Harness racing summarily ended in California

After over five decades, racing will end today at Cal Expo.

by Nicole Kraft

The last remaining light of harness racing on the West Coast will soon go dark, as racing at Cal Expo — the only operating harness track in California — will be summarily ended after more than 50 years.

The California Exposition and State Fair Board voted Friday (March 25) to terminate its lease agreement with Cal Expo operator Watch and Wager LLC. The termination takes effect May 2, the final scheduled race date of the current season.

In a press release, Cal Expo cited rising costs and a “changing landscape” as reasons for its decision.

“Harness racing has been a cherished part of our history, and we are grateful to the passionate community that has supported it over the years,” Tom Martinez, chief executive officer of Cal Expo, stated in the release. “However, it is our responsibility to ensure Cal Expo remains viable and can continue serving the people of California.”

USTA director Chris Schick, who has worked tirelessly for years to keep California racing alive, said he was surprised not by the announcement itself, but by the speed at which the decision was made.

“I thought we had another year,” Schick said. “Instead, we were given notice that there were three days of racing left. After 54 years, we got kicked to the curb for some unknown reason.”

Cal Expo harness racing began in 1971 and is likely the longest-running sport in Sacramento history. Its heyday came in the mid-1970s when Lloyd Arnold took over operations, later expanding to run racing meets at both Cal Expo and Los Alamitos.

By 1977, Cal Expo – then known as Golden Bear Raceway – was home to the fastest race mile in history when Arnold’s Warm Breeze traversed the track in 1:53.1. It later drew packed crowds and showcased major performers such as 1983 Hambletonian heat winner Joie De Vie and world champion Falcon Seelster, as well as prominent horsemen like Joe O’Brien, Jerry Silverman, and Ross Croghan.

Harness racing in California suffered after the closure of Hollywood Park in the 1980s and later lost stalwarts like Bay Meadows and Los Alamitos. Attempts to sustain meets at Del Mar and the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds at Pomona faltered, and the state’s horse population and breeding industry diminished throughout the 21st century.

By 2012, when Cal Expo entered into an agreement with Watch and Wager LLC to operate the fall and winter harness meets, it was the only harness track to operate in the state. The agreement was extended several times, most recently running through 2030.

At its peak, Cal Expo hosted racing dates from May through August, but the 2025 season shrank to just 39 dates. According to Schick, Watch and Wager paid $2,500 per night in rent, plus reimbursables including security, maintenance, electricity, trash removal, and satellite wagering operations, totaling approximately $30,000 per month.

Schick said the facility never lost money, since it was paid for its services and would have been dark and dormant without harness racing.

The exposition, however, maintained a contractual out clause.

Schick explained that the lease allowed Cal Expo to terminate racing operations with six months’ notice if it opted to leave the racing business.

Warning signs grew earlier this year. In March, Cal Expo announced the suspension of its annual summer thoroughbred meet – a California State Fair staple for more than a century – due to the collapse of the horse population after the 2024 closure of San Francisco’s Golden Gate Fields.

Harness participants flooded a March board hearing, emphasizing the devastating economic and human impact of closure — from horsemen and hay suppliers to maintenance crews and the broader Sacramento economy. No action was taken after that meeting.

Schick said he had no warning that Friday's meeting would bring the final decision, until an executive session scheduled for 90 minutes stretched to over two hours.

“I knew there was something serious going on,” he said.

For Schick, the greatest concern is the fate of the people who have called Sacramento home, including those living at the Cal Expo trailer park and local property owners. Many horsemen spend summers racing at Running Aces in Minnesota, and California had developed a reciprocal breeding and sires stakes arrangement with the state to support both jurisdictions.

Among those now displaced is Luke Plano, who started racing in 1999 but grew up in the Golden State harness scene alongside his father, Rick Plano, one of California's all-time leading horsemen.

“It's a hard pill to swallow,” said Plano, who currently has 10 racehorses and two yearlings to break. “This is home for me. I've been here every winter since I was old enough to race horses.”

He, too, worries about the future of the California racing community, including long-time trainers Bob Johnson, Jim Wilkinson, and Chip Lackey.

“Those guys still have homes here,” Plano said. “What are they supposed to do? It's a lot to go somewhere totally new and start over.”

The Cal Expo barn area is scheduled to close May 10. Under the lease agreement's six-month notice provision, Watch and Wager will technically retain possession of the facilities until November — even though horsemen will need to vacate much sooner.

“That is how California harness racing will probably end — forever,” Schick said.

MEADOWLANDS MATTERS

with DEBBIE LITTLE

Getting a handle on lower betting numbers at The Big M

Is the reduction in drag the reason for the decline? It's probably not helping, but it's more complicated than that.

by Debbie Little

Anyone who regularly follows The Meadowlands knows that their handle has been lower than usual for the last three weeks of April.

In preparation for tonight's (May 2) planned suspension of the post-time drag, The Big M started decreasing their normal eight-minute drag by one minute each race night since April 11.

When asked if he felt the drag reduction was solely to blame, Meadowlands chief operating officer/general manager Jason Settlemoir said, "Export handle had been down going into 'eliminating the drag' but obviously, yes, this has caused handle to drop further."

It would be easy to blame the drag reduction, if indeed The Meadowlands was the only track experiencing recent handle decline, but they're not. Wagering on Canadian racing in 2025 is down about 20 per cent year-over-year. It's not even just our sport, as total thoroughbred handle is also down in 2025.

In their first 27 race cards of 2025, The Meadowlands averaged $2.9 million, but for the last six cards, they only averaged $2.3. For those looking for a bright side, even with the recent underperformance, the track's average handle for the year is still at $2.8.

Meadowlands TV talent Dave Little is also responsible for sending out the track's race-night recaps, which always include the handle, and he was surprised by something he saw in the fourth race on Friday (April 25).

"In the seven years I've been here, I've never seen a 10-horse field handle less than $100,000," he said.

Many factors contribute to the health of a handle, or lack thereof. Rising prices, tariffs, and the possibility of a recession certainly could have bettors being a little tighter with their purse strings.

Something else to keep in mind at this transitional time is that as of April 30, the DISH Network version of RTN (Racetrack Television Network) was shut down in favor of the online version. It's not known whether that could cause a further reduction in handle, but considering many customers wager while watching RTN via DISH, it certainly won't help grow handle.

A week before the handle started to drop, in the April 4 edition of HRU, Settlemoir talked about how The Meadowlands is working on stopping computer-assisted wagering (CAW) entities from betting in the win pool once they hit two minutes to post, thus preventing those dramatic late shifts in odds, which customers have been complaining about.

According to sources, Elite Turf Club has not been wagering as much at The Big M lately.

What The Meadowlands is trying to accomplish with the CAWs is complicated and there are regulatory hang-ups as well as tote hang-ups that need to be dealt with, so it is not known how soon they will be able to implement that change.

As for what to expect tonight and throughout the Championship Meet regarding the suspension of the drag, Settlemoir said, "Horses will be on the track at 6:13 p.m. and off at 6:20. Post to post will be approximately 21 minutes."

He also said if everything goes right the last race should go off before 11:30 p.m.

Meadowlands president/chief executive officer Jeff Gural told HRU in early March that the Championship Meet was chosen for eliminating the post-time drag because it's the time they have the best product.

"And I'm tired of everyone criticizing track owners for not eliminating the drag," Gural said. "I think everyone agrees that the drag is terrible, and I really don't understand why any track that's subsidized by slot machines would have a drag, since the amount of revenue they get from their export is relatively small."

Currently, The Meadowlands is the only track committed to suspending the drag.

"During the Championship Meet, a lot of those nights we have stakes races, and if I'm ever going to get people who actually care about the product, it's the Championship Meet," Gural said. "I assume it will cost me money, but nobody else seems willing to join with us, so we continue to put out a terrible product [because of the drag]."

Grand Circuit season at The Meadowlands kicks off on Saturday (May 3) with the $115,500 Dexter Cup and $45,000 Lady Suffolk.

Both races were previously contested at Freehold Raceway and this is their debut at The Meadowlands. With only four entrants the Lady Suffolk will be raced as a non-wagering event before the card at 6 p.m. The Dexter Cup has a six-horse field in race 6 on the 14-race betting card. Though, as Brett Sturman wrote recently, the Dexter Cup is poised to have a brighter future.

THE DOWN UNDER DIARY

with ADAM HAMILTON

Loss of Greg Sugars is devastating

by Adam Hamilton

It couldn't be real. Surely it was all just a bad dream.

It was about 3 a.m. Saturday (April 26) morning (U.S. East Coast Time) when premier Australian driver James Herbertson first heard about the passing of champion Down Under driver Greg Sugars last weekend.

First, Herbertson had a phone call from his girlfriend, Ewa Justice, who had read a social media post from Larajay Farms (the stable run by Sugars and wife, Jess Tubbs) saying Greg had passed away.

It still didn't feel real. Has somebody hacked Larajay's social media account?

Then came the call. A phone call that will stay with Herbertson forever.

It was Tubbs telling him the unthinkable tragic news. Knowing he should and would want to hear it from her given how close he was to Sugars.

Reality set in.

“When I say [Greg Sugars] was like another parent to me, I mean it. He took me under his wing and made me into the driver I am today. He was one of the very best as a driver, a trainer and a human being.”

~ James Herbertson

“I didn’t think Jess would be able to function, but she is just so strong... I still thought, ‘This can’t be happening,’” Herbertson said.

Sugars passed away in his sleep on Friday night (April 25) in Sydney, where he had travelled with three of Larajay’s horses to compete at Menangle on Saturday night.

Herbertson had lost a mate, a mentor, a father-figure, a sounding board, and an idol.

“When I say he was like another parent to me, I mean it,” Herbertson said. “He took me under his wing and made me into the driver I am today. He was one of the very best as a driver, a trainer and a human being.”

Herbertson is staying with fellow Aussie horseman Brad Chisholm during his time in the U.S. Chisholm woke to hear his mate in tears in the early hours of Saturday.

“Like ‘Herbie’ at first, I just couldn’t believe it,” Chisholm said. “I thought it had to be wrong, but then he told me Jess [Tubbs] had called him.

“Like everyone back home, Greg was nothing but amazing to me before I moved to the States. He’s one of those guys everyone looked up to and admired... he always had time for you.”

Chisholm was driving at The Meadowlands that night, desperate to land a winner he could dedicate to Sugars.

“It’s like he was riding on my shoulder,” he said. “I thought I could win with Verity Blue Chip and I’m sure Greg helped us get the job done.”

Chisholm raised his whip skywards as he crossed the line as a tribute.

Just 24 hours earlier, Herbertson had driven his first Meadowlands winner and was wondering why the congratulatory text he most wanted hadn’t arrived after the race.

“I was on the way back to the winner’s circle and thinking about Greg’s winning drive in the States when he was young and wondering whether the photos would be similar,” Herbertson wrote to Melbourne radio SEN Track. “I just hoped [Greg] had seen it.

“I was waiting for a message from him after the race, only to find out a few hours later he was gone. I swear he pushed it over the line for me as the last thing he could for me before he took his last final breath. The worst day of my life has been and gone.

“My idol. My best mate. The man I went to whenever I needed help with my life, racing and everything in between. Gregory, I’ll miss you every day, mate. I hope I make you proud going forward.”

Herbertson and Chisholm are just two of an army of harness folk in the U.S. devastated by Sugars’ passing.

That was Sugars for you. The stunning record he built on the track was at least matched by the impact he had off it.

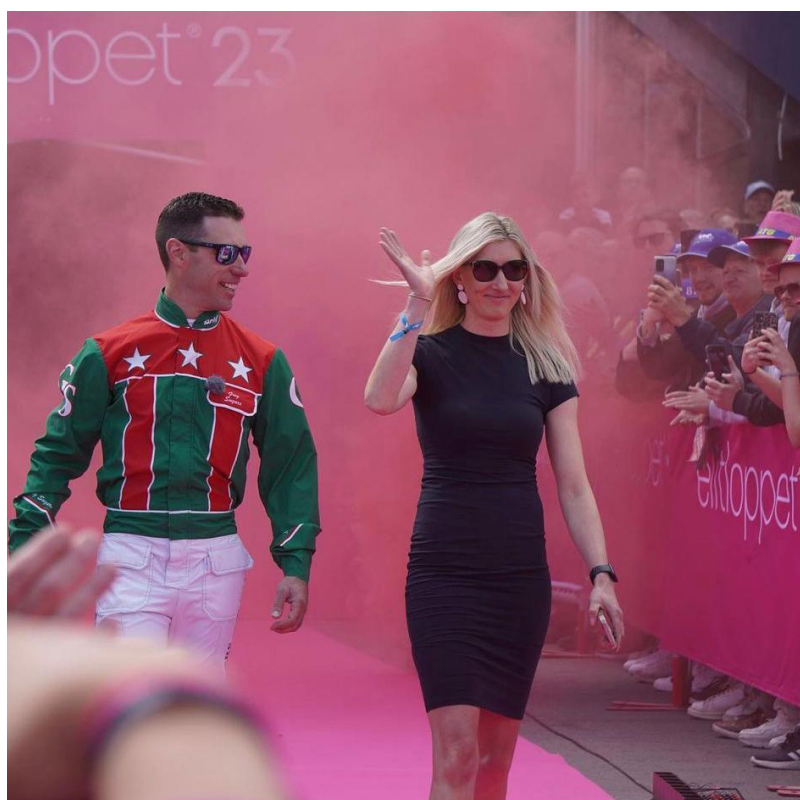

The way he promoted the game. His love of the horse. His amazing partnership in life and training with Tubbs and fun he used to have on trips away to keep it all real and enjoyable.

He will be missed as much in New Zealand as he will be in Australia.

And those couple of months he had in Sweden in mid-2023 with the great trotter Just Believe won Sugars and Tubbs a legion of Scandinavian fans, many of whom have taken to social media to express their feelings since last weekend.

Drivers in Australia, New Zealand and Sweden will wear black armbands on the day of Sugars' funeral.

Despite being just 40, Sugars already boasted a Hall of Fame CV with almost 4,100 wins, including 71 at Group 1 level.

He drove so many great horses, but thankfully got to enjoy the highest of the highs with Tubbs and Just Believe.

In the three years or so they trained the gelding, he not only dominated the biggest races in Australia and New Zealand, but also took them on that once-in-a-lifetime trip to the Elitlopp.

Those images of Sugars and Tubbs walking through the pink smoke and being introduced to the packed Solvalla crowd are now immortalized.

They looked like rock stars.

Emotions have overflowed and tributes have come from far and wide in the days since Sugars' passing.

Luke McCarthy, older brother of Andy and Todd, fought back tears as he recalled "properly" getting to know Greg in 2004 when they shared a room during the Australasian Young Drivers' Championship in Perth.

"You know those rare people you meet and just instantly click with, that was Greg and I," Luke said. "We had 10 days together on that trip and left great mates.

"He's one of the best drivers we've seen, beautiful to watch in the sulky, and he drove a few winners for me. I'll treasure

"I was waiting for a message from [Greg Sugars] after [my first win at The Meadowlands on Friday], only to find out a few hours later he was gone. I swear he pushed it over the line for me as the last thing he could for me before he took his last final breath. The worst day of my life has been and gone... Gregory, I'll miss you every day, mate. I hope I make you proud going forward."

~ James Herbertson

“On the way to the track this morning, Better Eclipse eased up to a walk then stood at the top of the hill before he strode out onto the main track. He’s never done that before. He wore [Greg Sugar’s] favorite bridle and Greg’s sulky, but he knew something was different now, pausing to acknowledge the absence of his friend.”

~ Jess Tubbs

that 2015 [Group 1] Queensland Pacing Championship forever now. He answered a call-up from me to drive Our Hi Jinx and got the cash.”

Australia’s all-time most decorated driver, Chris Alford, said Sugars’ trademark smile and charm won him around after a “rugged” start to their on-track relationship.

“Oh, he was a fierce competitor on the track,” Alford said. “When he first came across, we had a 200-meter tussle for the same spot and I had some choice words to say to him after it, but it wasn’t long before all that was behind us and we became great mates. Still really competitive rivals on the track.

“There’s so many stories to sit back and remember now he’s gone, including the time in outback New Zealand on a trip to a drivers’ series together and ended up crashing a wedding.

“I didn’t know much about him in Adelaide before he came to Melbourne, but you could see as soon as he started driving here that he had ‘it.’ He always looked so effortless in the sulky and horses ran for him.”

For all of Sugars’ talent and early success, it was the union with Tubbs, and the powerhouse they became together, which propelled his career to the next level.

Tubbs has asked for privacy, but shared some of her grief and memories through Instagram.

“I can’t believe you’re gone and that tomorrow I’ll be waking up without you,” she posted last Sunday. “You didn’t deserve this. You loved life and were looking forward to so much. This was meant to be our year of fun and adventures. Time to finally try and enjoy what we have worked so hard for.

“After almost two decades together, a life without you feels impossible right now.”

Then on Monday, as Tubbs walked one of their best pacers, Better Eclipse out for track work, she posted: “On the way to the track this morning, Better Eclipse eased up to a walk then stood at the top of the hill before he strode out onto the main track. He’s never done that before.

“He wore Greg’s favorite bridle and Greg’s sulky, but he knew something was different now, pausing to acknowledge the absence of his friend.

“So lucky to have the horses to focus on while the rest of the world seems too much to handle.”

It’s all so hard to comprehend and just so unfair.

A date has not yet been set for Sugars’ funeral.

Trainer looks to 'cut down' the competition in Hackett Memorial Sends out Well Said gelding against the big boys.

by Jay Wolf

In a sport often dominated by powerhouse stables and million-dollar barns, fans watching Saturday's (May 3) $75,000 James K. Hackett Memorial final at Miami Valley Gaming may enjoy the story of Z's Said, a lightly-raced pacer, and one of a four-horse stable all co-owned by Neil Leist and trainer John Raynard.

Raynard is a 46-year-old full-time logger and farmer and a part-time trainer, who resides in South Webster, OH, 40 minutes from the Pike County Fairgrounds where he takes care of their small stable.

“I have had a few Well Sairs and they are tough [to break]. He was a tough cat. But from the moment I started with [Z's Said], I knew he was a nice colt.”

~ John Raynard

Leist's dad bought logs off of Raynard and later introduced him to long-time Pike County trainer, Rodney Harness.

“I've fooled with horses in every aspect my whole life,” said Raynard. “I was showing standardbreds and speed driving, but started training a few about 10 years ago.”

Z's Said is the gelded son of Well Said out of the I'm Gorgeous mare, I'm Flying Free. He was bred by Leist and broke by Raynard.

“I have had a few Well Sairs and they are tough [to break],” said Raynard. “He was a tough cat. But from the moment I started with him, I knew he was a nice colt.”

Z's Said only made one start as a freshman – a third-place finish at the Pickaway County Fair in Circleville.

“ [Z’s Said] is the nicest colt that I’ve had. He’s got a lot of try about him. It’s been very enjoyable. ”

~ John Raynard

“He threw in a step or two on me in the first turn and he got on his tendon boot and ended up with a little tear,” said Raynard. “I just stopped with him.”

The pacer started his 3-year-old season off with a five-race win streak, all with Tyler Smith in the bike.

In just his third career start (March 19) he went gate-to-wire in 1:51.4.

“It wasn’t really warm and the wind was awful that night,” he said. “He kind of sored that tendon up a little bit. I have been playing with that and trying to get that right.”

The win streak ended with a neck defeat to Up Again and Dan Noble in the $30,000 final of a non-winners of 2 series.

“Tyler [Smith] said he got on the line a little bit in the final turn and I think that is what got him beat,” said Raynard. “He is green as a gourd. He may have been a little short. I have been training him a little easy.”

Twelve colts were originally entered – allowing byes to be given to the top three career money earners. The Ron Burke trio of Sippinonsearoc ($568,000), Swingtown ($474,454) and Harrisburg Heist automatically advanced to the rich final.

On April 24, there was a $25,000 elimination with the top six advancing to join the three byes in the final.

Saddled with post 7 in the nine-horse field, Z’s Said was hustled off the gate’s wings and tried to go gate-to-wire, but could not hold off the fast closing Up Again, coming up a head short in 1:52.1.

Raynard, who has less than 120 career training starts, knows the sledding will be getting tougher this weekend.

“I saw that one colt [Sippinonsearoc] qualified last week in [1]:51[.3],” he said. “[Z’s Said] is the nicest colt that I’ve had. He’s got a lot of try about him. It’s been very enjoyable.”

Z’s Said will be Leist and Raynard’s second entry into a Hackett final. Last year they entered another Well Said colt, No Joke Folks, in the sophomore colt pace. He finished fifth in his elimination and made the final as the first alternate.

“We had the 9-hole, so, you know where we finished, ninth,” said Raynard.

The James K. Hackett Memorials are named for the London, OH, horseman, who captured the 1967 Little Brown Jug with Best Of All.

Better known as Jim “Rocky” Hackett, the son-in-law to Hall of Fame driver/trainer/trackman Wayne “Curly” Smart, died in 1970 at the age of 52 shortly after crossing the finish line at Latonia (KY) Raceway.

The $300,000 (div.) Hackett Memorials will highlight the closing day card at Miami Valley Gaming along with the $100,000 Pacey “The Wizard” Mindlin Memorial Invitational Pace.

First post for the matinee card is 1 p.m.

EUROPEAN REPORT

with THOMAS HEDLUND

Multiple European venues host major stakes this weekend

by Thomas Hedlund

Italy, Finland and Sweden will be targeted by harness racing fans in Europe this weekend. The show starts in Gothenburg, Sweden where Åby racetrack plays host to the $300,000 Paralympiatravet and $200,000 Queen's and King's Trophy for 4-year-olds on Saturday (May 3).

The horses in the Paralympiatravet final are familiar and the Sunday (April 27) draw made the big 1.3-mile race spectacular in advance. The initial part of the race will be exciting with several quick openers from the inside posts behind the gate. Borups Victory will probably be the bettors' choice Saturday afternoon, but the field is strong with many top trotters challenging for the win.

Trainer Daniel Wäjersten has great shots in the both Group 1-races for the 4-year-olds and in the mares' final, Oaks winner Vivillion will try to establish her position as the crop's number one among the female trotters.

In the King's Trophy for colts and geldings, Wäjersten and his Lando Mearas, French Kronos and Loxahatchee will all be dark horses since a very impressive qualification winner was seen in Alessandro Gocciadoro trained Free Time Jepson. Anything can happen in races, but the Italian bred Free Time Jepson looked like something extra special as he won in a mile rate of 1:54.2 over 1.3 miles.

Naples, Italy is next with Sunday's (May 4) $715,000 Gran Premio della Lotteria including 24 horses in three elimination heats, with Gocciadoro training eight of them. Always Ek, Click Bait, Bengurion Jet, Dany Capar, Banderas Bi, Vernissage Grif, Executiv Ek and Diamond Truppo are Gocciadoro's horses in the Lotteria.

Going north to Helsinki, Finland and the $200,000 Finlandia-ajo, where a ticket for Elitloppet waits for the winner.

It's an open story on paper with 10 horses chasing the pink ticket to Solvalla and it might end with a wire-to-wire victory for Stefan Melander's Decision Maker, who most likely will reach the front position paired with Carl Johan Jepson.

Ron and Brett MacDonald each score milestone wins within a week

The father and son recorded 1,000- and 2,000-win milestones, respectively, at the beginning of April.

by Matthew Lomon

Go about your business the right way and the wins will follow. Keep up the good work, and a major milestone may be within reach before you know it.

That was the story for father-and-son, trainer-and-driver duo Ron and Brett MacDonald, who each clinched landmark victories inside a six-day stretch at the beginning of April.

"He never really mentioned much about getting to 1,000 [wins]," said Brett of his father. "Then one day we happened to look, and we were both 10 away from 1,000 and 2,000."

Brett, who began his professional driving career at age 18, got the ball rolling when he piloted his 2,000th career winner, family favorite pacer Saulsbrook Victor, to a 2½-length score in race 10 at Oak Grove Racing, Gaming and Hotel on April 7.

The 28-year-old Freelton, ON-based reinsman landed at the southwestern Kentucky oval sitting on 1,999 career tallies after finding the winner's circle with 5-year-old mare Firstofanera the night before at Flamboro Downs.

The daughter of JK Endofanera—Do Me First was one of six drives, and the lone victor, for Brett that Sunday at Flamboro.

Fortunately, the breakthrough moment was only put on hold for one day.

"It was very special to get it with [Saulsbrook] Victor," said Brett. "I thought I was going to get it that night at Flamboro. I had a bunch of shots, and came close a few times, but then our own mare won the last race on the card."

"The next night, 'Victor' had drawn well, and I figured that he'd be the one I'd get it with."

A flurry of congratulatory texts and phone calls soon followed, and so too did a dinner with dad, who trains both horses responsible for Brett's penultimate and milestone triumphs.

Saulsbrook Victor, in particular, has been a revelation for Brett and Ron since they added him to their stable in the fall of 2021.

"We ended up buying him late in his 3-year-old year; he had never raced," said Brett. "We had a bunch out of that family, and that's why we decided to take a chance on him."

"He's just been a godsend since then. Every time you try to help him, he always gives you back tenfold. Anything you do to help him, he always gets better."

Over his four-year career, the resolute son of Source of Pride—Atlanta Girl has amassed a 32-27-14 line with nearly $715,000 banked across 120 starts.

It's an upward trajectory his owners never could have envisioned.

"We always knew that he had speed and ability and other positive attributes, but he could never really put it all together early on," said Brett. "Then, he kept getting better and better."

"When we first started going with him, if he had been an okay dummy claimer, we would have been fine with that too. But for him to turn out to be the horse that he is today is outstanding."

Saulsbrook Victor has opened countless doors for the father-and-son team, particularly for Ron, who Brett said has been able to explore exciting racing opportunities around Ontario and the United States.

"Since we started competing together the operation has definitely grown," said Brett. "Dad's gone traveling with Victor; he never would have been able to spend time in the States and do stuff like that with him before."

"I would say that growth is more about the opportunities that Victor gave us. Not so much him and I, but the opportunities that having a horse like Victor can give you."

While the prized bay wasn't directly involved in Ron's big night, Brett was.

Less than one week after his son tracked down his milestone, Ron secured his moment in the spotlight on April 13 at Flamboro.

Heading into race 8, 0-for-3 on the night, Ron sent out 3-year-old filly Mommas On A Roll with Brett at the helm.

Lined up in post 7, the pacer out of Big Jim—Sayso Hanover rode a perfect pocket trip before surging up the inside to steer clear by a head for Ron's 1,000th win.

"It was exciting to get it right around the same time," said Brett. "That was special."

The standout showing was the latest in a long line of impressive outings from Ron-trained racers.

The elder MacDonald put together a career year in 2024, collecting over $858,000 in prize money. His 74 winners ranked second only to his 2019 total of 80.

Last season was Ron's first exceeding $700,000 in earnings.

The 57-year-old conditioner has shown no signs of slowing down in 2025, either. Through 129 starts this season, Ron has

“When I first started driving, [my dad, Ron] told me, ‘Just drive them for checks and wins will come.’ That’s the biggest piece of advice that he ever gave. With horses that were a little bit longer shots, drive them for checks, and then a lot of the time you get lucky, and they’ll win.”

~ Brett MacDonald

coached his charges to a 20-17-11 record for north of $235,000 in purse money.

His expertise on and off the track has been immensely valuable for Brett, whose recent success has earned him household name status across the Ontario circuit.

Through it all, the winner of 1,391 races and counting since 2020, including a career-best 328-win 2022, still recalls the words of wisdom his father offered during his years as a neophyte driver.

“When I first started driving, he told me, ‘Just drive them for checks and wins will come,’” said Brett. “That’s the biggest piece of advice that he ever gave. With horses that were a little bit longer shots, drive them for checks, and then a lot of the time you get lucky, and they’ll win.”

“It’s different when you’re driving favorites, but at that time, when I first got my license, I wasn’t driving a lot of favorites. That was the advice that he gave me. Just take your time.”

His father’s words have since proven worth their weight in gold, and wins, over 2,000 of them.

After celebrating his first thousand on Aug. 9, 2021, Brett, having lived how it felt to realize one momentous milestone, found the chase for the next thousand even more enjoyable.

“My natural goal is to win as many races as I can, and then you’re trying to achieve a milestone on top of that,” said Brett. “There was a sense of relief when it was done, but it was also fun leading up to it.”

“I wasn’t doing anything different in the lead up, but it definitely felt good once I got it. The next 1,000 went a lot quicker than the first 1,000.”

While it’s still too early to tell if the third 1,000 will fly by even quicker than the second, one thing for sure is that Brett is ready to find out.

“I don’t plan on slowing down at all,” he said. “We’re going to keep rocking and trying to win as many races as possible.”

Hawthorne bettors shut out of Kentucky Derby

by Neil Milbert

Horseplayers won't be lined up at the Hawthorne Race Course mutuel windows on Saturday (May 3) when the 101st Kentucky Derby is run at Churchill Downs.

Dating back to the 2024-25 Hawthorne fall/winter harness meeting that ended Feb. 23 and extending into the thoroughbred meeting that began March 20, Churchill Downs Inc. (CDI) has blacked out its simulcast signal at the Chicago area's only racetrack and 13 affiliated off-track betting locations in the suburbs and downstate Illinois.

In addition, self-activating mutuel machines at the track, the Club Hawthorne mobile wagering app and clubhawthorne.com are blacked out.

According to CDI, the reason is because Hawthorne hasn't paid its bills.

In a statement, CDI said: "The current situation with Hawthorne wouldn't be characterized as a payment dispute but simply as significant arrears for services rendered. For this reason, CDI was forced to pull our signal last fall. Hawthorne has made no attempt to rectify the debt even despite our efforts to negotiate an incremental payment plan."

On its website, Hawthorne said that the NBC telecast would be shown at the track and OTB locations, and horseplayers could make their wagers by phone or computer. This entails having or creating an account on Xpressbet, Twin Spires, FanDuel or NYRA Bets.

"We are expecting to once again be at full capacity at all of our venues for the biggest day in racing," Tim Carey, president and chief executive officer of the family-owned track, said in a statement.

However, that seems overly optimistic because — unless they plan on watching and betting on some of Hawthorne's live races — those fans with the accounts listed on the website and those who don't can simply watch the extensive NBC race coverage in their living rooms.

The Hawthorne blackout also includes simulcasts from three other thoroughbred tracks whose meetings have ended:

“My message [to the Illinois legislators] about the 35-mile limit [that prohibits another track from being built] is: ‘The fantasy of Hawthorne being able to get a racino is over if they can’t even pay a simple simulcast bill [from CDI].’ If you can’t pay simple bills no one is going to come in and finance you. Enough is enough. This affects all the horsemen. It’s obstruction. It’s costing the state hundreds of millions of dollars and holding back an entire agri-business sector that supports thousands of Illinois jobs. We can’t afford to keep waiting.”

~ Jeff Davis

CDI-owned Turfway Park in Florence, KY, Fair Grounds in New Orleans, and Oaklawn Park in Hot Springs for which CDI negotiates simulcast contracts.

Betting at Hawthorne and its OTB outlets plunged 20 per cent in the first three months of 2025 compared to the same time frame last year, according to Illinois Racing Board statistics. Now, the blackout on Kentucky Derby Day is almost certain to compound the losses.

This has an impact on the bottom line of both thoroughbred and harness horsemen because they get a cut of the money bet on simulcasts. The Racing Board estimates that last year Hawthorne received $450,000 in commissions and $468,000 in purse money.

The current situation is the latest of a series of problems Hawthorne has encountered since it demolished major portions of the grandstand and clubhouse in 2020 in preparation for construction of a $400 million casino addition made possible by a major gaming expansion bill enacted by the Illinois legislature in 2019.

At the time, Carey said financing was being arranged and projected that the combination track/casino referred to as a racino would start conducting gaming in 2021 (with a portion of the adjusted gross revenue earmarked for harness and thoroughbred purses).

But that failed to come to fruition and each subsequent year Carey has insisted at the Racing Board dates hearings that his track is “on the cusp” of completing financing arrangements.

Last year, liens were filed by several companies involved in the demolition project, claiming Hawthorne owed them as much as $5 million in unpaid bills. Carey responded by saying these will be paid and the damage inflicted by the demolition will be repaired when financing is finalized.

Frustrated over the seemingly endless delay in the racino project, the Illinois Harness Horsemen's Association (IHHA) has gone to the Illinois legislature in Springfield to plead for elimination of the statutory 35-mile restriction that prohibits another track from being built inside that distance from Hawthorne, (unless Hawthorne approves). If the boundary is removed, several developers have expressed an interest in building a harness track/casino.

IHHA president Jeff Davis has made several trips to Springfield to join with the organization's lobbyists in the push to change the statute.

“My message [to the legislators] about the 35-mile limit is: ‘the fantasy of Hawthorne being able to get a racino is over if they can’t even pay a simple simulcast bill [from CDI],” Davis said. “If you can’t pay simple bills no one is going to come in and finance you.

“Enough is enough. This affects all the horsemen. It's obstruction. It's costing the state hundreds of millions of dollars and holding back an entire agri-business sector that supports thousands of Illinois jobs. We can't afford to keep waiting.”

President Donald Trump's tariffs seem destined to make a bad situation worse for Hawthorne because of an increase in prices for steel and building materials, probably raising the price tag for the racino from $400 million to as much as $500 million.

CDI is aware of the potential negative impact tariffs would have on its own $1 billion renovation plans for its iconic track and has paused the project, citing “increasing uncertainty surrounding construction costs related to the tariffs and economic uncertainty.”

But it's hard to feel sorry for CDI in view of the havoc it has wreaked on Illinois thoroughbred and harness racing.

In 2013, Churchill Downs inaugurated a series of qualifying races for the Kentucky Derby and excluded Hawthorne's Illinois Derby, the premier race for Triple Crown candidates in America's third largest metropolitan area. This was an obvious attempt to damage the prestige of Hawthorne on behalf of its Chicago area rival, Arlington International Racecourse, which CDI had merged with in 2000.

At the 2015 Illinois Racing Board dates hearings – after trying for years to eliminate Hawthorne – Arlington allied itself with Hawthorne and they successfully jointly proposed a 2016 schedule, thereby wiping out the sister Chicagoland harness tracks, Balmoral Park and Maywood Park, while they were trying to recover from bankruptcy. They were ensnared in an FBI-recorded shakedown by a top aide of former Governor Rod Blagojevich, seeking a campaign contribution in return for his signing a bill the legislature had passed that extended an impact fee for all of the Chicago area tracks paid by the state's highest grossing casinos. Although the contribution was never made, the casinos successfully sued for damages, forcing Balmoral and Maywood into bankruptcy.

In 2018 CDI purchased a majority interest in the state's largest grossing casino, Rivers Casino, and after lobbying for nearly two decades to enable nearby Arlington to become a racino did a sudden about-face when the gambling expansion bill was passed in 2019. CDI said it had no intention of becoming a racino and then sold Arlington to the NFL's Chicago Bears with a string attached that there be no casino or pari-mutuel wagering on the premises. To lower their (probably unanticipated) high property taxes, the Bears tore down the majestic and tradition-rich thoroughbred track.

That left Hawthorne as the only Chicago area track and, as a consequence, the thoroughbreds and harness horses have to time-share, an undesirable situation for both. This fall harness racing will resume on Nov. 7, following a hiatus of more than eight months.

Undeniably, Illinois harness racing is in critical condition.

CDI's unbridled greed and Hawthorne's inability to construct an on-site casino are the reasons.

The story of Hambletonian 10 — Rysdyk's Hambletonian

by John Berry

MANE ATTRACTION

with JOHN BERRY

Harness racing's signature event — the Hambletonian — is just weeks away and revives the heartbeat and historical significance of, who many say, is the sport's most notable sire in our history.

Hambletonian was foaled in Sugar Loaf, NY, about seven-and-a-half miles south of what has become the known as the cradle of harness racing, Goshen, NY.

This grand sire lived his entire life in Sugar Loaf and is buried in Chester, NY, about seven minutes north of his birthplace.

The vast majority of standardbred horses were descendants of Hambletonian, who saw his first light in a pasture field of Wakley Banker's farm.

Jonas Seely, a neighboring farmer, had purchased the Charles Kent mare in New York City and bred her to Abdallah, who stood at a hamlet near Chester; the service fee being $12.50.

In 1854, Guy Miller, then 16 years old, arrived in Chester [NY] and became the caretaker for Hambletonian 10, better known then as Rysdyk's Hambletonian, and was the first person to sit on the back of the 5-year-old that was to become the most famous horse in harness racing history.

Rysdyk's Hambletonian raced one single time in a match race in Long Island [NY], in which he emerged victorious.

Hambletonian 10 was the result, and was foaled, on May 18, 1849, being purchased (along with his dam) by William Rysdyk, yet another local farmer, who, it is said, borrowed $125 to pay for the pair.

Rysdyk led the mare and colt from his foaling place to his leased farm and home in Chester.

In 1854, Guy Miller, then 16 years old, arrived in Chester and became the caretaker for Hambletonian 10, better known then as Rysdyk's Hambletonian, and was the first person to sit on the back of the 5-year-old that was to become the most famous horse in harness racing history.

Guy Miller remained with Rysdyk until the Civil War erupted in April of 1861.

After that outbreak, Herman Showers became Rysdyk's Hambletonian's caretaker.

Rysdyk's Hambletonian raced one single time in a match race in Long Island, in which he emerged victorious.

It's interesting to note that this was a unique event in which each horse started two heats – but not together – with the winner determined by which one accomplished the fastest heat.

Mr. Rysdyk exhibited his prize stallion at fairs and race meetings and, from being a man described as “poor,” eventually became a man of much wealth and affluence, from stud fees.

Rysdyk once remarked to Guy Miller that the farm he had recently purchased was paid for from one year of Hambletonian's stud fees.

As a 2-year-old, Hambletonian 10 was bred to four mares for free.

As the days and years went by, those breeding numbers increased when, in 1864, he was bred to 217 mares with the stud fee being $100.

In 1865, he serviced 183 mares for a total price of $38,400 and, the next year, he was bred to 105 mares bringing in stud fees of $37,500.

After the Civil War, Guy Miller returned and Rysdyk bought a farm in Chester and Guy Miller purchased Greycourt Farm and, when he was 20-years-old, he owned one of Hambletonian's colts, which he purchased as a yearling for $135.

Yes, Guy Miller named the colt Guy Miller and he won a 3-year-old race for the colts at Historic Track in 1859.

Miller sold his colt to a Mr. R. F. Galloway of Suffern, NY, for $500, who traded him for the mare Princess (2:30) which he bred to Hambletonian, the result being Happy Medium, the sire of the famed Nancy Hanks (2:04) and grand-sire of Peter The Great (2:07 1/4).

In 1875, one year before his death, Hambletonian serviced 24 mares and had enriched his owner by $185,715.

This grand sire of the breed passed away in March of 1876 with his resting place being in the village of Chester.

It was marked with a granite monument established by breeders from coast-to-coast.

As the Hambletonian Stake began to emerge from infancy, funds were raised to mark the birthplace of Hambletonian on the Banker Farm in Sugar Loaf.

It was unveiled on Aug. 15, 1935, with the following engraving: Hambletonian 10, Father of the Trotting Horse, Foaled on This Spot, May 5, 1849.

It was dedicated by his admirers on Aug. 15, 1935, the day after the immortal “Grey Ghost,” Greyhound, won the Hambletonian at Good Time Park in Goshen, NY.

Mohawk game changers: Hes Watching

by Matthew Lomon for Woodbine communications

Once a week, throughout the Mohawk racing season, Woodbine will profile a horse who has had a life-changing impact on one of their closest connections.

This week, trainer Dave Menary, who earned his 1,000th career victory on April 11 at Mohawk, and the horse deemed 'harness racing's bargain of the century,' Hes Watching.

"He was kind of a fairytale horse," said Menary of the champion pacer he purchased for $3,000 at the 2012 Harrisburg Yearling Sale.

"At 2, he raced eight times and was undefeated. He set six track records and two world records. He won the Dan Patch Award for 2-Year-Old Pacing Colt of the Year, and at the end of the year, we sold half [interest] for a seven-figure number.

"At 3, he came back and won the Meadowlands Pace, the fastest race in history at the time. Then he went off to stand stallion in Ontario. He's the cheapest yearling I ever bought. To accomplish what he did, it's what dreams are made of."

Dave Landry
Hes Watching.

What do you recall from the first time you met him?

"He wasn't on my short list, because he was born in the middle of June, and was a New York-sired colt, but I really liked the colt – great head, great foot, great back end. But he was small in the middle of June. I thought he was the type of horse you'd have to wait on.

"I pegged him in the $30,000-40,000 range. He was [Hip] #822. I was talking to Jeff Ruch when he sold, and I had my book all marked up, and I thought they can't be on the right horse. It took two bids, but I bought him for $3,000.

"I think that year we had 24 babies to break, and he came in on the last load, Dec. 4. He was good right from the get-go. At the time, my second trainer, Francis Richard, and I were joking that this little cheap colt can go more than some of these expensive ones we've had in for two months."

What race of his was most meaningful to you and why?

"The whole 2-year-old ride was amazing, but definitely would have to be the Meadowlands Pace. This was the first time I ever had a horse in the Meadowlands Pace, and he won the elimination and the final, but he just did it with such authority. It was the fastest race ever. He came home in :25.2 that day. [Driver] Tim [Tetrack] turned around and started celebrating like 10 lengths before the wire.

"It was just unbelievable. It was the kind of thing I dreamed about as a kid."

What human athlete would you liken him to and why?

"I guess it would have to be somebody that lacked a little bit of size but had a lot of speed and grit. Maybe someone like [former NHL forward] Theo Fleury or somebody who lacked size, but didn't know they did.

"He was a tank, this horse. He wasn't very tall, but I think he's the hardest horse that I've ever had. He was more like a pit bull or a bulldog. He was all muscle, like [former NFL running back] Marshawn Lynch."

Three words to describe him?

"Fast. Fast. Fast."

How has he changed your life?

"At the time, he was very good for myself and my partners – racing him and selling him. He put a lot of yearlings and a lot of horses in the barn, and, at the end of the day, probably ended up buying my house.

"There's still a lot of little Ma and Pa operations in upstate New York. He gave everybody right across I-90 hope. There's still hope for the little guy. Once you get them home from the yearling sale, it doesn't matter what they cost, you treat them all the same."

MGM Borgata Pacing Series prelims in the books

Coaches Corner, Chase H Hanover, and Desperate Man posted victories on the front-end in the trio of $50,000 divisions of the last leg of the MGM Borgata Pacing Series on Monday night (April 28) at MGM Yonkers Raceway.

In the opening split Coaches Corner (Jason Bartlett) laid down fractions of :28.1, :56.4 and 1:25, turned away a first-over bid from Dunkin' (Tim Tetrack) and then kept pocket-sitter Binge On Yankee (Scott Zeron) at bay as well to the wire, defeating him by a head in a 1:52.1 mile. Sherlock N (George Brennan) was the third-place finisher.

Sent out by Per Engblom for owners Jeff Fought Racing and Brian Carsey, Coaches Corner is a 5-year-old gelding by Always A Virgin. Coaches Corner is now a 29-time winner, has earned $889,694 and paid $2.20 to win as the 1-9 favorite. He keyed a $5.10 exacta and a $23 trifecta.

There was a 1-9 favorite in the second flight as well, that being Mossdale Ben N (Jordan Stratton). Mossdale Ben N, seeking his fourth win in the prelims, got going first-up from third before pace-setter Chase H Hanover (Anthony Napolitano) got to three-quarters in 1:23.3, but Chase H Hanover, who also put up the quarter in 28 seconds and the half in :56.1, was resolute to the finish line and wouldn't let Mossdale Ben N reach him, prevailing by a length in 1:51. Miki Shan N (Yannick Gingras) worked out the pocket trip and ended up third.

Chase H Hanover is a 7-year-old gelded son of Captaintreacherous trained by Cory Stratton for owners El Dorado Stables and Robert Weinstein. Chase H Hanover made his 34th appearance in the winner's circle, has pocketed $1,170,766 and returned $11.20 to win as the 9-2 second choice. He was atop a $15.40 exacta and a $71.50 trifecta.

Desperate Man (Matt Kakaley) sped out from post 4 in the final section and worked his way past Huntinthelastdolar (Bartlett) prior to the 27 second quarter-mile mark. It was all Desperate Man after that as he sailed through a :56.1 half and a 1:24 three-quarters, then came home in :27.1 to defeat a closing Verdun (Pat Lachance) by a length-and-a-half in 1:51.1. Huntinthelastdolar had to settle for third.

A 7-year-old Shadow Play gelding, Desperate Man hails from the stable of Travis Alexander and is owned by Kathy Cecchin. This was his 29th career victory, he has now banked $1,550,774 and he paid $3.60 to win as the 4-5 choice. The exacta was $5.60 and the trifecta $8.40.

Winbak Farm partners in Nijinsky

Winbak Farm is proud to announce that they have partnered with the existing ownership of O'Brien Award winner Nijinsky.

"Nijinsky is an extremely fast horse that refuses to lose," said Casie Coleman. "He never gives up and goes to every dance and is always in the hunt."

Nijinsky led all pacers for earnings in North America in 2024 ($1,212,710) with a notable 11 victories from 17 starts including being nine-for-nine in Canada. His wins included the $730,000 North America Cup, $180,000 Monument Circle, $123,580 Simcoe Stakes, $60,590 Somebeachsomewhere Stakes, multiple Ontario Sire Stakes and the $219,000 Super Final. He was second in the Meadowlands Pace, Breeders Crown and Progress Pace.

"When the opportunity arose to purchase part of Nijinsky, we jumped at the chance," said Joe Thomson, Winbak Farm owner. "We look forward to him racing in the biggest races in 2025 and to eventually standing him at stud at Winbak Farm."

Nijinsky shares a name with a notable thoroughbred. The legendary Nijinsky was bred by E.P. Taylor at his Windfields Farm in Ontario. E.P. Taylor was also the former owner of what is now Winbak Farm of Maryland (Windfields is where the 'Win' in Winbak originates). He was from the second crop of foals sired by Kentucky Derby winner Northern Dancer, who stood part of his career in Maryland at Windfields Farm.

"It is an amazing feeling to work at a farm that is steeped in horse racing history," said Jack Burke, Winbak Farm general manager. "This farm has produced champions in two industries, and we look forward to Nijinsky siring his own champions one day."

Nijinsky is sired by one of Winbak's greatest graduates, Bettors Delight. The superior stallion has produced winners across the globe and has sired 39 millionaires in North America.

"Nijinsky, the thoroughbred, was a prolific racehorse and his dam, Flaming Page, is buried in the cemetery of champions at Winbak Farm of Maryland," said Thomson. "I think it was fate that we got to buy into a great horse named Nijinsky since we have been sharing his story since we bought the farm."

Bettors Delight formerly stood at Winbak Farm of Canada before being semi-retired to the southern hemisphere.

"I hope Nijinsky has a successful season in an open division that looks to have many strong contenders," said Burke. "More details about Nijinsky standing at stud will be available in coming months."

The Winbak Farm team is grateful for the opportunity to be partners on Nijinsky.

"Thank you to Casie Coleman, Mark Dumain, John Fielding, Ross Warriner and the rest of the connections of Nijinsky," said Thomson. "We are excited to see him continue to excel under the guidance of his trainer, Anthony Beaton."

If they hit big that night, they keep every penny of that green. In addition, if they finish in the top four, they walk away with that additional prize money, and, if in the top two, collect not only prize money but also earn a spot in the end-of-the-year competition that offers cash prizes totaling $10,000.

Contest format:

Women Layer scorches to repeat in Kentucky Sire Stakes prelim

Todd McCarthy circled Women Layer to the top and muscled through a quick mile to score easily again in his $50,000 division for the second preliminary of Kentucky Sire Stakes (KYSS) at Oak Grove Racing, Gaming and Hotel on Monday afternoon (April 28).

Leaving from post 2, McCarthy moved for the lead after his brother Andy McCarthy cleared command with Better Is Nice to a :26.1 first quarter. Women Layer took over control passing the stands and sailed through the remainder of the mile, clocking a :54.3 half and 1:22.3 three-quarters before sealing the win by 1½ lengths under wraps in 1:50. Better Is Nice held second while Nuclear (driven by David Miller) rallied for third and Courtship (Marcus Miller) settled for fourth.

A 4-year-old gelding by Sweet Lou, Women Layer has now won 14 times from 23 starts and has earned $436,079. Virgil Morgan, Jr. trains the gelding for owners Let It Ride Stables Inc., Douglas Overhiser, Jeff Fought Racing and Larry Wills. He paid $2.56 to win.

Steely Knife (Trace Tetrack) pulled a 10-1 upset in the other KYSS division when capitalizing off fast fractions to surge forward for a 1:51.1 win. Tetrack waited while Swaggy Cal (Jeremy Indof) cut a swift mile of :26.4, :55.1 and 1:22.4 before hitting the ropes with rivals swarming. Total Stranger (Todd McCarthy) led the two-wide charge to the final turn, and Steely Knife used his tow to launch three high coming around the final turn and build momentum for the stretch drive. Steely Knife kept fighting down the center of the track and reeled in Swaggy Cal to post a neck win at the beam with Copperfield (Andy McCarthy) rallying from last for third. Lou Hill (Dexter Dunn), the 4-5 favorite, sat a pocket trip and only found room late to finish fourth.

Ron Burke trains Steely Knife, a gelding by Always B Miki, for owners Burke Racing Stable, Knox Services, Phil Collura, J&T Silva-Purnel & Libby. He won his seventh race from 38 starts, has now earned $341,587 and paid $22.86 to win.

Woman Of Passion (Todd McCarthy) rebounded from a neck defeat in leg 1 to post a romp in leg 2 with a 1:53 mile. McCarthy took command with the 1-2 chalk and cut a tempo of :27.57.2 and 1:25 while many of her rivals either broke stride or gave futile chase to her seven-length win. Pizzelle (David Miller) picked up pieces from a ground-saving trip for second while Pisco Sour (Andy McCarthy) took third from a parked mile and Black Button (Marcus Miller) closed for fourth.

Winning her 12th race from 26 starts, Woman Of Passion has now earned $364,499 for owner/breeder Al Libfeld. Carter Pinske trains the Walner mare who paid $3.08 to win.

Bath Bomb (Andy McCarthy) registered a repeat win in KYSS preliminaries with a 1:50.1 win on the engine. After clearing from post 7 through a :26 first quarter, Bath Bomb grabbed a breather to a :55.1 half but accelerated for the backside as 1-2 favorite Asweetbeachhere (Todd McCarthy) followed intently from the pocket. Asweetbeachhere took an early shot at Bath Bomb moving to three-quarters in 1:22.1 and kept fighting while Peace Talks (Dexter Dunn) loomed three wide behind the dueling pair. Bath Bomb held her ground all through the stretch to keep a neck up on Asweetbeachhere at the end with Peace Talks taking third and Fearless Bettor (David Miller) finishing another five lengths behind in fourth.

Per Engblom trains Bath Bomb, a daughter of Lather Up with six wins from 18 starts and $169,360 earned on her card, for owner Morrison Racing Stables. She paid $8.10 to win.

Convoy Hall (David Miller) kicked from a second-over trip to win the $50,000 KYSS dash for trotting horses and geldings with a 1:54.1 effort. Miller found cover to follow from odds-on chalk Bargain (Dexter Dunn) moving to a :55.4 half and stayed perched while inching forward towards tempo-setter Ways N Means (Andy McCarthy) on the march to three-quarters in 1:24.4. As Ways N Means tired on the top, Miller launched Convoy Hall three wide and powered by his peers in the stretch to register a three-length win in the end over Bargain. Hung Over (Marvin Luna) kicked from a pocket trip late for third and Ways N Means held fourth.

Carter Pinske trains Convoy Hall, a gelding by Muscle Mass, for owners Doug McIntosh, Randy Liepa and Beverley Snobelen. He has won eight races from 11 starts, has now earned $141,973 and paid $7.66 to win.

Brooksforreal wins 10th in a row in Maryland Sire Stakes

After reeling off nine consecutive stakes wins to end his rookie season, Brooksforreal picked up right where he left off and posted a 1:53.1 win in his 3-year-old debut, the second of two $10,000 first-round Maryland Sire Stakes preliminaries for sophomore pacing colts on Wednesday (April 30) at Rosecroft Raceway.

In line to Jared Moyer, Brooksforreal sat off a :27.3 first-quarter duel between Hungry Cougar and Rusty's Lancelot before brushing three-wide to the lead with a lap to go. Once in control, the Rusty's For Real—Brooks Range gelding clicked off middle splits of :55.2 and 1:24.4 before fending off a resurgent Hungry Cougar (driven by Jonathan Roberts) by a half-length. Rusty's Lancelot finished third after failing to convert a pocket bid off the home turn.

Stacey McLenaghan trains Brooksforreal, now a 10-time winner with $175,502 in earnings, for Lucky Lilly Belle Stable. He paid $2.10 to win as the overwhelming favorite.

Classic Cougar ($7.40) won the other male pacing division, posting a gate-to-wire, 1:54.1 score over Don't Say Maybe. William Carter drove the Cougar Hall—Classic Mosee gelding to his second career victory for trainer Joe Offutt, who shares ownership with Karen Offutt.

Woody's Girl ($9.40) took the speed badge among pacing fillies, sustaining a first-over push off the home turn to collar 1-5 favorite Toys Little Tinker by a neck in 1:55 in line to Tim Deaton. Trainer Kasey Bendix co-owns the Rusty's For Real—Scootin Woody filly, now a three-time winner, with Virginia Marvel.

Post Jolene ($3.80) captured the other pacing filly split, pulling the pocket on pacesetter Mygirlmia and vaulting clear to break her maiden by 2½ lengths in 1:56. Jonathan Roberts drove the Nuclear Breeze—Positive Post filly for owner/trainer Winston Williams.

On the training side of the ledger, Il Mago—Marlene And Grace gelding TJ Jadster and driver William Carter lucked into a 2:09 victory for trainer Billy Carter and owner Elwood Tignor in the three-horse male trot after racing a distant third behind Yall Keep Dreaming and Roan Ridge through splits of :28.3, :58.2 and 1:27.4 and inheriting the lead in mid-stretch after Yall Keep Dreaming broke stride and Roan Ridge collided into him and subsequently fell.

In the filly trot, Yall Just Love Me made steady late inroads to collar K J The Thirteenth in the final yards of a 1:57.1 mile. Johnathan Ahle drove the Yall Beneath Me—Likeavirgin Lindy filly for owner/trainer Richard Hans.

FIVE MORE FOR ROBERTS: On the heels of his five-win effort on Monday (April 28), driver Jonathan Roberts reeled off five more victories on Wednesday's card. In addition to Post Jolene, the Maryland mainstay also won with Ideal Wish (1:55.4, $36.40), Tater Tot Hanover (1:55.2, $2.20), Whatineedisaman (1:55, $2.80) and Auntmilly'smartini (1:54.1, $4.40). Roberts' 10-win week propelled him to the top of the driving standings, and he now leads Russell Foster, 58-49, with five programs remaining in the meet. Johnathan Ahle is third, with 41, followed by Roger Plante, Jr. in fourth (29) and William Carter and Hugh O'Neil tied for fifth (27).

Live racing returns to Rosecroft on Saturday (May 3); the 11-race card features a $3,448.45 carryover in the Jackpot Hi-5, offered in race 10. First post is 7:15 p.m. (EDT).

Chamba wins a wild Game Of Claims trot final

Pocono Downs at Mohegan Pennsylvania rang down the curtain on its 2025 Game Of Claims Series events in classically dramatic style – there were even a Shakespearean Prologue and five “Acts” to the last contest. And in the final resolution of the $35,000 GOC championship for high-level claiming trotters, it was 18-1 shot Chamba who got the big end of the money after In My Dreams crossed the wire first but was placed down for causing interference.

The prologue to this final came when the driver assignments were announced, as Anthony Napolitano, third in the Pocono standings, was named on both Altus Hanover and Golden Compass, the only horses to win in all three preliminary legs. Who was Napolitano's choice? Surprisingly to many (but noted by good handicappers), he opted for In My Dreams, who had two wins and a second in the series, but hadn't gone as quickly as the streakers, and drew outside them to boot. Afterwards, it appeared “ANap” made a sharp, but unlucky choice.

The first four “Acts” in this drama were the traditional four quarters of the mile. Golden Compass grabbed the early lead, with In My Dreams going into the pocket by the :26.3 Act I, er, quarter clocking. Macmorris Hanover, who wound up being favored from the rail, was on the move at the first pole, and after a brief skirmish eventually got the lead in the middle of Act II, with the half reached in :56.1.

Act III had the most heavily-concentrated part of the drama in the mile. In My Dreams launched uncovered early down the back in front of Altus Hanover, only to put in some funky steps and go out into the three path. That incident didn't appear to bother the second-over horse too much, but soon another development did – in getting back to two-wide to challenge the leader, In My Dreams appeared to take racing room away by crowding Altus Hanover, as that one gapped towards the 1:25 three-quarters.

The last quarter (Act IV) found the troubled first-over horse putting away the pacesetting favorite fairly easily and going on to cross the wire 2¼ lengths to the good in 1:53.4. The Cantab Hall gelding Chamba, last at head-stretch save for an early breaker, was skillfully steered through a small stretch hole by Simon Allard to photo out Altus Hanover and cross the wire second.

In the traditional “fifth act,” a final decision of the major dramatic action is usually featured, and indeed the judges launched an inquiry and found that In My Dreams had compromised the chances of Altus Hanover. The official 1-2-3 finish became Chamba, Altus Hanover, and In My Dreams, with Macmorris Hanover and Wabanaki deadheating for fourth, another half-length back. Chamba thus got the winner's share for trainer Dean Eckley and owner Mark Akins in the memorable mile.

A $16,500 claiming handicap trot could be seen as a consolation for those not making the Game Of Claims final. And a familiar name turned up in the winner's circle – the Chapter Seven gelding Chapolier, who won his only GOC start and thus missed the finale requirement of racing in all prelims. But Chapolier has done alright for himself, as these are his meet statistics from Feb. 17 to April 29: eight starts, eight wins, $70,000 in earnings, wins for five different trainers (three of them twice, two of them once), and a sixth change of barns to take in after Tuesday's co-feature.

Racing resumes at Pocono on Saturday (May 3), with live racing starting at 1 p.m. Developing younger horses will be featured on the live program; also, a certain thoroughbred race from Kentucky will be available for watching and wagering later in the day. Bettors will already be into high gear by no fewer than three carryovers on the Saturday card: the last race High 5 wager will have gone 11 calendar days without being solved by Saturday, and the Pick 4 and Pick 3 will also have carryover pools.

Sunday cards at 6 p.m. will be added to the regular racing schedule starting this week, joining the established Saturday – Monday – Tuesday at 1 p.m. schedule. Free Pocono program pages are or will be available at www.phha.org.

HALFADOZEN, BUTER STAR AT POCONO MONDAY: The Six Pack filly Halfadozen had been the only 3-year-old trotting miss to sweep her three Bobby Weiss Series preliminaries, but come the $50,000 Weiss championship on Monday afternoon (April 28) at Pocono Downs at Mohegan Pennsylvania, the crowd still dismissed her at 12-1. The tote board did not dismay her at all, though, as she posted a lifetime mark of 1:55 in taking her Weiss crown and remaining undefeated in four seasonal starts.

The bettors may have seen a negative in the fact that in all three of her wins, Halfadozen and driver Dan Dube got a moderate second quarter which helped her in her front stepping victories, and surely all the talent assembled for the final would not allow her such easy factions. But Dube had Halfadozen out between horses early, cleared the innermost foe midway on the first turn, then saw the outermost opponent lose her gait nearing the :27 quarter.

Dube immediately hit the brakes with Halfadozen as no contenders moved in front of the stands, and the pair traveled the second panel in :30 during the :57 half – just the breather she needed. Because the attacks were soon coming fast and furious, and from the favorites – first from favored Gilda Bi first-over, then from far turn sweeper Admiring, and finally from R Jezzy, who had to angle four-wide nearing mid-stretch and was moving quickest of all late. But Halfadozen had built enough of a margin to withstand the late charger by a neck for trainer Pierre Paradis; Dube co-owns the winner with Jean Claude Dessureault.

The Greenshoe filly Dearly Beloved was the only entrant in the $20,000 Weiss consolation to have won a prelim – she skipped the first leg, won the second, but then ruined her chances for the final with a break in the third. Dearly Beloved was on her best behavior Monday, setting all the pace and coming home in :56.3 to complete her mile in a lifetime best 1:53.4 for driver Matt Kakaley, trainer Jenny Melander, and owner Donald Bartling of SJ's Caviar fame.

Aside from the trotting fillies, the star of Monday's Pocono show was driver Tyler Buter, Pocono's leading driver, who perhaps appropriately given the winner of the feature, garnered half-a-dozen victories, two each for three trainers: Hunter Oakes, John Butenschoen, and Robert Cleary. Cleary trains perhaps the most impressive winner of the day, the Sweet Lou filly Tie The Knot, who in her second lifetime start took a mark of 1:50.4 for the ownership of Cleary, Let It Ride Stables Inc., and Jesmeral Stable.

STRUTSVILLE SWEEPS BOBBY WEISS SERIES PRELIMS: Strutsville became the only 3-year-old pacing filly to win all three of her preliminary legs of her Bobby Weiss Series grouping after she won her $20,000 division in 1:54 on a Saturday afternoon (April 26) at Pocono Downs at Mohegan Pennsylvania that saw the track surface rerated several times due to brief alterations in the weather before the day cleared.

In her two earlier wins Strutsville had led at every pole; here she let TH Summer Lovin grab the top before the quick :26.4 quarter – fast track but still seeming a couple of ticks below prime – before going to the lead and getting a :56.2 rest to the half. The price of pacing went up during the dash to the three-quarters in 1:24 as the 25-1 uncovered Cervi actually poked a nose ahead into the far turn, but Strutsville kept her gameness despite Cervi to her right the whole way and a slow-to-clear Albright (also previously two-for-two in the Weiss) narrowing the advantage with every step to her left, getting home a half-length ahead of Cervi and another neck ahead of Albright.

Ridge Warren guided the winning daughter of Huntsville as she ran her record to three-for-four in 2025 and six-for-ten lifetime for trainer Ron Coyne, Jr. and owners Nancy Retzlaff and Douglas Stout.

Sweet Odds also had the chance to have won three Weiss prelims before the May 5 $50,000 final, but after going along on the lead at a good clip over a "good" surface, she couldn't sustain, with the pocket-sitting Lazarus N filly Shesgotthejack equaling her mark of 1:54.2 while defeating 39-1 shot Jordanna Hanover, last at the three-quarters, by a half-length for driver Matt Kakaley, trainer Jacob Hartline, and Anatolia Racing LLC.

And we may not have yet mentioned the filly who could well be favored in the Weiss final – the Papi Rob Hanover distaff Allegra Hanover. First in her series bow and then missing just a nose to Strutsville after a very rough trip last week, Allegra Hanover came first-up in her Weiss division and showed :55.3 finishing speed to win handily in 1:52.1 (fast track) for driver Dexter Dunn, trainer Gareth Dowse, and owners Martin Valentic, T G Stable LLC, and Bill Boyce.

The In The Arsenal filly Defamation took her second straight victory in the Weiss with a two-move victory in a lifetime best 1:53.1 with the track rated "sloppy." Tim Tetrick had the driving assignment for trainer Jeffrey Smith and owners Joseph and Steven Williams.

Dexter Cup signals start of road to the Hambletonian

The road to the 100th edition of the Hambletonian begins with the Dexter Cup (G3) and filly division Lady Suffolk, slated for Saturday (May 3), at the new host track of The Meadowlands, East Rutherford, NJ.

With the recent and unexpected closing of Freehold Raceway, the Dexter Cup, which was first raced at the New Jersey half-miler in 1960, was quickly picked up by Meadowlands management, though they opted to race the stake in divisions rather than eliminations and a final as Freehold did.

Of the 10 eligible after the Feb. 15 payment, six are also eligible to the 100th Hambletonian (G1) in August. They are: Blown Call, Civilian Drone, Hard Seven, Manolo Hanover, My Degenerate and Tactical Dynasty. The list of eligibles can be found at Dexter and Lady Suffolk Eligibles. Eligibles for all Hambletonian Stakes can be found at <https://www.hambletonian.com/eligibles>.

In their new locale the Dexter Cup and Lady Suffolk continue to serve as the kick-off Grand Circuit events for the path to the Hambletonian. Dexter Cup winners have gone on to Hambletonian victory five times: Speedy Scot, Nevele Pride, Lindy's Pride, Armbrø Goal and American Winner. Hambletonian winner Market Share was the favorite in the 2012 Dexter Cup but made a break.

Saturday also marks the beginning of the Meadowlands Championship Season, featuring a stakes-laden calendar and $18 million in purses, FOX NYRA TV coverage, fun events and dining experiences, all leading up to the greatest day in Harness Racing, Hambletonian Day, Aug. 2.

Saturday racing returns to Yonkers this week

MGM Yonkers Raceway is in the midst of a six-day week as Saturday racing is back at the Hilltop oval starting on May 3. While the track was live on Wednesday (April 30), Wednesdays will become a dark day starting next week, putting the track on a Monday/Tuesday and Thursday through Saturday schedule through the remainder of the summer.

The new racing schedule is headlined by several stakes events, starting with the Grade 1 $516,000 MGM Borgata Pacing Series final and the Grade 1 $490,000 Blue Chip Matchmaker Series final on Friday (May 9). Both races will also have consolation events on the same card. Those eligible to each of the stakes events will have a chance to compete for $50,000 in three tests (two for the boys and one for the girls) on Monday (May 5) at the distance of a mile and a quarter.

"We just had so many eligibles that I wanted to create one more opportunity for them to make a little money," said racing secretary Joe Frasure on the added "eligible" races.

The Grand Circuit will come back to Yonkers in June with eliminations (if necessary) for the Grade 2 MGM Yonkers Trot and Grade 2 MGM Grand Messenger Stakes on Friday (June 20) and the finals the following Friday. The companion filly races - the Grade 3 Park MGM Pace and Grade 3 New York New York Mile will also occur on the 27th.

Last, but certainly not least, the Grade 1 $1 million MGM Yonkers International Trot, Grade 2 Aria Invitational Pace and Grade 2 Bob Miecuna Invitational Trot are slated for Sept. 13.

New York Sire Stakes action will also be on the docket throughout the summer, starting on Thursday (June 19) with the first leg for 2-year-old male pacers.

First race post time at MGM Yonkers Raceway remains at 6:45 p.m. (EDT).

Warren to replace Stambaugh as head of MSRF

Cheri Stambaugh, long-time administrator of the Maryland Standardbred Race Fund, will call it a career after 21 years, retiring May 1 to tend to her two cats and her cooking prowess.

Born into a racing family, Stambaugh's father, Al, drove the starting gate for many years at Buffalo Raceway where she worked as a parade marshal and helped out at the family's farm in Boston, NY. She then married the late trainer/driver Paul Glair, tending to his stable at various tracks throughout the country.

Prior to taking on her position with the Maryland Standardbred Race Fund, she managed breeding operations at Fox Den Farm in Union Bridge, MD.

"I will remain as a consultant to the MSRF program for a short period of time," she said, "helping my successor along the way."

Her replacement is former race official Scott Warren of nearby Harrington, DE, last seen as the race secretary at The Meadowlands and Vernon Downs. Ironically, Warren returns "home" to the two tracks he originally started at — Rosecroft Raceway and Ocean Downs.

The MSRF race line remains at 410-775-0152 while Warren can be reached via email at scott@msrfonline.com.

Shenandoah Downs Spring Meet kicks off with Hunter Myers tribute/fundraiser

Shenandoah Downs kicked off its spring harness racing season in Woodstock by paying tribute to driver Hunter Myers. The horse community gathered on-track to observe a moment of silence before the first race to recognize Myers' legacy. A 50/50 raffle was held both Saturday (April 26) and Sunday (April 27) to benefit Myers' fiancée, Chloe, and young son Hayden, and over $2,400 was raised as both raffle winners — local horsemen Steve and Nicole Wetzel and Shenandoah County Fair manager Dawn Burch — donated their winnings right back to the fund.

Combining the raffle earnings with donations from the Virginia Harness Horse Association and Virginia Equine Alliance, a total of $10,000 will be sent to the family on behalf of Shenandoah Downs.

On the track, iconic trainer Roger Hammer had bookend wins in Saturday's opener. The 79-year-old Bedford, PA-based conditioner scored with Cirrus De Vie in the finale — with Billy Carter aboard — and with Maker Dance in the opener, with Fern Paquet, Jr. in the sulky.

Trainer Bryson Dunning had a training hat trick Sunday when his Winbak Willy, Bettor Be Oscar A and Speaking Of Coffee all reached the winner's circle. Woodstock area-based Steve Wetzel also scored with a trio over the two days. His Sea Of Life, D'applersweet and Defriended all prevailed.

Fastest mile of the weekend belonged to Scott Warnick's Lou's Starr who took the lead from track record holder Marco Beach just past the quarter mark in Sunday's $7,000 secondary featured pace and never looked back, crossing 3½ lengths the best in 1:54.4. Dan Chansky of Powhatan, VA, owns the 3-year-old Sweet Lou colt who authored a wire-to-wire victory Monday night (April 21) at Rosecroft in 1:51.2. Last fall, Lou's Starr reeled off five straight victories at the Woodstock half mile oval.

The second fastest mile belonged to Charles Myers' Hillbillypacinhill who powered home to a 1:55 victory Saturday while Wetzel's Sea Of Life ushered out opening weekend in Sunday's finale a tick slower in 1:51.1.

Tracy Bradshaw, whose home base is in Bland, VA — 224 miles southwest of Woodstock — earned his first pari-mutuel driving win on Sunday aboard his 5-year-old Uncle Peter mare, Joan Deer, which he also trains. Bradshaw has been active in Virginia Breeders competition over the years and has five horses stabled at Shenandoah Downs this spring.

Shenandoah Downs will race on Saturday (May 3) — Kentucky Derby Day — at a special post time of 3:05 p.m. The Sunday (May 4) card will run at its regular 1:05 p.m. start.

Harrah's Hoosier Park to host Derby Day festivities

For a second straight year, the 12-race Harrah's Hoosier Park card will begin at 4 p.m. in an effort to introduce more of the Derby Day on-track crowd to harness racing. The decision to move up post time was made in partnership between Harrah's Hoosier Park, the Indiana Standardbred Association, and Indiana Horse Racing Commission.

This year's tournament saw tremendous support from players, spectators and sponsors.

The crowd for the championship game was the largest in years and the turnout for the "Family Skate" was strong. Organizers will plan to bring back the "Family Skate" again next year.

The organizers would like to send a sincere thank you to all the sponsors for their support of the Horsemen's Hockey Tournament. The tournament would not be possible without their support.
