chance of making the $17,500 series Championship seven days hence – the other nine are ineligible.

Some local rules are needed: A horse must start in all three preliminaries of a given Game Of Claims Series to qualify for the final; the base claiming price in all GOC pacing series is upped $2,500 per week; and the series for those horses who had started out for a base tag of $15,000 had its Championship the day before. Many horsemen, finding their charges overmatched at the higher level, chose to drop their horses to the lower rung to earn money, and in this final prelim as noted the base price was not different from what they initially had entered for in the higher grouping. This helps to explain why nine of Tuesday's 10 GOC winners had not raced in the lower series' first leg.

The only winner starting in all of this level's prelims was Chiefs Beach, who had a fifth and a sixth in his last two outings vs. this kind, but Tuesday utilized a :26.3 backstretch brush to command and won for driver Simon Allard in 1:54.

Allard had three series winners, as did Tyler Buter (who had four successes in all, to tie George Napolitano, Jr. at 39 at the top of the Pocono seasonal standings). Among Buter's trio were Snap Test (1:54.1) and Colonel Bayama (1:54), two horses who won each of the two series starts they made; Colonel Bayama also defeated second-place Stick With Cramer, one of two horses victorious in the first two prelims. Buter's fastest GOC winner was Team Mac in 1:53.3.

Allard's other two winners included Angelo in 1:54.3 (in that race Captain Terminator, the other winner in the first two prelims and the only horse claimed in all three legs, was third) and Tin Roof Raider A, who opened the card with a 1:54.1 win.

Braxten Boyd guided five horses home first during the card for day's honors, including Master Miki (1:55.4) and the fastest GOC winner, Whitecookie (1:53.2). Whitecookie was joined as the only Tuesday winners in their sole series start by Hello Gorgeous (1:55.2, Matt Kakaley); Master Miki paired with Fredneck (1:54, George Napolitano, Jr.) to give trainer Geovany Hernandez the only series double in the program's grouping, and contributed to him being tops for the day with three winners harnessed.

This group has its Championship next Tuesday, and there is a Game Of Claims Series trot in April, but starting with Saturday's (March 29) 1 p.m. card, the next at Pocono, the spotlight in series action shifts to sophomores of both gaits and sexes in the Bobby Weiss Series for developing 3-year-olds. On Saturday, there will be six $20,000 first prelims for the pacing males, and joining them in the attraction spotlight will be a carryover into the last race High 5 wager. Free Pocono program pages are or will be available at www.ppha.org.

Shipshape sails to victory in Pocono Series finale

The Captaintreacherous gelding Shipshape, taken at The Meadows for $6,000 by Team Pirillo – trainer Justin and owner Gianna – on Feb. 5, now has earned $26,710 for his new connections after triumphing in the $20,000 championship of the Game Of Claims Pacing Series for $15,000 base-tagged horses in 1:52.4 Monday afternoon (March 24) at Pocono Downs at Mohegan Pennsylvania.

Shipshape, who had sandwiched a fourth between victories in the preliminaries, forced favored Tellitsabb to go :26.1 to grab the early lead, then sat in the golden chair during mid-fractions of :55.3 and 1:23.2. Driver Jim Pantaleano then guided the winner to the Pocono Pike and streaked past the leader to enjoy a 1½-length margin at the wire.

With a Game Of Claim Series trot for horses valued between $20,000 and $30,000 starting in two weeks, diamond gaiters in that price range have been the interest of many, none more so than Chapolier, a Chapter Seven gelding who won in the $16,000 co-feature handicap claimer Monday in the fastest time of the year on the trot at Pocono, 1:53.2, despite the outside post 8. Tyler Buter – the horse's fourth successive new pilot – had the driving assignment in the quick mile, and Chapolier will be going to a new barn for the fourth straight time, after a one week's reunion with trainer Hunter Oakes and P T Stable which ran his winning streak to five.

Tyler Buter came home first four times Monday, chipping into the meet advantage of Monday doubler George Napolitano, Jr.; the latter's lead is now 37-35.

Overthemoonforyou in Cal Expo spotlight

Overthemoonforyou, who is having a sensational meet, eyes a third California Sire Stakes victory in tonight's $20,000 feature for the 4-year-old pacing fillies.

Watch and Wager LLC will present 10 races with first post set for 6:45 p.m.

Overthemoonforyou is a daughter of Karpathian Kid who races for Qks Racing, is conditioned by Quentin Schneider and will again be guided by Aaron Lehman.

She comes into this assignment having won 10 of her 11 starts at this meet, including victories in the first two stakes dances for this division on Feb. 5 and March 7.

Sent off the even-money choice in the latter contest, she went right to the front for Lehman and was never threatened while prevailing by a-length-and-a-quarter.

Over Ice was second in that most recent stakes joust and looms the main foe for JJJ Stables, trainer Gordie Graham and driver Nick Roland.

Taken them on, from the rail out, are Apple Juice, Another Tuff Woman, TJB Secreharriet, Senorita Draco and Little Miss Boss.

Alien Art Form eyes another stakes score

Alien Art Form will be looking for his second stakes score of the meet when he suits up in Saturday night's main event for his owner/driver/trainer Ryan Grundy.

When the 4-year-old pacing males last gathered for Sire Stakes on March 7, it was Alien Art Form who came flying to get up for the neck decision at 9-1 that evening.

"He's nothing fancy, just a very nice horse who likes his work," Grundy said. "He's also proven that he's very comfortable on any size track."

The pacer has proven to be versatile as well.

"He can get it done from anywhere," his mentor said. "Our goal from the start of the meet is to have him ready for the $50,000 race on closing night."

Coming into this week, there is a dead-heat in the driver standings with defending champion Luke Plano and former leading pilot Nick Roland having both made 42 trips to the charmed enclosure.

Among the trainers, Quentin Schneider is showing the way with 27 victories, while Roland is in pursuit with 24 tallies to his credit.

Potential stars for 2025 qualify at Pocono

Fast-class horses, whether older performers or 3-year-olds, won frequently during the Wednesday morning (March 26) qualifiers at Pocono Downs at Mohegan Pennsylvania, with the mercury fairly constant a few degrees on either side of 40 degrees.

One of the success stories of Wednesday is already declared in to race: the $1.47 million-winning Desperate Man, who won a Florida qualifier in 1:55, scorched the local qualifying in 1:51.1 when it was 66 degrees for last Wednesday's Qs, and here won in 1:54, brushing from last to the lead before the three-quarters and then finishing out in :27.1. One of four winners for the team of driver Matt Kakaley and trainer Travis Alexander, Desperate Man will be starting in the first preliminary of the MGM Borgata Series at Yonkers on Monday.

Amidst the many top racers in action on Wednesday, nobody went faster than the sophomore maiden pacing filly Bettor's Ticket, who was ready for a 1:53.4--:55.3 -:27.2 move for trainer Cory Stratton. Bettor's Ticket, one of four winners on the day for driver Jason Bartlett, is eligible to her grouping in the Weiss Series, which begins here on April 12.

Fastest winners in the other 3-year-old sectors were trotting filly My Debt Collector, just a head off as the favorite in the New York Sire Stakes Championship last year, and here winning in 1:56.4 under the handling of Ridge Warren; pacing colt RJs Red Devil, an engine winner in 1:54.4 -:28 for Kakaley/Alexander after a third in the Massachusetts championship in his last 2024 outing; and diamond gaited colt Frank Leahy, a Keystone Classic winner last year and on Wednesday trotted out his first charted line of 2025 in :27.4 to complete a 1:55.4 success with Bartlett in the sulky.
