Sports betting revenue injecting life into New Jersey purses

Once thought to be a threat, the proliferation of sports betting has had a benefit for horse racing thanks to a deal between the SBOA of New Jersey and The Meadowlands to direct a small cut of the proceeds toward purses.

by Bob Duff

RACING INTO THE FUTURE

with BOB DUFF

“It’s been good for us,” said Mark Ford, president of the SBOANJ. “I guess you always would like a little more, but there’s no doubt it’s been good for us.”

Certainly, the numbers bear out witness to exactly how good it has been for New Jersey standardbred racing. The purse structure at The Meadowlands has dramatically increased since

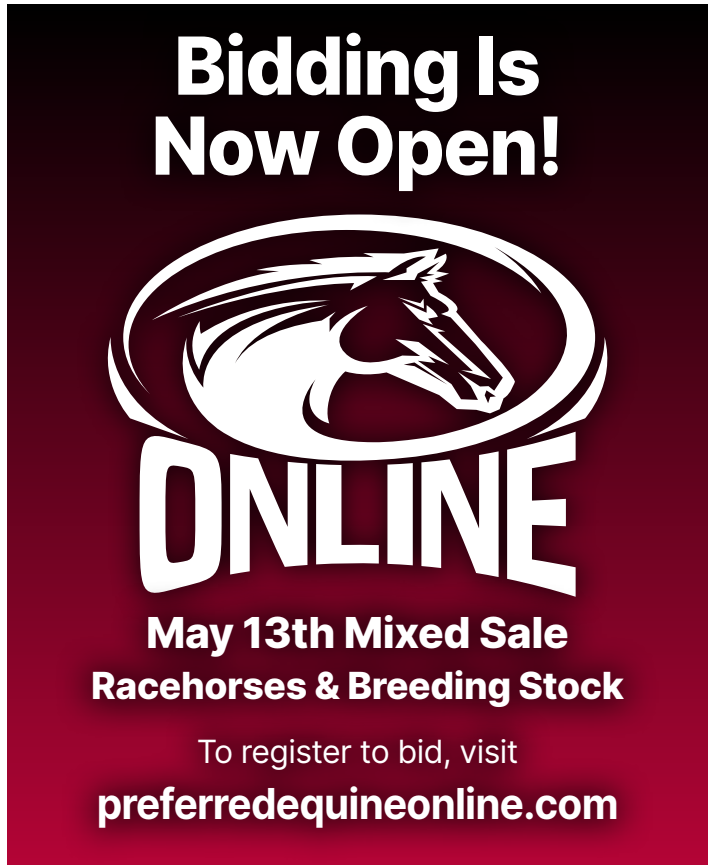

When addressing what the revenue that legal and regulated sports betting is generating has meant to the New Jersey harness racing industry, Jason Settlemoir is frank and to the point.

“Without sports betting, we’re probably not having this conversation,” said Settlemoir, chief operating officer/general manager of The Meadowlands.

When the Supreme Court was overturning the Professional and Amateur Sports Protection Act of 1992 (PASPA) in the spring of 2018, it left smiles on the faces of many people in a variety of industries in the Garden State. Certainly, those in the business of harness racing were among the grinning.

In 2018, the Standardbred Breeders & Owners Association of New Jersey (SBOANJ) signed a 10-year deal with The Meadowlands to add a minimum of $1 million to the purse account annually. The money comes from the track’s share of sports betting revenue.

Call it a lifeline, or a lifeboat if you will, there’s no doubting that the injection of revenue generated by sports betting, both live and online, has been a godsend for the New Jersey harness racing industry.

legal and regulated sports betting went live in the state of New Jersey in 2019. In 2022 alone, some $4 million was injected into the purse pool at The Big M directly from sports betting revenue. In 2024, stakes races at The Meadowlands are going for a combined purse pool of almost $25 million.

HOW IT WORKS IN NEW JERSEY

It was New Jersey that led the way in getting PASPA overturned and specifically, Dennis Drazin, chairman and CEO of Darby Development, operator of Monmouth Park Racetrack, who was the driving force in leading the lobby to get it done.

Under New Jersey sports betting law, each sports betting site must have a skin with either a New Jersey-based brick and mortar casino, or a racetrack. The Meadowlands is partnered with the gold standard of U.S. sports betting sites, FanDuel.

The latest sports betting revenue numbers released by the New Jersey Casino Control Commission (NJCCC) show that through the end of March 2024, The Meadowlands is showing gross retail sports betting revenue of $7,139,156 and gross online sports betting revenue of $192,643,783 for the year. The Meadowlands also holds skins for Fanatics and Super Book sportsbooks.

It's been a tougher go for Freehold, mostly through no fault of their own. One of their skins is with Penn Gaming. In 2022, Penn Gaming got out of its deal with Barstool Sportsbook and switched to a partnership with ESPN Bet. However, that changeover led to several months during 2023 when no sports betting revenue was coming in from this skin.

At Freehold, the gross retail sports betting revenue for 2024 is just $461,261. Online gross sports betting revenue works out to $1,051,164. Freehold's other skin is with betPARX. There is a PARX retail sportsbook on site at Freehold.

The pacts between the sports betting sites regarding how much revenue they share with their racetrack partners are private deals and closely-guarded secrets. Settlemoir did confirm that their revenue-sharing deal with FanDuel runs through 2029.

"I can't say enough about what a great partner FanDuel has been for us," Settlemoir said.

Likewise, the pacts between the SBOANJ and the racetracks regarding purse structure boosts from sports betting revenue aren't revealed for public consumption. But it isn't difficult for the SBOANJ to decipher that everything is on the up and up. Data that is available to everyone is the monthly revenue earned from sports betting. The NJCCC posts the numbers as soon as they are available.

“They’re all right there for everyone to see,” said Al Ochsner, executive administrator of the SBOANJ, whose job it is to verify such data.

SPORTS BETTING CANNIBALIZING RACING

As much as the purses are on the rise thanks to sports betting, the movers and shakers in the harness racing industry admit that it is a bit of a double-edged sword. Certainly, the availability to bet on almost any sport is pulling some bettors away from the track and into the sportsbook.

“We’ve lost some bettors to sports betting, particularly among our younger customers,” Settlemoir said. That ship really isn’t sailing in the other direction. Those drawn to the racetracks to bet on sports generally aren’t also betting on the horses.

Still, as the old saying goes, it’s unwise to look a gift horse in the mouth. It’s easy to forget that prior to the advent of legal and regulated sports betting, The Meadowlands was overpaying on purses to the tune of $4 million per year. Freehold went through a downturn in the 2010s when purses were actually reduced. A 2019 study conducted by the Rutgers University Equine Science Center found that New Jersey horse racing was lagging behind New York and Pennsylvania, largely because there was no revenue-sharing program in place with the New Jersey casinos similar to operations in those states.

The fact of the matter is that a standalone racetrack in this day and age is a money-losing proposition. The injection of sports betting revenue into the purse structure, coupled with the annual subsidy of $10 million that the New Jersey state government puts into harness racing to boost purse structures and incentivize breeding operations and the New Jersey Sires Stakes, has proven a boon to the industry that can’t be ignored.

“Anything we can do to help this great sport of ours keep going, we’ve got to get it done,” Ochsner said.

Blood, sweat and peers helped John Rallis achieve his dream

The Canadian will be broadcasting from The Meadowlands the next two weekends.

by Debbie Little

John Rallis, 28, will be back at The Meadowlands the next two weekends as a freelance TV personality, either on set or in the paddock, as he continues to live out his dream.

As a young boy growing up in Toronto, Rallis spent many hours with his family at Mohawk, but at that time he had no idea what a big part harness racing would play in his future. He just knew that he loved it.

Rallis' mom, Agathi, is connected to harness racing as a cousin of both the Christoforou and Demetrious families.

"So, that was our weekend tradition, spending time at the racetrack," John said.

During his teenage years, John took a brief hiatus from the sport, but when he hit 20, he was back on track.

“ I think John is as sharp as they come on the wagering side of the game, and on top of that is a great guy that has the same passion we do for our sport. That’s a guy I want to buy stock in. I enjoy trying to give guys like that a leg up, because that’s the only way I ever had a career.”

~ Gabe Prewitt

“It was a random family night [at Mohawk] to see one of our relatives and, boom, the passion was just kind of there again and I said, ‘This is what I want to do,’” John said. “I forgot how much I loved it because I was away... It’d been five years and yeah, I fell in love with the sport instantly again. And then I said to my dad [Sam], ‘Hey, let’s start going to the races a bit more because I kind of get a kick out of it.’”

With that fire rekindled, John wanted to learn everything he could about the sport. He did a deep dive into programs, watched replays and spent a lot of time talking to people – things that he does to this day – and became a true student of the game.

John graduated with a degree in journalism in 2020, during the COVID-19 pandemic, which didn’t leave him with many options.

“I knew what I wanted to do, but I didn’t know how to get there,” he said. “I was helping my parents at their restaurant [George’s Deli and B B Q in Toronto] and I said, ‘You know what, I guess this is what I’m going to do, despite not being what I truly want.’ I was just starting to accept that this is what was my fate and this is what I was going to do for a career, and then it all changed when I went to the racetrack and had that conversation with Jimmy [Demetrious].”

His cousin Jimmy had noticed how much time and effort he had put into learning about the sport and had a suggestion for him.

“[Jimmy] said, ‘Listen, you should go talk to this guy Dan Fisher, he’s the managing editor of Trot magazine, and just see if he’s got work for you,’” John said. “He didn’t know if he did, he just said, ‘I just think you have all this knowledge, you have all this passion, why don’t you put it to good use?’”

“So, I reached out to [Fisher] on Facebook, because I didn’t have an email or anything, and we spoke for an hour and a half and we absolutely hit it off.”

Fisher had been looking for an associate editor for several months, prior to being contacted by John.

“It’s very difficult to find someone with an education in journalism, or something related, as well as some knowledge of the sport,” Fisher said. “John’s knowledge was mainly from the betting side, but at least he knew the terminology and some people in the industry. He was a little green when it came to his editing skills, etc., but he seemed passionate.”

Getting a little help from friends and family became a theme in John’s career. He had no TV experience, yet former Woodbine broadcaster Chad Rozema got him an interview at Mohawk and John debuted on air in 2023. Later that same year, Gabe Prewitt recommended John to The Meadowlands.

“I think John is as sharp as they come on the wagering side of the game, and on top of that is a great guy that has the same passion we do for our sport,” Prewitt said. “That’s a guy I want to buy stock in. hired at Pompano... That position led me to other opportunities, thankfully. John would be among my first calls if I was starting a brand-new track tomorrow.”

John debuted at The Meadowlands on Nov. 25, the night of the Fall Final Four and FanDuel Championships. He has commuted to East Rutherford, NJ, from Toronto on six weekends since then and tonight (May 10) will mark his eighth appearance. He will be doing commentary for FanDuel TV and interviews in the paddock.

Although John will not be sitting on set with The Meadowlands’ long-time TV personality Dave Little this weekend, he probably will seek him out prior to the start of the races.

“[Dave’s] probably glad that he’s got three weeks away from me,” said John with a laugh.

John worked with Little for four straight weeks from late-March through mid-April.

“You can ask Dave, I just always want to talk his head off,” John said. “He’s probably had enough of me.

I’m not a broadcaster yet. I don’t have the skill set yet and I’m still learning mannerisms and the flow of it and having Dave alongside there, I told him, ‘It’s pivotal. Critique me all you need because that’s how I’m going to get better.’”

As a handicapper himself, John said he thinks he knows what other handicappers want to hear in his pre-race interviews.

“Nobody wants to know if the horse is going to be a quote unquote, good horse,” John said. “People want to know, is he good to go tonight? Do you like him tonight? I’m talking specifically to the handicapper.

“As I started working in the industry, I’ve started learning that phrasing is imperative. So, definitely you get the answer that you want to hear most of the time if you phrase it accordingly.”

According to John, following next weekend, he hopes to be back at The Big M a few more times before the end of the current Championship Meet, and, possibly, including his first Hambletonian Day.

“Well, I’m a big proponent of doing what you love,” John said. “So, it’s one of those things where I kind of knew what I wanted to do from a young age. I always knew I wanted to get involved in sports, whether it be journalism or whether it be broadcasting, I just didn’t know how I was going to get there but I wanted to get there.

“The biggest thing for me is that’s what I knew I wanted to do. So, becoming a fan for me was great, but if I could make this into a career, that would just be a dream. And so far, that’s what it’s been.”

Western Fair pleased with the present, focused on the future

by Matthew Lomon

After posting record wagering totals for a second consecutive Ontario Racing fiscal year, The Raceway at The Western Fair District heads into the spring sporting the same mindset that's propelled the half-mile track to prestigious heights.

"We've been pretty proud of the handle numbers that we've been able to achieve over the years," said Greg Blanchard, director of equine programming at Western Fair. "When you look at the Ontario landscape, we've been able to work up into that No. 2 spot for harness racing wagering behind Woodbine Mohawk Park and that's something we're proud of."

During its impressive 2023-24 season, the London, ON oval saw a total of $58,468,000 wagered across 121 race dates.

Compared to the previous handle record set the year prior ($56,709,000), that's an increase of three per cent year-over-year. Per race handle also grew by three per cent in that time.

While Blanchard acknowledged the post-pandemic resurgence that saw total handle rise across the Canadian standardbred circuit (up 6.18 per cent to $646.3 million in 2023), he credited the Western Fair team for sticking to the formula that's allowed the track to hold firm.

"We've been able to maintain our position, if you will, and that's something we take pride in," Blanchard said. "For a small half-mile track, that races in the wintertime, and in Ontario, to resonate with horseplayers the way we do is very meaningful to us."

According to Blanchard, the recipe for success combines a helping of 'if it ain't broke, don't fix it' with a discerning eye for improvement opportunities.

The Raceway at The Western Fair District on April 23, the night the London, ON track played host to the Ontario Regional Driving Championship.

“You’ve always got to be realistic,” he said. “When you look at the numbers right there [Western Fair and nationwide handle for 2023], I always say they’re never as good as some people think and they’re never as bad as some think. Again, you have to always take a deep dive into the numbers and see where that money’s coming from. Is it true growth and is it growth that can be sustained?”

“At the end of the day, I think it is positive that overall wagering on Ontario racing has grown.”

Blanchard, who joined the 63-year-old raceway in 2010, believes it has fared well against some of the sport’s greatest challenges, including the proliferation of online sports betting.

That said, he’s well-aware of the need to swap out the rose-colored glasses for some more transparent lenses.

“One area where we’ve seen a decline since the pandemic is on our live on-track wagering,” he said. “You’re disappointed to see that but we look at it as an opportunity. In any circumstance, there lies opportunity, and we think that’s the case here.

“We’ll continue to focus on not only our overall product, but especially our on-track live audience. That’s something we want to focus on trying to grow again for the 2024 season.”

Despite the live handle concerns, Western Fair has performed well over the years. It hasn’t always been easy, but the racecourse has made a habit of persevering through challenging circumstances to bring high-quality racing to fans in Southwestern Ontario.

“We race in the most challenging conditions when you consider the time of year and that we’re racing in Ontario, and Mother Nature can throw almost everything at you,” Blanchard said. “We have a great track team that allows our participants to race the majority of the season.

“ We’ve been pretty proud of the handle numbers that we’ve been able to achieve over the years. When you look at the Ontario landscape, we’ve been able to work up into that No. 2 spot for harness racing wagering behind Woodbine Mohawk Park and that’s something we’re proud of.”

~ Greg Blanchard

“With the on-track product itself, there’s obviously certain limitations. We’re landlocked and we only go seven wide, meaning we’re limited to eight-horse fields as standard. Despite that, it’s a good product. We’ve got a very deep trainer and driver colony. The style of racing here I think resonates, there’s typically a lot of action. It’s very fair racing for a half-mile track, meaning horses can win from any position, and there’s a lot of flow in the races.”

Blanchard and Co. have been steadfast in upholding the Western Fair tradition, one prided on an unwavering commitment to the game and its people.

The groundwork for it, he noted, was established a long time ago.

“That resolve has been a part of the track’s character long before I was here, I don’t take credit for that,” he said. “Western Fair has punched outside its weight class for a long time, and our team is proud of that.”

The hits keep on rolling at the storied track, starting with its signature event, The Camluck Classic. Formerly known as the Molson Pace, and the Labatt before that, this year’s edition of the $150,000 event is scheduled for May 31.

As for what fans can expect with the unofficial-official kickoff to summer in London, Blanchard says the racing is the centerpiece but there’s going to be a little something for everybody.

“We just want it to be a fun, enjoyable night,” he said. “We’ll have food trucks. We’ll have live entertainment happening. Lots of places to get great food and beverages and lots of places to make your wagers, including an enhanced wagering menu.

“We just want to create the most enjoyable, fun atmosphere that night, and let the racing be the star of the show.”

Keeping the spotlight on the track shouldn’t be too difficult with a power-packed program that also features the City of London Series finals, the Forest City Pace, The London Classic Trot, and the first leg of the Ontario Sires Stakes.

Camluck Night will also mark the return of a more recent Western Fair tradition in the pre-race driver introductions. Blanchard noted that fans can also look forward to scoring some exciting prizes through a series of giveaways and contests running throughout the feature program.

In other off-track news, Western Fair recently acquired Dorchester Downs Training Centre, which sits about 20 kilometres east of The Raceway.

Inside the 49-acre property is a five-eighth’s-mile track, two barns with 100 stalls, and some of the largest stables in the area.

The Dorchester opportunity came about unexpectedly for Western Fair brass, but it was one Blanchard said his team couldn’t pass up.

“It’s a beautiful property,” Blanchard said. “It makes sense for Western Fair Association for a variety of reasons and we’re happy to be able to continue to support racing locally. We think it’s one of the nicest training centers anywhere in Canada.

“Our goal is to maintain it at a high level and make sure it’s as full as it can be to help support our live racing product here.”

London’s premier harness racing venue is slated to take over operations of Dorchester Downs Training Centre in early July.

THE VIEW FROM WOODBINE MOHAWK PARK

with MELISSA KEITH

Happy Mother's Day, Atlanta Girl

Atlantic broodmare sets a Mohawk milestone.

by Melissa Keith

Two or more winners by a given sire on a single card at Woodbine Mohawk Park is not unusual. Standardbred Canada data for 2023 shows that there were 1,231 active stallions (144 Canadian, 1,088 American-owned) and 19,935 active broodmares (3,262 Canadian, 16,072 American-owned). Statistically, every popular sire has a much greater chance of multiple winners on any particular date.

Mares typically have one chance per breeding season, and sometimes not even that. So, when Atlanta Girl's sons Saulsbrook Victor and Saulsbrook Ian recorded back-to-back Saturday night victories May 4 at Mohawk, it was a special achievement for the 19-year-old mare and her proud co-owner.

William Allan McNeil of Currys Corner, NS, laughed as he told HRU that he almost missed the wins, which came late in the card (races 10 and 11).

"I was up because we were foaling," McNeil said. "I had one [mare] that was close to foaling Saturday night, so that's the only reason I got to see. That was very good."

His father, Bill, was better prepared to follow the offspring of Saulsbrook Farms' star broodmare, however late they were racing that night.

"My dad has really enjoyed it," William said. "He's 84 years old now and he really likes watching them. He had a nap at 9 o'clock [Atlantic time] so he could watch those horses."

The timing of the wins by Saulsbrook Ian and Saulsbrook Victor happened at a moment that might be auspicious for their dam.

William Allan McNeil
Atlanta Girl and her 2024 foal.

“[Atlanta Girl’s] a Cambest mare, and I had [2006 Dan Patch and O’Brien Older Pacing Horse of the Year] Lis Mara [p, 4, 1:47.3m; $2,141,661], and he was a Cambest. They’re tough, and that was what attracted me to her. She stood ‘off’ a little. Me and my partner Louis Willinger [of Louisville, KY] bought her. I had just sold Lis Mara.”

~ William Allan McNeil

“We had just bred Atlanta Girl back to Betterthancheddar that very day,” William said. “It was all just coming together. Hopefully this one will be somewhat like Ian.”

Saulsbrook Ian (p, 3, 1:52.1s; $65,075) is the mare’s 2020 foal by Betterthancheddar. The 4-year-old gelding has now won half of his 30 lifetime starts for his Charlottetown, PEI-based ownership group, Red Oak Stables. Saulsbrook Ian has been trained by Robert Kyle Fellows since November 2023.

“He’s been good for those people,” William said. “They could have sent him to Ontario last year, but they just kept him around last year in PEI to enjoy him. There’s a whole bunch of them who own him. They got a lot of enjoyment out of him. I think you’ll see him come home for Old Home Week.”

Half-brother Saulsbrook Victor (p, 4, 1:49.2s; $378,669) equaled his own lifetime mark and Canada’s fastest overall mile of the season with his May 4 WMP preferred 2 victory for driver Brett MacDonald and trainer Ronald MacDonald. The Source Of Pride gelding, Atlanta Girl’s 2018 foal, is the fastest and richest of her 10 offspring.

“Victor” had a slow start to his career, but picked up 23 wins from 92 starts to date, and continues to enjoy high-level success at Canada’s top track. He is owned by Brett MacDonald and Brent MacLennan of Charlottetown, PEI. Saulsbrook Victor was previously profiled in HRU.

“He got kicked just below the knee [as a colt],” William said. “He was really rambunctious. It’s good to see another Maritime connection do well with him. [Driver] Austin Sorrie really helped him, and Brett MacDonald... He’s been good to both those two young guys, who are Maritimers.”

Brett and father Ronald MacDonald also raced Atlanta Girl’s fastest daughter, the Big Jim mare Saulsbrook Jessie (p, 6, 1:52.3f; $252,009).

“She was a top ‘B’ track mare in Ontario for quite a while,” said her breeder, who has added the recently-retired winner of 35 races (from 165 starts) to the Saulsbrook Farms broodmare band.

William said one reason he bought Atlanta Girl was because her dam Only The Best (p, 3, 1:50.4s; $309,955) is by a certain sire.

“Her mother’s a Cambest mare, and I had [2006 Dan Patch and O’Brien Older Pacing Horse of the Year] Lis Mara [p, 4, 1:47.3m; $2,141,661], and he was a Cambest,” the Nova Scotian horseman said. “They’re tough, and that was what attracted me to her. She stood ‘off’ a little. Me and my partner Louis Willinger [of Louisville, KY] bought her. I had just sold Lis Mara.”

The $10,000 Harrisburg yearling won her first two qualifiers at Truro Raceway in 2007, before tasting defeat in her third qualifier that July 8. Atlanta Girl finished second, 10 lengths behind the winning colt.

“I thought we had a nice filly, but then we got hooked that day,” William said. “We got beat by him, and I thought, maybe not!”

William gained a whole new respect for her effort later on, when the colt went on from Truro Raceway to one of the greatest campaigns in the sport’s history.

“She would have been the only filly to come close to Somebeachsomewhere,” he said.

Atlanta Girl’s racing days ended after just nine starts and three wins for Willinger and William, who also trained her.

“She went up in Ontario, but she had a bone chip or something,” he said.

She took her lifetime mark in her second consecutive win at Sarnia, ON’s five-eighth’s-mile Hiawatha Horse Park.

“I wanted her on a bigger track when she went to Ontario,” William said.

Keith Oliver drove Atlanta Girl to a pair of fourth-place finishes at Mohawk on Aug. 27 and Sept. 3, 2007. She paced individual miles of 1:54.2 and 1:55.2, respectively.

“Keith Oliver said ‘She was fourth to [future 2008 O’Brien 3-Year-Old Pacing Filly of the Year] Chancey Lady [p, 5, 1:48.4f; $2,072,092], so do not sell this filly; this is a high-end filly,’” William said.

Although she retired from racing in May 2008, her co-owner and trainer said he always had confidence in her ability to produce.

“She showed me enough high-end talent,” he said. “It comes through in her foals.”

After losing her 2022 Big Jim filly, deceased at birth, Atlanta Girl rebounded with an impressive colt from the first crop of 2022 Dan Patch and O’Brien Horse of the Year Bulldog Hanover. Saulsbrook Big Dog will be offered at the 2024 London Classic Yearling Sale.

“This year is the last time we’re going to breed [Atlanta Girl]. She’s such an easy keeper, and she loves having babies around. She’s kind of the boss of the whole farm, but this will be the last one. She’ll be the queen here. We have enough farms here... The horses all go out together, and it will be good for her.”

~ William Allan McNeil

“He’s a real big, good-looking horse, a lot like the other ones,” William said. “He should be pretty sought after, because everything she throws has been solid. This Bulldog one may be her best.”

Saulsbrook Big Dog, from the small first crop of Bulldog Hanover, is a doubly limited-edition colt. Not only is he among the first 54 registered foals from his sire, but dam Atlanta Girl will be retired to the sprawling pastures of Saulsbrook Farms after her 2025 foal.

“This year is the last time we’re going to breed her,” William said. “She’s such an easy keeper, and she loves having babies around. She’s kind of the boss of the whole farm, but this will be the last one. She’ll be the queen here. We have enough farms here... The horses all go out together, and it will be good for her.”

Fortunately, two daughters of Saulsbrook Farms’ “blue hen” mare are now part of the broodmare band. William said Saulsbrook Alana (p, 4, 1:53.4h; $169,151) was being bred to Betterthancheddar this season, while Saulsbrook Jessie was being bred to Somebeachsomewhere son Beach Glass.

“It makes sense, because their parents met on the racetrack,” William said with a laugh.

There are highs and lows to breeding standardbreds. William said his family has experienced both, ever since his father established Saulsbrook Farms in the 1980s. Saulsbrook (p, 5, 1:56.3h; $93,682) is the name of the Drop Off—Belle Marica gelding foaled at the farm on the outskirts of Windsor, NS, in 1998, who had 20 wins over a respectable eight years on the track.

“You always cheer for the ones that you bred, and if they do good, you feel good,” William said. “There’s so much bad that can happen that you really have to appreciate it when they’re racing good.”

Case in point: Friday night (May 3) at Mohawk, Saulsbrook Olympia (p, 4, 1:50.3s; $209,599) recorded her 25th lifetime victory, in line to driver Brett MacDonald. William said her dam Racino Star (p, 4, 1:52.3s; $72,712), in foal to Bulldog Hanover, had died “about two weeks before foaling.”

It’s hard to pick one of Atlanta Girl’s offspring as her best.

“Probably, I would say [Saulsbrook] Jessie,” William said. “She wasn’t as fast as Victor, but she’s just so tough. I wouldn’t really say she had one that was ‘better’ than another. They all did the best they could do. They are real triers, so I would say they all gave their best. It was always nice to see them show up.”

Appreciating success is important, because “it’s so fleeting,” he added. “Whether it’s a driver or groom or whatever, it’s nice when things are going good.”

With her foals’ recent wins at Mohawk and Mother’s Day coming up on May 12, it’s a perfect moment to celebrate Atlanta Girl.

“She’s just helped some people out, she’s been good to her babies, and good to some people,” William said. “She’s a giving kind of mare.”

GRASSROOTS PERSPECTIVE

with CHRIS LOMON

Barry Shrum cultivates winners – be it pumpkins or horses

by Chris Lomon

What, if anything, could growing pumpkins and training standardbreds possibly have in common? Barry Shrum has the answer.

For over 20 years, Shrum and his wife Robin, a vice-principal, have grown pumpkins on their parcel of land in Woodstock, VA.

It has been both a labor of love and an award-winning endeavor for the couple.

“We enjoy it,” said Barry, who won first prize at the 2022 Virginia State Fair for his 756-pound pumpkin, while Robin placed third with her 614-pound entry. “Like anything in life, you get out of it what you put into it.”

Barry’s winning touch doesn’t begin and end in the pumpkin patch.

Recently, he became an “Own a Horse for a Day” contest winner at Shenandoah Downs.

The initiative has eight fans entered into a draw to own a horse for one race on a designated day’s card. The contestants get to meet their horse, driver, and trainer in the barn area before the race, get pictures taken with the connections, and win their share of the $5,250 purse.

Barry has a connection to a previous contest winner.

His friend, Steve Wetzel, who had been a regular fixture at the Shenandoah County Fair, won the same contest a few years ago and is now a full-fledged, full-time standardbred owner, trainer, and farm owner.

“I was sitting in the grandstand with Steve Wetzel’s wife, watching Steve’s horses,” Barry said. “I said, ‘One of these days, I’m going to win that contest.’ I knew I was likely going to buy a horse one day, but they called my name out. My horse for that day was Leroy’s Skpn School.”

“With racing and growing pumpkins, you get out of it what you put into it. With pumpkin-growing here, there is another guy I help and that is just like racing. In racing, we all support one another and when it’s race time, we all try to get the win.”

~ Barry Shrum

The 5-year-old son of Schoolkids had a legitimate shot at taking all the spoils.

Unfortunately for Barry and the other contestants, the weather had other plans.

“I figured I had a pretty good chance with this horse, but the races ended up getting rained out that day,” Barry said. “So, they ended up giving everyone in the contest 750 dollars.”

The experience didn’t dampen Barry’s enthusiasm for racing.

A longtime fan of the sport, his interest had grown to a point where thoughts of joining the ownership ranks had become more frequent.

“I worked at a sporting goods store about a mile from the track and I ended up meeting a lot of people in racing, some of whom have won stakes races,” Barry said. “I started hanging around them and learning more about the sport and the horses.”

“I have been going to races at the fair since I was a little kid. I have lived here for most of my life, and I have always had a big interest in racing.”

Soon after his contest experience, Barry went online and started to research how to claim a horse.

Step one was joining the USTA.

The second step was looking at pacers and trotters who would fit his budget.

One day, his curiosity was piqued when he came across a grizzled veteran pacer by the name Pacific Stride.

The more Barry studied the son of Art Major—Terri Hall, a $100,000 purchase at the 2013 Lexington Select Sale, the more he believed the bay was a perfect fit.

“I found the horse I wanted to claim, but I ended up going to the owners and asking if they were interested in selling the horse,” Barry said. “They were and that’s how I ended up with Pacific Stride.”

Barry had plenty of support after making the purchase.

“[Trainer] Jimmy Viars, who has raced horses since the 1990s, told me that I could bring the horse to where he is and that he’d show me some of the ropes,” Barry said. “Steve Wetzel has a farm. I asked Steve if I got a horse, would I be able to keep it at his place and he said ‘Yes.’”

The neophyte owner’s original game plan for his horse changed quickly.

Between the spring and fall racing meets, Barry figured he’d have 15 weeks to campaign his horse in Virginia.

He soon realized there could be more opportunities for Pacific Stride to compete beyond Old Dominion.

“Rosecroft is only an hour and a half away,” Barry said. “I didn’t see myself racing there, but we did. I wasn’t listed as the trainer, but we had quite a few races with Pacific Stride there. He was always in the top five, including some nice seconds.

“I had Jimmy Viars and Kevin Altig, who is Brian Tomlinson’s son, as trainers for me before I got my trainer’s license. Jimmy was my trainer for the fall meet at Shenandoah. I helped him clean stalls and jog horses. He showed me the ropes and how he takes care of the business side of things.

“Kevin took me on and helped me a lot. He works for Steve, so it’s been nice to help one another out and I can learn as we go along.”

Barry would prove to be a willing student.

Pacific Stride’s first race under the tutelage of his new trainer resulted in a third-place finish at Shenandoah on April 6.

One race later, also at Shenandoah, the gelding was third again, this time as the 2-1 choice.

The third time would be the charm.

On April 21, with Fern Paquet, Jr. in the race bike, Pacific Stride, at 9-1, was tipped three wide in the final turn and passed four rivals en route to a 4½-length score in a time of 1:56.3.

“Fern was driving the horse for the first time and asked me what I should know about him,” Barry said. “I told him that he’s a good old horse, he tries hard, and he’ll come home strong. I said that if he could stay within 5 lengths coming down the backstretch, you’d have a big shot.

“Fern gave him a perfect drive. They were flying around the turn and pulled away from everybody.”

It was the 20th career win for Pacific Stride and the first for Barry.

“I had bet him to win about four times prior to that race, but on that day, I didn’t,” he said. “And of course on that day, he won.”

“My wife got her groom’s license and I have been teaching her how to hook up the horse. She jogged him and she said, ‘This is pretty cool... I might want one!’ If we get one, it will be one for her and one for me.”

~ Barry Shrum

But that was okay. Watching him win as he did and having that first training win was a great moment.

“My wife and in-laws, who are big fans, were there and so were the Wetzels. My parents were there earlier in the card, but my mom got cold, so they left. My brother works in the test barn, so he was excited too. The crowd has become big fans of the local horses and Pacific Stride. They were roaring the day we won.”

The good times haven’t ended there.

There is a good chance Barry might add another horse to his stable.

He is quite familiar with the prospective owner.

“My wife got her groom’s license and I have been teaching her how to hook up the horse,” Barry said. “She jogged him and she said, ‘This is pretty cool... I might want one!’ If we get one, it will be one for her and one for me.”

Teaming up for a successful venture is nothing new for the couple.

When they aren’t devoting time to their beloved pacer, the Shrums dedicate part of the year to a treasured hobby.

Their penchant for producing prodigious pumpkins dates back 20-plus years.

“With racing and growing pumpkins, you get out of it what you put into it,” Barry said. “With pumpkin-growing here, there is another guy I help and that is just like racing. In racing, we all support one another and when it’s race time, we all try to get the win.

“What you put into the horse – the daily care, the time, making sure it is sound and healthy – is the same with the pumpkins, with a few variables, of course. Both are very time-consuming, but also very rewarding.”

On this day, Barry planted his first pumpkin seeds of the year.

“I thought if we do go to the fair, we better get started,” he said. “A lot of people in Virginia have already started. They grow some big ones, but we’ll see what happens.”

The fruits of his labor are still to be determined.

One certainty, however, is that he won’t be cutting any corners when it comes to his craft.

Just as it is with his horse ownership.

Has he considered going with orange as his training colors?

“We have orange and black,” Barry said with a laugh. “I suppose I could add a pumpkin logo on my colors.”

A perfect fit and far more than just a fashion statement.

Michael “Mickey” Burke, Sr. dies at 87

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

Michael “Mickey” Burke, Sr., the 2006 Trainer of the Year and first trainer in history to surpass $10 million in purses in a single season, died Monday morning (May 6) at the age of 87.

Burke, the patriarch of the Burke Racing Stable now led by his son Ron, won 3,167 races and $35.4 million in purses since the inception of official trainer statistics in 1991. The western Pennsylvania native's involvement in harness racing began as a horse owner in 1955 and he drove in his first race at an Ohio fair in 1956 at the age of 20.

After selling his car dealership in 1981, Mickey turned his attention to training on a full-time basis. His first star was Maltese Artist, who was a multiple Grand Circuit winner as a 4-year-old in 2005 and went on to earn $2.32 million lifetime.

In the ensuing years, the Burke Stable became associated with many of the sport's great horses, including Hall of Fame pacers Foiled Again (who retired in 2018 with a record $7.63 million in earnings) and Sweet Lou (2014 Pacer of the Year) as well as Hall of Fame trotters Hannelore Hanover (the 2017 Horse of the Year) and Mission Brief (to be inducted in July), not to mention numerous Dan Patch Award honorees.

Mickey turned the stable's daily operations over to his son Ron in 2009 but remained active in working with young horses and as an owner. The Burke Stable has led all training stables in wins and purses every year since 2005.

The entire Burke family has been involved in harness racing either through active participation or horse ownership: Mickey's wife, Sylvia, who is the stable's bookkeeper; sons Ron and Mickey, Jr., and daughters Michelle, Rebecca, and Melissa.

Hall of Famer Alan Leavitt, 88, dies

by USTA communications department

Harness racing Hall of Fame member Alan J. Leavitt, well known for breeding horses under the banner of Lana Lobell Farms and Walnut Hall Ltd., died May 6, 2024, in Lexington, KY. He was 88.

Born in Baltimore, MD, Leavitt graduated from Harvard University in 1958. Although he had been deeply involved with saddlebred and show horses at the time, in 1959 he entered the standardbred breeding industry with fervor by establishing Lana Lobell Farms at his parents' Hanover, PA, property. Leavitt later expanded the enterprise to include locations at Bedminster, NJ, established in 1977, and Hamptonburgh, NY, in 1979.

Lana Lobell Farms was known for standing some of the top sires in the standardbred sport, notably pacing stallion No Nukes p, 3, T1:52.1 ($572,430) and trotting stallions Noble Victory, Speedy Crown and Speedy Somolli. Among the horses bred by Lana Lobell was 1987-88 Horse of the Year Mack Lobell, considered by many as the greatest trotter of all time, and Garland Lobell, who became an influential trotting sire.

For many years, Leavitt was a major player when it came to syndicating stallions. His 1964 syndication of Noble Victory put him on the map when he put together a deal which valued the stallion at $1 million.

Lana Lobell Farms ceased operations in 1989. In the early 1990s, Leavitt married Margaret Jewett and began standing stallions and breeding horses under the banner of Walnut Hall Ltd. at Jewett's Lexington, KY, property that was once a part of her family's historic Walnut Hall Farm. Leavitt brought the trotting sire Garland Lobell from Quebec to Walnut Hall Ltd. and there the stallion made his mark on the trotting breed. One of Leavitt's top accomplishments as a breeder was mating Garland Lobell with the broodmare Amour Angus. The duo produced the successful full brothers Angus Hall 3, 1:54.3 ($830,654), Conway Hall and Andover Hall 3, 1:51.3 ($870,510).

Walnut Hall Ltd. also bred the top stakes filly Cameron Hall 4, 1:53.4s ($1.816 million), who fetched a record-setting $1.1 million for racehorses at auction in 2001. In addition, Walnut Hall Ltd. bred 1999 Pacer of the Year Blissfull Hall p, 3, 1:49.2 ($1.468 million) and Cantab Hall, a stakes winner who became a leading trotting sire.

In 2008, Leavitt was elected to Harness Racing's Living Hall of Fame.

In recent years, he wrote a breeding column for Harness Racing Update.

Leavitt received numerous acknowledgements for his work in the harness racing industry. He was the recipient of the USHWA Proximity Award in 1981 and later received the President's Award in 1983. Leavitt was also honored with back-to-back USHWA Breeder of the Year awards in 1987 and 1988. He served as a director of the USTA for 30 years, and a director of The Hambletonian Society for 40 years. He was also a former member of the Kentucky Horse Racing Commission, where he led an initiative to ban one-handed whipping at the state's harness tracks.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret, and children Josephine Leavitt, Harris Leavitt, and David Leavitt.

Services will be private.

Sir Pinocchio wires field in Dexter Cup at Freehold

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

Sir Pinocchio took the lead from a group of breaking horses on the first turn and held off favorite Blackhawk Zette in the stretch to win Saturday's (May 4) $134,900 Dexter Cup for 3-year-old male trotters by 1¼ lengths in 1:56.2 at Freehold Raceway. Stockholm Hanover finished third.

Sir Pinocchio, the 2-1 second choice, set fractions of :30.1, :59.3, and 1:28.1 on his way to the victory, his second in two starts this season.

"He raced super," trainer Ed Hart said about Sir Pinocchio. "There was a lot of mix up in the first turn, and I held my breath there for a minute. They came pretty good the last quarter [:28.1]. He's all right. He's the real deal."

Six horses went off-stride in the Dexter Cup, with Sir Pinocchio and Blackhawk Zette, who won the Bobby Weiss Series final this past Monday, the only two to remain trotting for the entire mile. Sir Pinocchio and Blackhawk Zette started from posts 6 and 7, respectively.

"It was kind of a mess in the first turn; I didn't know what was going on, everybody was blowing up," winning driver Jason Bartlett said. "We got through the mess and once I got around the first turn, I was pretty happy to be in the spot where I was. I didn't realize that [Blackhawk Zette] got on my back until going down the backside, so I knew I had a good horse on my back, but [Sir Pinocchio] trotted home well."

"It was a good effort, a good race. Hopefully, he keeps improving like he is. He's going to be a good horse."

Vicki Wright - World Wide Racing Photos

Sir Pinocchio (Jason Bartlett) winning the Dexter Cup at Freehold on Saturday (May 4).

The triumph continued a run of stakes success for Sir Pinocchio's family at Freehold. His dam, Lady Cromwell, is a full sister to Lord Cromwell, who won the 2017 Dexter Cup in a still standing stakes-record 1:55. His second dam, Oh Oh Its Magic, won a division of the Lady Suffolk Stakes in 2007.

Those two stakes-winners, who combined to earn more than $932,000 in their careers, were bred and owned by Carolyn Atherton and her husband, Irv, as is Sir Pinocchio.

Sir Pinocchio, a son of stallion Met's Hall, was a New York Sire Stakes Excelsior Series champion last year. He has hit the board in seven of nine lifetime starts, winning four and earning $123,877.

The gelding is not eligible to August's Hambletonian but is staked to several other major Grand Circuit races for 3-year-old male trotters, including the Yonkers Trot, Canadian Trotting Classic, and Matron.

"We have high hopes for the young man," Irv Atherton said earlier in the week. "We can only keep our fingers crossed that he stays healthy. We've got the right trainer and the right driver, so everything is good."

Sir Pinocchio paid $6.20 to win.

Earlier in the day, driver/trainer Todd Schadel won both divisions of the Lady Suffolk Stakes for 3-year-old female trotters, capturing the first with Loveyoubunches and the second with Jakarta Hanover.

In the first division, which went for a purse of $31,788, Loveyoubunches went to the front at the start and held off late charges from Meetmeatthebar by a head and Southwind Banshee by a neck as she won in 1:57.2.

Loveyoubunches, a daughter of Fordham Road—Lovebeinglucky, is owned by Todd and Christina Schadel and breeders Richard and Regina Beinhauer. It was her first win of the year and the seventh of her career in 11 starts. She has earned $154,465.

Sent off at odds of 5-1, Loveyoubunches paid $13.40 to win.

In the second division, which went for a purse of $32,788, Jakarta Hanover launched a first-over move on the backstretch, overtook co-favorite Eloise coming off the final turn, then fended off co-favorite Blazing Deo by a neck to win in 1:58.1. Lollapalooza K was third.

Jakarta Hanover, a daughter of International Moni—Janderson, is owned by Schadel and Jim Simpson. The Hambletonian Oaks-eligible filly was bred by Hanover Shoe Farms. It was her first win of the season and fourth in 13 career races. She has earned $86,664.

Also sent off at 5-1, Jakarta Hanover paid $12.60 to win.

Never fear: Troy's "Captain" is here

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

Captain Fear Not was healthy for nearly all last year but picked the most inopportune time to come up under the weather. Sickness derailed the horse as he prepared for the biggest potential payday of his season, forcing owner Kathe Troy to scratch the lone horse in her stable from the $252,000 Pennsylvania Sire Stakes final for 2-year-old male pacers.

Troy hopes the stakes-winning 3-year-old gets the opportunity to make up for it this season.

So far so good. The gelding began his sophomore campaign last week with a 1:51.2 win in a $51,257 division of the Pennsylvania Sire Stakes at Hollywood Casino at The Meadows. On Saturday (May 11), he will compete in the third of four $30,000 divisions of the Pennsylvania All-Stars at Mohegan Pennsylvania's Pocono Downs.

Last year, Captain Fear Not won two preliminary rounds of the PASS and a division of the Keystone Classic. He hit the board two additional times and earned $73,651. His mark of 1:51.2 was fourth best by a 2-year-old male pacer on a five-eighths-mile track.

"He was sick only two times last year, when he first shipped from Harrisburg [following his purchase at the Standardbred Horse Sale] to Florida, and then not again until that final for $252,000," Troy said. "You can't make that up. That was heartbreaking. Really heartbreaking. That could have made our year.

"I'm not going to say he could have won it, but he would have been OK in there. He would have been good. That hurt our final earnings for the year, for sure."

Troy purchased Captain Fear Not, a son of Captain Crunch—Mikayla Rose, under the name Salty Dog for $45,000 at the November 2022 Standardbred Horse Sale. Troy went to the sale with the intent of buying a Captain Crunch-sired yearling and decided on the colt after looking at all of them.

"I liked him right off the bat," said Troy, who shares training duties with Paul Reid. "The look of him was just so beautiful and his video sold me. He videoed tremendously. I was lucky that no one went too high. I probably paid a little bit more than I really wanted to; I think I wanted to spend about $40,000. But once I was there, I wasn't going to go. I was standing right in front of the bid catcher. I was thrilled to get him."

Captain Fear Not was a handful in his early days but developed into a pleasant surprise.

"He had everybody on their toes for a while," Troy said with a laugh. "Paul has done a great job with him. He's come around and surprised us all. He's just such a smart horse, exceptionally smart. That's what I saw in him when I looked at him in Harrisburg. You have to start with some intelligence. That's what I love the most about him. You show him something once and he's good. He's just such a good boy."

Chris Gooden

Captain Fear Not (Jeremy Indof) winning at The Meadows.

Captain Fear Not is the 3-1 second choice on the morning line in his All-Stars division. He will leave from post 4 in the seven-horse field with Matt Kakaley in the sulky. Booming Economy, also a PASS winner last week, is the 5-2 favorite. He starts from post 2 with David Miller driving for trainer Ron Burke.

“He’s been a real enjoyable horse to own,” Troy said about Captain Fear Not, whose stakes schedule includes the North America Cup, Max C. Hempt Memorial, and Matron. “I’m cautiously optimistic about the season. I’m just going to have fun with this guy, not be stressed out, enjoy it.”

In the second All-Stars division, returning Breeders Crown champion Gem Quality, one of the top-five rated horses on the road to the North America Cup and Meadowlands Pace, will make his season’s debut for trainer Chris Ryder and driver Dexter Dunn.

Last year, Gem Quality won four of eight races and hit the board two more times. The homebred son of Captain Crunch—Twinkle earned $438,940 for owners Let It Ride Stables, Odds On Racing, Brad Grant, and Enviro Stables.

He captured the Breeders Crown at odds of 23-1 by 1¼ lengths over Captain Albano in a track-record 1:50 at Harrah’s Hoosier Park.

“I know he was a longshot, and maybe it was justified, but the horse has always had good speed,” Ryder said after the race. “He’s a really good sprinter, even against good horses. It’s not a surprise to me. I’m thrilled. We thought twice about coming here, but we thought, why not? And we pulled it off. You’ve got to be in it to win it. That’s what makes racing such a terrific business. You never know who’s really going to win.”

Gem Quality heads to the All-Stars off two qualifiers. He won the first in 1:52.1 with a :25.1 last quarter and won the second in 1:52.4 with a :26 final panel.

“He’s doing very well,” Ryder said. “We’re happy with him. I think we’re going in the right direction. When I go to qualify him, he shows me more than he shows me at home, when you go to race. I kind of like that. He just seems to have more pep in his step when he gets behind the gate.

“Hopefully, we do well and head up to the North America Cup.”

Gem Quality is the 5-2 favorite in his All-Stars division. He will leave from post 6 in a field of eight.

The 5-2 favorite in the first division is Solid Character, who will start from post 5 in a field of eight. He is trained by Burke and will have Miller in the sulky. In the fourth division, McCrunch is the 2-1 favorite for driver Yannick Gingras and trainer Nancy Takter. He will leave from post 1 in a seven-horse field.

Racing begins at 1 p.m. (EDT) at Pocono Downs. For free race programs, visit the Pennsylvania Harness Horsemen’s Association website here.

It's My Show premieres a winner on record Oak Grove Day

North America Cup champ It's My Show made a successful 4-year-old debut in one of seven $50,000 Kentucky Sire Stakes (KYSS) splits on a betting-record-breaking Monday (May 6) at Oak Grove Racing.

Sent off as the 1-2 favorite in his division, Scott Zeron sent It's My Show from post 6 to the point through a :26.3 first quarter and snagged a breather to a :56 half before encountering a fierce first-over challenge from Blue Lou (driven by Yannick Gingras). Blue Lou pressed It's My Show to three-quarters in 1:23.4 and persistently pestered the pacesetter into the straightaway to no avail. It's My Show cut the corner and then kept a head up on Blue Lou to snatch the win in 1:50.2 with Combustion (Todd McCarthy) third and Bamboozler (Tony Hall) fourth.

It's My Show has now won 10 times from 25 starts, earning $1,161,965 for owners Richard and Joanne Young. Linda Toscano trains the 4-year-old gelding by Sweet Lou who paid $3.06 to win.

Admiral Hill (Gingras) delivered as the chalk in the other division for pacing horses and geldings with a near pillar-to-post win in 1:51.3. Gingras floated Admiral Hill forward and grabbed the lead by a :26.4 quarter and coasted through the remainder. Clocking a :55 half and 1:23.1 three-quarters, Gingras cued Admiral Hill to sprint for home and easily rebuffed the pocket pop from El Rey (David Miller) to win by three-quarter lengths with Tip Top Cat (Dexter Dunn) third and Cant Stop Lou (Zeron) fourth.

A 4-year-old gelding by Sweet Lou, Admiral Hill has now won 12 times from 29 tries and earned $347,008. Per Engblom trains the $4.94 winner for owner Morrison Racing Stables.

Bestfriend Volo (Dunn) made a strong Oak Grove debut in the second of two splits for the trotting horses and geldings with a 1:52.3 front-stepping win. Dunn swooped to the lead past a :27.1 first quarter and rolled to a :56 half before facing a blitz from Sparks Fly (Atlee Bender) to three-quarters in 1:24.2. Sparks Fly near last-to-front attack proved taxing through the final turn, which left Bestfriend Volo to stride in a measured winner by three-quarter lengths. French Wine (Andy Miller), off a pocket ride, zipped up for second while Sparks Fly levelled off into third and The Hazelton (Gingras) took fourth.

Nancy Takter trains and co-owns Bestfriend Volo, a gelding by Walner, with Christina Takter, 3 Brothers Stables and Deja Blu. He paid $4.76 to win.

Once In A Lifetime (Todd McCarthy) took the second male trot under wraps in 1:55.1. McCarthy placed the 2-5 favorite on the lead from the pylon post through a :27.3 first quarter and trotted unfazed through a :57.4 half and 1:27.1 three-quarters in progress to a 1:55.1 win over pocket-sitter Morning Edition (Bender). Ahadi As (Hall) tucked inside and closed through a seam to take third from The Fast Lane (Andy McCarthy) finishing down the center of the track for fourth.

Sad Frog Farms owns Once In A Lifetime, a gelding by Father Patrick who has now won 11 times from 25 starts and banked $475,197. Jim Campbell trains the $2.72 winner.

Show Me A Million (Lewayne Miller) pulled an upset in the opening male trot split when winning as the second-longest shot on the board in 1:55.1. Miller moved first over with his charge after sitting third through splits of :28.2 and :58 to draw onto closer terms with leader Country Dagger (Andy McCarthy) by three-quarters in 1:26.2. Show Me A Million kept chugging through the straightaway and downed Country Dagger at the beam by a head while Prince Of Honor (Todd McCarthy) flew from last for third and Djimon (David Miller) took fourth from 1-2 favorite Ari Ferrari J (Dunn), who broke stride in the stretch.

Winning his sixth race from 25 starts, Show Me A Million has now earned $141,253. Susan Miller trains the Dover Dan stallion for owners L & S Racing, Fred Wittmer, George Kucik, Jr. and Joni Beechy. He paid $17 to win.

Mambacita (Dunn) again rolled on the lead to deliver as the 1-5 choice in the lone division for trotting mares. Dunn seized the helm to a :28.1 first quarter and grabbed a breather to a :57.2 half, which readied her for the attack from Railee Something (Andy McCarthy) up the backside. Railee Something loomed to Mambacita's throat past three-quarters in 1:25.3 but tired into the stretch to leave Mambacita on a 2¼-length lead by the beam. Cessna Pride (Todd McCarthy) took third and Muscling Vegas (David Miller) finished fourth.

Tony Alagna trains Mambacita, a 4-year-old mare by Tactical Landing, for owners Crawford Farms Racing, Alagna Racing LLC and Pryde Stables Inc. She won her 13th race from 33 starts and added to a bankroll now worth $845,418 while paying $2.56 to win.

Keep My Secret (Hall) landed a 9-1 upset in the last KYSS split of the day, the single dash for pacing mares, with a 1:51 power effort on the point. Hall launched for the lead to a :26.4 first quarter and stole a breather to the half in :56.4. From there, she endured a first-over push from Always B Naughty (Andy McCarthy) to three-quarters in 1:23.4 and stayed under wraps into the straightaway, where Hall gave her a few taps of the whip as she confidently coasted in a three-quarter length winner over pocket-sitter Hungry For Love (Zeron). Always B Naughty settled for third and 6-5 favorite Strong Poison (Gingras), off a second-over trip, settled for fourth.

A homebred Captaintreacherous mare for Dr. Fred Kruszelnicki, Keep My Secret has now won nine races from 26 starts and earned $161,240. Anette Lorentzon trains the $20.16 winner.

Despite a track maintenance delay that pushed post time 80 minutes back, Oak Grove crushed its single-card betting record with its 13-race card lasting until Monday's dusk. Oak Grove handled $522,939.11, besting the previous record set last May of $419,168.

Andrew McCarthy, Brett Pelling double in Pocono stakes

Driver Andrew McCarthy and trainer Brett Pelling each captured two of the three $30,000 divisions of the Pennsylvania All-Stars event for 3-year-old pacing fillies, as Pocono Downs at Mohegan Pennsylvania welcomed back both Pennsylvania-sired stakes racing and Sunday evening cards.

McCarthy and Pelling hooked up behind the fastest of the trio of winners, the Captaintreacherous filly Rocket Deo, who took the lead later on the first turn and set all the pace. She went on to win by 2½ lengths over pocket-sitting stablemate Sweet Gal while taking a mark of 1:53.1 (the track surface, listed as "sloppy" all night, had been moved from "+1" to "+2" before this division of the stake) for Morrison Racing Stables and John Fielding.

McCarthy's other All-Stars win came behind Flawless, another daughter of Captaintreacherous also making her seasonal debut and also looking good to defeat a resilient Bellucci by three-quarters of a length in 1:53.4. Nancy Takter trains this champion in the Kentucky program last year for Marvin Katz and Sam Goldband.

Brett Pelling's second stakes success came after a four-horse photo finish as his son Jack piloted the Always B Miki miss Beautiful Roz to success in 1:57, with Big City Daisy, Flower Shops, and Ginger Tree Belle next in line in that order, just a nose off of the horse immediately in front of them. Beautiful Roz, unraced at 2, now has five wins and two nose defeats in her burgeoning career for Melvin Segal, Kentuckiana Racing Stable, and Bud Hatfield.

Away from the stakes, deserving of a mention is the Art Major 10-year-old Tam Major A, the fastest pacer of the year at Pocono with a 1:50.2 win last week, and here home first in 1:52.3 in the off going for his fifth straight win against the track's priciest claimers; and the fifth straight time he will be going to a different home after winning.

Tam Major A provided the meet's leading driver Matt Kakaley with one of his four wins on the night; George Napolitano, Jr., right behind Kakaley in the standings, posted three successes on the night to add to the two he achieved at Philly before heading northward.

No Control, Osceola and Talk Curdy To Me take Canadian Grad finals

The Canadian Graduate Series crowned three winners on Saturday night (May 4) at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

The series for Canadian sired 4-year-olds concluded with finals for Open Pace, Mare Pace and Open Trot.

No Control ($3.90) captured the $80,000 Canadian Graduate Series Pace by 8½ lengths in a career best 1:50.2.

Sylvain Filion steered the Tan Micallef trained No Control to the blowout score, going gate-to-wire. The picture of the race changed drastically at the head of the lane when Whatchulookin At and Write Me A Rose hooked wheels, taking both out of the race.

Speaker Of Peace and Nighttime Dancer took second and third, respectively.

A gelded son of Control The Moment, No Control scored his first win of the season on Saturday after finishing second in all three prior starts. He is owned by Micallef, Kiera Liberte and Ian & James Clarke and now has $167,507 earned.

Osceola ($4.10) rode a 2-hole trip to victory in the $81,500 Canadian Graduate Series Trot for driver Doug McNair and trainer Gregg McNair.

Passarino did the road work to the head of the lane before being overtaken by Osceola, who kicked home in :27.3 to win in a career best 1:52.4. Runner-up Ghostly Casper finished 3 lengths back of the winner, while Hasty Bid took third.

The McNair student Osceola is now two-for-three this season, eight career wins and nearly $500,000 in earnings. He is owned by Gregg McNair, Willow Oak Ranch and Paul Hawman.

Talk Curdy To Me ($4.20) came first-up at the lead going to three-quarters and powered to a 1:51.1 score in the $81,500 Canadian Graduate Series Mare Pace.

James MacDonald guided the Dave Menary trained Talk Curdy To Me to a 1½-length victory over pace-setting Powder Play. Mist Amber grabbed the show spot.

A daughter of Betterthancheddar, Talk Curdy To Me had a win and two seconds from four starts this season entering Saturday's final. She is now a 10-time winner with over $260,000 earned and races for owner Pollack Racing LLC.

Saturday night's card also featured a pair of eliminations for the SBOA Colt Pace. The event for Ontario sired 3-year-old pacing colts and geldings saw two six-horse $25,000 eliminations contested.

Funtime Bayama, driven by Sylvain Filion for trainer Richard Moreau, captured the first division in 1:51.2. Unrivaled Hanover, Storm Shadow, Best Night Ever and Do Better, rounded out the top-five, advancing to the final.

Enforcer for driver Doug McNair and trainer Gregg McNair went all the way to win the second split in 1:54. Stonebridge Thrill, Wikipedia, Always A Thrill and Four By Four were the other starters to make next week's final.

All four SBOA Stakes finals for Ontario sired 3-year-olds will take place next Saturday (May 11).

Foiled Again to celebrate his 20th birthday at Shenandoah Downs

Legendary harness horse Foiled Again will celebrate his 20th birthday at Shenandoah Downs this Saturday (May 11) in afternoon festivities that include a Happy Birthday singalong, free cake/cupcakes, and a meet and greet with the equine legend where fans can get their picture taken with him.

Retired for six years now, the son of Dragon Again—In A Safe Place bankrolled over $7.6 million – the most ever by a standardbred horse – from a stellar career in which he won 109 races and scored 225 top-three finishes from 331 starts. Win number 104 of his illustrious career came at Shenandoah Downs on Sept. 29, 2018.

After that 2018 win, Foiled Again returned to Woodstock twice while retired including a 2019 appearance where Hall of Fame driver John Campbell put on his former racing colors and led Foiled Again for a lap around the half mile oval. The popular pacer also returned in 2022.

On Saturday, fans can also meet star harness driver Montrell Teague who piloted Foiled Again to victory number 105. Teague will be making his first appearance ever at Shenandoah Downs though it will be in a promotional capacity, instead of driving.

Shenandoah Downs is located at I-81, Exit 283 halfway between Winchester and Harrisonburg in the northwest part of Virginia. Harness racing has taken place at the Shenandoah County Fairgrounds for 106 years. More event details are at shenandoahdowns.com.

New feature highlights Meadowlands TV broadcast

Tonight (May 10) and Saturday (May 11) The Meadowlands will conduct back paddock interviews with drivers and trainers as their top trotters and pacers make their return to the racetrack.

The main objective is to talk with horsemen that have horses coming off the bench in the night's multi-leg wagers.

With the early Pick-5 getting underway in race 1, paddock interviews will take place throughout the pregame show that kicks off at 5:47 p.m. There will also be interviews leading up to the late Pick-5 beginning in race 8 and the $50,000 guaranteed Pick-4 sequences that begin in races 6 and 10.

"This is something a customer sent in to us, so we are going to give it a shot," said track chief operating officer/general manager Jason Settlemoir. "We are looking to get as much information to our customers as possible."

If you miss the interview live, you will be able to find them on our YouTube Channel: Meadowlands Racing & Entertainment @TheMeadowlands: <https://www.youtube.com/@MeadowlandsRacetrack>.

You can find selections for each race on our X account (formally known as Twitter) @TheMeadowlands.

Meadowlands handle reaches new yearly high

Saturday nights always mean big business at The Meadowlands, but last Saturday (May 4), business was the biggest it has been thus far this year, as the 14-race program at the mile oval saw $3,870,638 pushed through the windows, tops at the track – and the sport – during 2024.

After a fabulous Friday (May 3) that saw wagering of $3,450,418, the weekend total of $7,321,056 also represented a new 2024 Meadowlands and industry best.

"Anyone who was at The Meadowlands during Kentucky Derby weekend could clearly see one thing for certain, the pandemic is over," said track chief operating officer/general manager Jason Settlemoir. "Life and good times were in abundance as the crowd celebrated the 150th edition of The Derby..."

Previously, the single-night high handle was $3,779,096, established on Jan. 27, and the weekend best was $7,233,313, set March 1-2.

“Our biggest night of the year, a historic Derby, beautiful weather for our Beerfest, and almost everyone in the metropolitan area has Knicks and Rangers fever, not to mention a night when our live product was in high demand,” said Settlemoir. “What a glorious time to celebrate life here at The Meadowlands.”

FREAKY FAST: Battlefield, a 4-year-old gelded son of Sweet Lou—Belle Boyd, sat a close-to-the-action type of trip and recorded his third win of the season for trainer Jeff Cullipher and driver Todd McCarthy in the 11th race at The Big M Saturday (May 4) night.

The 7-1 shot stopped the clock in a lifetime-best 1:48.4, the fastest mile of the year at The Meadowlands. The time equaled the fastest mile of the year in the sport, as Artatac A was the first to go that fast at Miami Valley on March 14.

It took about 20 minutes to add another name to the 1:48.4 club membership, as even-money choice Mac’s Delight, a 4-year-old gelded son of Bettor’s Delight—Michelle’s Pride, turned the trick in the very next Big M dash for Tom Cancelliere and Andy McCarthy from off the pace. It was just Mac’s Delight’s second start of the season. One week prior, he finished second behind Huntinthelastdolar, who was super-impressive in a wire-to-wire 1:50 score.

SET YOUR ALARM: This morning (May 10), there will once again be plenty of big names participating in qualifying events at The Big M.

Among those on the 10-race card that gets underway at 9 a.m. are:

- Race 1: 3-year-old filly pacers — Breeders Crown winner My Girl EJ and Kindergarten and Three Diamonds champion Caviart Belle.
- Race 7: 3-year-old colt pacers — Meadowlands Pace hopefuls Newsroom, Captain Albano and Captain Luke.
- Race 10: Older pacers — 2023 FanDuel winner Allyway Hanover and last year’s Breeders Crown champion Bythemissal.

Watch the qualifiers live by going to playmeadowlands.com.

SPECTACULAR JERSEY-SIRED STARS: This Saturday’s (May 11) program will provide a good look into a rebuilding New Jersey Sire Stakes program, one that is especially on the rebound on the pacing side, and features a horse on the trotting side that is the early favorite for the 99th edition of The Hambletonian.

During the course of the night, there will be nine $30,000 NJSS divisions for 3-year-olds contested, six on the trot and three on the pace.

Race 4, the second of a trio of colt and gelding trots, is where fans can find the biggest star of the night, as Karl looks to begin his march toward a possible Hambletonian trophy. The son of Tactical Landing—Avalicious qualified in brilliant fashion in a sensational 1:52.1 on April 27 to get ready for this first test of his sophomore campaign. Karl is driven by Yannick Gingras and trained by Nancy Takter, who is after a second consecutive Hambletonian score, after taking last year’s edition with Tactical Approach.

AWESOME OTTEN SPOTS HUGE PICK-4: It was another tough night for most handicappers last Friday (May 3) night, but not for Jessica Otten.

Big M TV’s Otten gave out the Early 50-cent Pick-4 that paid a whopping $1,961.20.

Playing a 50-cent ticket using a 2x3x3x4 configuration, Otten had 12-1 chance Crown Monarch in the eighth race, and then for good measure, picked her first winner of the night, Sand Sniper in the ninth, who paid $16.40 to complete her huge hit. Her followers made a profit on the play of $1,925.20 after deducting a $36 investment.

Otten came close to what’s believed to be the all-time high on-set Pick-4 hit, which was $2,000, set by Dave Brower several years ago.

‘Hot Toddy’ doubles up in NJSS at Big M

As the New Jersey Sire Stakes season kicked off Saturday night (May 4) at The Meadowlands, it was Todd McCarthy who had the right stuff, as the 31-year-old native Australian won four races on the card, including both $30,000 divisions of the first leg of the NJSS for 3-year-old colt and gelding pacers.

The ‘Hot Toddy’ scored in the first dash with the Brett Pelling-trained Arbitrage Hanover, as the product of Bettor’s Wish—Ana Hanover stopped the clock in a lifetime-best 1:51.4.

Arbitrage Hanover sat the pocket to the quarter behind Alritealritealrite in :27.2 before moving to the top and making it to the half in :56.4 and three-quarters in 1:25.3. A final panel of :26.1 was more than enough to hold off the late-charging 3-5 favorite Better Is Nice, who sat a 4-hole to the five-eighths and closed willingly first-over to miss a length.

“I was pretty comfortable with the way he raced at [Harrah’s Philadelphia, when he won on April 28],” said McCarthy. “I was happy to cut it out on the front end. It kind of worked out. He got a little off balance there in the stretch but I kicked his plugs and he swelled right up again.”

As the 5-2 second choice, Arbitrage Hanover paid $7.60 to win.

McCarthy pulled off an upset in the other division, guiding 34-1 longshot Endofstory to victory lane in a lifetime-best 1:51.1.

After an alert getaway from post 8, McCarthy was able to wedge the gelded son of Lazarus N—Olivette Hanover into a 3-hole as Ain’t Nostopn Time cut out fractions of :26.3, :56.2 and 1:24.3.

The pocket-sitting Royal Desire roared out of the pocket on the far turn to go after the leader, providing live cover for Endofstory, who swerved to the center of the track late and sprinted under the wire 2¼ lengths in front of Royal Desire.

“I did not know a lot about him,” said McCarthy of the Doug Dilloian, Jr. trainee he was handling for the first time. “His lines looked pretty good and he stepped out of there nice and we were lucky to squeeze into the hole there. Down the backside, I was hoping we had enough gas at the end and was hoping we would shake loose. He responded to me well down by the wire and finished up pretty well.”

Endofstory returned $71.40 to his backers as the fourth choice.

FABULOUS FEMALES: In the $40,000 first leg of the Miss Versatility for open mare trotters, the 4-year-old Call Me Goo ($6.60 to win as the 2-1 third choice) held off a late-charging Topsy Moni by a nose in 1:52.3. The daughter of Googoo Gaagaa—Callmemza, who was driven by Tim Tetrick, upped her lifetime record to 18 wins from just 25 starts for trainer Jason Skinner, and upped her bankroll to just under $450,000.

In the $30,000 NJSS dash for 3-year-old pacing fillies, Odds On Steno ($3.60 as the 4-5 public choice) made her seasonal debut a winning one for trainer Tony Alagna and driver Andy McCarthy in a lifetime-best-equaling 1:52.2. The daughter of Bettor’s Wish—Odds On St Lucie upped her record to five wins from 12 starts, good for earnings of almost $150,000.

HELLUVA HANDLE: All-source wagering on the 14-race program reached $3,870,638, a 2024 Meadowlands best. The previous high of $3,779,096 was established on Jan. 27.

There have been 35 programs conducted at The Big M this year, with 29 of those seeing action exceed the $3-million mark.

A LITTLE MORE: Refusing to be outdone by his little brother, Andy McCarthy also won four races on the night, including a sweep of the Late Pick-3 (races 12 through 14), which returned $107.70 for a $1 bet. Battlefield ($16 to win) and Mac’s Delight ($4.20) won the 11th and 12th races, respectively, in 1:48.4. The time is the fastest of the year at The Meadowlands and tied for the fastest of 2024 in the sport. The only other horse to go that fast was Artatac A, who turned the trick at Miami Valley on March 14.

Marco Beach breaks Shenandoah Downs’ all-time track record Sunday with a 1:51.4 mile

Alexandra Goldin’s pacer Marco Beach not only wired the field in Sunday’s (May 5) $8,000 feature at Shenandoah Downs, but he shattered the previous track record by two-fifths of a second when he crossed 3 lengths the best in 1:51.4. The track’s previous mark of 1:52.1 was authored by John’s Dream in 2016 – Shenandoah’s initial season – and was equaled earlier this meet by Aflame Hanover.

Goldin’s 8-year-old Somebeachsomewhere gelding was driven by Eric Davis and was one of four wins he had on the 10-race program. Marco Beach left from outside post 5 and maintained a 1½-length cushion on the front end through the first three quarter panels which were cut in :27.3, :56 and 1:23.4. Davis opened up by 2 at the top of the stretch and held off a rally by Cole Olsen’s Lyons Stealth who finished second. Olsen’s Volley Ball Beach was third.

The victory was Marco Beach’s 26th lifetime score and it pushed his career bankroll to $285,240. The pacer had previously won in 1:51.2 at Rosecroft in January and in 1:50.2, a lifetime best, at The Meadowlands last year.

Davis, who surged into third place in the driver standings behind Fern Paquet, Jr. and Corey Braden with a solid afternoon, also connected Sunday with Scott Woogen’s KJ Devil, P T Stables’ Make Some Waves and Spencer Goldin’s Lucky Streak who won his third straight in Woodstock and fourth of the meet.

Only two weekends remain in the Shenandoah Downs spring season. Action will continue Saturday (May 11) and Sunday (May 12) with cards both days at 1:05 p.m. The Woodstock oval will host Foiled Again’s 20th Birthday Party on Saturday. Join the celebration as harness racing’s richest horse in history turns 20 years old. Retired for six years now, the legendary son of Dragon Again—In A Safe Place bankrolled $7.6 million from a stellar career in which he won 109 races from 331 starts. Win number 104 came at Shenandoah Downs on Sept. 29, 2018. Foiled Again will be on site, and fans can get their picture taken with the legend, sing Happy Birthday and get a slice of birthday cake.
