Harness racing community to receive $3 million from Hawthorne bankruptcy proceedings

by Neil Milbert

ADVENTURES IN ILLINOIS

with NEIL MILBERT

At long last – after several delays – Illinois harness owners, trainers, and drivers are finally going to get the nearly $3 million that bankrupt Hawthorne Race Course's Suburban Downs meeting owes them.

At his latest hearing on Monday (April 20) U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Timothy Barnes issued his final order on Hawthorne's debtor-in-possession loan.

Within that loan are the $1,345,382 owed the owners, trainers, and drivers for bounced and uncashed checks and $1,560,073 in frozen purse account funds.

The money to cover the bounced and uncashed checks – some of which date back to last November – is expected to be made available on Saturday (April 25), enabling processing to begin. There are procedures in place for Hawthorne to follow, and plans call for the track's bookkeeper to begin mailing the replacement checks next week.

The $1,560,000 in frozen purse account funds is scheduled to be available on Saturday (May 16).

However, while Judge Barnes stipulated that the Illinois Harness Horsemen's Association (IHHA) would receive its designated funding from Hawthorne to cover its operational expenses going forward, the collective bargaining agent for the owners, trainers, and drivers did not receive the $360,000 in back money it is owed.

The judge agreed to increase the amount of cash Hawthorne has available from its lender JDI Loans from $16 million to $20 million and the revised line of credit loan will continue through Aug. 1 instead of expiring in July.

The Illinois Racing Board will meet on May 20 and the IHHA's executive director, Tony Somone, who spearheaded the drive to get the owners, trainers, and drivers the money they are owed, believes at that time the board will restore the Suburban Downs racing license that was suspended on Jan. 26 because of the bounced checks and frozen purse accounts.

As a consequence of Hawthorne's financial crisis all 14 of the harness programs scheduled for January and February were canceled and the thoroughbred meeting that was to begin on March 29 was delayed until Sunday (April 19).

“ [The scheduled Nov. 1 end of the current thoroughbred meeting] depends on whether a buyer steps up and makes a serious bid to purchase [Hawthorne] for the purpose of opening a racino and continuing horse racing. If such a buyer doesn't emerge by mid-July it's conceivable that the loan could abruptly terminate. ”

~ ITHA website

The thoroughbred meeting will have programs every Sunday and Thursday afternoon through Nov. 1 after which the standardbreds are scheduled to reclaim the track for their Suburban Downs meeting from Nov. 6-Dec. 27 with programs on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday in November and Saturday and Sunday in December.

The numbers for the first day of the current thoroughbred meeting were lackluster – 42 contestants in seven races, purses totaling $82,500 and a total handle of $413,736 versus $1,124,510 that was wagered on last year's March 30 opening day card.

In March, Judge Barnes approved payments of $1.1 million in overdue purse money and $281,000 in bounced checks owed to members of the Illinois Thoroughbred Horsemen's Association.

The indebtedness to IHHA and Illinois Thoroughbred Horsemen's Association (ITHA) members that Hawthorne incurred is only the tip of the financial iceberg that the family-owned track is confronted with. A significant number of creditors are out-of-state tracks that stopped taking races from Hawthorne and sending their own signals to the track because of its prolonged failure to pay outstanding simulcast bills.

Amid all of the ongoing uncertainty, ITHA president Chris Block and executive director Dave McCaffrey fear that the thoroughbred meeting might not be able to reach its Nov. 1 finish line.

“Much depends on whether a buyer steps up and makes a serious bid to purchase the track for the purpose of opening a racino and continuing horse racing,” the ITHA website cautioned. “If such a buyer doesn't emerge by mid-July it's conceivable that the loan could abruptly terminate.”

A gambling expansion law permitting casino gambling at Illinois racetracks was enacted in 2018 and Hawthorne received a license from the Illinois Gaming Board the following year. Hawthorne president Tim Carey announced a $40 million expansion project to accommodate a racino at the track and a portion of the grandstand was demolished in 2020.

But Carey has been unable to secure financing and all that the project has produced is vestiges of the demolition and unpaid creditors who did the teardown.

The target date for the sale of the Chicago area's oldest sports venue that was purchased by Tim Carey's great grandfather Thomas Carey in 1909, is July 13.

Hawthorne's financial consultant David Campbell is reviewing offers to either market the property for real estate development or for an ongoing racing operation bolstered by a casino component. He testified in bankruptcy court that one letter of intent proposed a $115.1 million price for the real estate.

If Hawthorne is sold for real estate development the only racetrack remaining in Illinois will be Fairmount Park, a thoroughbred track in downstate Collinsville across the Mississippi River from St. Louis.

However, IHHA executive director Somone is hopeful that the Illinois legislature will authorize a harness track/racino at downstate Decatur before its spring session concludes at the end of May.

Graham Kirby paid it forward and saved a horse and family

by Matthew Lomon

It's an indescribable feeling when humanity and horses overlap. So was the sentiment from devoted lifelong horsewoman Susan Mollica in her vivid retelling of the time when a then stranger saved the life of her sons' beloved horse almost 30 years ago.

"Now, this man didn't have to; I had never met him before," she said. "We brought Spud down and he said, 'You're going to have to leave him with me for a week or so,' and basically told my dad he didn't think he was going to make it.

"But he saved his life. He saved our horse's life. If it wasn't for him, Spud would have died. His kidneys were failing, they hadn't given him anything to drink or eat and his organs were all shutting down – but Graham saved his life."

That man was Graham Kirby.

A longtime horseman himself, Kirby was a friend of Mollica's father, Earl Henry, who had horses of his own while working at Woodbine Mohawk Park and Georgian Downs.

Kirby's career was dedicated solely to standardbreds – his experience with quarter horses like Spud was minimal, at best – but Henry knew he was the right man for the job.

"Dad said to me, 'I know a guy, get in the truck,'" Mollica said. "So, I went with my dad, and he took me down, and I met Graham Kirby. Dad introduced us and said, 'Tell him what's going on with your horse.' So, I told him, and Graham said, 'Bring him to my house.'"

The story Mollica told that day was one of a family and a horse on the brink, in dire need of help.

"When my kids were little, we bought them their first horse [Spud]," she said. "The situation was we had no money, but we had bought our kids a horse. My oldest son [Christopher] is severely disabled, and the horse was for him to ride.

"We needed a place to board him and the place he was at, we didn't have to pay board. The agreement was my husband [Bert] would do all the work – the fencing, wiring, trailers – anything that needed to be done on the farm. So, we agreed to it, and that was all perfect.

Graham Kirby,
Christopher Mollica and Spud.

“One Saturday morning, we went down there. This place had been doing summer camps all week and they used the horse we had bought. When we got there, he was pretty much standing up dead. It was beyond words.”

Gutted by the condition they found Spud in, the Mollicas loaded him into their trailer and transported him back to their home in Cookstown, ON.

“We put him in our backyard, which I know sounds crazy, but Spud could hardly get on and off the trailer and into our backyard,” Susan said. “That’s how sick he was.”

Spud’s time in his family’s backyard was short-lived thanks to Kirby.

“He was a horse that obviously needed some caretaking, and I was willing to do that for them,” said Kirby, who reserved a stall in his barn for Spud free of charge. “It was no big deal.

“It was just fun for me to see them enjoy the horse; the horses will add years to your life. I just think he needed some care, and between all of us, we seemed to give him that.”

In Kirby’s recount, the challenge of nursing Spud back to health was very much a team effort.

“[The Mollicas] were always over there working with him, and the horse just came around,” Kirby said. “He was very happy at my place; he was here almost two years. They were always over there and willing to help do the work and take care of him.”

A traveling member of the Ontario standardbred circuit as both a reinsman and conditioner at the time, Kirby had a million excuses for why he couldn’t take Spud in, but not one crossed his mind.

He instead focused on all the reasons that made it the only logical choice.

“Christopher, he just loved riding that horse,” Kirby said. “He’s always had a great enthusiasm for harness racing. They built a special saddle for him and the horse – he was an old parade horse for the thoroughbreds – just took to Christopher and that old horse would just let him ride him and everything.”

Spud, along with their shared passion for horses and harness racing, served as the conduit that inspired a lasting connection between Kirby and the Mollicas’ eldest son.

“There was a communication barrier with Christopher, but I talked to him like I’d talk to anybody else,” Kirby said. “I didn’t flower it up any, I just talked to him the way I would anybody else and we communicated well... horses were our language.”

The other crucial component of Kirby’s instinctive decision to say yes that day traces back to his upbringing in the sport. Some may dare describe it as regal.

“[Graham Kirby] is such an incredible person. He’s devoted his entire life to standardbreds, yet he took the time to let a quarter horse – from people he didn’t know – go to his farm and he saved his life. It’s been over 30 years and still to this day, if somebody was in trouble, he would help their horse.”

“I started off with the Right Honorable Earl Rowe, former Lieutenant Governor of Ontario, when I was a little kid,” said Kirby, whose duties included hotwalker at the Rowe’s Newton Robinson, ON farm. “He and Bill Rowe, his son, did more for harness racing than anybody I know.

“I can remember going to Windsor [Raceway] with the governor when I was a little kid in the big black Cadillac with the flags flying on it and a crown on the license plate, too. It was a very nostalgic time for me at that age.”

Being taken under the wings of Rowe and his son, who together founded Barrie Raceway and Windsor Raceway, was a formative experience in Kirby’s racing and personal lives.

“The Rowes were great people for harness racing and the Honorable Earl – I don’t know of anybody that didn’t love the Honorable Earl Rowe,” Kirby said. “He was a class act, a class act.”

A self-described “wild child” in his younger years, Kirby remains eternally grateful for the guidance and values Earl Rowe imparted to him.

Paying it forward was the least he could do.

“He gave me that experience when I was a young kid, and with Christopher, I felt it was always a way of giving back to a great man that gave me a lot,” Kirby said. “That’s how it all started for me – somebody willing to give to me.”

For Susan, that level of unconditional kindness is something she’ll never forget.

“ [Spud] was a horse that obviously needed some caretaking, and I was willing to do that for them. It was no big deal.”

~ Graham Kirby

“Our kids went on to show at the CNE [Canadian National Exhibition] for two years with Spud,” she said. “They were able to go to different shows because of what Graham had done.

“He is such an incredible person. He’s devoted his entire life to standardbreds, yet he took the time to let a quarter horse – from people he didn’t know – go to his farm and he saved his life.

“It’s been over 30 years and still to this day, if somebody was in trouble, he would help their horse.”

What started as a moment of crisis later became the catalyst for a three-decade-long bond that remains unbreakable to this day.

“This story has grown into an absolutely phenomenal friendship between people where somebody just pulled up in a pickup truck and asks the other person to save a horse,” Susan said.

Today, the Mollicas continue to uplift the horses they cherish as the main foster home for the Ontario Standardbred Adoption Society.

It is on their Tottenham, ON farm that Kirby’s wife, Dr. Lia Jackson, volunteers her time as the vet for both the program’s and Susan’s horses – again, free of charge.

Kirby is still racing standardbreds. He, Dr. Jackson, and his stable of four are currently residing in Pinehurst, NC, where on May 1, they will begin the 15-hour drive home – stops already accounted for.

During the long hike, spent mostly on I-77 North, Kirby will have ample time to relive the day that still defines a lifelong connection.

“Words really can’t explain it for me, but it’s the camaraderie of horsemen, horsemanship, and racing,” Kirby said. “It’s just been a great experience for the last 30 years.”

JL Cruze hits bump in the road

The series for upper echelon trotters didn't fill this week.

MEADOWLANDS MATTERS

with DEBBIE LITTLE

by Debbie Little

On April 10, the first of two $30,000 legs of the JL Cruze was contested at The Meadowlands with a full field of 10 open-caliber trotters.

The idea for the short series named in honor of the fan favorite came from the East Rutherford mile oval's race secretary Karen Fagliarone.

"It's been tough for higher-end trotters to get raced on a consistent basis, so I thought it would help fill the void," Fagliarone said. "I named it JL Cruze as he was the first trotter to break the 1:50 mark at The Big M."

JL Cruze, a gelded son of Crazed out of the Conway Hall mare Topcat Hall, was trained for most of his career by Eric Ell, who said "it's absolutely awesome" to have a series named for his talented student.

"He was a very hard-hitting racehorse his whole life," Ell said. "It's good to have his name still out there for something."

"The biggest thing I liked about JL Cruze was his heart, and I swear, his is twice the size of any other horse because he raced

"The biggest thing I liked about JL Cruze was his heart, and I swear, his is twice the size of any other horse because he raced with injuries... you would never know he had a quarter crack, or a sore ankle, or whatever, when it came race time, he was game on."

with injuries... you would never know he had a quarter crack, or a sore ankle, or whatever, when it came race time, he was game on."

Owned by William Kenneth Wood, William Dittmar, Jr., and Stephen Iaquina, JL Cruze had a career year as a 4-year-old in 2015, banking $627,456 with 16 wins in 21 starts, including

“It is too expensive to train/own horses that stay at the farm. None of the horses I entered got in this week at The Meadowlands. They will now go elsewhere. I spoke to other trainers. They are also concerned and told me they would also go elsewhere.”

~ Nancy Takter

the Hambletonian Maturity and the final of the Graduate where he went 1:49.4, en route to the title of Dan Patch Older Male Trotter of the Year.

“No, I never thought he could go sub 1:50, that was just crazy, but that horse always amazed me,” Ell said.

The second leg of the JL Cruze was supposed to take place tonight (April 24), but according to Fagliarone, only four dropped in the box.

It's possible that the impressive 4¼-length victory in 1:51.1, last quarter in :26.4, by Antognoni S in his first start of the season off just one qualifier could have scared off a few competitors.

Using what happened this week as a guide, Fagliarone said rather than including the $40,000 JL Cruze final on next week's condition sheet, she's considering writing it as an overnight winners-over with preference to JL Cruze horses with the same purse. Although she'd love to get a field of at least seven, Fagliarone said she would settle for a competitive field of six.

Two of the horses that dropped in this week for the second leg were the Ron Burke-trained Antognoni S and Nancy Takter-conditioned Bestfriend Volo, who finished second in Leg 1 to Antognoni S.

Burke said he plans to drop Antognoni S in at The Meadowlands for next week's race and should they come up one horse shy of a field of six, he may have something else he could add in.

Takter has made it clear in the past that The Meadowlands has always been her first choice when it comes to where to race her horses, and that sentiment has certainly not changed. However, it's difficult when everyone is not of the same mindset.

When asked if she plans to drop Bestfriend Volo back in for next weekend at The Big M, she said, “Yes, I would love to, but it's not very encouraging when the race office tells you they reserve the right not to race the final, especially since Yonkers draws Friday for Thursday and Chester draws Monday for a similar class on Friday. My horse has sat out three weeks, so should I gamble that The Meadowlands decides to use the class or go elsewhere?”

“It is too expensive to train/own horses that stay at the farm. None of the horses I entered got in this week at The Meadowlands. They will now go elsewhere. I spoke to other trainers. They are also concerned and told me they would also go elsewhere.”

The luck of the draw, so to speak, is not on the side of The Meadowlands with theirs taking place after those of their neighboring tracks that offer equal or better purses and shorter fields. For example, three of the JL Cruze Leg 1 competitors raced last night (April 23) at Yonkers in a six-horse invitational that went for $39,000, while another raced at Plainridge in an eight-horse open for $25,000.

The Meadowlands is long known for its short series, especially during the winter and early spring. In 2015, JL Cruze competed in and won the finals of the Super Bowl in January, Charlie Singer Memorial in February, and Shiaway St Pat in March.

Although this attempt at bringing back a short series may not have played out as well as hoped for, it has been said in the past that it takes some time for something new to gain traction, even if it's something old that's being reintroduced. Here's hoping the JL Cruze returns for 2027.

JL Cruze, who last set foot on a racetrack as a 14-year-old in 2025, may not be done competing.

According to a post on Facebook on March 11, JL Cruze is being ridden under saddle, and is taking to it like the world champion and old pro that he is. His next chapter appears to be aimed for the National Standardbred Show in September. On Saturday (April 25), JL Cruze will be on hand to meet and greet his fans at Shenandoah Downs.

MANE ATTRACTION

with JOHN BERRY

The fight for national recognition

by John Berry

We would like to think that our grand sport is recognized nationally and internationally as a major sport.

After all, while most major sports are basking in “plus” signs in every category from attendance and revenue to relevance in the sporting world, we seem to be wallowing in “minus” signs in many areas, including wagering statistics, purses and racing days, and a declining number of horses competing, too, which has a negative effect on value for one of the most important pieces in our success – the bettor.

No, the figures aren’t earth shattering – a couple of percentage points here, a couple of percentage points there.

But year after year, those losses add up to, when a decade or two paces by, significant, eye-opening figures – until it’s too late to do anything about it.

How long has this been going on?

Five years? 10 years? Even 20 years?

The answer is 50 years – a half century – and hardly anything has been done to stop the bleeding.

No, it’s just a teeny minus every year but, since our heyday (and our horses’ hay-day), the loss of racing dates is staggering as attendance at our pari-mutuel tracks a half century ago was over 28 million.

Today, we’re lucky if it’s 28.

I am asked all the time, “Why do I care so much?”

I care because I love this sport, and have for 67 years.

We have become “older,” like our horses, and are, literally, seeing a dying breed and, when we have taken our last breath, who is going to care?

Who is going to take the bull by the horns and do something about this tragedy? As if anyone sees this as one.

We like to think of our sport as a major sport.

But here’s the difference. We may be a major sport for a few days and nights in a year – Hambletonian Day, Breeders Crown events, the North America Cup, the Little Brown Jug, and, yes, the Gold Cup and Saucer.

Overseas, the Prix d’Amérique and Elitloppet qualify.

Yes, there are regional events worth noting, but they hardly get a whisper outside of their home base.

Major sports (MLB, NBA, NHL, NFL) generally have 30 or 32 teams scattered throughout our land and all get national coverage in what’s left of newspapers, on television, on the World Wide Web, etc.

When we look at the standings in every sport, every team throughout North America is listed, not just the home team.

Even Major League Soccer has 30 teams and the WNBA is growing, as are several minor sports trying to become major ones.

College sports, like March Madness (stretching into April) and the Olympic Games and, several others, all get the headlines.

These major sports are covered in cities and towns all over the country with a population in the several millions to just a few hundred.

So, where do we go for our information?

Certainly not much in newspapers anymore, including the ones that covered harness racing years ago.

We’re minutely on television.

The internet does a great job in covering our sport – if one is interested.

Yes, we have the USTA website, and Standardbred Canada, and, of course, Harness Racing Update and DRF Harness and Harnesslink and HarnessWeb for those Down Under.

But we don’t seem to reach far beyond our own little sphere, and that is a problem.

Building takes time, rebuilding takes time, and, while it won’t be in my lifetime, if we start today, we can rebuild our sport into a truly, major one.

The first known gambling house, the Ridotto, also known as Palazzo Vendramin Catergi, was built in Venice, Italy in 1638 and, in the United States, the oldest significant one was the Crescent City House in New Orleans.

There were “crude” forms imaging a casino like the “honor box” in 1770.

Horse racing was forbidden back in that era as Rhode Island, home to the first American horse breed, the Narragansett Pacer, passed a law prohibiting horse racing, said to ensure that all horsepower was devoted to the revolutionary war effort.

Yes, there were lotteries back around 1800, as well, with the most famous lottery winner being Denmark Vesey, who won $1,500, and used the money to buy his was out of slavery into freedom.

The aforementioned Crescent City House was established in New Orleans in 1827 – a full-service casino open 24-hours-a-day and they introduced the first buffet supper, an idea eventually adopted by Las Vegas casino upon their arrival on the gaming scene.

Eight years later, the Louisiana legislature passed a law making the operation of gaming places a felony, leaving owner John Davis no choice but to close up shop and return to the theatre business.

The first casino in Washington, D.C. was opened in 1832 and was frequented by politicians.

Riverboat gambling became popular in the late 1850s and – speaking of prop bets – betting booths appeared at baseball parks.

Around 1855, Native Americans were playing a form of roulette in Las Vegas – in the sand using bones and colorful sticks but, a few years later, Nevada outlawed gambling, classifying it as a felony with jail time of up to two years and fines of $5,000.

In 1869, Nevada made gambling legal again.

Coin operated machines with winning symbols paid by a croupier, redeemable for merchandise, came into the gaming world in 1885.

Florida had its first casino built in 1894 as the Beach Club Casino opened and became the longest running illicit gambling operation in the country when it was closed 48 years later.

Then, in 1905, the pinnacle moment at the time, the first slot machine that had three reels was invented by Charles Fey, and it automatically paid the winners.

Shortly thereafter, new symbols were added but, in 1909, Nevada banned gambling – the law becoming effective in October of 1910, but, three years later, Nevada legalized open gambling – not commercial gambling, but, about 20 years later – 1931 – commercial gaming was legalized in that state with Harold's Club opening in Reno in the mid-1930s.

A couple of casinos sprouted up in Southern Nevada with the El Rancho and Last Frontier opening up with the passing of the gaming revenue tax in 1945.

In 1946, "Bugsy" Siegel opened the Flamingo and the Strip's first major lounge act opened.

Siegel was found to have "connections" and was shot shortly after the Flamingo opened.

Congressional Acts were eventually passed and the Nevada Gaming Control Board was formed as the industry grew.

Howard Hughes then acquired many casinos and hotels and junkets were organized.

In 1964, New Hampshire was the first state to re-introduce the state lottery.

The Corporate Gaming Act was passed in 1967 allowing public corporations to own casinos.

In the early 1970s, New York State legalized off-track betting.

New Jersey then came into the picture in 1976.

In 1979, electronic slot machines changed the face of the entire industry. More state lotteries sprouted up and, keeping up with the ties, the three classes of gaming were defined and regulated – Class I, Class II and Class III, which included pari-mutuel events, lotteries, banking card games and slot machines.

Eventually came Foxwoods and, now, the total number of casinos in the U.S. are said to be well over 2,000.

This is shown to emphasize that our sport has missed the greatest explosion of gaming in history.

Why is all this pointed out now? The answer is that all of this has been going on for, literally, more than a couple of centuries, and has laid the foundation for us to take advantage of this foundation to re-build our sport.

Harness racing can band together and form a coalition and open simulcasting venues – thousands of them, just like lottery outlets – in every state with all the hoopla of video technology and dining venues showcasing our sport.

We can introduce our sport offering pari-mutuel betting or fixed odds or prop bets in states like Nevada (that has 232 casinos) all the way to and through Alaska and Rhode Island (with two casinos each), with sprouts in Oklahoma (143 casinos), California (86) casinos, Minnesota (38), Colorado (35), and everywhere with simulcasting venues in thousands of locales.

Maybe offer franchises in cities and towns no matter the size.

Telluride, CO, Asheville, NC, Carmel-by-the-Sea, CA, Santa Fe, NM, Littleton, NH, Marfa, TX, Hermann, MO, are examples of small, vibrant towns that would add a bit of excitement to their already vibrant existence.

On top of that, with the combined betting and revenue from these nationwide venues, harness racing, too, could create events like my "Mega 8" – picking seven winners with a trifecta in the finale – which could offer bettors prizes possibly equal or larger than our biggest lottery prizes.

Do you think that a $10 million carryover could vault our sport into the category of a major sport? How about $250 million? How about a billion?

Think it can't be done?

Think again. It's happening all around us as we sit around twiddling our thumbs while other sports are creating and implementing ideas for the future, leaving harness racing on their charts "DIS."

The foundation has already been built – a foundation 200-plus years strong.

We just have to find those with the brain power and will power to start building on that foundation and start striding forward.

May The Horse Be With You!

Jenny Petrelli is undoubtedly a horsewoman with a plan.

There is no trace of conceit or entitlement in her tone. Instead, there is a sense of purposefulness and belief in what she is chasing.

“I want to have a 20-horse stable by the end of this year, racing in New York,” Petrelli said. “That is my ultimate goal.”

Ambitious, certainly, but by no means an unattainable objective for the California-born horsewoman.

While the past few years have been somewhat tumultuous at times, a longstanding passion for racing and for its equine athletes has guided her through those ups and downs.

“I love everything about this sport,” she said. “It hasn’t always been easy, but you just keep your head up and push forward.”

The harness racing world has been a staple in Petrelli’s world for as long as she can remember.

Her parents have been associated with the sport for decades. Her brother Christopher has carved out his own successful career in the training ranks.

“I dropped out of school at a young age and had a barn of my own at Cal-Expo when I was 15,” she said. “I remember on a qualifying day there that the track made a qualifying day just around my dad’s horses. I think we still hold the record for most horses, around 45 to 50, qualified in a day at Cal-Expo.”

Jenny’s familiarity with racetracks extended well beyond the now-defunct Sacramento oval.

Family travel, centered around racing, has taken her to numerous states and venues over the years.

“I have seen a lot of racetracks - it’s wild,” she said. “Growing up, my favorite has to be Cal-Expo.”

Steve Wiseman is a big reason why.

The longtime horseman, who passed away in 2021, played a pivotal role in Jenny’s life, personally and professionally.

“He might not be family by blood, but Steve was someone who inspired me in so many ways,” she said. “The moment I wanted to be in this business – it is the craziest memory ever – was watching Steve train and it hit me that this is my dream, this is what I want to do. I couldn’t see myself doing anything else but being in racing.”

And then there are the pacers and trotters.

“It is not about the money,” Jenny said. “It is the horse, for me. These animals are such great athletes and have such wonderful character. They make me want to do this more and they make

“ It is not about the money. It is the horse, for me. These animals are such great athletes and have such wonderful character. They make me want to do this more and they make me want to get out of bed in the morning. Even if I am dog tired, these horses make me smile the moment I wake up. ” me want to get out of bed in the morning. Even if I am dog tired, these horses make me smile the moment I wake up.”

Secret Renegade had her beaming seven years ago.

Jenny, who had launched her training career in March of 2018, sent out the bay son of Pacific Renegade in the 10th race at Scarborough Downs on April 15 of that year.

The odds – Secret Renegade was the longest on the tote board at 38-1 – didn’t suggest she would land her milestone first win in the $3,000 pace that attracted eight horses.

With Matthew Ahearn at the controls, the bay gelding, also owned by Jenny, got away smartly and took the lead by a little over a length through an opening panel in :29. Secret Renegade maintained that advantage after a half in 1:00.1.

She began to pace herself as the lead shrunk to a nose after three-quarters in 1:30.2.

At the wire, he was four lengths clear of his closest rival, stopping the teletimer in 2:01.2.

“It was exhilarating,” Jenny said. “He was the first horse I trained on my own. It was an amazing feeling.”

Just as it was when Secret Renegade pulled off a 142-1 upset at Scarborough, again with Ahearn in the race bike, three months later.

“It wasn’t close,” she said. “He came from the back and swooped them.”

A son of Somebeachsomewhere sits in the top spot on Jenny’s all-time favorites list.

The bay gelding, with a few white hairs on his forehead, would race 128 times for numerous connections, his final start coming in July of 2018.

“Eric Davis, who I was dating at the time, and I bought this horse out of Ohio, and he came to me and you could just tell his heart was bigger than his body,” Jenny said. “He would pace his heart out every time. He ended up being in an accident at Plainridge. He got back up, didn’t know anything was wrong with him, and he ended up tearing his deep flexor tendon. And he still wanted to race. He still finished the mile. He has this grip on me. He is my all-time heart horse.”

The eight years since haven’t always been easy for Jenny.

Yet, despite the hurdles, setbacks and at times more question marks than answers, she remains undaunted in her pursuit of personal success.

“I love the people that I am around in this sport,” she said. “I went through some tough times about six months ago. I work for Tyler and Brendan Davis, who I call my cousins, even though they aren’t. They are great people and they have done a lot for me. Tyler has about a dozen horses, so I help him with his stable.

“The toughest part is having to start my training career all over again. I had one horse, who was just claimed, so it really is about having to start from scratch.”

When she isn’t formulating a game plan to achieve her harness racing goals, Jenny is seeking net gains, albeit in a much different setting.

“I love to fish and I also love crabbing,” she said.

And yes, she does have some fishing tales to tell.

One of them, not surprisingly, has ties to the horse racing world.

“[Driver and trainer] Bryson Dunning and I were taking part in a bass pro fishing competition and we both caught one at the same time at the pond we were at,” she said.

Jenny is hoping to reel in similar success on the racetrack.

“I love this sport and I love horses,” she said. “My whole world has always revolved around them.”

She will have no shortage of support in her quest to operate her dream 20-horse stable.

“I have a lot of people cheering for me,” Jenny said. “I am going to push myself every day to go after my goals and continue doing what I love.”

Seinäjoki Race opens Finnish elite season

by Thomas Hedlund

On Saturday (April 25), Finland kicks off the major stakes season for the older elite with the $120,000 Seinäjoki Race at Seinäjoki Racetrack.

The past two editions of the race have been won by Borups Victory (Googoo Gaagaa) and Daniel Wäjersten. This year, however, the star faces a tougher task, drawing a second-row post for his seasonal debut.

The race is contested over 2,100 meters, and despite the tricky starting position, Borups Victory is still expected to go off as the favorite.

DON FANUCCI ZET TOYS WITH FIELD IN NUNCIO'S RACE

"Nothing too serious today," said Örjan Kihlström after Daniel Redén's Don Fanucci Zet (Hard Livin) more or less toyed with the field in the $20,000 Nuncio's Race, the third leg of the E-series on the road to Elitloppet. The winning time was a sharp 1:54.3 mile rate over 2,140 meters, and while it may not have been a hard test, the final quarter in :27 suggests that the 10-year-old is more than ready for what could be his sixth consecutive Elitloppet appearance.

Kihlström sent his horse to the lead early, and as the five rivals lined up along the rail, Robin Bakker eventually made a move first-over with Hades de Vandel, leaving second favorite Gio Cash with a covered trip in the second-over position.

In the end, none of it mattered. Don Fanucci Zet dictated the pace and drew away effortlessly, securing his second straight win in the E-series, where the top two point earners qualify for Elitloppet 2026.

The opening leg was won by Diva Ek and Alessandro Gocciadoro, who currently sit second in the standings.

E-SERIES STANDINGS AFTER THREE LEGS

Don Fanucci Zet – 30 points

Calgary's first foal is a Cannibal-sired colt from the family of Sweet Paprika

by Caroline Vazquez

This Cannibal colt, which arrived on March 3 at Diamond Creek Farm, is the first foal out of Calgary, a winner of $150,000. Calgary, a Downbytheseaside mare, is out of Sweetest Emotion. That makes Calgary a full-sister to $232,500 winner Gala and a half-sister to $143,410 winner Federer (Captaintreacheraus). Sweetest Emotion is out of Sweet Paprika, the mare that also produced Captain Crunch ($1,561,940) among many others.

Kazio Dk wouldn't be denied in John Brennan Series final

by Yonkers Raceway media

Kazio Dk scored a hard-fought 1:55.2 win in the $100,000 John Brennan Trotting Series final on Wednesday (April 22) at MGM Yonkers Raceway.

Driven by Yannick Gingras, Kazio Dk worked two-wide to get the lead away from Always A Story (Tyler Buter) past the :28.3 quarter and then backed down the half to :58.1. Always A Story would then vacate the pylons exiting the third turn and got side-by-side with Kazio Dk at the 1:27 three-quarters.

The battle between Always A Story and Kazio Dk continued around the last turn, and it appeared that Always A Story had a narrow advantage on the outside as they turned into the stretch. However, Kazio Dk came back on the inside in the stretch and was able to defeat the game Always A Story by a nose. Top Gun Hanover (Jason Bartlett) was third after he was unable to keep up with Always A Story's cover from second-over.

Gingras also co-owns the Ron Burke-trained Kazio Dk, a 5-year-old gelding by Muscle Massive—Sasha, with partners Burke Racing Stable LLC., Weaver Brusceci LLC., and Fac Racing LLC. Kazio Dk has a summary of 9-11-4 from 37 appearances, has banked $172,099 and returned $2.78 to win as the 1-5 choice. He was atop a $6.76 exacta and a $25.50 trifecta.

Commodus A, a 5-year-old gelded son of Father Patrick out of American Jewel, rallied from second-over in the lane and got up to capture the $50,000 consolation race by a half-length in 1:56. Bartlett drove Commodus A, a Group 1 winner in Australia, for trainer Per Engblom and owner Peaceful Acre Farm.

The John Brennan Trotting Series is named in honor of the longtime Standardbred Owners Association of New York horsemen's representative who passed away from complications of COVID-19 in March 2020.

In other upcoming stakes action at Yonkers, the final prelims in both the MGM Ursula McIntyre Pacing Series and the MGM Borgata Pacing Series are set, with three $50,000 divisions of the McIntyre tonight (April 24) and the Borgata on Monday (April 27).

Mike Lizzi

Kazio Dk (4, Yannick Gingras) winning the John Brennan Memorial final on Wednesday at Yonkers.

This is the final week that Yonkers is on the Monday through Friday live racing schedule for a bit as the oval will switch to Monday/Tuesday and Thursday through Saturday slate beginning next week and continuing through the first week in June. Post time will be 6:45 p.m. (EDT) except Saturday, as those programs will kick off at 3:30 p.m. (EDT).

FOUR ROUNDS OF THE 2026 MGM BORGATA PACING SERIES NOW COMPLETED

In Monday (April 20) night's trio of $50,000 divisions of the fourth leg of the MGM Borgata Pacing Series at MGM Yonkers Raceway, Captain Albano and Mossdale Ben N scored for the second time in the event, while Howlenth hills got his initial victory.

Captain Albano (Todd McCarthy) waited in the pocket behind Sweet Beach Life (Matt Kakaley) through fractions of :27.4, :57.2 and 1:25, and when McCarthy sent Captain Albano to the outside in the lane, he was able to out-finish the pace-setter to prevail by a neck in 1:52. Soho Firestone A (Scott Zeron) finished in the third spot.

A two-time Dan Patch Award recipient, the Noel Daley-trained Captain Albano is a 5-year-old Captaintreacherous stallion owned by Patricia Stables LLC., L.A. Express Stable LLC., Sjoblom Racing Inc., and Michael Dolan. Captain Albano is a 28-time victor from 49 outings, has pocketed $2,228,323, and paid $2.72 to win as the 1-5 choice. He was atop a $9 exacta and a $23.58 trifecta.

Mossdale Ben N (Jim Marohn, Jr.) backed up his triumph last Monday with another one tonight, tallying in the first section in 1:52.1. He got to the lead around Donegal Luther N (Yannick Gingras) before the :27.2 quarter and continued to show the way through a :56.4 half and a 1:24.2 three-quarters as Catalpa Rescue A (Zeron) pestered him from first-up and Coaches Corner (Jason Bartlett) worked out a second-over journey.

Coaches Corner was sent three-wide by Bartlett on the final bend and gained on Mossdale Ben N to the wire, but not enough, as Mossdale Ben N hit the wire a neck in front. Donegal Luther N wound up third.

An 8-year-old gelding by A Rocknroll Dance, Mossdale Ben N is trained by Peter Tritton for owner PJT Investments LLC. Mossdale Ben N has 21 wins, 14 seconds, and seven thirds from 73 starts, has earned $701,359, and returned $4.64 to win as the favorite. He led a $12.94 exacta and a $39.30 trifecta.

Howlenth hills (Kakaley) won an early skirmish for command and went on to a 1:52.3 victory in the second flight. Aroda N (Lauren Tritton), Aye Aye Captain N (Brent Holland) and Howlenth hills all showed early speed, but it was Howlenth hills who touched down on the point prior to the :27.3 quarter as Aye Aye Captain N found the pocket and Aroda N landed in the 3-hole.

Middle-half panels of :56.4 and 1:24.1 followed for Howlenth hills, and his :28.2 final kicker got him to the wire a length-and-a-quarter ahead of Twisted Destiny (Dexter Dunn), who went first-up from fourth before three-quarters and then flushed out eventual third-place finisher Aye Aye Captain N from the 2-hole on the final bend.

Travis Alexander sent out Howlenth hills, a 5-year-old gelded son of American Ideal, for owners M Spacc Stables, Fiddler's Creek Stables LLC., Alexander Racing Stable LLC., and First Sight Stable. Howlenth hills made his 17th trip to the winner's circle, has now put away $823,308 and paid $18.06 to win as an 8-1 offering. He keyed a $69.12 exacta and a $275.92 trifecta.

Trotting filly Concise three-for-three in Weiss prelims

by PHHA / Pocono

Just as in the Bobby Weiss Series preliminaries for males, where only one trotter (Confident Volo) could be victorious in all three prelims, so the case proved to be in Tuesday's (April 21) third round $17,500 events of both Weiss series for females, as the trotting filly Concise swept all three prelim starts with a 1:55.3 time Tuesday at Pocono Downs at Mohegan Pennsylvania.

Tim Tetrick got the daughter of Gimpanzee to the lead just past the quarter, backed off the middle half, then dashed home 1¼ lengths better than pocket-sitting Nightcap Mearas S while equaling the mark she set in the middle prelim. Nik Drennan trains the winner of four of five lifetime for his Drennan Stables LLC, Joseph Davino, and Brad Shackman.

The other two trots were won by the second and third choice in their races, even though neither paid over $5.60. The Captain Corey miss I Take The Cake was the fastest Weiss trotter Tuesday, brushing from fifth to the lead in a :27.1 second quarter, then defeating Chestnut Kelly (both horses were 3-2, with Chestnut Kelly having $30 more on her to win) by three-quarters-of-a-length while breaking her maiden in 1:54.4. George Napolitano, Jr. gave his charge an aggressive drive and made it pay off for trainer Blake MacIntosh and Hutt Racing Stable.

The other diamondgaited dash went to the Chapter Seven filly Aviatrix Hanover, who overcame post 8 and survived an inquiry to win for the second straight time in the Weiss. Aviatrix Hanover, the 9-5 third choice, recorded a 1:56 clocking while winning for driver Jason Bartlett, trainer Jared Bako, and Blue Chip Bloodstock Inc. There was a rare double inquiry on the first two horses under the wire, with Aviatrix Hanover not faulted but Cynic dropped from second to third for a breaking violation, with co-8-5 shot and favorite Kickan upped to the deuce.

There were two divisions of the pace, with the Bettor's Wish miss Miss Jum Jabber, who skipped the second prelim, posting bookending wins, here in 1:52 - :54.2 - :27 while going two-moves uncovered. Andrew McCarthy was in the sulky behind the heavy favorite for trainer Brett Pelling and his Pelling Racing LLC.

The Sweet Lou filly Sicerto progressed in the Weiss from a sixth to a third to a win in the other sidewheeling event, coming from fifth at the stretch call to catch chalk Vanna By The River by a neck while lowering her record to 1:52.1. Tim Tetrick secured this pacing win to match his Weiss trotting score, and the 6-1 shot has now won half of her six lifetime starts for trainer Michael Hall and the partnership of CTC Stable, KDP Stable LLC, and Manklin Creek LLC.

George Napolitano, Jr. won three of the last four races to end the day with four wins and sulky honors. The other Weiss winning drivers had doubles: Bartlett, McCarthy, and Tetrick (his two wins in the Weiss). Driver Braxten Boyd also had a two-bagger, as did trainer Pelling.

The Weiss preliminaries are now finished; the 3-year-olds will have $50,000 championships, plus whatever $20,000 consolations will fill, on the following schedule: pacing colts on the track's next card, Saturday (April 25); trotting colts the following Monday, and fillies on both gaits the day after that.

Saturday's card also features a $20,000 Weiss consolation, a $27,500 fast-class pace, and a carryover into the last race High 5 wager. Post time for next week's cards is 1 p.m. every day. Free Pocono pages are or will be available at www.phha.org.

Confident Volo (Tyler Buter) winning his Weiss Series 3rd prelim on Monday at Pocono Downs at Mohegan Pennsylvania.

CONFIDENT VOLO ONLY MALE 'SWEEPER' IN WEISS PRELIMS

Confident Volo will be the only male Weiss Series performer to enter his championship race next week after going unbeaten in all three preliminaries, a feat he completed in his $17,500 division of the third Weiss prelim for trotting males at Pocono Downs at Mohegan Pennsylvania Monday afternoon (April 20).

On a windy and brisk day where the temperature barely cracked 40, the Bar Hopping gelding Confident Volo moved to the lead in front of the stands and held the front position to the wire. His backers may have had their confidence shaken a little as Bee Positive (Walner—Be A Magician) closed well, but the three-time Weiss winner went on to win by a neck in 1:56.3 for driver Tyler Buter, Pocono's top pilot, trainer Todd Buter, and Oldfield Racing LLC as he remained unbeaten in four seasonal starts.

The other two Weiss winners in this group notched their second series success. The International Moni gelding Dilly Hanover, who started his career with two wins before finishing a moderate third last week, rebounded to take the fastest section of the series and a new mark with a time of 1:55.3. Braxten Boyd also guided his trotter to the lead in the second quarter then came home in :57.1 to win by a length over stalker Captain Micah for trainer Emily Bost, also co-owner with R K 4 Racing and Bruce James Potter.

The win of the Captain Corey gelding Captain Vodka was part of a successful day for all three Weiss favorites. His 1:56.1 win saw every pole a winning one for Captain Vodka as he absolutely dominated his field, winning by 3½ lengths for his second straight success and fourth win in five 2026 outings for trainer Robert Baggitt, Jr., co-owner with J L Sadowsky LLC and Christine Baggitt.

Captain Vodka was driven by Ridge Warren, who had six visits to the winner's circle on Monday to tie the Pocono seasonal high previously established by Brett Beckwith and Tyler Buter. The 37-year-old boosted himself into the top five of the Pocono driver standings with the outstanding day. Jason Bartlett had three victories and Tyler Buter two; the only two-time training winner was Kevin Reynolds, Jr., both of his horses driven by Warren.

WEISS "GLAMOUR DIVISION" LOOKS UP FOR GRABS AFTER FINAL PRELIM

Saturday (April 25) Pocono Downs at Mohegan Pennsylvania hosts the $50,000 championship of the Bobby Weiss Series for 3-year-old pacing males, and after this Saturday's final preliminary round, conducted in three $17,500 divisions, you'd be hard-pressed not to give a decent chance to several different horses.

Ooglesaurus had won his two Weiss starts, but he did not enter the series this week. The other prelim doubler, Twin B Thriller, can't be downgraded after finishing fourth on Saturday (April 18), either, as he set fractions of :27.2, :57.4, and 1:25.1, but as showdown time neared, he suffered broken equipment, eventually going off-stride; his earlier 1:49.4 may make bettors give him the benefit of the doubt.

The winner of that Weiss section, the Perfect Sting gelding Stingman, righted his own ship after a hard-luck fourth and a second locally following four straight wins at The Meadows to start his campaign. Dave Palone, the winningest driver in harness history, raced Stingman in the 2-hole, and when his chief nemesis suffered his bad luck, the sophomore mustered :54.2 - :27 back numbers to defeat first-up Hunthehuntr De Vie by a half-length for Tee Wine, taking oversight of the horse this week, and the partnership of Jack Piatt III, Scott Croftcheck, Joseph Seman, and Gregory Usner.

No winner Saturday could raise his Weiss win total to two – except for Pocono's top driver Tyler Buter on the day, as he captured the other pair of prelims. Justinian made an early move to the top in a division with splits of :27, :56.2, and 1:23.2, then drew off by ¾ lengths in a lifetime best 1:51.3 after two series seconds. The successful altered son of Papi Rob Hanover is trained by Nick Devita for Pit Bull Stable LLC, John Cummins, Christopher Giaccio, and Mitchell Cohen.

Buter also paraded back the Huntsville gelding Twin B Manhunt, who stayed inside through splits of :27.4, :57.1, and 1:24.3, continuing up the Pocono Pike to break his maiden in 1:53. Coming off a fifth and a second in the Weiss, Twin B Manhunt got himself a badly-needed victory eyeing next week's action for trainer Nifty Norman and Dune Road Stable LLC.

Buter had a natural grand slam in races 3 through 6, including the two Weiss heats, to lead sulkysitters on the day and raise his meet lead; Matt Kakaley had three visits to Victory Lane, while doubles went to George Napolitano, Jr., and Palone. The 2026 leader on the training side, Per Engblom, sent out three winners, while Ron Burke had a winning duo.

Dave Briggs to USHWA Hall of Fame screening committee

HRU editor Dave Briggs, a member of the harness racing Communicators Hall of Fame as selected by the U.S. Harness Writers Association (USHWA) and also voted into the Canadian Horse Racing Hall of Fame, has been appointed to a four-year term on USHWA's screening committee, which selects North American luminaries of the sport to be considered for enshrinement in the Goshen, NY, Hall of Fame.

Briggs, 56, a resident of Port Stanley, ON, brings more than 30 years of reporting on the standardbred sport to the committee, earning a well-deserved reputation for credibility, high standards, dedication, and fairness in his coverage of the sport.

Briggs, a graduate of Windsor University (B.A.) and Western University (M.A.), is the editor of the Harness Racing Update, which provides online in-depth coverage of the standardbred sport on a basic twice-a-week schedule. Prior to joining HRU, Briggs, a graduate of Windsor University (B.A.) and Western University (M.A.), spent almost two decades at The Canadian Sportsman magazine as the editor of the respected journal. Briggs has written for many of harness racing's leading publications, and has knowledgeably contributed to a number of thoroughbred media outlets.

Briggs is the all-time leader in communications awards given annually by USHWA, with all twelve of his honors in the John Hervey Award writing categories – four for news/commentary and eight for features. Among his nearly 30 awards for writing about horse racing are four Standardbred Canada O'Brien Media Excellence Awards.

"I'm thrilled about appointing Dave Briggs to USHWA's screening committee," said Heather Vitale, president of USHWA. "He knows the sport inside and out, cares about its history, and brings a thoughtful and honest perspective to the table – exactly what you want when it comes to honoring the best in harness racing."

Chapters of USHWA nominate candidates for the Hall of Fame each spring, and these nominees are reviewed on the first Sunday in July during meetings at the Goshen Hall, when Briggs will be seated. One nominee in the Veteran category is named to the Hall directly from these meetings; active participants in the sport are evaluated and then a select group is named by the committee to appear on a summer ballot, where they require 75 per cent of the yes-no vote from electors to become the newest class of the Hall. The term of screening committee members was changed from six to four years at February's annual USHWA meetings, to constantly bring fresh perspectives to the committee.

The United States Harness Writers Association is the leading group of communicators about the standardbred horse. USHWA conducts the official annual balloting for the sport's most prestigious honors: induction to the Hall of Fame and Communicators Hall of Fame, along with the selection of the Horse of the Year, Trotter and Pacer of the Year, and the leading divisional horses of each season. Each year USHWA hosts the Dan Patch Awards banquet, honoring the best and brightest performers in North American harness racing. This banquet is the Association's principal source of funding, and with support from the harness racing and breeding industries, USHWA is able to host the banquet at a world-class facility in a world-class manner.

'Frantic,' 'Lex' prepping well for 2026 at Philly

The two horses who last year swept their four Pennsylvania Sire Stakes preliminaries and then were triumphant in their championships, pacing colt Frantic Hanover and trotting filly Ginger Tree Lex, both added a second qualifying win to their preparation for their coming sophomore campaign at Harrah's Philadelphia on Tuesday (April 21).

Frantic Hanover, who went the fastest mile ever by a 2-year-old on a five-eighths-mile track, 1:49.1, in winning his PASS championship, won Tuesday in 1:54.1 on the engine, snapping off back numbers of :56.1 - :28 – and needing them to withstand a :27 last quarter from Caviart Anders by a neck. Tim Tetric was in the sulky behind the Stay Hungry colt Frantic Hanover, trained by Ron Burke for Burke Racing Stable LLC and Weaver Brusceci LLC, Brad Grant, and Knox Services Inc.

Fellow Burke Brigade member Al Papi, second to "Frantic" in the Pennsylvania finale and a winner in his first 2026 qualifier, cut the pace but was beaten by three-quarters-of-a-length in another event, which was won in the fastest time of the day, 1:53.1, by pocket-sitting Gentleman's Club. The Downbytheseaside—See You At Peelters colt, winner of the Governor's Cup in November, was ready for his first trip behind the gate this season, motoring home in :54.3 - :27 for driver Andrew McCarthy and trainer Aaron Lambert.

The Bar Hopping filly Ginger Tree Lex continued her winning Pennsylvania ways with a victory in 1:57.2, coming her own back half in :55.4 via the uncovered route. Driven by Andrew McCarthy for trainer Steve Cook and the ownership of Sam Beegle, Ginger Tree Ventures LLC, Knollview Stable 2, and Bob Reber Jr., Ginger Tree Lex is reportedly looking at the new $300,000 Oak Grove Trotting Oaks, to be held Saturday (May 16) at the Kentucky oval.

Two trotters went in 1:56.4 for the day's speed honors on that gait: the Greenshoe 3-year-old gelding Highland Destiny, a pocket rocket while closing in :57.1 - :28.2 for driver Scott Zeron and trainer Nancy Takter, and the 4-year-old Walner mare Walspea, making every pole a winning one and showing a :55.3 - :27.2 kick on the end for driver/trainer Trond Smedshammer.

The 3-year-old pacing fillies were topped speed-wise by the Perfect Sting miss Interstellar, who was very good on the engine to win in 1:55.1 - :56.2 - :27.4 for driver Scott Zeron and trainer Tony Alagna.

Zeron had four victories during the 13-race morning session, one more than McCarthy; trainer with doubles were Alagna, Chris Ryder, and Takter.

'Oakwood' topples foes at Big M

Oakwood Ardan IR was in the right spot to provide a dominant performance Saturday night (April 18) at The Meadowlands in the featured $22,500 high-end conditioned pace, and the 2025 William Haughton winner (in a lifetime-best 1:47.3) delivered in a big way in his second start of the year, crushing seven overmatched opponents in 1:50.4.

"He's not really a front-ender, but the fractions were really fair and he sprinted home hard," said winning driver Tim Tetrick. "He's a real nice horse to drive."

Sent to the gate as the 1-5 favorite, Oakwood Ardan IR, fifth in his seasonal debut a week ago, used some early energy to protect rail position as Wish You Well and Dont Drop The Ball left the gate with intentions of making the lead. Wish You Well hit the quarter in :27.4 as Don't Drop The Ball opted for the pocket.

Tetrick didn't wait too long with the chalk, moving Oakwood Ardan IR from the 3-hole quickly to the top at the three-eighths before reaching the half on top in :56.2, which would leave plenty in the tank for the Robert Cleary trainee, who is a 7-year-old gelded son of Sweet Lou—Trend Setter.

Renaissance Deo was now moving fast and furious on the rim and was within a length of the leader at three-quarters, which went in 1:25.1, but it became clear through the stretch that Oakwood Ardan IR was toying with the field, sprinting home in :25.3 to record a 1¾-length win over Wish You Well with Dont Drop The Ball third.

"I've watched him and competed against him a lot and everybody that's sat behind him has always talked well about him," said Tetrick, who teamed up for the first time with the now-lifetime earner of just a hair less than $400,000. "He held up to the hype."

Is this a horse who can go with the killers of the older male pacing division?

"He's always been quick enough," said Tetrick. "He's not really a quick speed horse up close. He closes well and everybody sees these days in racing, if you are not up close, you don't do very well. He's great and deserves a chance to be in with the top colts. He's a privilege to drive. Hopefully, we can have some fun together [on the Grand Circuit]."

Oakwood Ardan IR returned $2.60 to win after registering his 23rd victory in 63 lifetime starts. He is owned by Royal Wire Products Inc.

PK-8 SPLIT THREE WAYS: A carryover of $56,244 coaxed punters to pour $9,428 of new money into the $1 PK-8 pool, and after a sequence that saw winner's odds of 9-5, 4-5, 5-2, 8-5, 6-5, 9-5, 3-5, and 1-5, three winning tickets were exchanged for $21,417.50.

A LITTLE MORE: Jason Bartlett, the 2025 Dan Patch Driver of the Year, led the driver colony with four winners... Ron Burke led the trainers with a pair of jaunts down victory lane... Bookie J, the 2025 Kindergarten champion, started his 2026 with an impressive 1:51.2 score for trainer Chris Ryder and driver Dexter Dunn. The 3-year-old gelded son of Perfect Sting—Skyy returned $3.40 as the 3-5 public choice... All-source betting on the 14-race program totaled $2,830,757.
