If done right, horse racing is the best betting game in the world

This week's "Bet With the Best" podcast helps illustrate how the glass is half full.

by Dean Towers

Chris Larmey is a member of the National Handicapping Hall of Fame and he started a new horse racing podcast a few weeks ago called "Bet With the Best."

Rather than focusing on picks, the pod is concentrated solely on game play; that is, how to bet the horses correctly from a gambling perspective. I think the four guests to date have all been tremendous.

This week's episode with a professional horseplayer – a player who still plays harness regularly – I found a particularly eye-opening adventure.

The bettor, who goes by the moniker "Inside the Pylons," has been betting forever and he detailed the state of the current game for the player, how the game was played in the past and how things could be improved. I encourage those in power in the sport to give it a listen.

Here are a few points that I'd like to highlight:

First, he spoke about how when we invite new players to the medium, it's not near optimal. We may teach new customers the basics of betting (and the dutiful folks who work on track or on the simulcast screens are certainly helpful), but we teach them very little about making good bets.

I understand the industry wants to promote the horses or trainers or drivers, but when a customer walks into the track they're making wagers not buying horses. The industry could do much better cultivating interest in wagering if they teach betting concepts from day one and beyond.

This is the antithesis to sports betting, daily fantasy or poker spaces. Teaching customers how to play their games smartly is pretty much all they do.

I understand the industry wants to promote the horses or trainers or drivers, but when a customer walks into the track they're making wagers, not buying horses. The industry could do much better cultivating interest in wagering if they teach betting concepts from day one and beyond.

Second, he talked about how he wagered 20-plus years ago to today. Back in the early 2000s, field size was bigger, but not only that, the depth of field was deeper. Those of us remember The Meadowlands during that time where seven of 10 horses could win a race, versus today where three or four can.

Depth of field adds to the bettable combinations of a race and makes it easier to find profitable angles. It raises handles.

Sure, the sport may need 14 races a night to distribute purse money and keep the average cost per race down. However, if eight of those 14 races are not bettable, the player will find something else to bet on. It's not like there isn't any competition out there.

Third, he spoke about high takeout. We've talked about it before in this very column and I understand how some folks' eyes glaze over when bringing it up, but the issue seems as paramount as ever.

People will tell you takeout doesn't matter in lotteries, because some survey somewhere asked players if it did and they said it didn't matter. That's incorrect. High takeout is a silent killer. It matters in any game because the lower the juice, the higher the churn.

Pylons talked about the newer or existing smaller player being herded into high takeout, while contrasting that with the large teams who earn 10 per cent rebates or more on their wagers. It's a strong point.

If you bet $1 million a year and walk into any ADW they will give you lower takeout immediately and you'll bet three, four, five or six times that amount in no time. Meanwhile, the newer or existing player who may bet $10,000 per year and could bet $300,000 or $400,000 with a break over time is not even an afterthought.

Successful betting entities don't think like this and fortunately there is empirical data to back this up.

The Massachusetts lottery used to have usurious 70 per cent takeout rates, but over the last three decades they've brought them down to around 25 per cent; in some games below 20 per cent. This has resulted in a cultivation of the lottery customer to the tune of $933 in lottery spending per capita per year, by far the highest in the nation. In fact, it's a whopping 77 per cent more than higher takeout New York state.

For contrast, we all know Australian horse racing is fairly healthy with record handles set each year and the North American racing industry often wishes it had its reach. The average Australian spends US$871 per year on horse racing. That's lower than per capita wagering on the Massachusetts lottery.

People will tell you takeout doesn't matter in lotteries, because some survey somewhere asked players if it did and they said it didn't matter. That's incorrect. High takeout is a silent killer. It matters in any game because the lower the juice, the higher the churn.

When we look at how the sport is currently run from a wagering perspective, I think we can conclude that the glass is probably not half empty, but half full.

Think about it for a moment: we have races with pool size going off from morning to deep into the night, seven days a week. We can watch and wager from our phones, iPads or computers via easy-to-use betting accounts. Each of these races is unique. They're like a slot pull or scratch ticket for smart people.

If we construct better races, teach the people who come into the door how to wager properly and offer both they and our regular bettors a chance at better takeout rates, handle will likely increase and could increase by a multiple. There's just so much opportunity.

Many of us think horse racing is the greatest gambling game the world has ever constructed. It just needs to be unleashed.

EUROPEAN REPORT

with THOMAS HEDLUND

Hall of Famer Margareta Wallenius-Kleberg has died at age 85

by Thomas Hedlund

(Editor's note: The following obituary was originally written in Swedish by Claes Freidenvall for Sulkysport.se It appears in its entirety here. What follows is an English translation of that story using Google translate)

Few people have meant as much to Swedish trotting as Margareta Wallenius-Kleberg and her recent passing, at age 85 leaves, a big void.

Wallenius-Kleberg was born in Maria Magdalena parish in Stockholm on Oct. 17, 1937, but it was at Menhammar Stud Farm where she spent most of her life. Menhammar Stud Farm was not only Big Noon's domain but to a greater extent Wallenius-Kleberg's.

As a young student, Wallenius-Kleberg was close to entering the art department, but her father Olof and mother Signe did not like it. Instead, she enrolled in the School of Economics with the aim of working in the shipping industry. Horses were a great shared interest between father and daughter and Margareta became a life-long "horse girl."

When Menhammar Stud Farm was bought in 1947, Margareta was only 10 years old. The stud and the horses were important to her not only in success and joy but also in difficult times in life. The horses kept her buoyant. Margareta said horses always gave her something to look forward to – whether it was a mare due to foal or waiting to see if a particular breeding would be a success.

Margareta's father Olof Wallenius ran Menhammar Stud Farm until his death in 1970. Olof died at the age of 68 and when the inheritance tax took its toll – as Margareta expressed in the book "Menhammar Stud Farm 70 years" – there were only a few horses left to continue the farm's breeding operation.

Margareta was 33 when she took over Menhammar Stud Farm and transformed it into Sweden's foremost breeding operation. Since 2007, Menhammar Stud Farm has been a leading breeder in Sweden and the stud also has Sweden's most prominent stallion, Maharajah. Margareta got to experience one of her finest moments on a trotting track when Maharajah won the Prix d'Amérique with Örjan Kihlström in the sulky.

In recent years, Margareta has made enormous contributions to the sport of trotting, not least through Margareta's Tidiga Unghästserie. She was also one of the founders of Sulkysport and its main owner up until a few years ago. Margareta protected "free speech" and that was one of the reasons why she wanted to be involved in starting an independent trotting magazine.

Margareta was also a great friend of American trotting and befriended Norman Woolworth, which led to the purchase of Zoot Suit in the 1980s and later, the acquisition of the Stoner Creek Stud in Kentucky.

Margareta was also director of the Hambletonian Society and inducted into both the "Hall of Fame" in Sweden and the USA. She also received the twelfth size medal of the Order of the Seraphim from HM the King "for outstanding contributions to Swedish business life" and an honorary doctorate at the Karolinska Institutet. She also held the commander's insignia of the Norwegian St. Order of Olav.

IMPRESSIVE 5-YEAR-OLDS AT VINCENNES

Two $125,000 races for 5-year-old trotters were held at Vincennes in Paris on Saturday afternoon (April 15). In the mares' division (the Prix Henri Levesque), the trophy landed in the family as Thomas Levesque drove his Iroise de la Noe (Tornado Bello) to an impressive first-over win in a mile rate of 1:57.2 over 1.6 miles.

has nine wins in 14 attempts after the Saturday's impressive performance.

Sébastien Guarato-trained It's A Dollarmaker was impressive even to him when eight 5-year-old colts battled in the Prix Robert Auvrey over 1.6 miles. Eric Raffin opted for a position outside of leader and stablemate Instrumentaliste and It's A Dollarmaker easily held the opponents behind at Vincennes' home stretch.

The mile rate for It's A Dollarmaker was 1:58 and Guarato's trotter seems to be back in top shape. The horse started his career with nine wins in his first 11 starts and this was his second Vincennes' triumph this spring.

DUTCH-FRENCH COMBINATION TO PARALYMPIATRAVET

Paul Hagoort-trained, French-bred Hades de Vandel (Ganymede) grabbed a spot in the Paralympiatravet final at Åby in May after a strong first over performance in Axevalla's elimination race on Saturday afternoon (April 15).

Norwegian horse Cicero T.G. hit the lead at the first back stretch and Hades de Vandel, who began the race in second over, looked strong on the leader's outside as the field turned into the last turn. Hades de Vandel was outstanding against his opponents on this day and driver Robin Bakker and trainer Hagoort are both well experienced in Nordique group races. Last spring, the Dutch duo won the Drottningpokalen (Chebba Mil) and Copenhagen Cup (Mister F.Daag), among other races.

Paralympiatravet's final will be held at Åby racetrack on May 6.

TALES FROM THE CURMUDGEON

with MURRAY BROWN

A conversation with Dr. John Hennessey, veterinarian to the stars

by Murray Brown

Dr. John Hennessey started working around horses when he was 13. At the age of 60, he has yet to stop.

He is a native Prince Edward Islander (PEI). On a pro rata basis, it's likely that PEI has produced more horsepeople than any other geographical entity in North America and perhaps anywhere else.

At a very young age, Hennessey had three loves in his life: horses, tennis and the Montreal Canadiens. His tennis days are long past, but he is still a Canadiens fan and next to his family, horses are the greatest passion in his life. They have also been the means to him making a good living.

When did you first begin working with horses?

"My horse career began in PEI at the age of 13. I worked around the stables and with the horses in all my spare time. I swam horses in the ocean in summer when school was out. Horses at that time weren't the only thing that kept me occupied. I was a nationally ranked tennis player as a pre-teen and as a teenager. Tennis is a sport which requires a whole lot of time and dedication. At age 14, my dad, my coach and my best friend, passed away. I felt I no longer had the time nor the dedication to continue playing the game.

"I continued working around the horses until it became time to decide a career path. I had always been a pretty decent student, so I set my mind on medicine. Eventually, it came down to a choice between medical school, exercise physiology and veterinary medicine. I went with veterinary medicine. The deciding factor was likely because I love being outdoors and veterinary medicine specializing with horses promised me that. Of course, Canadian winters probably fell from my clear thinking.

"I was in the first graduating class of the UPI Atlantic Veterinary College in 1990.

I initially went to work in Montreal. When racing ceased at Blue Bonnets, I moved to Ontario and I've been here ever since."

One of the first people you did work for Keith Waples?

"I was still wet behind the ears. I had been out of vet school for only a few weeks and my good friend Sonny Edwards

"I traveled with Somebeachsomewhere throughout his racing career. Brent MacGrath and I are good friends. I consult with him on a continuing basis with Beach Glass. This past season I worked with Jack Darling and Johnny Mallia on Bulldog Hanover. What a magnificent horse he is. Without being too verbose, others that I was fortunate enough to work with were: Cambest, Jennas Beach Boy, Perfect Sting, Gallo Blue Chip, Modern Art, Sylvia Hanover, King Of The North, the previously mentioned Silver Almahurst and a good many others."

recommended me to Keith Waples. Keith had a colt named Silver Almahurst that he had shipped to Montreal to race in the Prix de l'Avenir. Keith had me look over the colt. I ventured that I thought he might need a little help with his knees. Keith said, 'Go ahead and get them done then.' No sooner had I injected him, both knees blew up to the size of softballs. I immediately borrowed Mike MacDonald's truck and trailer and took him to the veterinary college in St. Hyacinthe. The horse had an allergic reaction to the injections. The college hospital flushed his knees and almost immediately, they returned to normal. Three days later, Silver Almahurst won the Prix de l'Avenir and went on to become a great horse."

You've done work for many outstanding horsemen.

"I've been very fortunate. To a great degree, you might say that my professional life began to flourish when I moved my practice to Ontario. I actually had a bit of a head start. I had done work for my good friend Gregg McNair while I was in Montreal. When I arrived in Ontario, Gregg pretty well gave me most of his work. I soon got more accounts. Since then, I've been lucky enough to work for some of and maybe the majority of the great trainers in North America. I'm sure I'll leave some out. For that I apologize.

"It seems that most of the American trainers that ship up north to race have headed in my direction. Among those that I've done work for through the years are: Jimmy Takter, Tony Alagna, Joe Holloway, Carl and Rod Allen, Jimmy Campbell, Fred Grant, Bruce Riegler, Brent MacGrath, Linda Toscano, Brian and Tim Pinske, George Teague, Roger Hammer and John Butenschoen.

"On the home front, I still do work for Gregg McNair, Walter Whelan, Herb Holland, Mark and Shawn Steacy, the Hensleys, Brent MacGrath, Ben Wallace, the Cullen family, Paul MacDonell, Chris Christoforou, Dave Menary and quite a few others."

How about the horses you've worked with?

"I've been fortunate enough to have worked with a lot of great and probably more not so great horses. I'm a firm believer that most great horses do not need a whole lot of veterinary work. They are healthy. That's probably one of the main reasons why they are as great as they are.

"I traveled with Somebeachsomewhere throughout his racing career. Brent MacGrath and I are good friends. I consult with him on a continuing basis with Beach Glass. This past season, I worked with Jack Darling and Johnny Mallia on Bulldog Hanover. What a magnificent horse he is. Without being too verbose, others that I was fortunate enough to work with were: Cambest, Jennas Beach Boy, Perfect Sting, Gallo Blue Chip, Modern Art, Sylvia Hanover, King Of The North, the previously mentioned Silver Almahurst and a good many others."

How would you rate the trainers you've done work for through the years?

1. Joe Holloway
2. Brian and Tim Pinske
3. Bill Wellwood
4. Jim Campbell
5. Tie between Carl Allen and Carl Jamieson

And the drivers you've seen?

1. John Campbell
2. Michel Lachance
3. Bill O'Donnell
4. Dexter Dunn
5. Tim Tetrick or Yannick Gingras

What is it in the sport you most enjoy doing?

"Over a period of time, I'd probably say going to Harrisburg each year. There were so many fond memories spent there. One of the first times I went, I drove down from Montreal with Duncan

MacTavish and John Ferguson. I was starstruck. I have been a Montreal Canadiens fan for as long as I can remember. Here I was spending a week with one of their greatest players ever and a long time idol of mine.

“One of the great appeals of Harrisburg to me has been that whatever you are looking for and regardless of the size of your bankroll, you can find it there. I have always been what you might call a bottom feeder. I’ve never had a large bankroll at the sale. I’m always looking for that diamond in the rough – a real good horse for a reasonable price – aren’t we all?”

“One of the very few times I’ve had what was for me a considerable amount of money to spend was at the 2016 sale. I went there looking to buy a Chapter Seven filly. I had it all whittled down to two of them. The first one Seven Buy Eleven sold for more than I had to spend. The second one was a filly named Django Unchained. I really wanted Django Unchained. She was the one I liked the most. I was standing in the back walking ring when Rick Zeron came by and asked me if there was anything I really liked. I pointed to Django Unchained and told him that was the best filly in the sale. I told Ricky I was going to try to buy her. Rick hadn’t seen her previously. He looked at her as she was walking in the ring. He asked me how much I was willing to spend. I told him about $45,000. He asked me if I would mind if I didn’t get her for the money I had to spend, if it would be alright if he began bidding for his account. I said it would be fine, because at that point I would be out of the picture anyway. She quickly exceeded my limit and Zeron ended up buying her for $60,000. At that point, he hadn’t yet seen her other than in the walking ring.

Wouldn’t you know, they got rid of her old cumbersome name and changed it to Atlanta. She was truly the one that got away.”

You are now 60. What does the future hold for you?

“I’ve somewhat scaled down the size of my operation. I realize I cannot continue doing this forever, especially at that volume. Nevertheless, I intend to keep going on a smaller scale for as long as my body and mind are capable of doing it in a satisfactory manner. Throughout my busy career over the last 30 years, my wife Sarah has done a fantastic job balancing life and my practice in helping to raise two wonderful kids; actually young adults.

“My son Cody is a veterinarian specializing with small animals. I tried to steer him in that direction knowing that working with horses doesn’t allow much time for a stable family lifestyle.

“My daughter Emma is entering her final year of medical school. Last year, she was awarded the Dean’s Award for highest marks in a class of 160 students. The success of my kids and how they can contribute to the world are Sarah’s and my greatest accomplishment.”

Some Big Dream extends Summer In Fiji's Indiana influence

by James Platz

Some Big Dream and driver Joey Putnam found themselves more than five lengths off the lead as they passed the three-quarter pole Thursday night (April 13) at Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing & Casino. On the outside and advancing from fourth in the second leg of The Miss Windfall Series, the JK Endofanera sophomore blazed home in :25.3, reaching the wire with half a length to spare in a time of 1:53.3. The victory is the second in as many seasonal starts for the filly, bred and trained by Aaron Stutzman. A sires stakes competitor in the making, Some Big Dream continues a winning lineage that traces back to Indiana champion Summer In Fiji.

Summer In Fiji enjoyed a formidable career but was overshadowed by a peer in the same barn. As a freshman, the Whitefish Falls filly was a perfect five-for-five, capturing the $69,100 Indiana Sires Stakes final at Indiana Downs by more than six lengths. Trained by Mickey Burke, she returned as a sophomore in 2007 to win four times as the stablemate of Go On BB, eventual millionaire and Indiana Hall of Famer. That season, Summer In Fiji managed to best her in-barn rival to capture a second Indiana Sires Stakes final, doing so with a career best 1:51.3 clocking.

A winner in 13 of 40 career starts, the pacer was retired after her 4-year-old campaign with earnings of $173,180. She finished her career as the fastest foal produced by Nihilator mare Nihilarose and ranks second to Morgan Mill in earnings.

Owner Frank Baldachino bred Summer In Fiji and when the first foal sold at auction in 2011, Stutzman made the purchase. Summer N Sand, sired by Sand Shooter, brought $17,000. The filly managed nine starts over two seasons, winning twice.

"She had a couple of starts at 2 and lamed up on us," Stutzman said. "We brought her back at 3 and she sored up again, so I turned her out for a month or two. We brought her back and I didn't have time to go race her, so I sent her down to Kristen Shetler for two months and she sored up again. I just turned her into a broodmare. She paced as a 2-year-old in 1:54.1 in her second start. It showed that she had some ability."

While she was unable to fully display her ability on the track, Summer N Sand passed that ability on as a broodmare. Each of her first six foals have started, with five reaching the winner's circle. Most notable are Indiana Sires Stakes champions Shnitzledosomethin, a 31-time winner that is closing in on millionaire status and Somethingbeautiful, a 12-time winner with just shy of $500,000 on her card. Sallynsand, a Net Ten Eom filly and the second of Summer N Sand's foals, sold for $20,000 as a yearling, but soon returned to Stutzman's Goshen, IN, farm with two bowed tendons.

"She never had two bowed tendons when she left here," said the breeder/conditioner, operating with his father, Levi, under the banner of Luckiana Farm. "We took her back and I think she made two or three starts as a 3-year-old and we bred her. I'm not one to race a lame horse. What do I have to lose except the stud fee? I can train them."

Before commencing broodmare duties, Sallynsand managed to collect a single victory, pacing in 1:56.1 at Hoosier Park. Just as he had held onto Summer N Sand due to her ability in limited starts, Stutzman bred Sallynsand because of the strength of the pedigree that was developing.

Some Big Dream arrived in 2020 and was consigned to the Michiana Classic sale in the fall of 2021. Due to the sale's November date, the breeder began to work with the filly and liked what he saw in the pacer. Bidding on the yearling was light and he decided to bring her back home. She was hammered down for $11,000.

"She looked good when we started her and I said she's going to have to bring a little money to let her go," Stutzman said. "She's out of a Net Ten mare. That was probably her biggest knock. She was an average-sized yearling. She wasn't large. Most of the buyers are looking for big 2-year-olds. That's kind of why they shied away from her. But with her family backing her up, I thought we could try her and see what happens."

Some Big Dream competed only once last year, but she made an impression on Stutzman. Racing in mid-July in an Indiana sired non-winners of one. Andy Shetler guided the freshman to a gate-to-wire triumph, romping by nearly nine lengths in 1:54.2. The favorite paced home in :25.3.

"By mistake we didn't get her staked last year," Stutzman said. "We raced her once and she showed ability. I said, alright, we'll save her as a 3-year-old and stake her for everything. I was impressed. It was a lot of fun, so we decided to save her for this year and see if we can do something."

This season, the filly is staked to everything at Hoosier Park, including the Breeders Crown this fall. So far, Some Big Dream has turned in solid performances dating back to a qualifier in late March when she wired the field in 1:54.1, closing out the mile in :27.1 with Stutzman at the lines.

"That day she qualified wasn't the nicest day," he said. "We had probably a 20 mile an hour headwind. Coming down the lane

“ [Some Big Dream] looked good when we started her and I said she’s going to have to bring a little money to let her go. She’s out of a Net Ten mare. That was probably her biggest knock. She was an average-sized yearling. She wasn’t large. Most of the buyers are looking for big 2-year-olds. That’s kind of why they shied away from her. ~ Aaron Stutzman she paced home in :27.1 under wraps. I thought we should have something here if everything goes well.”

Some Big Dream has backed up the qualifier with a pair of wins in the Miss Windfall, a late closing series with two legs and an $18,000 final scheduled for Thursday (April 20). In the opening round, Putnam and the filly took control after the quarter and cruised to a length and a half victory, tripping the timer in 1:53. In the most recent effort, Some Big Dream started on the outside in the field of seven. Putnam got away fifth and sat patiently through a :58.2 opening half before unleashing the sophomore late.

“I just told Joey to race her but not beat her up,” Stutzman said. “After the race, he told me he popped the plugs and she took off. She showed us that kind of quarter speed last year already, so I wasn’t really surprised she would do it. Then again, it’s always a surprise when they kick home in :25.3. It’s a nice surprise.”

The breeder believes he has a filly that can be competitive in the Indiana Sires Stakes program.

“I think she’ll be ready,” he said. “She’ll have a lot more experience under her belt. That’s why we started her in these series, to have her ready for that kind of speed and the caliber of horses she’s going to go against.”

And the future is bright on the breeding front with the pair of Luckiana mares. Summer N Sand has a Tall Dark Stranger yearling filly and Sallysand foaled a Freaky Feet Pete filly last year that will sell in Indiana this fall. Perhaps they will become the next generation of winners whose bloodlines carry the influence of Summer In Fiji.

“It’s a good feeling to know that you made a good choice back then and now it’s paying off big time,” Stutzman said of purchasing Summer N Sand and retaining her as a broodmare. “You can see it on paper and you can watch where it’s going.”

THE VIEW FROM WOODBINE MOHAWK PARK

with MELISSA KEITH

Dagfin Henriksen on what's next for Perfetto, Canada's 2022 Elitloppet ambassador

by Melissa Keith

Expectations run high for a double O'Brien Award winner making a seasonal comeback, perhaps even higher because of a name that suggests no less than perfection. Monday night (April 10) at Woodbine Mohawk Park, Perfetto (6, 1:51.4s; $587,857) took it all in winning stride for trainer/driver Dagfin Henriksen.

The Majestic Son—Perfect Prelude gelding was voted Canada's Older Male Trotter of the Year in 2020 and 2021, but didn't repeat in 2022, when Fashion Frenzie (4, 1:51.2s; $744,585) brought home the title. Perfetto instead received another honor last spring when he was invited to compete in two of Europe's most prestigious trotting events.

Despite just two victories last year, beating Dream Nation in the Woodbine Mohawk Park preferred on Feb. 28 and March 14, 2022, Perfetto's consistency made him a standout. He finished second to Oney Hall in the next three WMP preferreds and then third to that win-streaking rival on May 16. The gelding left his home at Baycairn Training Centre in Guelph, ON three days after that show finish: He had already earned his place behind the gate for the 2022 Elitloppet and Oslo Grand Prix.

Perfetto traveled to Congress Hill Farm in Monroe Township, NJ first, relaxing under the supervision of trainer Jonas Czernysson for a few days, then flying to Sweden. The 7-year-old gelding made a perfect ambassador: Bred by Seawind Amg Stables of Mount Hebron, NB and owned by Gerald Haggerty of Camden East, ON, he would attempt to become the first Canadian Elitloppet champion since Billyjojimbob, who won his heat and the 1992 final. The only other Canadian winner was Fresh Yankee, a heat and final winner in 1969.

Although Perfetto and Henriksen ended up fifth in their May 29, 2022 Elitloppet elimination, the 45-year-old horseman remained upbeat about the experience.

"We just lost out on the final, but that's the name of the game," Henriksen said. "You meet the best of the best. All the best horses in the world compete there and it's not an easy race, that's for sure."

French star Etonnant won last year's edition for driver Anthony Barrier.

Earning the "pink ticket" to the Elitloppet was a thrill for Norwegian native Henriksen and partner Laura Trask, who is also Perfetto's caretaker.

"It's a big deal to get invited," Henriksen said. "It's invite-only and they [organizers] look around the world to pick and choose the horses they want and if you want to go, you go. That was very exciting. It's bigger than anyone can imagine. There's nothing even close over here in North America. If you haven't been there, you can't imagine it. You know, there's a lot of big races here, but there's nothing even close to what that is, that's for sure."

On June 12, Perfetto finished seventh in the 10-horse field of the 2022 Oslo Grand Prix at Norway's Bjerke Racetrack.

"We got the tough [outside] post and we didn't really have any luck there, but we got to go and that was fun too. We had a very good experience... It's a whole different ball game," Henriksen said, describing the European Group 1 races, particularly the Elitloppet. "I don't know how to say it, but they make a lot of media [coverage] out of it. It's very big... They have younger stakes races too, but they make the bigger races for the older ones because they usually have developed and they know how to race better."

“He trained back really strong and we were taking our time, making sure he was ready before we took him out. He seems to be back to his old self. He hasn't raced that hard the last three, four years, because of COVID. He only got 20-some starts [per year] in the last three years, I think. It didn't hurt him much, at all.”

~ Dagfin Henriksen

Perfetto went winless after his return to racing at Mohawk, concluding his 2022 campaign by finishing seventh on Oct. 24.

“He had an injury last season,” Henriksen said. “He had a stress line, so we had to make sure it was healed before we could race him again. It’s like a fracture, but it’s not a fracture: If you keep going, it can turn into a fracture, and then a fracture can turn into a break, right? It’s a thing you have to take care of.”

He said the gelding spent the past five months building up to his 2023 debut: “Stall rest, turnout, and then training back.”

Second to Logan Park in a March 24 Mohawk qualifier, 3-5 favorite Perfetto finished fourth to Esplosione at his home track on April 3. Then on Monday night (April 10) at Woodbine Mohawk Park, Perfetto returned to perfection.

“He seemed back to his old self again last night,” Henriksen said. “That’s a good sign.

“He trained back really strong and we were taking our time, making sure he was ready before we took him out. He seems to be back to his old self. He hasn’t raced that hard the last three, four years, because of COVID. He only got 20-some starts [per year] in the last three years, I think. It didn’t hurt him much, at all.”

Facing other non-winners of $8,500 in their previous five starts, Henriksen was first off the gate Monday night with Perfetto. They were safely ahead of 4-5 favorite White Tiger when that pocket-sitting rival rolled into a break near the half. They were never headed for the rest of the 1:53.4 mile, holding off next-best Mystic (Louis-Philippe Roy) by 2 1/2 lengths.

“Yeah, that didn’t matter,” Henriksen said, referencing White Tiger’s break. “I don’t think the class drop mattered much either, but it’s just [Perfetto’s] second start back in five months. They need a couple of starts under their belt before they can show their old self, usually. Some people like to qualify them two or three times; I like to put them in to go, right away.”

It was Perfetto’s 26th victory in 106 North American starts.

The 8-year-old trotter’s schedule doesn’t include any globetrotting this season, or even venturing far from Campbellville, ON.

“We’re just going to stay at Mohawk with him, make sure he comes back the way he’s supposed to,” Henriksen said. “There are no bigger plans for him this year.”

Seventh in the 2022 Maple Leaf Trot at Mohawk, Perfetto will be sitting it out this time around.

“If he comes back the way I’m hoping, then maybe we’ll put him back in for next year,” said his trainer. “I don’t think that age matters as much, like the horses from Europe come over here at 10 and 11... I think the management of the horse [matters] more than anything else.”

Henriksen said the 2023 Breeders Crown at Harrah’s Hoosier Park is a firm maybe.

“Unless we supplement him into it,” he said. “It depends on how he continues his comeback here. We’ll take our time for now and go from there.”

Driving his own trainees at Canada’s top track makes Henriksen a rarity in the catch driver era.

“Yeah, there’s more of that in Europe, for sure,” he said, expressing uncertainty about whether it helps that he knows every small detail about the horses he sits behind. “Sometimes you do, for sure, because some horses are trickier to drive than others. I think you get a little advantage from that, but you also have a lot of the drivers who drive every day and every race, so they have a lot more experience of the driving part. I think there’s pros and cons for both of them.”

Aspects of how he campaigned Perfetto paid off in last year’s Elitloppet invitation.

“They watch for all kinds of stuff [at Solvalla],” Henriksen said. “If [trainers] have [horses] on medication, it’s a strike on them because they’re not legal with any medication over there, Lasix and stuff like that... They have a lot of stricter rules, for sure.”

Trotting hobbles are also unwelcome. Fortunately, Perfetto “didn’t race with them for a long time before that,” Henriksen said. “He raced in them maybe in the first season I had him and then I took them off, because I didn’t think he needed them anymore. He was racing without hobbles for at least a season and a half, maybe two seasons, before he even got invited.”

Mohawk makes a perfect home track for Perfetto.

“He’s a big horse and he needs the big track,” said Henriksen, who manages a stable of nine just a 10-minute drive away from the 7/8-mile landmark. “I don’t really want to try him at the half-mile [tracks] or anything like that. The money is best at the big tracks too, right? To have a horse like that, you go where the money is.”

The two-time divisional champion will draw on maturity and back class Monday (April 17), as he and Henriksen start from the Mohawk rail in race nine.

“He has to move up a class after the race he won [Monday, April 10] and we’ll just go from there and see if he can make his way up to the top class again. That’s what we’re hoping for.”

Racing the talented trotter is an ongoing dream for the Norwegian native, who learned early lessons in harness racing from a closely related 2009 O’Brien Award of Horsemanship winner.

“Per Henriksen is my family, he’s my dad’s cousin,” Dagfin said. “And my great-grandfather was into harness racing, big time, back home, so it’s been in the family for a long time.”

Perfect? Not always, but Perfetto’s attitude might come close.

“The thing is, he’s very versatile and he’s just a good racehorse,” said his trainer/driver. “He likes to do his job, he likes to race and that’s reflected on the racetrack. I think. He’s got a big fan club.”

GRASSROOTS PERSPECTIVE

with CHRIS LOMON

Kubilay Erzene has a burning desire to succeed in harness racing

by Chris Lomon

What's in a name? For trainer/driver/owner Kubilay Erzene, it was certainly an appropriate one for a treasured milestone.

It was by no means a surprising win, the one that came at Ocean Downs last July, when Burning Desire, a then 6-year-old son of Somebeachsomewhere, delivered the horseman his first victory in the race bike.

Sent off at 7-2, Burning Desire, a $150,000 purchase at the 2017 Standardbred Horse Sales Company's yearling sale in Harrisburg, was sent to the front by Erzene and the duo never looked back, going on to notch a 2 ½-length score in 1:57.4.

It was, on many levels, an across-the-board score.

"I love Ocean Downs," Erzene said. "It was an incredible night. I was driving Burning Desire for one of my good friends, Ralph Silvestre [III], as the trainer/owner. I felt like I was going to win that night and I did. It was a good win and it was at a place I really like. The surface, the environment, the crowd... it really takes you back to what racing is all about. It's unbelievable. They do a great job there. Everything about it is great."

Erzene began his association with racing through his grandfather Walter Petersen.

The more he found himself spending time at the racetrack, the more Erzene felt the pull to get involved in some capacity.

"My grandfather owned and drove his own horses," Erzene said. "We were in New Jersey and ended up moving to California. That's when I first got around horses, working with my grandfather at Cal-Expo. I just worked my way up after that and when I was 18, I bought my first horse and started going from there. I remember watching Ed Hennessey, seeing the way he drove and what he did to be successful.

Once you sit behind these animals, you really do appreciate what they are capable of."

When he did make the decision to make standardbred racing a full-time gig, his grandfather had a witty reply.

"He told me, 'That I didn't pick an easy sport,'" Erzene said. "He told me, 'It's a tough business,' but no matter what the outcome, I should always look ahead."

And that's what Erzene has done, especially in the early stages of his life as a trainer/driver.

"The early challenge for me was staying devoted because it's not easy to be successful at the beginning," he said. "When you are starting out and you are a small stable, it's tough to go up against the bigger operations. The one thing you learn early on is that you've got to stick with it and if you work hard, that success will come. My grandfather also said, ‘If you think you know everything, you might as well stop. You can always learn something new, even at 80.’ That’s what he told me and I believe that. I never think I know everything and I’m willing to listen.”

“The early challenge for me was staying devoted because it’s not easy to be successful at the beginning. When you are starting out and you are a small stable, it’s tough to go up against the bigger operations. The one thing you learn early on is that you’ve got to stick with it and if you work hard, that success will come. My grandfather also said, ‘If you think you know everything, you might as well stop. You can always learn something new, even at 80.’ That’s what he told me and I believe that. I never think I know everything and I’m willing to listen.”

Although plenty has changed for him over the past two years – Erzene broke babies for trainer Chris Ryder for eight years before going out on his own – one thing has remained a constant.

It’s something he continues to be grateful for.

“I felt like I was always around a lot of good people, like Bryson Dunning, Jake Leamon and Ralph Silvestre,” Erzene said. “My stepfather, Troy Thomas, has also been a big influence. He helped me with rating training miles and made me work hard to earn it. He’s also my blacksmith. I think I learned more than I ever have over the last few years than I did in my first 10 years in the business. When you have the opportunity to be around good people, the ones who are willing to help you and teach you, it makes all the difference in the world. I think I’ve developed into a good horseman, but I know there is a lot more to learn and a lot to improve upon.”

The game plan, at least for now, is for Erzene to continue to train and drive his own horses.

It’s the latter that gives him the biggest rush.

“I would love the chance to drive for other people,” he said. “I do like driving. It’s still early in my career to say where that will take me, but I’m willing to keep trying and work hard at it. Getting to know the people I have has opened a lot of doors for me. I do want to focus on driving, but I like training too.”

Relief from the stresses of his job comes in the form of family, namely, his wife, Eternity and the couple’s three young children, sons Logan and Noah and daughter, Serenity.

On Sundays, it’s a true family affair at the barn.

And when they aren’t together around the horses, the Erzenes are happy to simply spend time together at home.

“We have my mother [Missy] with us too,” Erzene said. “It’s all about family for me. After a tough day of work, it’s a really good feeling to come home and unwind with them. There isn’t always as much time as you’d like to unwind, so when you do get that chance, you take full advantage of it. My kids come to the barn and help out on Sundays. I have a 4-year-old, a 3-year-old and a 5-month-old and they keep going every week. They love it. There are smiles all day. What other job would you want?”

“My wife is very supportive. There are a lot of late nights at the barn, so she has a lot on her plate. She’s going to school to be a nurse and she’s going to be graduating soon. I’m very lucky to have her in my life.”

Currently, Erzene, who has teamed up with trainer Bryson Dunning, has seven horses in training.

After a career-best year training and driving, the 30-year-old is more motivated than ever.

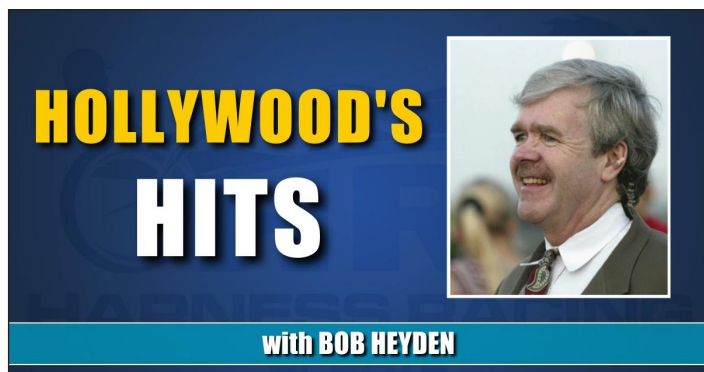

Just like the horse that delivered one of his most notable triumphs, the California-born horseman who now calls Pemberton, NJ, home, has a burning desire to make 2023 his most productive season yet.

“Life is great,” Erzene said. “I see a lot of bright things ahead. This is a rollercoaster, but I’ve been on it before. But things are starting to peak and I’m ready for it. I have a lot of good people around me. They gave me some wisdom and knowledge that has really helped me.”

Shining stars of the 21st and 20th centuries

A bunch of fantastic fillies including the second Hambletonian winner.

by Bob Heyden

A look at some 21st century female stars.

Pampered Princess: Winner of $1,648,362 in 2006/2007. Had she not opted – or more accurately Bob Anderson had not opted – for the Hambletonian versus the boys, she could have been an easy choice/winner in the Oaks and half of that $750,000 pot would have tipped her past $2 million lifetime.

Mission Brief: Went 1:50.3 at 2 and 1:50.2 at 3, both seasonal bests regardless of sex. She's from the second crop of Muscle Hill and was the 2015 Hambletonian favorite in her elimination – which she won – and final where she finished second.

JK She'salady: The rare Horse of the Year (2014) and Broodmare of the Year (2020) honoree and she did it before her 10th birthday.

Buck I St Pat: Mickey Burke's last superstar (2008) and Ronny Burke's first (along with Won The West and Foiled Again, who was just getting going in 2009). She was a Dan Patch winner in 2008, 2009 and 2010.

Burning Point: The only female pacer to win twice at The Meadowlands in the Breeders Crown (2003 and 2006). Team Wallis and then Steve Elliott. Amazingly consistent towards the end of her career winning the division title and $782,415 on the strength of 28 5-10-10. $2.8 Million plus lifetime.

Darlin's Delight and My Little Dragon: Did someone say parallel careers? Both were bred and raised at White Birch Farms. Both raced from 2005-2009. Both had one double-digit victory season of 10 wins and both won well over $2 million: $5.3 million combined.

Check Me Out: The rare stable that has a colt and then a filly win at least $900G at both 2 and 3? Ray Schnittker with Deweycheatumhowe (2007-2008) and Check Me Out (2011-2012).

Pure Country: Winning an unprecedented three pacing filly Dan Patch awards at 2, 3 and 4 in (2015-2017). She earned $2,438,619 in a career that saw her win a Breeders Crown at The Meadowlands and then at Hoosier.

Put On A Show: A star as a filly and as a mare. In 2010 she broke the 19-year mark of most money by a pacing filly at 2 and 3, earning 1,893,475 over that span. The mark of $1,777,656 million was set in 1990-1991 by the impressive Miss Easy. At age 5, Put On A Show broke the existing world mark with a 1:47.3 Hambletonian Day score. For her career she was 50 31-9-2, a 62 per cent winner.

See You At Peelers: A streaker at the start of her career, none more impressive than her $307,734 Art Rooney win of 2011 versus the colts.

Shake It Cerry: She earned $2,786,104 lifetime. She was the 2014 Trotter of the Year against some stiff competition. Second was Sebastian K, third was Father Patrick and Mission Brief finished fourth. Shake it Cerry was 15-for-17 as a sophomore.

THE SECOND HAMBLETONIAN (1927)

We know about the first Hambletonian winner, Guy McKinney and many along the way. The 100th is about 27 months away. I don't know about you, but I never hear a peep about Hambletonian No. 2. Let's take care of that now.

It was the year the first filly, Iosola's Worthy, won it and the first time it was held in Lexington.

The winner received $32,330.11. Mr. E. J. Merkle owned the daughter of Guy Axworthy and Marvin Childs handled her.

She was bought from her breeder in early spring after winning just once as a 2-year-old: The May Day consolation for $2,000.

She started slowly at 3, finishing seventh and twelfth in Toledo and then fourth twice in Detroit.

After winning the big one, she was sold at years end at the Old Glory Sale for $10,700 to Walnut Hall Farms.

PARALLEL CAREERS OF CHRIS RYDER AND BRUCE NICKELLS

All 11 of their combined Breeders Crowns are with females. Five for Ryder and six for Nickells.

Each has won a Breeders Crown with a 2-, 3- and 4-year-old female.

Each has had an outstanding female trotter. Ryder had Mystical Sunshine the 2006-2007 Breeders Crown repeater and Nickells trained and drove the 1989 Hambletonian Oaks winner Park Avenue Kathy.

Nickells won two Breeders Crowns with Miss Easy (1990-1991). Ryder duplicated that with Mystical Sunshine (2006-2007).

Nickells also won a Crown with Follow My Star (1987), Immortality (1992) and Hazelton K (1991). He also had division winner Freedoms Friend (1993) and Breeders Crown favorite Efishnc (1995). Ryder had Cathedra Dot Com (2001), the Breeders Crown runner-up and the second 3YOPF to hit $1 million, as well as the aforementioned Put On A Show, as well as I Luv The Nitelife who won the 2013 Breeders Crown.

In 2023 Chis is training the promising Twin B Joe Fresh a 1:48.4 winner at 2, as well as Walner Payton. Over $1 Million combined in 2022 with that pair.

If Ryder goes into the Hall of Fame maybe Nickells could do the intro.

Trotting around North Carolina

by Trey Nosrac

I slid onto an empty bar stool next to an attorney named Richard Mathers. The Bar None, two blocks east of the Richmond County Courthouse, is the watering hole for the local legal crowd. Mathers, a skinny, cartoonish-looking fellow with a black pencil-thin mustache, is a distant cousin who regales me with courtroom antics. I call him "Legal" Mathers, a nickname I gave him that I am understandably proud of.

I opened today's proceedings, "Southern states like North Carolina without harness horse racing have always annoyed me. Warm weather, rich in horse history, open spaces, but no harness racing is irritating."

"You've got an obsession with this topic," Mathers said. "We've talked about it before. The answer is State's rights. Every State has a few quirky laws on the books."

He grabbed his iPhone off the bar, swiped and tapped a few times, glanced at his screen and said, "I get a kick out of this site. It lists strange state laws. We would be in trouble if we were sitting in North Carolina because one of the weird laws on the books prohibits happy hours."

"You're kidding."

"Nope, here are a few other North Carolina beauties on the books. A person can get a DWI riding a horse and borrowing your neighbor's dog is illegal. You can't collect your own reward money; you cannot serve alcohol at a bingo game and you cannot host a meeting wearing a mask."

I shuddered, "Crazy, man."

He shrugged, "At some point, for some reason, these state laws made sense to somebody. Perhaps one evening in 1971, a drunk guy wearing his Batman mask drove his horse Bingo down Elm Street and struck little Tommy Wilson. The town decided to pass a few laws at the next Town Hall meeting to prevent this from happening again."

"I think those lawmakers may have been drinking."

Cousin Legal continued to read his phone while I took a few swallows of my Bud Lite.

"Hmm," he muttered, "Regarding your pet peeve about the horse racing ban in North Carolina, I found a technicality, a loophole. It is possible to wager on horse races in North Carolina."

"You lawyers love your loopholes. Do tell my fine barrister."

He read, "A 2019 law permitted the placement of retail sportsbooks in casinos' sportsbooks located at the two tribal casinos in the western part of the state. The Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians owns the casinos, but Caesars operates them. So, it appears that, technically, bets on pari-mutuel horse betting are legal in North Carolina."

"Could those casinos open a horse racetrack?"

Legal slowly stroked his mustache and rendered his verdict, "Possibly." Then he returned to his phone screen, "As far as I can tell, no legislation regarding North Carolina sports betting bills is pending. All sports betting bills failed before lawmakers adjourned the 2022 session."

I couldn't help punning, "The Tarheel state remains stuck in the horse racing mud. What the heck is a Tarheel?"

He answered his question by once again tapping on his trusty phone and read, "To call someone a 'rosin heel' or 'tar heel' was to imply that they worked in a lowly trade. Workers who distilled turpentine from the sticky sap of pine trees and burned

“Things will change, maybe not in time for your dreams of harness horse racetracks in North Carolina, but money may soon bring additional gambling to North Carolina. For North Carolina politicians, the pressure from lobbyists is not going to diminish. Losing gambling revenue to your neighbor is challenging to defend. Technology will soon make the defense against gambling irrelevant. The walls are closing in fast.”

pine boughs to produce tar and pitch went barefoot during hot summer months and undoubtedly collected tar on their heels. Calling someone a 'rosin heel' or 'tar heel' was considered an insult. During the Civil War, North Carolina soldiers flipped the term's meaning and turned an epithet into an accolade. They called themselves 'tar heels' as an expression of state pride. The name stuck."

"Cousin, I miss the days before Googling. Let's get back to the subject of racing."

He kept scrolling on his phone. "Non-gambling cracks are showing up on the Tarheel landscape. It is legal to enter fantasy sports competitions in North Carolina. The legislature did not pass specific legislation that regulates and taxes fantasy sports. Since the legislature did not outlaw FanDuel and DraftKings, they are in play and offshore sites are mostly unknown and illegal territory."

I rapped my knuckles on the bar. "My gripe is that it seems like they are singling out horse racing. North Carolina has a basketball team, an NFL team, a hockey team and a bunch of college sports teams. If you loan me a thousand dollars, I could bet a thousand dollars tonight on the basketball game tonight. I concede the point that states can and do ban gambling. Although, with technology, this is like the ultimate game of whack-a-mole where the winner loses state revenue."

He nodded. "Gambling laws were drafted long ago based on interstate commerce, which makes laws more complicated to enforce in our modern world."

I asked, "If an individual wanted to build a racetrack and wants to run races, what would prevent this from happening? Where is the line? If North Carolina decides Big Macs harm citizens, are McDonald's franchises prohibited from operating?"

"Things will change, maybe not in time for your dreams of harness horse racetracks in North Carolina, but money may soon bring additional gambling to North Carolina. For North Carolina politicians, the pressure from lobbyists is not going to diminish. Losing gambling revenue to your neighbor is challenging to defend. Technology will soon make the defense against gambling irrelevant. The walls are closing in fast."

I slipped a ten-dollar bill beneath my empty bottle. I said, "When the dust settles, somebody should get in on the ground floor of a state like North Carolina with a business plan for a new state racing industry with jobs, revenue, tourism and agricultural use. The Tar Heels and horse racing marriage could offer a fresh start and be a unique play when the gambling gates open."

HRU Foal Of The Week

Muscle Hill colt out of Solveig's family was foaled at Diamond Creek

This Muscle Hill colt out of Susy arrived in February at Diamond Creek farm. The colt, named Cardinal, is the fourth foal out of Susy, a Father Patrick Mare out of Solveig. That makes Susy a half-sister to Shake It Cerry (Donato Hanover filly, $2.79 million), Uncle Lasse (Donato Hanover horse, over $930,000), Dontyouforgetit (Cantab Hall horse, nearly $600,000), Solvato (Donato Hanover horse, $300,000) and many more. Susy's other foals include: a Walner mare named Croatia and a Chapter Seven colt named Devastate. An unnamed Gimpanzee colt foaled in 2022 has died.

Blue Chip Matchmaker Series prelims conclude

Lucky Artist A and driver Braxten Boyd cut lively fractions, then held off a determined bid by Mabalene N to capture the first of three $40,000 Blue Chip Matchmaker divisions at MGM Yonkers Raceway on Friday (April 14) night. The 10-year-old mare by Artistic Fella scored in a season's-best 1:51.2 in the final qualifying leg of the series.

Mabalene N (Jason Bartlett) overcame the outside draw and looped the 1-2 favorite Lucky Artist A to take control on the first turn, but Boyd stayed parked and eventually advanced to the front before the :27.4 opening quarter. Lucky Artist A continued with consecutive :27.4 second and third quarters as Gia's Surreal attempted a first-over grind from turn three but couldn't gain contact with the top horses.

It was a two-mare contest into the homestretch and Boyd encouraged Lucky Artist A on. The Ricky Bucci-trained mare responded in kind, holding firm with Mabalene N settling for second. Alta Madeira N gave imports a sweep of the trifecta in the event.

Owned by Flatland Racing, Lucky Artist A increased her lifetime earnings above the $500,000 level with the victory and returned $3.10 to win. The exacta was worth $9.70 and the trifecta kicked back $35.60.

"She doesn't get tired," Boyd said, following the victory. "She's got like three lungs."

Dougs Babe A made it three consecutive Blue Chip Matchmaker preliminary victories with an impressive near-wire-to-wire performance in capturing the second division for driver Dexter Dunn. The Nifty Norman-trained mare scored in 1:51.2 at the expense of Karma Seelster and Incaseyou didntknow.

Sent off as the 1-5 favorite, Dunn allowed Karma Seelster to gain control late on the first turn, while at the same time stuffing Incaseyou didntknow into the three-hole behind her off the opening bend. Once the dust had settled, Dougs Babe A marched to the front at the :27.4 quarter and commanded the way from there. Setting sensible fractions of :56.2 and 1:24.1, Dunn was able to keep pressure at bay as Andrew McCarthy made a second move with Incaseyou didntknow on the backstretch but never got close to the winner.

A final quarter sprint of :27.1 assured the victory, with Dunn confident throughout the stretch drive. Karma Seelster tracked her intently for second, with Incaseyou didntknow holding off Lit De Rose for the third spot.

Owned by T. Vassiliou, N. Tallarico, Patricia Stable and Enzed Racing, Dougs Babe A has now won three of her six starts since arriving in North America, with this victory putting her over the $200,000 mark in career earnings. Dougs Babe A paid $2.50 and likely stamped herself as one of the favorites in the $328,000 final scheduled for Monday, April 24. The exacta and trifecta returned $6.00 and $19.00, respectively.

In what proved the most exciting finish of the night, Racine Bell (Bartlett) was able to pull off a minor upset, lunging past pacesetter Delitfulcatherin N (Jordan Stratton) in a 1:51.3 mile.

Delitfulcatherin N and Stratton left boldly from post five and moved ahead of favored pole-sitter Drama Act on the first turn, with Bartlett and Racine Bell content to sit a three-hole in the early stages. Stratton had Delitfulcatherin N lead through a solid :26.4 opening quarter but keenly applied the brakes, hitting the half in :56 seconds and bracing for a second-half challenge.

George Brennan sat antsy with Drama Act in the pocket for much of the opening-half but could wait no longer and popped out on the backstretch before the three-quarters to engage the leader. That move gave Bartlett and Racine Bell what appeared to be perfect cover for the final quarter.

Drama Act and Delitfulcatherin N were inseparable through the final turn, but Racine Bell was having difficulty tracking the top pair as Man Dontforget Me (Scott Zeron) scooted up the pylons to gain close contention.

In the homestretch Stratton was able to urge Delitfulcatherin N away from the favorite and looked to have the race won until Bartlett set Racine Bell in motion. The 6-year-old daughter of So Surreal kicked it into overdrive and blew by with a ferocious rally. Delitfulcatherin N gamely held Man Dontforget Me off for the place spot, with Drama Act fourth over the wire.

It was the 31st lifetime victory for millionaire Racine Bell, who is owned by Chris and Dale Lawton and trained by David Dewhurst. As the 9-5 second choice, Racine Bell returned $5.80 to win and keyed a $30.00 exacta and a $175.00 trifecta.

Unofficially, the eight mares who will compete in the Blue Chip Matchmaker Series final on April 24 are:

Dougs Babe A (292 points)

Amazing Dream N (275)

Lucky Artist A (266)

Drama Act (266)

Racine Bell (250)

Karma Seelster (245)

Lit De Rose (232)

Incaseyou didntknow (224)

The final of the MGM Borgata Pacing Series and companion consolation races for both events will also occur on the same card.

Stakes action will resume on Monday night (April 10) at MGM Yonkers Raceway with three $50,000 splits of the fifth leg of the MGM Borgata Series for free-for-all pacers. Trotters will also be in action next week as the John Brennan Series continues with four $25,000 divisions of the third round on Wednesday (April 19).

Also, continuing through April, the Pick 5 pool on Thursdays at MGM Yonkers Raceway will be seeded with $10,000 and also have a guaranteed pool of $25,000. This initiative is being offered in partnership with the Standardbred Owners Association of New York as part of the United States Trotting Association's Strategic Wagering Program.

MGM Yonkers Raceway is currently operating on a Monday through Friday live racing schedule with post time at 7 p.m. (EDT).

Hambletonian Society winter meeting yields new director

At the recent winter meeting of the directors of the Hambletonian Society, Steve H. Stewart of Hunterton Farm was appointed to fill a vacancy on the Society board.

In addition, the board approved the conditions of Hambletonian No. 100, the stake for foals of 2022 to be raced in 2025 and Breeders Crown No. 38 conditions. Both stakes will take yearling payments on May 15, 2023.

Stewart, 64, of Paris, KY and his wife, Cindy, have grown a former tobacco farm in Lexington to a burgeoning standardbred nursery that now encompasses over 900 acres, including the historic rolling hills of Stoner Creek Stud and Woodlawn Farm. The Stewarts have produced some of the highest-priced yearlings and champion racehorses of the past decade.

As an individual breeder, the Stewarts ranked third in 2022 in both wins and earnings, behind mega-breeders Hanover Shoe Farms and Winbak Farm, with $10.9 million in purse earnings from just 243 starters. They were also named New Jersey Breeder of the Year in 2022.

The Stewarts have two Hambletonian champions to their credit, Forbidden Trade (2019) and Trixton (2014); back-to-back Mohawk Million winners in Venerable (2021) and Venerate (2020); 2021 Hambletonian Maturity winner Beads, who recently won the Prix de Luxembourg at Vincennes in Paris; Tactical Landing, an $800,000 yearling who Stewart bred and retained part-ownership in who went on to win a Hambletonian elim, Breeders Crown and TVG Final and the dazzling filly Mission Brief, who racked up $1.5 million and world and track speed records during her spectacular career.

Stewart also runs Hunterton Sales Agency, which prepares and markets the yearlings they raise. With more than 200 mares to manage, the Stewarts sells over 150 yearlings at sales across North America.

"On behalf of the Hambletonian Society, we welcome the addition of Steve Stewart to the Hambletonian Society board and look forward to his future contributions," said John Campbell, president/chief executive officer of the Society. "Steve brings decades of harness industry knowledge and an ability to accentuate the positive in almost any situation."

The Hambletonian Society is a non-profit organization formed in 1924 to sponsor the race for which it was named, the Hambletonian Stake. The Society's mission is to encourage and support the breeding of standardbred horses through the development, administration and promotion of harness racing stakes, early-closing races and other special events. The Hambletonian Society services 153 of harness racing's richest and most prestigious events at 13 different tracks, including harness racing's most prominent race, the Hambletonian for 3-year-old trotters, its filly division, the Hambletonian Oaks and the sport's championship series, the Breeders Crown. The organization was responsible for the disbursement of more than $23 million in purses last year.

Stars come out in Meadowlands qualifiers

The stars of the 2022 stakes season have begun to emerge from their winter hibernation and appear at The Meadowlands qualifiers. The Q's got under way on a perfect day with clear skies and a slight helping wind in the stretch. Temperatures were in the mid-70's.

Trainer Jim Campbell relived the best day of his life (kind of) by shipping his Hambletonian and Hambletonian Oaks winners from last year in to go their first mile over The Meadowlands oval this morning.

Hambletonian 2022 champ Cool Papa Bell was an easy 1:55, home in :26.4, winner for his Hambletonian team of trainer Jim Campbell and driver Todd McCarthy. "Cool Papa" was not a "one trick pony" at 3, as he also won the New York Sire Stakes final and was very competitive in the Breeders Crown and KY Futurity while earning nearly $900,000 last year for owner Scott Farber as his nom de course Runthetablestables.

Fashion Schooner (Tim Tetrick) cut the mile through slow early numbers then sprinted home in a :26.3 end to the 1:55.3 mile and looked good doing it. Jules Siegel bred and owns Fashion Schooner under his Fashion Farms banner. GiGi Hanover actually cut into the winner's margin with a good late rally for Ake Svanstedt.

The day got underway with an eye-catching performance by the sophomore colt trotter Tactical Approach (Josert Fonseca) who won back in 1:54.3 (:26.3 final quarter) after a 1:53.4 qualifier a week ago. The Tactical Landing colt is trained by Nancy Takter for Robert Leblanc, John Fielding, Joe Sbrocco and JAF Racing.

A tight group of 4-year-old pacing mares gathered for race seven and Niki Hill was an impressive 1:52 (:25.4) winner out of the pocket in her second qualifier. Dexter Dunn sat her in behind Don't Fence Me In through slow fractions, then ripped past that one under no encouragement from the driver in the fast final stanza. Boudoir Hanover (T. McCarthy) flashed good late foot to rally for second.

Six fast sophomore colt pacers teed it up with PASS champ Fulton (Dunn) edging Voukefalas (Jordan Stratton) and Tip Top Cat (David Miller) in a long uncovered move 1:52.3 / :25.4. Linda Toscano trains the winner for Let It Ride Stables and Bottom Line Racing.

Toscano came right back with It's My Show (Scott Zeron) zipping past his only three rivals in the stretch with relative ease to win in 1:50, the last quarter showing :26.3 on the timer. It's My Show, despite facing top company at 2, is still a maiden for owner/breeders Richard & Joanne Young.

The last race featured an accomplished field of 4-year-olds pacers and All About The Hunt (Miller) went along on a loose lead throughout and held safe over the late rally of I Did It Myway (Andy McCarthy) in 1:50.2 / :27. The winner is trained by Ron Burke for owners Crawford Farms Racing and Heather Marshall.

Results will be available on the web.

Heavens Pic flies home to take Big M feature

Things didn't look good for Heavens Pic in the feature race at The Meadowlands Friday (April 14) night.

After all, the 4-year-old gelded son of Archangel—Allerage Belle was last in the field of seven at the three-quarter-mile mark as 4-5 favorite Mon Amour had just rated a middle half in :58.4 and extended his lead to 3½ lengths as they hit the top of the stretch. But Heavens Pic wasn't done.

Driven and trained by Delaware regular Victor Kirby, Heavens Pic started rolling on the far outside with a little more than an eighth of a mile to go, before swerving to the inside and gunning down the leader with a flourish nearing the finish in a lifetime-best 1:53.4. It was a neck back to an also late-closing Dribbling Bi, who got past third-place finisher Mon Amour.

"I didn't want Dribbling Bi to follow me, so I waited it out," Kirby said. "I was extremely pleased the way it worked out. I was a little disappointed last week. He should have reached, but they need a race up here over the track to get acclimated, and tonight kind of proved that."

After starting his season with seven starts at Dover Downs (winning twice), Kirby brought Heavens Pic to The Meadowlands a week ago and he did well, finishing a close second to Dribbling Bi in a non-winners of $10,500 for trotters. Friday night (April 14), he shrugged off a bump up to the non-winners of $14,000 level — which had a purse of $18,000 — and recorded his third win of the season in spectacular style.

"Honestly, at the head of the lane, it looked like I might end up third," Kirby said. "But then he hit high gear. The conditions were perfect and he responded. We bought him last fall hoping he'd have a big meet at Dover, but with soundness issues nagging him all winter, he didn't have the meeting we expected, but he's been getting more and more healthy."

"When we bought him, he was racing at [Mohawk] and I thought he would love the Meadowlands track, so we'll probably plan on staying here. This track is better for him because he's a big horse."

Heavens Pic returned $8.00 to his backers as the 3-1 second choice in the betting.

28 STRAIGHT? THAT'S GREAT: The Meadowlands upped its streak of nighttime handles topping $3 million to 28, even though a handful of factors figured to make it extremely hard to do so.

The 14-race card saw all-source wagering total $3,106,731, despite...

- Three amateur races
- Top Big M regular drivers Yannick Gingras, Dexter Dunn, Andy McCarthy and Scott Zeron were absent racing some of the best mare pacers in training at Yonkers in the Matchmaker Series
- One four-horse field, one five-horse field, one six-horse field and a pair of seven-horse fields, with two of those races seeing wagering fail to reach $100,000

"We are extremely appreciative of our fan base, who supported us tonight despite some short fields," said Big M chief operating officer/general manager Jason Settlemoir. "To have wagered over $3 million on every Friday and Saturday night program this year is something to be proud of, especially, given how competitive the marketplace is for horses as more tracks open as the weather warms up."

For clarity, there have been 28 Friday and Saturday night programs contested at The Meadowlands during 2023, and each one has seen betting bust the $3-million barrier.

During 2022, there were a total of 85 race cards contested at the mile oval, and betting went past the $3-million plateau 23 times.

OTTEN SPOTS BOTH PICK-4s: Big M TV talent Jessica Otten liked giving out the early 50-cent Pick-4 so much, she went out and gave her following the late Pick-4 as well.

Otten, who will serve as the primary talent on the eight national live broadcasts that will show Big M races live on the networks of Fox Sports starting April 29, saw her early Pick-4 pay $390.50 while the late Pick-4 came back $99.90. Otten's backers invested a total of $54 to create a profit of $436.

A LITTLE MORE: Who's an amateur? With two wins in Meadowlands Amateur Drivers Club races, Tony Verruso led the driver colony.

Dave Little / Meadowlands media relations

OHHA offers scholarships

The Ohio Harness Horsemen's Association (OHHA) will again be offering scholarship opportunities to OHHA members and their families.

Completed applications are due June 1, 2023.

Application and requirements are available on the OHHA website here.

The scholarships are available to graduating high school seniors and/or students enrolled in degree or certificate programs. Graduate students are not eligible unless they are enrolled in a harness racing-specific graduate or professional level program and provide complete details regarding the harness racing-specific graduate or professional level program in conjunction with their application.

Scholarships will be awarded on academic merit and financial need and must be used towards the cost and expenses directly related to coursework and a degree being pursued at a college or university.

The announcement of the 2023 OHHA Scholarship recipients will be made in August 2023.
