Beau is (almost) back

Horse of the Year Beau Jangles has returned to Canada and is expected to make his first 2026 start soon.

Dave Landry

North America's reigning Beau Jangles (with caretaker Riley Noble after winning the Breeders Crown at Woodbine Mohawk Park last October) has returned to Ontario in preparation for his sophomore season.

THE VIEW FROM WOODBINE MOHAWK PARK

with MELISSA KEITH

On Friday (May 1), a multi-vehicle accident and oil spill on Highway 401 westbound led to a one-day postponement of the Woodbine Mohawk Park qualifiers.

While all of the qualifiers were for 3-year-olds, some of them exclusively so, the most anticipated 3-year-old arrival was just settling into his stall at Shamrock Training Centre in Cambridge, ON around noon on Friday. Beau Jangles (p, 2, 1:48.3s; $1,227,326) had already qualified — twice — at his winter home, Southern Oaks Training Center in Sorrento, FL.

As of Friday, the U.S. and Canadian Horse of the Year's immediate plans were still up in the air, according to his multiple-O'Brien Award-winning trainer Dr. Ian Moore.

Beau Jangles concluded his perfect 2025 season with a career-best 1:48.3 victory in the Oct. 24 Breeders Crown 2-Year-Old Colt Pace final at Mohawk. Wintering in Florida with Moore and caretaker Riley Noble, the star pacer enjoyed turnout before resuming training in early 2026.

> ~ Dr. Ian Moore

On March 28, Beau Jangles trained in 1:55m at Southern Oaks, alongside 4-year-old stablemate Prince Hal Hanover. On April 10, the 3-year-old won his comeback qualifier by a neck in 1:51.3 over Odds On Bullfrog, with Prince Hall Hanover third. Co-owner Jonathan Roberts drove Beau Jangles to the win, with the colt's regular driver, Bob McClure, in the sulky behind 2025 Ontario Sires Stakes Grassroots final winner Odds On Bullfrog instead. On April 17, Beau Jangles and McClure won their first 2026 qualifier together in 1:50.4, equaling the fastest mile by a North American sophomore pacer so far this season.

Beau Jangles is sustained to the WEG SBOA Stake, with eliminations for 3-year-old males slated for Saturday (May 9), as well as the Grade 3 Somebeachsomewhere Stake, with divisions on Saturday (May 30). Ontario Sires Stakes Gold leg 1 for 3-year-old male pacers is scheduled for Saturday (May 23) at Mohawk, making it another possibility for Beau Jangles' undetermined pari-mutuel return.

The colt himself seemed eager to resume racing, observed Moore.

"All of the good horses are smart," he said on April 3. "They do things different than other horses. Like Beau Jangles, today, just stops and looks at everybody. He looks around as if to say, 'Here I come, boys!'"

Owned by Graham Grace Stables LLC of Clifton, VA; Kiwi Stables LLC of La Plata, MD; and Bolton Stables of Clermont, FL, the son of Cattlewash—Mrs Major Hill added one new owner this year: Anne Hooper, the girlfriend of Jonathan Roberts.

Moore said that he first connected with the owners via a trotting mare, Call Me Goo (4, 1:50.4m; $1,152,792).

"I had her for a while, because she wasn't right," Moore said. "I got her right, but we didn't race her a whole lot… She ended up being a [2024] Breeders Crown winner for Ake [Svanstedt]. She was a classy, classy mare, which is why they sent her to me. That's how I got hooked up with Adam Ainspan [of Graham Grace Stables] and Jonathan Roberts [of Kiwi Stables], Beau Jangles' connections."

Under Moore's brief tutelage, Call Me Goo won the 2023 Casual Breeze (Grade 3) at Mohawk, finished third in her Elegantimage (Grade 1) elim, and broke stride late in the final.

Beau Jangles made his debut in a June 13, 2025 baby race at Mohawk, with Moore in the sulky. Although he finished third that day, the colt closed in :26 flat, the quickest last quarter of the day's 13 qualifiers. It was the first and only non-winning charted mile of his career.

"This is how Beau Jangles went: I qualified him; Louis [Philippe Roy] qualified him [June 21, 2025]; and Louis was going to drive him [July 5, 2025], [but] then he's away that weekend for the start," Moore said.

It turned out that Bob McClure was available to drive the colt in the OSS Gold leg 1 at Mohawk.

"That's how he got the ride."

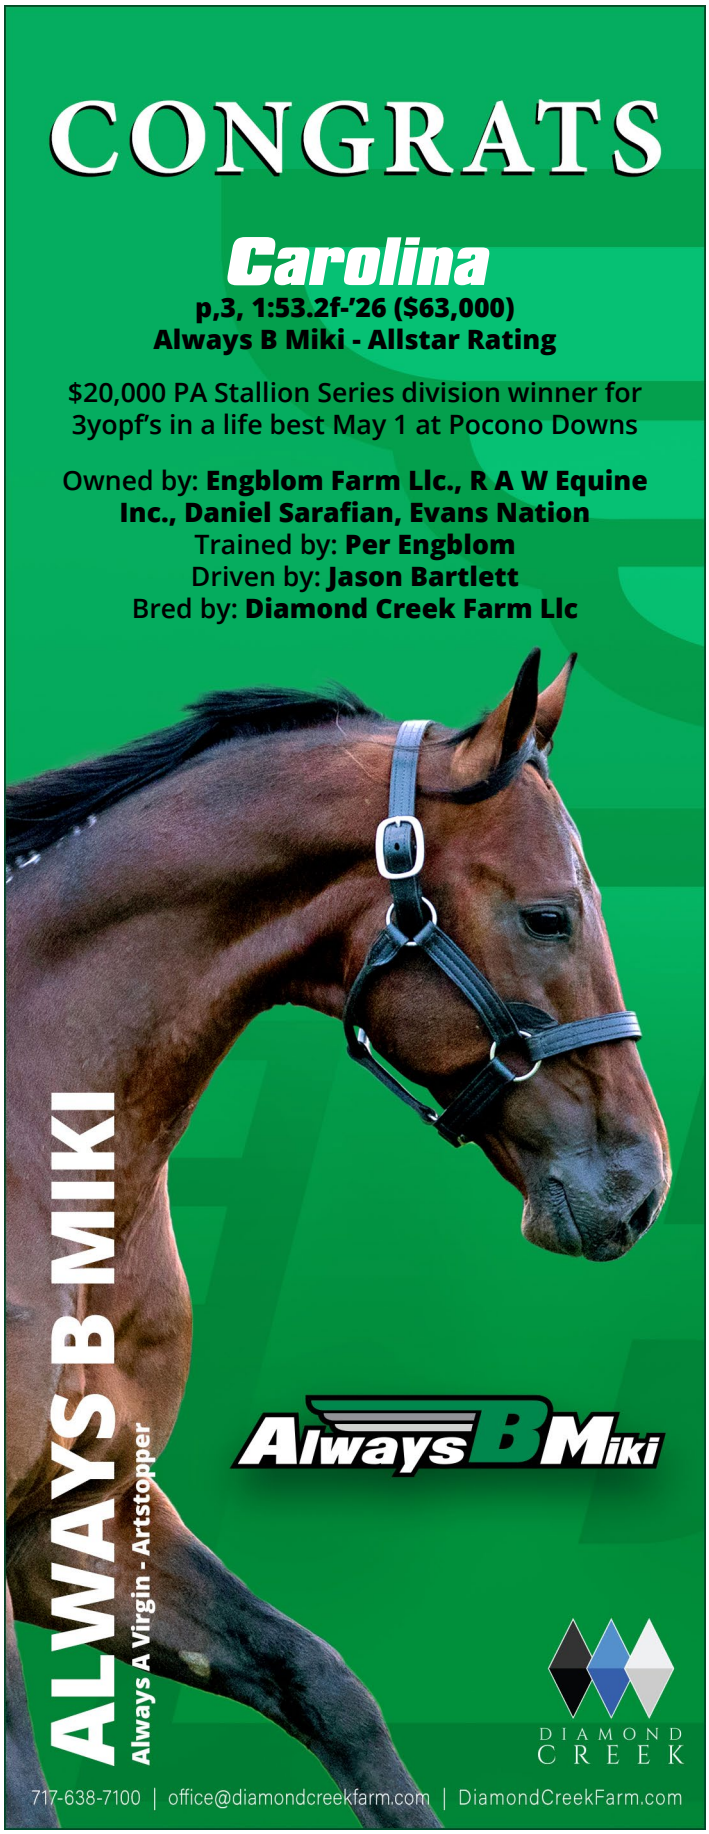

McClure subsequently drove Beau Jangles to every one of his 2025 victories.

After the most successful year yet for 2025 O'Brien Trainer of the Year and O'Brien Award of Horsemanship recipient Moore (UTRS .346), he said he was not looking to change anything in his approach this season. Moore trainees earned $2,758,532 last year, winning 47 of 223 starts.

"The goal would be that every year is the same; I just like to have a decent stable of horses," Moore said. "I like to have good help around me, to help me with those horses because I can't do it all myself. I like for everything to go well for everybody, as best we can, and keep everybody happy… and at the end of the year, if we make some money and do well, that's a bonus for me, that's for sure. This year, that goal would also include the hope and the optimism that we can keep Beau Jangles going at the level that he visited last year and that we hope he will visit again this year."

As for Woodbine Mohawk Park visitors awaiting Beau Jangles' triumphant return to his home track, the wait is (almost) over.

Family defines Steve Jones' Cameo Hills Farm

TALES FROM THE CURMUDGEON

with MURRAY BROWN

by Murray Brown

It has been nigh on 55 years that I have known Steve Jones. Then only 11 years old, he was a youngster riding along with his dad, Hall of Famer Hal Jones, who, at the time, was the farm manager at Hanover Shoe Farms.

Steve said that he really didn't get involved with an interest in harness racing until he was well into his teens. I'm inclined to disagree with that assessment. In addition to his involvement with horses, like most youngsters Steve had a love for most sports both in playing and in following them. But make no mistake about it, horses and harness racing were at the top of his totem pole.

I look upon Steve as having been born into that proverbial feed bucket. He has been around horses and harness racing all of his life. Deeply etched into this now fading memory of mine is a picture of myself often arriving at the office in the evening, more than once seeing this young kid perusing old catalogs, horse magazines, and sires and dams books - certainly not something that many 11-year-olds would be spending their spare time doing.

> ~ Steve Jones

It has been six years since we first spoke with Steve in HRU. At the time, he was near the beginning of developing Cameo Hills into one of the prominent standardbred farms in the country and maybe even the world.

You have built upon the tradition first established by your dad Hal, your mom Marie, and your brother Mike when Cameo Hills Farm was first established. What has changed since then?

"The philosophy hasn't changed much. The goal then, as it is now was to concentrate on the quality of the horses. What has changed now and has changed immeasurably are the means to achieve that never changing goal.

"If you were to ask of the genesis of reaching that goal, I'd go back to 1972. Albatross was a 4-year-old. The horse's future stud career was in the midst of a far from amiable shakeup.

"John Simpson, the president of Hanover Shoe Farms representing the Stanley Dancer group at odds had come to an agreement to purchase the horse for an unheard price,

$2,500,000. This price represented the very first time that Hanover Shoe Farms would go into debt to secure a horse. The purchase price was not only monumental, but especially added to that risk was the fact that no guarantees came with it. Not only, were there no fertility guarantees, but the buyers didn't even know whether Albatross could breed a mare, let alone get a full book of mares in foal. All they would be getting was the horse, his halter and his registration papers.

"My dad had been a huge fan of Albatross. He believed him to be the greatest horse he had ever seen in a lifetime of seeing all of the greats. He told Mr. Simpson that he would like to buy a share in the horse. The price was $50,000. That represented all the money my parents had accumulated in their lives. My mom might have wavered a bit. Dad never hesitated. This was a great horse, in his opinion, the greatest one ever. He was certain that he would become a great stallion, maybe even one for the ages. As gamblers today would say, they were all in.

"Albatross became what dad believed he was going to be and maybe even more, a horse for the ages. He also became for the Joneses somewhat of a cash cow. But very little of the money he generated was taken out of the game. Instead, almost all of it was invested in the industry, primarily in broodmares, but also in

> *"If there is one thing that defines Cameo Hills it is the importance of family. My wife Kathy does the books, is a presence on social media, supervises the production of our yearling videos, inseminates the mares and keeps us all in rein. > stallion shares and in land and in farm upkeep. All that we have today probably traces to that gamble in a share of Albatross."

You have reached the stage where you are one of the leaders in the breeding industry, not only as a breeding farm, but also personally as a director of the Hambletonian Society, a director of the Harness Racing Museum & Hall of Fame and the president of the Goshen Historic Track.

"I suppose that one thing led to another. But the bottom line and the roots of any success we may have achieved go back to our ability to breed quality horses — emphasis on the term quality, which I would define as a combination of great bloodlines and conformation with outstanding racetrack performance thrown in for good measure. It's a triangle which I believe to be necessary to success. Ideally you need all three. But without pedigree, the other two, although exceptionally important in my opinion, are not near enough."

The Jones family has achieved remarkable growth since its one mare broodmare band, Cameo Wick, from which the farm derives its name, to its status near the top of today's breeding ranks.

"Growth and quality in reverse order; any success the farm has achieved are the reasons for that happening. Of course, good horsemanship is a necessity, but I consider that to be a given.

"Assuming that you do everything right, if you don't have quality bloodstock, in today's market, the best bloodstock, you are not going to be successful.

"That is what we have always striven for. Investments in the best broodmares and stallion shares that we could afford has been what drives us. If we set our sights on an available quality mare, you are going to have to pay a pretty penny in order to get her away from us."

How, horse-wise, is Cameo Hills presently constituted?

"We own 60 some mares, roughly a third are trotters and two-thirds pacers.

"We have 42 yearlings. Thirty are consigned to Lexington, with 12 going to Goshen. Last year we were fortunate enough to have obtained the highest yearling average for each of those sales.

"Thus far, we have had 49 foals born here at the farm, with 23 yet to come. Of course, those numbers represent outside owned foals as well.

"Our mares are booked to most of the prominent stallions throughout North America. We stand Huntsvile here and we own a good piece of him. He has shown to be among the best, so it's no surprise that we are breeding more mares to him than any other horse."

Among trotting horses, you are breeding more to Chapter Seven than any other.

"The only answer to that question, if it is a question, is because he is unquestionably the best trotting stallion out there. Not only is he the best, but he has also done the remarkable job that he has achieved against significant odds.

"We have owned shares in him from the outset. But if the truth were known, I wasn't a true believer. Chances are, if he wasn't standing in New York, just down the road from us, I likely would not have bought into him from the beginning.

"He was a very good racehorse, but not necessarily a great one. I'm most likely to invest in the great horse over the very good one. The fact that he wore trotting hobbles might have negated interest in his yearlings at the start, especially from the Europeans.

"But with stallions, you never know. Something I point out to my sons, Tyler and Jake, are the many questions in this game.

As much as we try to emphasize quality in what we offer, we sold the highest priced Chapter Seven at Lexington, in effect achieving our goal, and the cheapest one, perhaps disproving it. As disappointing as that relatively cheap price might have been, it shows an asset I think that we as market breeders possess. That is, we sell all our yearlings for whatever the market feels they might be worth."

You are among the very few major breeders, perhaps the only one, who hasn't yet availed itself of the rich Kentucky program. Others have established farms in Kentucky, built satellite operations there or are sending mares there at other farms to take advantage of the mare residency requirements. Is there a reason why?

"In simplistic terms, I suppose it's because we haven't felt the need to do so. At least that is presently our status. Looking at it more closely, we like to be directly in charge of our horses and do what needs to be done in raising them as we think best. Having them at our own place in New York under our own watchful eyes has served us well.

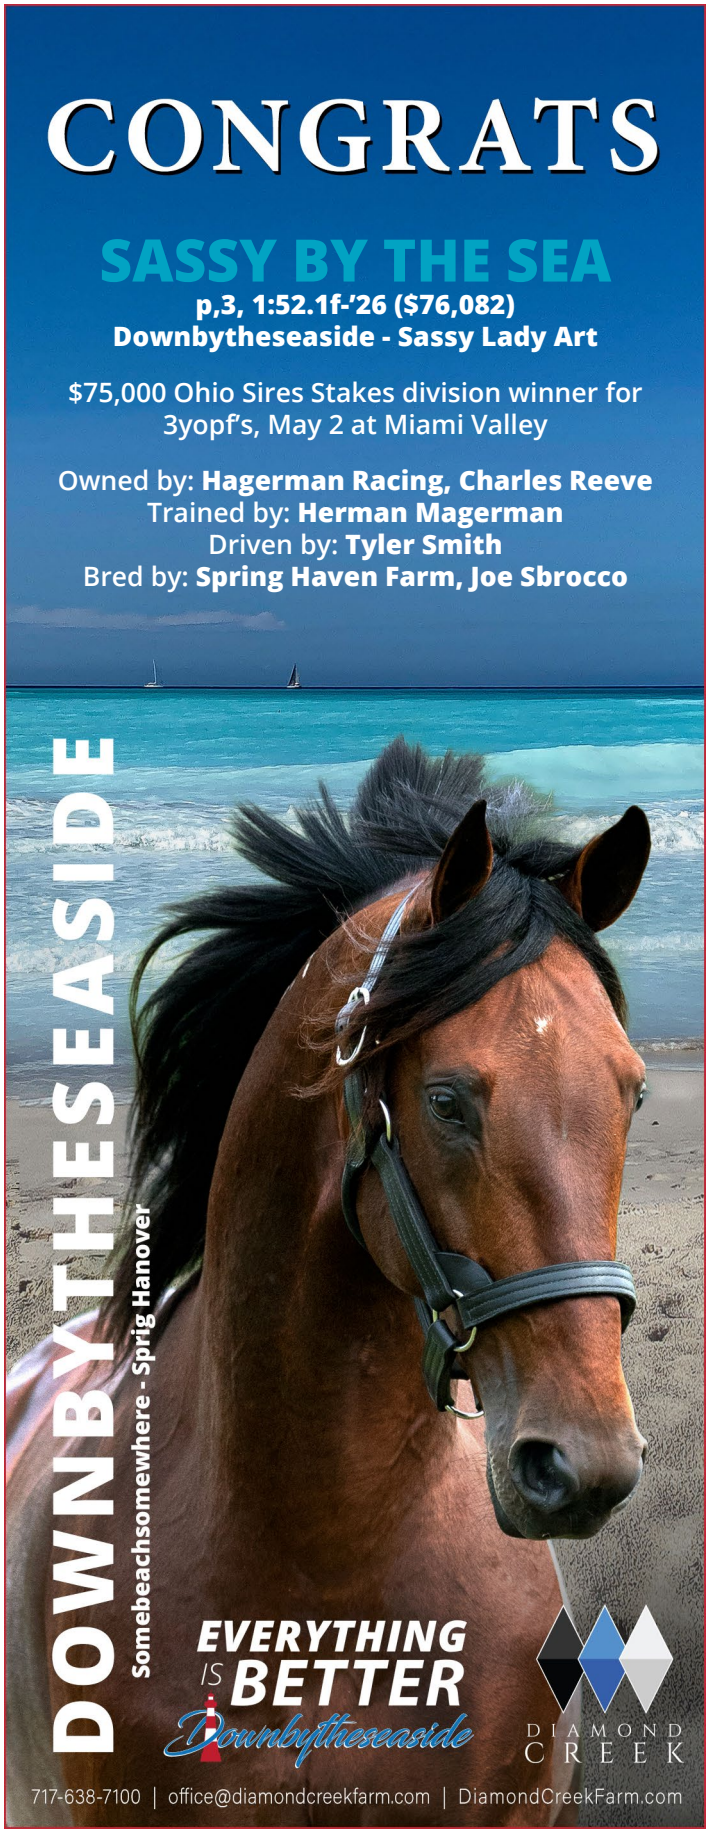

"Would we get more money for our yearlings if they were dual eligible? Maybe. Would the increase in revenue be enough to counter balance the costs associated with having them eligible to the Kentucky program and perhaps the associated lack of confidence in not having them here? Honestly, I don't know. But as it now stands, I feel quite confident in how things are. Things can change. But I don't envision that happening in the near future."

You mention your sons Tyler and Jake, that represent a third generation in the business.

"Actually, if I were picking nits, I'd say a fourth generation. Dad's father was also a horseman. Both boys seem to love the game. They are learning and keep learning. Most importantly, they have learned the importance of hard work from which there is no substitute. In addition to any other work that they might be called upon to perform, both boys collect our stallions Huntsville and So Surreal.

"If there is one thing that defines Cameo Hills it is the importance of family. My wife Kathy does the books, is a presence on social media, supervises the production of our yearling videos, inseminates the mares and keeps us all in rein. The two boys keep adding to their responsibilities. Although I don't like to look upon myself as being one, I suppose I now might be looked upon as Dan Altmeyer described himself a few weeks back, as an elder statesman."

Sunday Swagger's sophomore debut a departure from frustrating freshman campaign

by James Platz

Sophomore Sunday Swagger rolled to an open lengths victory in his seasonal debut Wednesday (April 29) at Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing & Casino, tripping the timer in 1:55.2 in a $12,000 opening leg of The Expresson. Trainer Jay Hochstetler said he was pleased with the effort from his Dover Dan—Sweet Thing homebred, a trotter that he categorized as "very frustrating" as a freshman.

"You know, we thought the world of him," Hochstetler said. "We thought he was just a really nice colt. I think we had too much confidence in him. He was so handy to train, but not so much in a race. Anything would set him off, and he was a little over-aggressive. When he got over-aggressive, he wasn't very good-gaited. I think immaturity was the biggest part of it, but the thing about him, he was never tired. If he got beat, he beat himself, because he wasn't mentally in it, or you had to be too careful with him."

Looking through Sunday Swagger's past performances last season reinforces Hochstetler's comments. The gelding made breaks in his pari-mutuel debut, but rebounded to finish second in Indiana Sires Stakes action. The trotter broke his maiden in early August, but the victory was bookended by breaks in Sires Stakes competition that resulted in placings that took him off the board or out of the money.

HPIBET
CHAMPIONS OFF TRACK BETTING

Despite the struggles, Sunday Swagger appeared to be rounding into form late in the season, marked by a third-place effort in the Grade 3 $75,000 Madison County and 1:54.3 score in a $46,000 Sires Stakes division. That victory qualified the gelding for the $250,000 Super Final, where Hochstetler believed Sunday Swagger stood a good chance in a competitive field void of a heavy favorite. Driven by Marcus Miller, the homebred set the pace through three-quarters-of-the-mile before fading to eighth.

"At the end of the season last year, right before the sire stakes final, he won his last sires stakes leg really impressively, and then he comes up sick in the final," Hochstetler said. "That was another frustrating part, when we thought we finally got his mental errors corrected, he comes up sick. But he trained down so good this winter, and we were really excited about him, and the first start was a good step forward."

Sunday Swagger is the third generation in the pedigree to race out of the Hochstetler barn. It started with Jay's father, Homer, campaigning Berdine Hanover in Chicago circa 2008. The Kadabra mare, owned in partnership by Connie Hochstetler and Robert Buddig, only made five sophomore starts, taking her 2:01.3 mark at Balmoral Park.

"She had talent, but she broke a knee, and so we thought enough of her to keep her as a broodmare, and she was a pretty solid broodmare for us," Jay said. "She produced quite a few decent racehorses, Sweet Thing being the best one of them."

Chocolatier mare Sweet Thing ranks second in wins and earnings among Berdine Hanover's foals. Over four seasons she made 80 starts for the Hochstetler-Buddig partnership, winning 16 times and finishing on the board in another 32 attempts. Sweet Thing finished her career with a 1:53.1 mark, taken at age 5 while racing at Tioga Downs, and her career bankroll sits at $238,858.

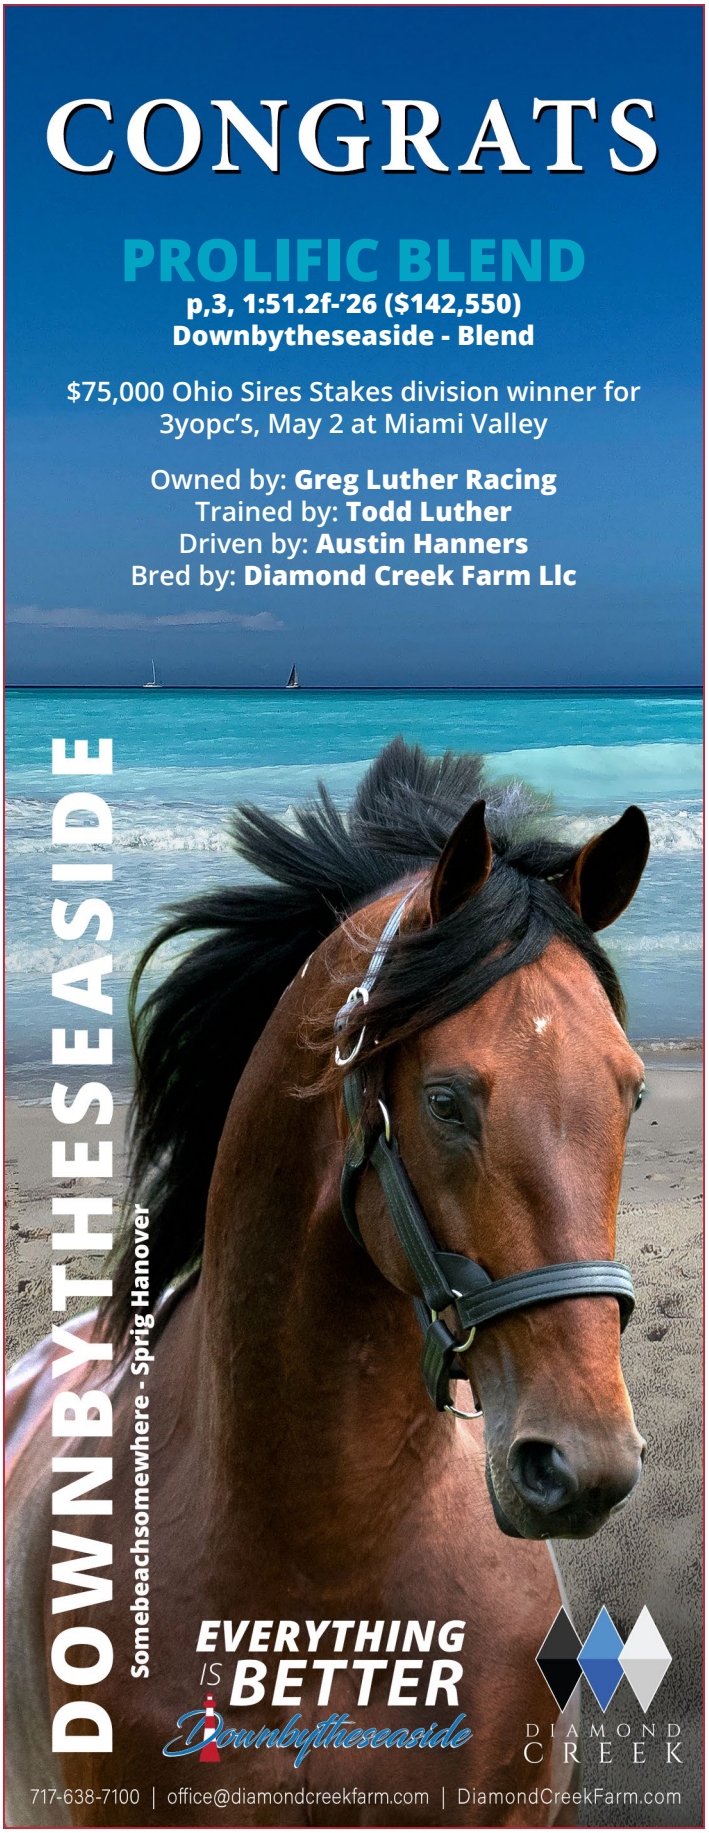

"She was two fingers to drive, she was perfect gated, and I think the only time she ever made a break in her life was when she hit a wheel," Jay said. "She was just one of those super nice mares to deal with, and we retired her and kept her as a broodmare."

As a broodmare, Sweet Thing is a 100-per cent producer. Sunday Swagger is the fifth foal from the mare, and second colt. The conditioner believes he is the best to date.

"The first few fillies were really hot and didn't have the greatest attitudes in the world," he said. "They would show little flashes of being good, like the Miss Dior sister, she was second in the Kentucky Sire Stakes at Oak Grove, and I thought she was really going to be a nice horse. That was kind of her one flash of glory, and she never replicated that. And then the first colt didn't have a lot of speed. This colt came along and he's quirky, but he's willing where the others weren't really willing."

Despite the frustrating freshman campaign, Sunday Swagger grew up over the winter, and Jay noticed a marked change in the trotter. Those changes also translated to the racetrack Wednesday.

"He's been just really handy," he said. "He jogs like a gentleman now. Marcus was really happy with how he handled the post parade, and how he handled leaving off of the car. Those were problems for him last year. He was really rank in a post parade for a couple races last year, you couldn't really settle him into a hole off of the car for a lot of races, and so far, he's been great."

Starting from post 4 in a field of six, Miller and Sunday Swagger tucked in third behind leader Inverness Ave and Bravo Alpha, patiently trotting through quarters of :27.1, :57.2, and 1:28.1. Racing through the second turn, Miller pulled the right line and moved the gelding out to challenge. Once in the stretch, Sunday Swagger did the rest, kicking home with a 27-second last quarter to pull away by nearly five lengths. A winner in his debut, the homebred is owned by Jay's parents, Buddig, and Allen Schwartz.

"I wanted to see him handle leaving the car and sitting in a hole, and not being uncontrollable, and he was a perfect gentleman that way," the trainer said. "When Marcus pulled him, he just exploded. It was a really windy night, and he didn't know it. He cut right through it."

The Expresson late closing series offers another leg and final leading into the start of Indiana Sires Stakes. Jay believes he has a trotter that can contend within the Indiana program's top division. He also made comparisons between the sophomore and another diagonal-gaited veteran in his barn, $800,000 winner Ponda Jet.

"He's definitely a cool horse to be around," Jay said. "He likes work. I think that's kind of a Dover Dan thing. He kind of reminds me of Ponda Jet in a way. They're headstrong, and they're a little quirky, but they're never tired and they love work."

MEADOWLANDS MATTERS with DEBBIE LITTLE

The finish line is in view for Kelly Putaski

by Debbie Little

With more than four decades in the business, over half of which at The Meadowlands, long-time program director Kelly Putaski is ready to turn the page and retire shortly after the conclusion of the Championship Meet.

Putaski, 61, grew up in Vernon, NY, and started out as a groom in 1980 for his dad and uncle, before moving on to rub horses for several prominent horsemen, including Herve Filion.

But it wasn't until he met presiding judge Ozzie Cole at New York's Afton Fair that Putaski would find his true calling, so to speak.

While Putaski was working in the race office as a summer fair intern for the U.S. Trotting Association, Cole took him under his wing, and would eventually give him his first job as a program director at Toledo's Raceway Park in 1985. The following year, Putaski was offered a gig as program director at Freehold Raceway, where he would stay until the track was sold in 2000.

It was at Freehold that Putaski first worked with Karen Fagliarone, The Big M's current race secretary.

"I can tell you that he is extremely good at his job," Fagliarone said. "He doesn't miss a beat. When he worked for me at Freehold, he would stay late, hours after the last race, just to make sure he didn't miss anything… He was always willing to help out and is just a perfect employee."

At the end of 2001, Putaski was hired for his current job at The Big M, which he officially started when racing opened for 2002.

"Once I got to The Meadowlands, I learned fast that they did a lot of different things that I never did at Freehold," Putaski said. "It might have been the same job, but it wasn't the same workload. I had an assistant who did a lot of the proofreading, Diane Stevenson. I was kind of like the closer. She was the starting pitcher and I was kind of like coming in to be the backstop, and finalize the program, but then we had some staffing changes, and I ended up taking over everything."

Putaski said a lot more than proofreading goes on behind the scenes before that program is camera ready.

"There are so many departments that come into play," he said. "You've got the race office, you've got the state vet's office clearing Lasix that I have to talk to before anything goes to press, and the judges supply me with the driver changes and scratches. I do the stewards' list, I've done that for 25 years, and I do the claims. There are just a lot of things that just become kind of ingrained in what you do.

"And I don't know if the average gambler knows that. They just expect that when they go to pick up a program, it's going to be there and it's going to help them make decisions on who they think will win the race or be in the first three, or whatever the gimmicks are that they want to try and hit."

Putaski is also the chart caller at the East Rutherford mile oval, a skill he unexpectedly learned that first year as a fair intern.

"Somebody came in [to the race office at the Clearfield Fair in Pennsylvania], I think it was Roger Hammer, and he wanted some lines on Tyanna, who was his big filly at the time," Putaski said. "And they said, 'Kelly, you want to learn how to chart?' I'm like, 'Okay.' And me and the assistant director went up in the bleachers and we charted a few races. I mean, I had no clue what the hell I was doing at first. He said, 'Just call when the horses get through the quarter pole… it was like a five-horse field, so it wasn't that big of a deal. I kind of got the hang of it after a race or two, and I didn't know that eventually that would be what I would be doing for 40 years. But hey, you never know.

"My first year of charting at a pari-mutuel track was '85, and every horse in every race had the same color saddle pad. You just had to figure out the number. It was a five-eighths-mile track, so it wasn't that difficult."

Of those two important skills that Putaski has painstakingly polished over his many years in the business, he said he does prefer one to the other.

"I would say I enjoy working the program and doing that in the office probably a little more than being upstairs [charting]," he said. "I like to put together a program and strive to put the best program out I can for our betting public, giving them a very accurate tool for them to make their betting decisions."

Putaski said he is particularly proud of the job everyone does putting together the Hambletonian program each year because he knows it's the one that will have the most eyes on it.

"As far as the Hambo program, that's a lot more stress," he said. "Basically, we do a double print on the Wednesday of Hambo week, so you don't have that extra day to check things. You've got to get it done. It's got to be ready to go, because as soon as you finish with the Friday program, they're already at your throat trying to get that Hambletonian one out.

"And you're dealing with the Hambletonian office, and there are a lot more sponsors that have to be correct. It's just more involved. It's more information and you want it to be the best product you can possibly get, because you're going to have a big audience, and you just want to do it right."

Putaski's attention to detail has not gone unnoticed by his superiors.

"Kelly's always done a great job for us," said Big M chief operating officer/general manager Jason Settlemoir. "He brings a remarkably high level of excellence to a position that requires an intense level of attention to detail. And he's always done that flawlessly. In addition, he's someone easy to work with and is popular with the entire staff. He's part of the fabric of The Meadowlands and we're sorry to see him go but wish him all the best in his retirement."

> *"I would say I enjoy working the program and doing that in the office probably a little more than being upstairs [charting]. > ~ Kelly Putaski

Putaski already has some thoughts in mind as he charts his course in a new direction.

"You know, I've been doing this up and back for 25 years," said Putaski, who is very involved in his small, local community in Oakhurst, NJ. It is less than five minutes from Monmouth Park, which, even on a good day, is more than an hour's drive from The Big M. "I drive a lot of carpools when I'm available."

Even though The Meadowlands only races two nights a week, as program director, Putaski's job runs Tuesday-Saturday, so spending fewer hours on the New Jersey Turnpike and Garden State Parkway will allow him to enjoy more time at home with his wife of 30 years, Joy, and their daughter, Jessica.

He said he also intends to enjoy a couple of other sports.

"I did play a lot of golf, and then I kind of slipped away from it, but I definitely have somebody in mind that I could play with once I have more free time," Kelly said. "He's a guy that I bowl with. He likes to play golf and likes to bowl, so I think I'm probably going to be hitting him up."

Kelly is a league bowler who has two sanctioned 300 games in addition to four that he's thrown in practice.

"I probably will go back to two leagues a week; I'm down to one right now," he said. "It's a little hectic when you're trying to cover the program department, and squeeze in bowling twice a week. But now, I bowl on Monday, and I don't work on Monday."

Over the years, Kelly has filled in as a chart caller at several tracks, so should the call come for help somewhere, especially at The Meadowlands or North of the Border, he said he'd be open to the possibility.

"I've already kind of made it known that when I leave, if anyone needs me to do qualifiers or baby races, I'd be more than willing to do it to help out," he said. "I mean, I'm an hour away, but I'd like to keep my gear up there.

"I have never charted in Canada and I wouldn't mind doing that."

The Hambletonian is 100 years in and less than 100 days out

by Bob Heyden

The second century of the Hambletonian is now underway and the sport's signature event is less than 100 days out. What better time to take a look at, and wonder, if what we saw the past 100 years can in any way be duplicated, or bettered, in the next century.

1. Will Anne Stoebe put her name with Hambletonia-winning female trainers Linda Toscano, Paula Wellwood, and Nancy Takter this Aug. 8?

2. Will anyone be able to do what Scott Zeron did and take down three Hambletonian trophies before turning 35?

3. Can John Campbell's record six Hambletonian victories be eclipsed?

4. Will Muscle Hill, now 20, still have his fastball in the second hundred after already having a first-crop winner (Trixton, 2014), a Triple Crown winner (Marion Marauder, 2016), and a filly (Ramona Hill, 2020) emerge victorious?

5. Will we ever hold a Hambletonian again on a Sunday as we did in 1968 in Nevele Pride's dominant Triple Crown year?

6. Will we see a horse win the Hambletonian but no other race ever, as Calumet Butler did in 1931?

7. Will the streak of seven-figure Hambletonians — that stands at 44 and no other horse race can claim — continue?

8. Will we ever climb back up to $1.5 million as the Hambletonian was from 2005-12?

9. Several trainers and drivers have gone back-to-back in the Hambletonian, but will we ever see one win three straight?

10. Will anyone younger than Peter Haughton (21) get a check in the Hambletonian or win a Hambletonian heat (1980, Final Score) or win it all (1982, Speed Bowl) younger than Tommy Haughton at 23 and 25, respectively?

11. Will anyone match what Deweycheatumnhowe did in 2008 and win the Hambletonian unblemished at 2 and 3 at that point?

12. Will anyone win the Hambletonian and the Triple Crown in their very first appearance like Howard Beissinger did in 1969 with Lindys Pride?

13. Any chance we'll see both Hambletonian heat winners come from the second tier in the same year like Joie De Vie and Duenna (both post 12) did in 1983?

14. Will we see another Hambletonian winner also having won a claiming race on his PPs as Historic Freight did just seven weeks prior to capturing the 1984 Hambletonian?

15. Can we ever roll another pair of 10s as we did in 2023 when Tactical Approach and Heaven Hanover won the Hambletonian and Hambletonian Oaks, respectively, from the outermost spot on the gate?

16. Will we ever see another amateur driver win the Hambletonian as Harrison Hoyt did in 1948 and Mal Burroughs did in 1997?

Liberte de Choisel continues to impress at Vincennes

by Thomas Hedlund

Liberte de Choisel delivered another strong performance on Saturday (May 2), capturing the semi-classic $125,000 Prix Albert Demarcq for 5-year-olds at Vincennes.

Driven by Anthony Barrier, the Sylvain Dupont-trained mare moved to the lead with 1,700 meters to go. Turning for home, she kicked clear and drew away effortlessly to score in a mile rate of 1:56.3 over 2,850 meters.

Lombok Jiel broke stride with 50 meters remaining while holding second, and race favorite Lancier du Goutier also made an early break in the stretch. The runner-up spot instead went to L'As Desbois, with Learn To Fly finishing third.

Liberte de Choisel has now firmly established herself among the top of her generation, having earlier this year won the Group I Prix Bold Eagle, along with the semi-classic races the Prix Ariste Hémard and Prix Guy Le Gonidec.

IDYLLE EXPRESS POWERS HOME

Idylle Express produced a powerful performance to take the $90,000 Prix du Rouergue at Vincennes in a 1:51.4 mile rate over 2,100 meters.

After racing three-wide early, she advanced to the death seat (first-over) with about a mile to go before taking command with 700 meters remaining. The early pace was strong — Hurricane Carter set fractions of 1:22.2 for the first 1,200 meters — but none could challenge Mathieu Mottier's mare in the stretch.

Hurricane Carter held second, with Indus Val third.

DREAM MINE SHINES IN SEASONAL DEBUT

Sweden's 2025 Horse of the Year, Dream Mine (Maharajah), made a winning seasonal debut in the $50,000 Berth Johansson Memorial at Umåker.

Trained by Jörgen Westholm and driven by Mats Djuse, the 5-year-old started from post 7 and was taken back to last early. With a hot pace up front, Dream Mine sat fourth-over before launching a sweeping move 800 meters from home.

Despite a wide trip, he took command early in the stretch and won convincingly in a 1:53.3 mile rate over 2,140 meters.

"He felt a bit lazy early, but the pace was strong and he really accelerated through the final turn," said Djuse. "It felt over pretty quickly in the stretch."

After dominating his 4-year-old campaign, Dream Mine looks set for another big season — and could well be a candidate for Elitloppet.

MELLBY JINX WINS PARALYMPIATRAVET QUALIFIER

Daniel Wäjersten captured the final qualifier for the $300,000 Paralympiatravet at Åby with Mellby Jinx, who led gate-to-wire in a track-record 1:52.

Wäjersten had four starters in the race, and only Double Deceiver, driven by Örjan Kihlström, mounted a serious challenge from the death seat before tiring in the final turn.

Despite the victory, Mellby Jinx is not a confirmed starter in the final. Wäjersten has already announced that defending champion Borups Victory will skip the race to focus fully on Elitloppet — where he received his invitation later that evening. It will be his third consecutive appearance in the race.

FINLANDIA-AJO LINEUP GROWS

Another Wäjersten stable star, Gio Cash, has been invited to the $220,000 Finlandia-Ajo at Vermo Racetrack on May 10, where the winner earns an Elitloppet berth.

THE DOWN UNDER DIARY

with ADAM HAMILTON

Captains Mistress solidifies her reputation as a top mare with dominant Queen Elizabeth II win

by Adam Hamilton

It was a night for the girls and Australasia's pacing queen, Captains Mistress, made sure it was all about her.

The 4-year-old former Kiwi is unquestionably one of the best Down Under mares of the modern area and underlined it again on the "Pacing for Pink" night at Menangle on Saturday (May 2).

She turned Australasia's premier mares' race, the $200,000 Group 1 Queen Elizabeth II Mile, into an absolute romp.

Captains Mistress (Captaintreacherous—Imaginary Bet) paced to the front from post 2 and cruised home by 12.7 meters in a 1:49.7 mile.

She blasted home in closing splits of :53.3 and :26.4.

"The sectionals [times] she puts up at the back end of these strong miles is just incredible," said her driver Cam Hart. "It's like strapping yourself onto a rocket and just holding on."

After building a terrific record at 2 and 3 with trainer/driver Nathan Williamson in New Zealand, Captains Mistress' leviathan owner Mick Boots moved her across to top Menangle trainer Jason Grimson late last year.

The result? Seven wins in eight starts, with three of those wins at Group 1 level, and a desperately unlucky fifth to the great Leap To Fame in the Miracle Mile.

She became just the fourth mare in the history of the race to beat the boys in the Group 1 Chariots Of Fire on March 7.

Many felt that with a clear run at a crucial stage, she may have become the first 4-year-old mare to win a Miracle Mile, too.

Such is her brilliance, that Grimson was content to take her into Saturday's race without a race since the Miracle Mile seven weeks ago.

Club Menangle/Pacepix

Club Menangle/Pacepix

Rockinwithattitude (David Miles) winning the Macarthur Mile on Saturday.

Most drivers long for one "life changing" horse, but at the age of just 27, Hart has had two.

Champion stayer Swayzee has won him two New Zealand Cups, two Hunter Cups, a Victoria Cup, a Blacks A Fake, and so much more.

And now along comes Captains Mistress.

While he opted to drive Swayzee when they clashed in that Miracle Mile, Grimson thinks things would be different now.

"I think [Hart would] go with Captains Mistress now if he had to choose again," Grimson said.

Hart said, "[Swayzee] and Captains Mistress are so different, but amazing in their own ways.

"Swayzee is the greatest horse I've driven and he's done things for me, Jase [Grimson] and Mick [Boots], we'll never forget and may never do again.

"And now we're together again with Captains Mistress, who is just a freak, a superstar and for sheer excitement, the best I've driven. She's just got so much speed."

Fans are hoping Boots reconsiders his plan to retire Captains Mistress to the breeding barn later this season.

Her next target is Queensland for what shapes up as an epic $350,000 Group 1 Rising Sun at Albion Park on July 4.

Despite the stars lining up for it, Captains Mistress is $1.60 (for a $1 bet) in early markets for the race.

Interestingly, winning the Rising Sun would get Captains Mistress a golden ticket into $1 million Inter Dominion pacing final at the same track two weeks later.

Grimson hinted connections would consider taking up that challenge.

"We drove her for a soft run in the Miracle Mile because we weren't quite sure how she'd match up against those tough old stars, but now we've seen she can, it would be a different story," Grimson said.

Captains Mistress was Hart's second Group 1 win on Saturday's stellar card and took his career Group 1 tally to 24.

Hart continued his fantastic strike rate with the premier Victorian stable of Emma Stewart and Clayton Tonkin with a dominant win aboard Arrhythmia (Vincent—Jo An Leonie) in the $200,000 Group 1 NSW Oaks.

Last year at the same track, Hart drove Bay Of Biscay to win the huge Group 1 double, the Chariots Of Fire and the world's richest harness race, the $2.1 million TAB Eureka.

It was Stewart and Tonkin's second NSW Oaks win in the past three years, after the brilliant but injury plagued Very Pretty won in 2024.

Hart chose Arrhythmia over stablemate Willows Girl after winning qualifying heats on both fillies a week earlier.

Arrhythmia, who boasts 10 wins from just 12 starts, worked forward to find the lead and kept rolling for a 1:50 mile, just 0.2 seconds outside the Australasian record set by Anntonia in 2017.

"That was pretty special," Hart said. "She was a terrific filly as a 2-year-old for us last season and to come back even better is fantastic."

The eye-catcher and other big talking point of the race was runner-up Senses, who is a half-sister to champion pacers Leap To Fame and Swayzee.

Having just her sixth start, Senses (American Ideal—Lettucereason) flashed home late to make it three wins and three seconds and show she's going places.

The huge Menangle meeting also had two Group 1 trotting races and both produced somewhat unexpected results.

Former brilliant juvenile filly Rockinwithattitude (Aldebaran Eagle—Rockin Shiraz) made it three Group 1 wins from just four starts at Menangle when she led throughout to win the $100,000 Group 1 Macarthur Mile for mares.

Trainer/driver David Miles won the race at the start when he blasted out from a wide draw to lead and refused to surrender to hot favorite Jilliby Ballerini.

Rockinwithattitude never looked in danger and won easily to take her career earnings to almost $600,000 with 47 starts for 23 wins and 13 placings.

It's been a huge performance by Miles to get the mare back as good as ever after being sidelined with a knee injury from racing between October 2024 and January this year.

"She's won Group 1 races at 2, 3, 4, and 6 now, and didn't race at 5," Miles said. "She's a real warhorse and has been everywhere, we love her."

HRNZ/Race Images NZ
Got The Chocolates (John Dunn) winning the Roy Purdon Memorial on Friday at Auckland's Alexandra Park.

There was a strong U.S. connection to Gladiatrix's win in the Group 1 trotting feature last night, the NSW Trotters' Oaks.

Gladiatrix is from the first crop of former brilliant juvenile trotter Elite Stride, who is by Muscle Hill out of former classy U.S. trotting mare Real Babe.

She fended off a strong batch of interstate raiders to give young driver Lleyton Green his first Group 1.

Green stalked the big runs, including leader Elle Perfecto and Jilliby Aura (who he followed) and nabbed them late to win by a neck.

"I've run a stack of [Group 1] placings, so it's just amazing to get the monkey off my back and win my first one," Green said.

GOT THE CHOCOLATES AIMING FOR NEW ZEALAND CUP

John Dunn is very happy to bide his time with the very exciting New Zealand pacer Got The Chocolates.

Dunn, the older brother of Dexter Dunn, was quick to rule out a mid-year Australian raid with the focus firmly on the $1 million New Zealand Cup at Addington in November.

Best known for his strength, Got The Chocolates (Art Major—Kate Black) produced a stunning late burst of speed to beat a crack field in Friday's (May 1) Group 1 Roy Purdon Memorial (2,200 meters) at Auckland's Alexandra Park.

He gave away a start and beat dual New Zealand Cup winner Swayzee (who led) and last week's Group 1 Taylor Mile winner The Lazarus Effect and gunned them down to win by a half-neck.

Even John seemed a tad surprised.

"That's some sort of win," he said. "He's come back great, just so much stronger.

"He relished those tough trips as a 3-year-old. He's bounced off them and got mentally and physically stronger."

Despite the win, John said he has no regrets bypassing last month's $1 million Race by Sport Nation won by Leap To Fame at Cambridge.

"After the way Larry [Leap To Fame's barn name] went at Cambridge, I'm very happy I didn't go there," he said with a laugh.

"This is a stepping stone, this race, we're still looking at the big picture. We haven't had a genuine Cup horse in a long time.

"We're sort of taking it slowly the early part of his 4-year-old season and hopefully it repays us come November."

Queensland officials were desperate to get Got The Chocolates to Brisbane for the $350,000 Group 1 Rising Sun at Albion Park on July 4.

"No, he's not going," John said. "He's got the Messenger next week and then he's got a break before we aim at the Cup."

Like so many Kiwis, the Aussie dominance in recent years hasn't been lost on John.

"Unfortunately, the Aussies have had the wood on us, pacers and trotters, for the last couple of years, but we've got some very talented pacers, Marketplace, Bob's horse [The Lazarus Effect], and this one, and hopefully the tide's turned now," John said.

If Marketplace (Bettors Delight—Cullen Who) runs up to expectations at Addington next Friday (May 8), he will go to the Rising Sun.

The 5-year-old The Lazarus Effect (Lazarus—Brook Street) will clash again with Got The Chocolates and Swayzee in the Group 1 Messenger on Friday.

He has been nominated for the Brisbane Inter Dominion in July and his trainer/driver Bob Butt said the trip was "more unlikely than likely."

New Zealand's other young pacing star is 3-year-old Jumal (Downbytheseaside—Beaudiene Blinkz), who cruised to victory in Friday's (May 1) Group 1 Northern Derby at Alexandra Park.

The Steven Reid-trained pacer has looked special at times through 12 starts for 10 wins and two thirds.

"He's got the Sires Stakes final on May 22 and I'm contemplating a Queensland trip after that for the Derby and the Rising Sun," Reid said.

MANE ATTRACTION

with JOHN BERRY

Are the odds really 10-1 against us?

by John Berry

The last Mane Attraction outlined the two-century history of gambling leading us into the situation harness racing is facing in these modern and turbulent times.

Also mentioned was a list of what was thought to be a viable road to the future of our entire industry, taking into account the declination that has taken its toll on racetracks, horses, and fans — the three main components which is the only way to build success in our grand sport.

Judging from the responses received from some BDHC members and general population of those who participate in pari-mutuel affairs rarely — prime examples being the Kentucky Derby on the thoroughbred side and the Hambletonian in our neck of the woods — the odds seem to be about 10-1 against our future success.

Very disappointing.

Yes, from the 22 responses received thus far, only two had a positive tone for the future with the other 20 thinking that it's too late and there is too much viable competition to keep our ship afloat for future generations.

One positive response was, "Being a realist with an optimistic attitude, if we start in the very near future to implement the change needed as outlined in your column, we could be a part of the sports landscape — just trimmed down from what we know and love today."

Yet another lamented, "Many of your suggestions are very doable and easily accomplished.

"Since I am an animal lover, I especially liked your suggestion about expanded saddle pads to eliminate the whipping situation. It's just too bad that it is a long-shot to be implemented. But, nevertheless, many of your suggestions like flooding the marketplace with simulcasting places — like they lottery does — would go a long way in introducing harness racing to a new generation of fans — all ages — and in areas exposing the population nationwide to harness racing."

But those favorable responses were overwhelmed — as mentioned, by a 10-1 margin — with some pretty terse comments, many of which are answered below in this Mane Attraction,

One eye-opening comment was, "I like your spirit and your ideas but you had better start being a realist about our future.

"I was in the marketing industry for almost 50 years and we had to change as the world changed over the years.

"Harness racing has failed to do this.

"A prime example would be just this week during the football draft.

"Heinz Ketchup even got into the fray when they had a marketing tool honoring the 57th pick in the draft, awarding a lifetime supply of ketchup along with a 'Masters-like' jacket with a 57 on the front.

"Other sharp marketing campaigns that quickly come to mind are Coca-Cola, Pepsi, Nike, Heineken Beer and, of course, there are many, many others that connect with a wide audience."

(Note: Kraft Heinz, of course, is known for their Heinz 57 slogan. The marketing genius is already paying dividends as Logan Jones, the 57th pick, put a post on Instagram that he "loves" ketchup and will take all the supply he can get. There are hints he may become a spokesperson of Heinz 57.)

The "Share a Coke" campaign started Down Under and quickly spread internationally and they brought big names in with whom you should share a Coke.

Pepsi's marketing campaign reached out to restaurant customers when the server approached a diner who asked for a "Coke."

The server asked, "Is Pepsi okay?"

The diner replied, "More than okay!"

"More than okay" caught on big time.

The Florida Lottery markets their product by advertising, "It's fun!"

> "I like your spirit and your ideas but you had better start being a realist about our future. I was in the marketing industry for almost 50 years and we had to change as the world changed over the years. Harness racing has failed to do this."
> ~ Negative responder

What's so much fun about taking two or three seconds to scratch a lottery ticket, especially a scheme with a rake of 40-50 per cent?

But it works.

During the latest fiscal year, $9.1 billion ($9,100,000,000) was spent on Florida Lottery tickets.

Americans spent over $109,000,000,000 (that's billion), which is more than was spent on movies, books, concerts or sports tickets.

Some "big names" are brought in to sell the product.

That's what marketing is all about and big names can help corral new owners, and new fans.

And we have plenty of big names involved in our sport.

For 67 years, I have found that harness racing is fun and exciting and, for me historically, very interesting and fascinating.

Yet another criticism was, "This will take too much time to re-build our sport; years, many years, too many years."

Well, Rome, they say, wasn't built in a day, or romance built in a night.

One BDHC (Broken Down Horseplayer Club) member did have some valid points offering, "Look at the folk up here at simulcasting.

"They are 30-, 40-, 50-year veterans of playing the horses and they'll all be gone to the ages if your ideas — even a few them — if and when they get done."

Here's my answer to that: The Mane Attraction "crusade" is not designed for me or those BDHC members that are in their (G) olden years.

It is designed for future generations.

An example is called "future planning" to accommodate the expected needs or desires of those young whippersnappers just learning to walk and talk and those that have yet to be born — or, even, thought of — a U.S. population that, estimates say, could grow from the current 340 million, or so, to over 400 million in the 2050s.

The Miami-Dade County area is anticipating the need for a new, second airport, which would take 15-20 years to build.

It's in the planning stages now.

Harness racing needs the same, forward thinking to modernize our sport in anticipation of a shortage of horses and, quite probably, shortage of drivers and trainers.

Talent like Brett Beckwith, Braxten Boyd, William Carter, Jacob Cutting, Justin Irvine, Adarryl Gates, Marvin Luna, Kyle Swift, Wyatt Farmer, Danarius Dortch, Ayer Maxwell, Jalen Gray, Carson Conrad, and O'darius Johnson, to name just a few.

Less than 2 per cent of harness racing drivers and trainers are under the age of 25.

Harness racing needs new, young blood, and it takes years to develop that young blood into competitive competition on the track.

> "Being a realist with an optimistic attitude, if we start in the very near future to implement the change needed as outlined in your column, we could be a part of the sports landscape — just trimmed down from what we know and love today."
> ~ Positive responder

In just 20 years, Dave Palone will be in his 80s, David Miller will be 82, Yannick, 67, Walter James will be 90, "Lady J" Ingrassia will be 99, Timmy Tetrick will be 65.

The speed — which is wonderful, exciting, and has changed the breed — has shortened racing careers, and the shortages encompass all phases and aspects of our sport.

Racetracks, as we all know, have been wiped off the map in droves over the past 50 years, and, while we all grieve those losses, it could be a blessing in disguise as the field sizes shrink to the detriment of the most important factor in any spectator sport — the spectator.

No, every suggestion put forth over time in Mane Attraction columns are not designed, necessarily, for today — from doorbell cameras every sixteenth-of-a-mile on the track to those extended saddle pads to solve the whipping situation and soften criticism from purists looking out for the welfare of our equine athletes, to the newest thoughts about creating events that are on par with the lottery and casinos and prop bets that can offer rewards that will get headlines, national headlines.

They are designed for our future generations to insure the future of our great sport.

Yes, the odds from the 22 folk that cared enough to, honestly, put forth their opinions on our future were 10-1.

Many think they are longer than that.

I just wish that the odds for longevity of our sport were not such long odds.

May The Horse Be With You!

SUPERSTAR FEMALES OF HARNESS RACING

with VICTORIA M. HOWARD

Alexz Goldin is a young woman with great ideas

by Victoria Howard

Alexz Goldin was born in Summit, NJ, but currently resides in Delaware.

Her father, Mickey Goldin, has been in the business for many years; owning, training, and driving racehorses, but today he does it more recreationally rather than for a living.

Although her mother wasn't involved as heavily as her father, she was also a big supporter and fan, helping name the foals and is her daughters No. 1 fan. Alexz said with a smile, "I couldn't have rallied through the tough times if it wasn't for her. She was the one who was there to pick me up when I felt like I was at the bottom — and it can be often — for this business isn't for the faint of heart.'

> "I think it was [my most exciting time as a trainer] because the babies and I were teaching each other, since up until then I had never trained a baby down by myself. That was approximately three years ago, and I still have one of the five babies still racing. As I said, not many of our horses leave the barn once they come here."

As you can see, our horses tend to stick around us much longer than most. Most horsemen will say that is not the way you do business, but I'm sure my horses are extremely grateful that they end up in our barn.

Alexz chose to follow her father, and today is a trainer and occasionally drives standardbreds. Presently, Alexz, 35, trains 15 horses that she stables at Dovington.

Alexz races primarily at Rosecroft and The Meadowlands but last month she headed to Virginia to try her luck at their seven-week meet.

"My main involvement in the sport is training and dabbling in driving," she said. "I own one broodmare who has given me three foals so far.

"The first foal, Fortunesfool, made it to the races as a 2-year-old and competed on the Ohio circuit; the other two were rather large and needed time to grow and mature and hopefully should be qualifying soon.

I'm quite happy with the way this 2-year-old is coming along and hope to see him racing this year.

"A funny fact is that my broodmare's foals resemble my family to a tee. My mother's first child was a boy, then I was born, and then she had two more sons after me. My mother's oldest child and her third son were born on the same day.

"My broodmare's [Anotherprettyface] first and third foals were born on April 20, the same day too. If Anotherprettyface's upcoming foal is a colt, it would be déjà vu."

Alexz currently trains 15 horses and said she is known for keeping them for a relatively long time.

"Generally, I don't put my horses in claiming races, as I primarily race in condition races," she said.

"I just recently retired my very first horse that my father ever claimed who I fell in love with.

"The horse dad claimed was So Take That, who I refer to as 'Fatty.' I raced Fatty over six years and retired him at the age of 15. I drove him primarily during his final year of racing once my driving license was approved.

"Fatty is very special to me as I learned a lot from him. Today, he is currently living his life out with his best friend, Versado, whom I rescued from the kill pen.

"The first horse I purchased on my own was Cheyenne Ryan Lee. When I bought him, he was 4 years old and is now 10 years old."

Another special horse for Alexz is Marco Beach.

"I bought him three years ago and he has done a lot for my career," she said. "'Marco' has gotten my name out there for he was the Horse of the Meet at Rosecroft which in turn awarded me Rising Star and I finished second overall in the trainer's standings.

"Marco Beach holds the track record at Shenandoah. It has been a fun ride he has taken me on."

Alexz said her horse Marcus Seelster has the greatest personality as well as grit on the track.

"I watched 'Marcus' for over a year and as soon as he was put in a claiming race, I called my owner and said we had to get him," she said. "Then there's Lil Day Drinkin which is really my father's pet and got my dad and I our first father-daughter win, me training and my father driving. Lil Day Drinkin is now a 14-year-old so he will retire this year and we will place him in a good forever home.

"As you can see, our horses tend to stick around us much longer than most. Most horsemen will say that is not the way you do business, but I'm sure my horses are extremely grateful that they end up in our barn.

"Occasionally, I get a few that are sent to me to train and were struggling with their previous connections and their owners end up putting them in claiming races once they start showing inconsistency in the higher levels."

Alexz said her most exciting time as a trainer was taking five babies out of the field and having them all make it to the races.

"I think it was because the babies and I were teaching each other, since up until then I had never trained a baby down by myself," she said. "That was approximately three years ago, and I still have one of the five babies still racing. As I said, not many of our horses leave the barn once they come here."

As a younger and up-and-coming trainer/driver, Alexz has thoughts about how our sport has changed from when her father was heavily involved.

"I think it's a shame that there isn't a lot of comradery," she said. "I feel like it has created an unwelcoming vibe at the track, especially in the background [barn area]. I am young and still trying to navigate my way. I constantly ask questions for there is so much I still need to learn.

"In general, horsemen aren't as willing to help or lend a hand. Some have no problem watching you struggle. They will ask you how you did, knowing you didn't get a check.

"My father and others I have learned from told me in the past horsemen would ship together or the night before a race they would go out with coworkers and rally through the next day. Today, people don't want to ship together. Why can't it go back to what it was like the earlier days?"

Alexz also said she would like to see the sport work on appealing to a younger audience by trying different things.

"I really enjoyed partaking in the woman series that Dee Lineweaver put together," Alexz said. "I was glad she reached out to me. It felt like I was giving back to the sport and having fun at the same time. This year I hope it will even be bigger and better. We plan on promoting it in advance and hope more tracks plan on participating as well.

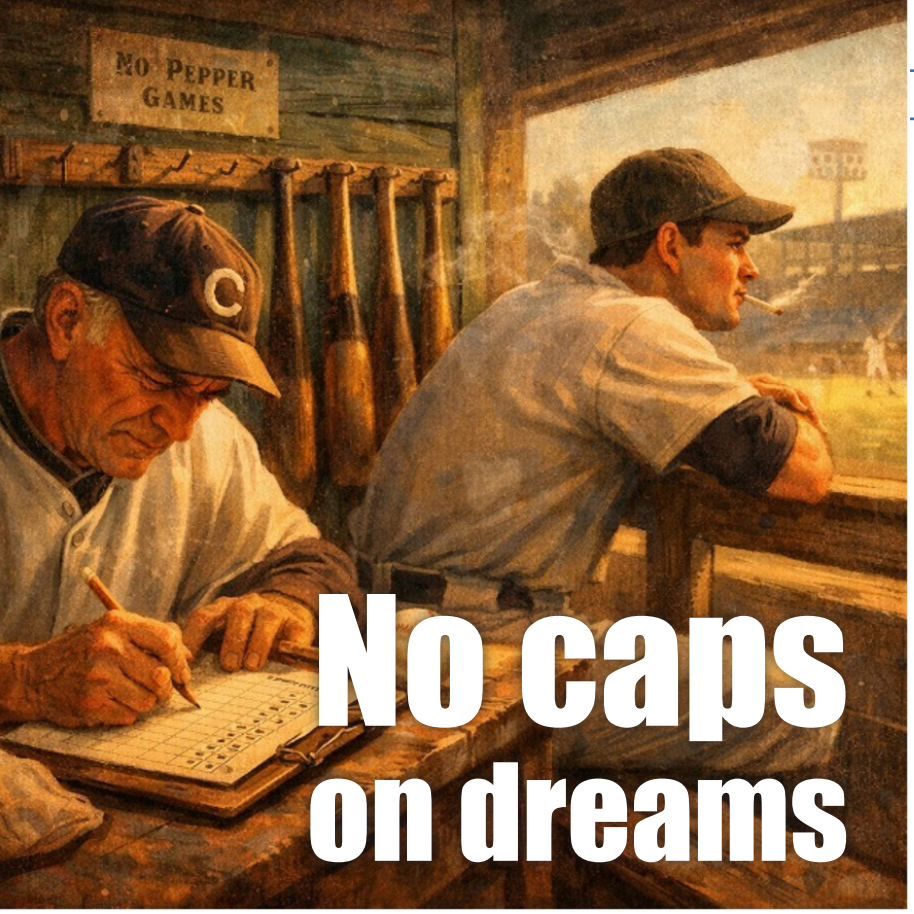

"We never thought it would take off as much as it did. The bettors definitely took a liking to an all-women's race as we were the highest bet race of the night.

"Another thing that I think can be improved are the tracks. Each track has different rules regarding what constitutes a violation. If all the rules could be the same while keeping our horses safe, it would help immensely. Everyone needs to be on the same page.

"Also, the USTA could have a boilerplate contract which grooms and trainers could use when they are doing work for an owner. The contract could be on the USTA website for people to use. Even a Spanish version could be available. It's just a thought but anything we can do to help our sport is a start."

No caps on dreams

BREAKING STRIDE
with TREY NOSRAC

by Trey Nosrac

No matter what the future holds for our sport or how harness racing evolves, an essential ingredient is retaining an elite tier of racing, a Grand Circuit. Whatever minor leagues, private leagues, or other business models evolve for racing horses, they must offer horses and their owners a path to reach the pinnacle.

An hour before the first pitch, on a warm June evening in the year 2005, the manager of the Chillicothe Paints, then a member of the Frontier League of Professional Baseball, sat in the weathered wooden dugout of Memorial Stadium, penciling in his lineup card.

He looked up and said, "The kid pitching against us tonight is really good. Might be another Brian Tollberg."

"Who's Tollberg?" I asked.

"First Frontier League player to make it to the majors. Climbed the ladder with the Padres organization."

He nodded his head toward the mound, "From here to there, amazing. And here's the weird thing: Major League Baseball called up another of our kids, Morgan Burkhart, two weeks later. He made it, too."

"Weren't they under contract with the league?" I asked.

"Wasn't a problem. The franchise got some money to pay the bills, and nobody wants to stand in the way of a dream. Everyone in this little baseball universe knows the stories about the players who made the impossible possible."

So, what does that little vignette have to do with harness racing?

The story illustrates something we have in harness racing, and that we should retain at all costs — the ability for an overlooked player (horse) to rise from the lowest rung to the top. This might sound like a footnote. It isn't. The dream is the heart and soul of sports at every level. The same dynamic is alive when someone buys a harness racing yearling.

You may hear an owner say, "I bought this filly just to fool around with. I'm hoping she makes it to a county fair." That is a big, beautiful lie. Every person walking out of a yearling sale believes the Hambletonian is on the table. And once in a great while, that dream becomes real.

From a business standpoint alone, in whatever sporting model evolves, hard caps should be avoided. It is essential to keep even the smallest sliver of hope alive. Here is how that mindset could work in a model suggesting a private league for our sport.

Management assembles a catalog of roughly 120 yearlings. A Rewards for Maintenance and Participation Fund (RMPF) is established. There is an auction for this pool of young horses. The auction, training, and racing occur at a single location. This is a system where expenses and rewards are capped.

Now step into the mind of a bidder.

He or she studied the catalog, cross-referenced pedigrees and performance lines, and narrowed the field for bidding to five prospects. Let's call our customer Raymond. Raymond believes HIP #46 is the best horse in the book, the biggest fish in this small pond of racing prospects.

The math is straightforward. Two and a half seasons of RMPF cost $40,000, plus the auction price. The parameters are clear: 10-horse barns, weekly races, randomly assigned trainers, staff veterinarians only, approved medications only, a half-mile track, and one trainer/driver per barn.

What is the owner racing his horse for?

Each season, the five best individual horses compete in a $100,000 championship. Another $200,000 in RMPF is divided among the top three team barns. That is the baseline. If HIP #46 proves to be the best individual horse and leads his team to the title in both seasons, he could earn close to $150,000 over two years. That may not be spectacular by Sires Stakes standards, but it is meaningful. There are trophies. There are blankets. And never underestimate bragging rights.

You may hear an owner say, "I bought this filly just to fool around with. I'm hoping she makes it to a county fair." That is a big, beautiful lie. Every person walking out of a yearling sale believes the Hambletonian is on the table. And once in a great while, that dream becomes real.

Suppose Raymond buys HIP #46 for $21,000. Add the $40,000 maintenance investment, and he is in for a maximin of $61,000. Raymond has studied the horse. He creates a group of 10 to join him on the adventure. He and his pals understand the structure. They know the competition. For around six grand, each person can take quite a ride.

Now comes the sweetener - improbable, but important.

What if Raymond (and his crew) are right about this yearling? What if it quickly becomes obvious that HIP #46 is simply too good for this pool, the young colt is trotting training miles that hint at something more?

Hip #46 must be nominated to the National Stakes Program. Raymond would have a window and the opportunity to continue the national nominations. He could request an opt-out from the league.

That request would almost certainly be approved.

The harness racing league does not benefit from a runaway superstar. When a dominant horse exits the pool of competitors, every remaining horse moves up a rung. Competition tightens. The corporation retains its structured investment. In effect, in some rare instances, Raymond must choose: be a big fish in our pond or swing for the fences elsewhere. He cannot do both.

This is why any league should begin with a surplus of horses. Replacements wait in the paddock. A lightly fluid pool, not a static one, adds intrigue. A late-developing "wonder horse" has an escape hatch.

That narrow window — improbable, not impossible — matters.

Independent baseball understands this; other entertainment and sporting organizations realize this. Undrafted players or unknown players sign wherever they can, begin competing in rebel leagues, and chase a dream that borders on absurd. The odds are astronomical. And yet, once in a while, a sharp eye notices. A contract is purchased. A ladder appears.

I have seen it happen.

Any harness racing model must preserve that same hope. Because in sport, and in the marketplace, the difference between improbable and impossible is everything.

Pennsylvania
SIRE STAKES REPORT

Miss Jum Jabber upsets Loua Dipa as PA Sires begin

by PHHA / Harrah's Philadelphia

Loua Dipa, last year's Dan Patch Award winner and the fastest 2-year-old filly ever at 1:48, made her 2026 debut in one of two divisions of the first leg of the $105,554 Pennsylvania Sire Stakes as the PA-sired season opened at Harrah's Philadelphia on Friday afternoon (May 1).

As one would guess, Loua Dipa was a heavy favorite. But there were two questions: 1) the only time she had finished off the board in her career, it was at Philly, when she had a rough trip and was fifth in her Sires championship, and 2) Miss Jum Jabber had won two Weiss Series legs at Pocono and seemed to have the field at her mercy in last Tuesday's $50,000 championship, but trainer Brett Pelling opted to come try the Sire Stakes rather than what looked like a more-solid cash-in-hand opportunity.

The result? Over a track not friendly to closers, Miss Jum Jabber came from last at the half to catch pacesetting Loua Dipa by a head in 1:51.4.

This division opened with the two winningest drivers in North American harness racing history, Dave Palone and Tony Morgan, slugging it out through a :27.1 first panel, with Morgan protecting the inside with Caviart Daisy and Palone determined to get to the front while three-wide with Spoon Fed. Loua Dipa and Ronnie Wrenn, Jr. were in-between these two much of the initial bend, then was backed off to let the fireworks settle, going frontwards off the first turn to the lead by the three-eighths and hitting the half in a pedestrian :56.4. Miss Jum Jabber was nine lengths behind at the half.

Miss Jum Jabber, a daughter of Bettor's Wish, was aided greatly when Fitness First (Tim Tetrick) made a huge backstretch blitz raw, tailing second-over to a 1:24.3 three-quarters, but still fifth, three lengths back. Miss Jum Jabber's driver, Andrew McCarthy, tipped her wide for the stretch duel; the filly, still appearing a trifle green in only her fifth start and going as she had done with her head a bit to the right, had no trouble generating her awesome late burst, and that pair finally got the top in the shadow of the wire, the fleet filly pacing her own back fractions in :53 - :26.2. Loua Dipa held her ground very gamely in her first start in 167 days, with Fitness First third after the raw journey, but it was Miss Jum Jabber's "coming out" party for Pelling Racing LLC.

The other Sire Stakes winner was also won by a second choice, Darlin's Angel (Captaintreacherous—Darlin's Delight), who took command in :27.3 then yielded for the garden seat behind favored Topville Lucky during middle splits of :57 and 1:24.4. The chalk had little lick in the home straight, and Darlin's Angel was able to come up the inside for driver Lauren Tritton and defeat uncovered Bettor Be A Star by 1½ lengths in 1:53; last year's $135.60 PASS championship winner Say Goodnight was third. Juan Cano conditions the winner of six-of-nine lifetime for Hot Lead Farm.

In the five $20,000 Stallion Series divisions, the favorites were perfect, with three wins for both Jason Bartlett and sire Papi Rob Hanover. Two of the wins came via the Sunshine Meadows to Pocono to Philly route for Bartlett, trainer Hunter Oakes, and part-owner Flying A Racing Stable, including the fastest StS cut, 1:51.4 (ironically the only section that did not produce a lifetime best), turned in by the Papi Rob Hanover miss Imagine Heaven, with Flying A partners on this winner with Lucky Strike and Charles Oakes. Flying A is the co-owner with Chuck Pompey of the Tall Dark Stranger filly Tall Dark Tequila, a 1:53.2 winner for Team Oakes/Bartlett.

Bartlett won his third Stallion Series split with the Always B Miki filly Carolina, who also was clocked in a lifetime best 1:53.2. Per Engblom oversees the handling of the winner for his Engblom Farm LLC, R A W Equine Inc., Daniel Sarafian, and Evans Nation.

The other two successful daughters of Papi Rob Hanover in Stallion Series action were Real Fast, now six-for-nine in her brief career after a 1:52 victory for driver Ronnie Wrenn, Jr., trainer Ron Burke, and Burke Racing Stable LLC and Weaver Bruscemi LLC along with Knox Services Inc. and Slaughter Racing Stable, and Make It Right, lowering her mark to 1:52.3 for owners Gary McCandless, Jo Ann Looney-King, and Larry Rathbone and the noted "Team Pacing Distaff" of driver Tim Tetrick and trainer Jim King, Jr.

All of the horsemen with multiple victories on the card have already been mentioned: for the drivers, Bartlett with three, and Andy Miller and Todd McCarthy with two, and for the trainers, doublers Engblom and Oakes.

SIRE STAKES ACTION KICKS OFF WITH UNBEATEN STARS AT THE MEADOWS

A chilly Saturday (May 2) welcomed back Pennsylvania Sire Stakes action at Hollywood Casino at The Meadows with two $54,000 divisions of the Bye Bye Byrd as well as four Stallion Series divisions for 3-year-old pacing colts.

In the first and fastest PASS division, it took the length of the stretch for Tim Tetrick and Sneaky Squeaky to parlay a second over trip into a lifetime best win. The son of Heston Blue Chip followed and battled Melillo to the wire for the nose victory in a career mark of 1:51.1. Sneaky Squeaky is now five-for-five this season for trainer Joe Bongiorno and owner Morrison Racing Stables of PA.

The second Sire Stakes division saw another colt stay undefeated in 2026 as Another C Note is now four-for-four this season. Driven by Ronnie Wrenn, Jr., Another C Note sat a comfortable pocket all the way to the Lightning Lane, from there the Captaintreacherous colt sprinted to a two-length victory. Owned by Burke Racing LLC, Weaver Bruscemi LLC, Let is Ride Stables Inc, and Scott Dillon, Another C Note paced the mile in 1:51.2 for trainer Ron Burke.

Bongiorno got his second training victory of the afternoon with Ballroom Affair in Stallion Series action. Hall of Fame driver Tetrick raced the Papi Rob Hanover gelding fourth through early going before a backside brush that would produce a two length, and lifetime best, victory. Owned by Let it Ride Stables Inc and Odds On Racing, Ballroom Affair was also able to keep his perfect season intact and is now three-for-three.

A pair of Hall of Famers teamed up in another Stallion Series tilt as driver Dave Palone drove the Chris Ryder trainee Kiss In The Sky to a 1:52.3 victory. Palone moved the son of Bettor's Wish down the backside, clearing by the head of the stretch on their way to a length victory for owners, Chris Ryder, William Ezzo, Mark Harder, and Robert Mondillo.

Justin Irvine put Really Bright in position early and waited for the Lightning Lane for their Stallion Series victory. Irvine waited in the pocket as Down The Line and McHungry battled up front then used a :27.3 last quarter to his advantage for the win. Really Bright is trained by Hunter Oaks and the son of Tall Dark Stranger is owned by Howard Taylor and Chuck Pompey.

In the first Stallion Series race of the day, Yannick Gingras moved Ubrute from fifth to first past the quarter on their way to a 1:52.3 seasonal debut victory. Trained by Ron Burke for owners Burke Racing LLC, Weaver Bruscemi, Hatfield Stables, and Phillip Collura, the Tall Dark Stranger colt now has earnings in excess of $365,000 in 11 career starts.

For the day, Palone took top honors among drivers with four victories while Tetrick and Shawn Johnston had three wins each. Burke and Bongiorno each had a pair of training victories.

Hollywood Casino at The Meadows will resume on Wednesday (May 6) with a $2,757.94 carryover in the Pick-4 with a $10,000 guaranteed pool beginning in race 1. Additionally, a $3,098.37 carryover in the Pick-5 will fuel a $15,000 guaranteed pool starting in race 9. Post Time is 12:45 p.m.

Brandon Blvd an easy winner in the Paul Revere Pace at Plainridge

by Tim Bojarski for Plainridge Park

Brandon Blvd (Downbytheseaside—Alexis Faith) made his first start of 2026 a winning one after cruising to an impressive victory in the Grade 3 $100,000 Paul Revere Pace at Plainridge Park on Saturday (May 2) afternoon.

Dexter Dunn got away fourth with Brandon Blvd as Hard To Forget (Matty Athearn), Watch Em Win (Nick Graffam), and Hunt Off The Press (Shawn Gray) all took turns on the lead before reaching the half in :55.1. It was at that station that Dunn tipped Brandon Blvd to the outside and methodically overtook control from Hunt Off The Press on the backstretch.

Brandon Blvd then built a two-length advantage as he passed three-quarters in 1:23, while the rest of the field began to fade behind him. As he made his way around the final turn, Brandon Blvd was already under wraps as Dunn sat chilly heading into the stretch. And from the top of the lane, Brandon Blvd closed it out with ease, winning by 2¾ lengths in 1:51.1. Hunt Off The Press held on for second with Watch Em Win in third.

On the strength of his eighth lifetime win in only his 11th lifetime start, the heavily backed Brandon Blvd ($2.10) pushed his career bank to $439,397 for owners Punisher 11 Stable. Andrew Harris trains the Crawford Farms-bred colt.

Brandon Blvd, sold under the name Wayne Harvey for $425,000 at the 2024 Lexington Selected Yearling Sale, and is ranked fourth in week 1 of Dave Little's Road To The Meadowlands Pace. Racing resumes at Plainridge Park on Monday (May 4) at 4 p.m.

Free full card past performance programs for every live card of racing at Plainridge Park can always be downloaded at their website (plainridgeparkcasino.com) under the "Racing" tab. You can also watch all the race replays on that same page.

HARNESS RACING PRESS RELEASES, NOTES & ANNOUNCEMENTS

2026 Buckeye Stallion Series opens today at Northfield Park Racino

The 2026 Buckeye Stallion Series (BSS) gets underway today (May 3), with eight $20,000 divisions of sophomore fillies.

The driver-and-trainer pairing of Chris Page and Ron Burke lead the way as connections of morning-line favorites in two of the four divisions of filly pacers. Page will drive 5-2 favorite Gochujang in the first division and 9-5 favorite Queen Valerie in the third division. Both are Summa Cum Laude fillies. Gochujang is coming off a win in her seasonal debut, finishing in 1:55 at Miami Valley on April 17, and will leave from post 2 alongside 3-1 second choice Dolly Jean (Trevor Smith) at the rail. Queen Valerie has not hit the board in three seasonal starts and will leave from the rail alongside 2-1 second choice Eyes Up (Dan Noble) in post 2. Eyes Up was a two-leg winner in the BSS in 2025.

At 2-1, Beach Babe Hanover (Chris Lems) will open as the favorite in the second division of filly pacers. The Downbytheseaside filly will leave from the rail. Trained by Sam Schillaci, she has one win and two seconds in three seasonal starts. Climate (Page) and Jamie Amanda (Luke Hanners) will open as co-second choices at 3-1 and will leave from posts 2 and 6, respectively. Jamie Amanda won the BSS final for freshman filly pacers in 2025.

Baxter Tough (Tyler Smith) is the 2-1 morning line favorite in the fourth division. Trained by Joshua Rowe, the Dancin Yankee filly has hit the board in six of nine seasonal starts with two wins. She will leave from post 5. Leaving from the rail will be 5-2 second choice Ima Beach Girl (Lems), who has a pair of third-place finishes in three starts in 2026.

Braiden Rhoades will be in the sulky for a pair of morning-line favorites among the four divisions of filly trotters.

In the second division, Rhoades will drive 2-1 favorite Princess Karolyn, who will leave from post 4 alongside 7-2 second choice Kira (Aaron Merriman) in post 5. Trained by Rosy Weaver, Princess Karolyn is one-for-one this year coming off a win at Northfield Park in 1:57.3 on April 22. The Creatine filly hit the board in eight of 13 starts with six wins in 2025. Kira finished second in her lone prior start this season.

Rhoades will also drive Dublins Breanna, the 2-1 favorite in the fourth division. The Enterprise filly is trained by Vernon Beachy and will leave from the rail. She won the BSS consolation in 2025 and is one-for-one this season with a victory at Northfield in 1:57.1 on April 15. Lynn Range (Tyler Smith) is the 7-2 second choice and will leave from post 4.

Guardian Doll (Noble), the 8-5 morning-line favorite in the first division of filly trotters, will leave from the second tier. Trained by Deborah Swartz, the Guardian Angel As filly won her lone prior start this season, finishing in 1:56.4 at Miami Valley. Range The Wish (Merriman) is the 7-2 second choice and will leave from post 4.

In the third division, Moolah In The Bank (Lems) will open as the 5-2 favorite. The Scott Cox trainee has hit the board in three of four seasonal starts with two wins. The In Range filly will leave from post 5 alongside 3-1 second choice Capturethephoto (Kayne Kauffman) in post 4.

Today's 16-race card at Northfield also features the debut of the Buckeye Claiming Series with four $15,000 divisions for sophomore fillies. First-race post time is 6 p.m.

Practical Man takes Big M feature

Practical Man got his 3-year-old season off to a good start Friday night (May 1) at The Meadowlands, as the Tom Fanning trainee made the lead at the half and just held on at the wire to score in the featured $20,000 high-end conditioned event for sophomore male trotters.

"He has to get a little better to go with the top horses," said Fanning. "Tonight was the first step in the right direction and he will do fine in New Jersey races."

Dollar Draft, the 3-1 second choice, had the lead at the quarter in the eight-horse field in a tepid :29.3 before Practical Man moved out of the 4-hole and brushed to command at the half in :59.1.

He maintained a 1¼-length edge at three-quarters, which went in 1:27.4, before holding off the late-surging Dollar Draft at the wire by a head in 1:55.1, a lifetime best for the colt by Tactical Landing—Fashion Athenia. Southwind Fargo was third.

"He's come back pretty well this year," said winning driver

Todd McCarthy. "He was nice at 2 but took a little bit to mature. He's come back pretty smart. Once he got [to the lead], we got some soft fractions, and when I asked him off the turn, he had a good kick."

As the 3-5 favorite, Practical Man, who is owned by Joseph Smith, returned $3.20 to his backers.

A LITTLE MORE: For a third consecutive Friday night, Braxten Boyd recorded four winners to be the top gun among the drivers… Dave Little had another big Friday night. A week ago, The Big M TV veteran gave out eight winners, and ended the night one winner short of equaling that feat, selecting seven on top… Chase Vandervort, the veteran horseman known to New Jersey regulars for his years at Freehold Raceway, recorded his first-ever driving win at The Meadowlands after guiding Mr Grant ($8.60 to win) to victory lane in the 10th race… All-source handle on the 14-race card totaled $2,586,975.

Alexa's Sunshine wins April Reins Series at Buffalo

It was only fitting that Alexa's Sunshine ($4.48), the lone mare to reach the $30,000 finals of the April Reins Claiming Series at Buffalo Raceway, got to wear the crown as she beat the boys on Friday afternoon (May 1) with a diminishing head victory over Skyline Blue Chip in 1:57.2 over the good track.

Being claimed in all three preliminary events of the Series, Alexa's Sunshine showed why she was a dynamic damsel and well worth the weekly tag after finishing with a pair of wins and a second in the opening rounds. She topped off the barn changes by taking the $15,000 first place prize in the finale.

With stablemate Mister Marvalous taking early control of the race, Alexa's Sunshine (Wade Tomaszewski) was content sitting in fourth and letting her partner do the dirty work on the front end. With fractions of :28.1 and :57.3 through the opening half, Alexa's Sunshine began her first over journey approaching the clubhouse turn the second time.

With clear sailing on the rim approaching the three-quarter pole, Alexa's Sunshine took dead aim on Mister Marvalous who hit the beam in 1:27.3 and was bracing for the onslaught that was about to begin.

Turning for home, Alexa's Sunshine swooped past Mister Marvalous but had to contend with Skyline Blue Chip (Braiden Rhoades) and Caviart Val (Drew Monti) who were gobbling up real estate in the home stretch. But the wire came just in the nick of time for Alexa's Sunshine as she hit the line in 1:57.2. Skyline Blue Chip had to settle for a tough luck second place and Caviart Val finished in third.

Owned by the Lucky Label Stable LLC and trained by Taylor Fritz, it was the third victory in 15 tries for the 6-year-old Alexa's Sunshine (Stay Hungry—Alexa's Luck). The win improved her seasonal earnings to $35,190 and to $172,427 lifetime.

Brett MacDonald and Tomaszewski finished the afternoon with three victories each while Fritz had a training double.

The 2026 SOA of NY / Yonkers Raceway John R. Brennan Scholarship application is now available

Great news students. The board of directors in December decided to increase the total awards from $18,000 to $23,000 and to add an additional winner (fourth place).

The SOA of NY is pleased to announce that the 2026 SOA of NY / Yonkers Raceway John R. Brennan Scholarship application and rules are now available. Application deadline is Friday (May 29, 2026).

The Scholarship awards are $11,000 first place, $6,000 second place, $4,000 third place, and $2,000 for fourth place. The Scholarship applicant or his/her immediate family member must be a 2026 SOA of NY member in good standing or the applicant can be an immediate family member of a backstretch employee (caretaker). Immediate family member means spouse or child.

Please read the complete conditions/rules, which can be f ound on our website, along with the application at https://www.soaofny.com/rules-and-application.

It's bananas that harness racing isn't about entertainment first

The Banana Baseball League has been an absolutely astounding commercial success, and their corporate name is Fans First Entertainment.

Their founder and owner said: "We're not in the baseball business, never have been. We're in the entertainment business."

What a vivid contrast with harness racing, where we seem to desperately cling to our hopelessly outdated pari-mutuel, breeders first business model.

It's clearly time for our industry to adapt or die. And our sport should be about horses, not betting. About entertainment.

Your recent Breaking Stride article by Trey Nosrac, pointed out that an AI analysis showed that due to structural decline, harness racing may largely disappear within the next decade.

It sure would be great if our industry "leaders" showed the same level of innovation and determination as demonstrated by the Savannah Bananas.
