Trading mics for bikes in the fourth annual Meadowlands Sportscasters' Charity Derby

Eight broadcasting professionals will race for charity tonight at The Big M.

by Debbie Little

"I've been to thoroughbred horse racing and I love that. I live about six minutes away from Monmouth Park down the shore. I love horse racing, but I've never been to a harness race before."

Given the chance to make money for charity, eight broadcast professionals are stepping out of their comfort zones and onto the track for the fourth annual Meadowlands Sportscasters' Charity Derby tonight (May 12) at The Big M.

The two first-time starters in the event — Mark Cannizzaro and Keith Irizarry — don't know each other, but have quite a bit in common.

Cannizzaro, sports columnist for the New York Post, and Irizarry, host of Bettor's Eye on MLB Network, are familiar with horses, just not the standardbred kind.

"I'm not unfamiliar with horses at all," Cannizzaro said. "I love horses. They may be the most beautiful animal on the planet. I grew up around horses, actually. My mother rode competitively so I grew up in Connecticut with horses. I literally grew up with horses with a paddock in my backyard and a barn. When I was a kid, I used to ride a pony. My mother and my sister still ride."

~ Mark Cannizzaro

Irizarry's experience, though not as in depth as Cannizzaro's, is similar.

“I rode a horse when I was in high school,” Irizarry said. “I have never been to a harness track or seen a live harness race.”

Cannizzaro is most known professionally for writing about football and golf. Even though games that he's covered at MetLife Stadium have taken place in the same sports complex less than half a mile away across the parking lot, this will be his first trip to The Big M.

“From 1993 to 2010, I was the Jets' beat writer and the Jets trained in Long Island mostly at that time,” Cannizzaro said. “If I was covering the Giants, knowing me, I probably would have popped over and caught some racing.”

Something else Irizarry and Cannizzaro have in common is their chosen charity: Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center (MSKCC).

“I chose them because of the amazing doctors,” Irizarry said. “My mother-in-law battled cancer for about 20 years. She was a patient there. They always treated her in the most compassionate way and I would love to do my part in helping them be able to continue to help others.”

Cannizzaro's choice of MSKCC was even more personal.

"I am a stage four melanoma survivor, knock on wood," Cannizzaro said. "Sloan Kettering saved my life, so that really was a no brainer for me. As soon as they asked me, that was my first thought."

"I spent three months in the hospital at Sloan Kettering, physically in the hospital, from November '08 to February '09. With surgery and treatments and wound-care nurses and the most amazing people I've ever met in my life for what they do."

The ability to compete and make money for their charities has lured all competitors off the sidelines and into the game.

"I would do it every week if I could," Cannizzaro said.

The eight sportscasters have been divided into two four-horse fields. They will compete in one-mile non-betting events in double-seated jog carts partnered with a professional driver. The Meadowlands will donate $5,000 to the winner of each race and $1,000 to the charities of the remaining participants.

The first division takes to the track directly after Race 3. The participants, with their affiliation and charity, from the rail out are:

Quincy Enunwa (former Jets wide receiver and game analyst) – St. Barnabas Health System

Don LaGreca (ESPN-NY (98.7 FM)) – Ronald McDonald House
Cannizzaro (NY Post) – MSKCC

Rebecca Haarlow (MSG) – Garden of Dreams

The second division follows Race 5. The participants with their affiliation and charity from the rail out are:

Wally Szczerbiak (MSG Network) – Croatian Charitable Foundation

Marc Malusis (PIX11 & SNY) – Make-A-Wish Foundation

Maria Marino (Action Network) – American Cancer Society
(Making Strides Against Breast Cancer)

Keith Irizarry (MLB Network) – MSKCC

Horses for the two sportscasters' races are being supplied by trainer Ron Burke, while the double-seated jog carts are from several trainers, including Tony Alagna.

Irizarry and Cannizzaro are friends with some of their competitors and expect there could be some trash talking leading up to the event.

"I will not be trash talking anyone," Irizarry said. "I am one of the newbies this year. But I wouldn't be surprised if Maria Marino and Marc Malusis throw a little trash talking my way, because I am friends with both of them. Also, Marc and I host a daily morning show together, so I am sure there will be a little friendly competition there."

"I am definitely excited for this event and to get the chance to see some of the other amazing broadcasters that will be in the Derby. Am I nervous? I wouldn't say nervous... more excitement to try something I have never done before."

Malusis was one of the winners of the inaugural Sportscasters' Charity Derby, while Haarlow and Marino are the 2022 defending champs. The remainder of the field is still looking to break their maiden.

"I'm nervous and fascinated all at the same time," Cannizzaro said. "I'm less nervous now knowing that I'm not going to be in the [cart] by myself."

"I'm looking forward to betting some of the races on Friday night, too."

Racing recession in Illinois

The Illinois Racing Board's 2022 annual report details some grim figures.

by Neil Milbert

Illinois racing is in the grips of its version of The Great Depression.

The Illinois Racing Board's annual report for 2022 attests to the severe hit both thoroughbred and harness racing have taken as a consequence of the decision by corporate overlord Churchill Downs, Inc. (CDI) to permanently shut down the state's showcase thoroughbred track, Arlington International Racecourse, after its 2021 meeting.

The closure left dual-purpose Hawthorne Race Course as the Chicago metropolitan area's only racetrack.

A massive gambling expansion bill in 2019 legalized casino gambling at Illinois racetracks and in 2020 Hawthorne began demolition work to convert the facility into a $400 million racino that would earmark a portion of its adjusted gross revenue for harness and thoroughbred purses, making it the equivalent of President Franklin Roosevelt's New Deal that pulled the U.S. out of The Great Depression.

It has been estimated that the racino subsidy would pour as much as $12 million into the harness purse account that last year distributed $8,353,753.

But the reconstruction project at the family-owned track has been stalled by a combination of the COVID-19 pandemic, inflation, high interest rates and supply chain problems and it's uncertain that the racino that was originally scheduled to open in 2021 will be ready to open in 2024, which is Hawthorne president Tim Carey's current projection.

On March 23, a group of wealthy investors known as Greenway Entertainment Group told the Illinois Senate Executive Committee that they want to build a $300 million harness track and casino on an 84-acre site they have under contract in south suburban Richton Park.

However, there is a statutory roadblock: the site is less than 35 miles from Hawthorne and state law stipulates that no racino can be built within 35 miles of an existing track without that track's permission. It is highly unlikely that Hawthorne would give its approval, so a change in the statute appears to be the only way for the Richton Park racino to become a reality.

"Unfortunately, there's nothing new to report on that group's proposal and nothing new to report on Hawthorne [and its racino project]," Illinois Harness Horsemen's Association executive director Tony Somone said. "Nobody can force Hawthorne to move any faster."

In the meantime, the ongoing attempt to control the damage caused by CDI wiping palatial Arlington off the racing map is ongoing as the Illinois Harness Horsemen's Association, the Illinois Thoroughbred Horsemen's Association and Hawthorne continue the time-sharing arrangement they instituted in 2021 under a different format in 2022.

This year, the thoroughbreds began their 68-program meeting on March 5 and will continue racing through Sept. 4 after which there will be a 49-night harness meeting from Sept. 9-Dec. 31.

It's the fewest number of Chicago area harness dates since 1948 when Maywood Park – which inaugurated pari-mutuel betting on the sport in Illinois two years earlier – and Aurora Downs conducted meetings. Sportsman's Park held its first harness meeting in 1949 and during its 23-night stand established itself as one of North America's foremost tracks.

The all-time high in harness programs was a combined total of 516 in 1995 at Hawthorne, Sportsman's, Maywood and Balmoral Park.

During 2022, both breeds had split meetings and the standardbreds raced a combined total of 75 nights from Jan. 7-March 20 and from July 2-Sept. 11.

The thoroughbreds raced a combined total of 76 programs from April 2-June 25 and from Sept. 23-Dec. 31.

Wagering declined dramatically and the thoroughbreds were hit the hardest: on-track handle fell from $42,087,645 to $32,296,998; inter-track from $28,019,101 to $10,012,978 and off-track from $135,014,192 to $119,229,648.

Despite the problems posed by the reconstruction project there was a slight increase in on-track harness betting, going from $7,563,903 to $7,927,725. But inter-track betting decreased from $5,208,306 to $1,831,057 and off-track from $38,990,211 to $31,642,160.

The impact of the construction is reflected in the attendance figures: live attendance totaled 12,955, a daily average of 199 customers.

Contrast these paltry crowds with those at the milestone 1979 meeting at Sportsman's where the average nightly attendance for 99 programs was a robust 13,136 and the average nightly handle was an Illinois record $1.6 million.

The 2022 disparity between out-of-state simulcast handle flowing into Illinois thoroughbred and harness pools ($122,014,892) versus Illinois betting on out-of-state races ($495,442,324) produced a negative trade balance of $373,427,522, the worst bottom line since full-card simulcasting was introduced in Illinois in 1995.

~ Tony Somone

Thoroughbred racing had a staggering unfavorable trade balance of $78,036,993, while the harness vital statistics showed an unfavorable balance of $10,350,122.

When full-card simulcasting was legalized track owners considered it a godsend, rationalizing that it would bring more bettors to the tracks and OTB locations and that there conceivably could be an increase in wagering on Illinois races.

But that wasn’t the case. In 1994, Illinois’ handle on Illinois thoroughbred and harness races totaled $1,181,911,128. The next year, with competition from out-of-state races, it dipped to $872,357,128 and the nosedive has accelerated with the passing of time, hitting a low of $9,977,368 in 2020 when COVID-19 restrictions were a significant factor.

In 2021, the total went up to $30,898,752 but, with Arlington out of the picture, the 2022 total plummeted to $12,142,952, except for 2020 by far the lowest bottom line since full-card simulcasting made its debut.

Exacerbating the problem for horse people has been purse recapture, a 1995 provision of the law permitting full-card simulcasting. It allows tracks to recoup losses on live handle caused by competition with races from other states. The recapture amount is 2 per cent of the decrease in Illinois handle on Illinois races from the 1994 amount and it has produced a steady and significant drain on purse accounts.

The recapture amounts have ranged from $15,489,017 in race year 2001 to $6,774,554 last year.

The handles used in the recapture calculations are from racetracks and OTB locations and don’t include advance deposit wagering, which has emerged as the primary form of wagering in Illinois since its authorization in mid-October 2009. Last year, it accounted for 61 per cent of the betting. OTB locations were second with 29 per cent followed by on-track with 8 per cent and inter-track with 2 per cent.

A total of $2,084,496 was wagered via ADW (a daily average of $32,069) on the Hawthorne harness races and a total of $92,511 (a daily average of $13,216) on the seven harness programs at the State Fairs in Springfield and DuQuoin.

Not surprisingly, harness breeders are reacting to the decline in racing days and purse money.

According to Tim Norman, the Illinois Department of Agriculture bureau chief who oversees the harness and thoroughbred breeding programs, as of May 9 “on the harness side we’re 108 foals behind last year when we had about 540 live foals.”

“I’m guessing we’ll have about 450 this year,” Norman said. “I’m fearful next year’s numbers [of mares bred] will be way down. Look at 2018 [before the gambling expansion bill that laid the groundwork for racino subsidies to purse accounts], there were only 141 foals born. I’m hoping we don’t fall that far.”

Meanwhile, the slim hope that racing might be revived at Arlington is fading. CDI finalized the sale of the 326-acre site to the Chicago Bears for $197.2 million in February with the stipulation that there would be no racing or casino gambling at the site.

The Bears want to redevelop what was considered one of North America’s most opulent and historic racetracks into a domed football stadium, entertainment complex and mixed-use commercial development at a cost of at least $5 billion. The team recently filed for demolition permits with the Village of Arlington Heights for the purpose of tearing down the track’s grandstand.

Ironically, when the late Dick Duchossois, who rebuilt Arlington into a racing gem after the grandstand and clubhouse were destroyed by fire in 1985, merged the track with Churchill Downs, Inc. in 2000 he did so because he believed joining forces with the most iconic track in North American racing it would perpetuate racing at Arlington.

CDI lobbied for statutory approval to conduct casino gambling at the track but then did an about-face when it purchased a 61 per cent interest in Rivers Casino, the state’s most profitable casino that is located in Des Plaines about 10 miles from Arlington.

Former ITHA president Mike Campbell put the situation in perspective in 2021 when he said: “Churchill spent two decades lobbying Illinois lawmakers to develop a casino at Arlington. But since purchasing a majority stake in nearby Rivers Casino, Churchill has... instead devoted itself to ensuring that Arlington could not become a gaming competitor to Rivers.”

In the process, CDI did enormous damage to both thoroughbred and harness racing. It caused Illinois racing’s version of The Great Depression.

Sadly, precious few Chicagoans are aware of this CDI chicanery. The vast majority don’t realize that a racino subsidy would produce a racing renaissance at Arlington and in Illinois and believe the decision to tear it down is evidence that racing is a dying sport.

Dani Hill, Down Under's "Bionic Woman," will endure another surgery hoping to be pain free

by Adam Hamilton

Dani Hill is Down Under harness racing's bionic woman.

And the 38-year-old Hill, a seven-time champion South Australian driver, was "rebuilt" again earlier this week.

Nasty falls and horrific injuries have plagued Hill's career, but she's kept finding a way through to a remarkable 2,267 career wins at a fantastic strike rate of 21 per cent.

But, after six drives for two wins and three placings at Adelaide's Globe Derby last Saturday night (May 6), Hill downed tools for her biggest and most important surgery yet.

Then came some more heartbreak: yet another postponement to the surgery she needs so badly.

"I was originally scheduled for a month ago and cancelled at the last minute and now this," Hill said. "It's hard to take. They haven't set a new date, so now I'm just on hold again."

Such is the magnitude of the surgery, Hill conceded there is a chance she won't return to driving after it.

This time, her spine is basically being put back together and her surgeon says it'll be at least six months recovery.

It's something Hill has been waiting for since her latest fall on Jan. 21, when she suffered a compound fracture of the spine and herniated discs.

"With all the falls I've had and some of them have been nasty, I thought I knew what pain was... but I didn't until this one," she said. "It's agony, day-in, day-out. I can't sit and lying down makes it almost impossible to get comfortable. Many nights I just don't sleep at all.

"I've tried everything... chiro, physio, rehab, you name it. I did have this amino acid injection a while back and I was pain free for 24 hours, but it never worked again after that first time. Still, that was an amazing 24 hours and it's given me hope for what things could be like after this operation."

~ Dani Hill

Surgeons will put screws in the front of Hill’s spine and then turn her over and insert rods along the back.

“They said they couldn’t just put the screws in because my spine is so damaged, it could just collapse, so they need the rods in the back as well, to hold it all together,” she said. “I know it’s a huge operation and there are risks associated with it, but all the recovery will be worth it if I can get some sort of quality of life back.”

That’s why Hill won’t commit to a driving return.

“Mostly because it’s not my priority,” she said. “It’s not the reason I’m having the surgery. I’m mindful of the hardware I’ve got and will have in me, along with the head injuries I’ve had. Just recovering from the operation and my long-term health is the most important thing. It’s time to put my mind and body first.

“If it all goes really well and I’m feeling great, then I’ll think about driving again. I do love being out there, but there’s a lot more to life.”

That’s the perspective gained from a horrific fall in 2010 which left Hill, then just 24, with a broken jaw, cheekbone and nose, nasty facial injuries and a severed optic nerve which left Hill blind in her right eye.

It came just months after she was the toast of Down Under harness racing following her victory in the Australasian Young Drivers’ Championship. The then New Zealand-based Dexter Dunn finished third in that series.

Hill doesn’t recall much of the fall in 2010, but squirms at the thoughts of the months that followed.

“There wasn’t a mark on my helmet,” Hill said. “The horse stepped on my face. It was a horrible experience at such an early age, looking in the mirror and seeing my face through all the operations and navigating life without sight in one eye.

“The one thing I’ve got to be grateful for is how it made me appreciate the things that matter most.”

Hill’s daughter, Brooke, was born soon after. She turns 12 this month.

“I want this surgery as much for the things I want to do with Brooke, as well,” Hill said. “She’s right into showing horses and I take her to shows and love every part of it. I want to be more involved.

“I’d love to do more with Brooke, things like riding and exercising together, but I can’t do those things now.”

This latest operation may be Hill’s biggest and most important, but it’s certainly not the first where she’s had plates and screws inserted.

“Hell no,” she said with a laugh. “When I had the fall in the 2019 (SA) Derby, my leg was shattered. I had 13 screws in the tibia and a ‘tech’ screw put in to hold the patella tendon to my knee cap. I’m used to this stuff.”

“They said they couldn’t just put the screws in because my spine is so damaged, it could just collapse, so they need the rods in the back as well, to hold it all together. I know it’s a huge operation and there are risks associated with it, but all the recovery will be worth it if I can get some sort of quality of life back.”

~ Dani Hill

Through all the challenges, Hill still hasn’t lost her sense of humor.

“They’ll call me ‘Tin Man’ after this [operation] with all the screws and plates they’re putting in me, along with everything from my previous operations,” she said with a laugh.

As Hill prepared for surgery earlier this week, she had time to reflect on her career and it’s the little things she cherishes the most.

“Just a week or so back, I won a race on Paulis Pride for owner Paul Cormack, who’s been really unwell, and trainer Ben Loades at Port Pirie,” she said. “It meant the world to them and that’s the stuff that really makes it all worthwhile for me. Don’t get me wrong, winning three of the Southern Cross finals at our biggest [feature] meeting last year was also a real buzz.

“And winning that [Young] Drivers’ Championship all those years ago, which included winning a race on Inter Dominion final night at Globe Derby on Smarty Jones. I’ll always treasure that. Then there’s the time I got flown to Sydney to drive Majordan to win a race at Menangle [in 2018]. But, for me, it’s being able to win races for good people who really love the game and may only have a few horses which I get the most satisfaction from.”

History says Hill’s courage and tenacity is likely to see her return to the sulky, but she certainly won’t be lost to the game however it plays out.

“No, no way,” she said. “I’ve spent my whole life in it. If it’s not driving, I’ll stay in it. There’s lots of other things I can do in this game.”

Stoletshow and Hail Mary to the Elitloppet

by Thomas Hedlund

Frode Hamre-trained Stoletshow (Dream Vacation) paired with Magnus A. Djuse was the answer to the question regarding what horse would get the pink ticket to the Elitloppet that went with the winner of the $240,000 Finlandia-ajo held at Vermo racetrack on Sunday afternoon (May 7).

The race became a tactical game where Djuse played his cards best.

Global Withdrawl flew to the front as the car left the field and Djuse was quick to leave three-wide, aiming for the position first over while favorite Don Fanucci Zet was seen far back in the field.

The drivers behind the two front horses, Global Withdrawl and Stoletshow, were surely satisfied when the pace slowed down dramatically during the race's mid-part and when attacks were made from behind, Stoletshow let the leader get a length advantage throughout the last turn. But Djuse felt chased by Alessandro Gocciadoro's Bengurion Jet, who was stuck between horses, so Djuse just made sure that he could have control over the toughest opponents as the field reached the home stretch.

Stoletshow made a strong first over effort in the Finlandia-ajo and came home in 1:53.3. Bengurion Jet got his chance too late between horses but saved the silver medal while leader Global Withdrawl held to third place.

Replay here

Daniel Redén-trained Hail Mary (Googoo Gaagaa) will compete in the 2023 Elitloppet. The runner-up from the 2022 final secured his spot in Solvalla's big mile race when he won the $18,000 Meadow Roads race at Solvalla on Wednesday night (May 10). The winner of the race receives an invitation to the Elitloppet and it was really a sparkling show that was played in front of the audience.

Adrian Kolgjini-trained Ultion Face hit the lead, got fired up and held a high pace (:55 for the first half mile), but could still get some lengths advantage as he reached the stretch. By that time, chasers Brother Bill and Hail Mary had a long way to walk if they were going to catch the leader, but as the wire got closer, Ultion Face's power began to run out and Brother Bill and Hail Mary fought side by side during the race's last 100 meters. The photo showed that Hail Mary had his nose first at the wire and the 7-year-old Googoo Gaagaa son won in 1:51.1, the fastest time in Europe so far in 2023.

STRONG FIELD IN CAEN

Etonnant, Horsy Dream and Hohnneck, all invited to the Elitloppet at Solvalla on May 28, will compete in the $165,000 Prix des Ducs de Normandie in Caen, France, on Saturday (May 13).

The distance in the race is 2,450 meters and it's a strong 16-horse field that will go to Normandie.

In Copenhagen, Denmark, the $110,000 Copenhagen Cup over 1.3 miles is scheduled on Sunday (May 14) and another Elitloppet horse will try to find his best condition in that race. Per Nordström's Önas Prince will probably be favored to win this year's edition of the Copenhagen Cup but there are some interesting opponents to look out for. The 5-year-old Iznogoud Am is one of them from post four, while Önas Prince got post seven. It will surely be a great show in Denmark.

GRASSROOTS PERSPECTIVE

Fourth generation horsewoman Maggie Copp on balancing racing and high school

by Chris Lomon

For Maggie Copp, life at Shenandoah Downs is all about family.

The picturesque harness racing track located in the scenic Shenandoah Valley in Woodstock, VA, knows how to put on a show and not just on the racetrack.

The half-mile oval hosts a variety of harness racing meets throughout the year, including the prestigious Shenandoah County Fair meet, which takes place in late August and early September and features top horses and drivers from across the region.

While the racetrack pales in comparison to the size and stature of some of its standardbred contemporaries, passion for the sport and love of the horses is about as big as it gets.

A fourth-generation horseperson, Copp, whose mother, Dee Lineweaver, handles the role of racing secretary for Shenandoah Downs, currently works as a groom at the racetrack while also balancing a busy schedule inside the classroom at a local high school.

Although it can be a challenge to keep up with the hectic pace of standardbreds and studies, the 17-year-old relishes the time she gets to spend at the racetrack.

"I work for a lot of people and I really enjoy the chance to work with a lot of different horses," Copp said. "I enjoy spending time with the horses, getting to figure out their personalities and what makes them tick."

Her racing days, which start mid-morning, keep her on her toes.

"I get here at about 10:30 a.m. and post time is 1 p.m.," she said.

"Whoever I'm with that day, I help unload, get their harnesses out, get everything ready and start to harness the horses for warmup. From there, we go to the paddock and get ready for the race. You help hook the horses up, watch them head out to the track and then go out and see the race. Once it's over, you bathe the horse and strip them. It can be busy, depending on the day, but you come up with your own way of doing things and then you get to do it all over again the next racing day."

Striking up a connection with the horses she paddocks and grooms comes easily for Copp.

She's developed a special bond with one particular pacer.

An 8-year-old son of Real Artist, Cirrus De Vie, owned by Roger Hammer and Vicki Fair, was a $22,000 purchase at the 2016 Harrisburg Sale.

Bred by Antoinette Nigito, the bay gelding has posted 26 wins from 185 starts, to go along with nearly $190,000 in career earnings. His first Woodstock win came on Oct. 12, 2018.

"There are a few that I've become attached to," Copp said. "Cirrus De Vie is a good one. He's just a good old boy. I've taken care of him for a while and I just really like when I get to be around him. His barn name is Billy Ray. He’s just a neat horse and we clicked right away. I definitely get pretty loud when I see him or any of the horses I groom out there and you get even louder when they have a chance to win. It’s a great feeling when they do get to the wire first.”

Win or lose, Copp is proud of every pacer and trotter she sends out.

“The more experience you get and the more you go through the ups and downs, you get used to the fact that there are going to be some big moments but there are also going to be some disappointments as well,” she said. “You just understand that sometimes your horse is going to win and sometimes they won’t.”

As to what her future in the sport might possibly look like, Copp doesn’t have a particular plan in place at the moment.

“I don’t really have any goals at this point,” she said. “I want to graduate high school and to be at the races in the fall. I’ve been very lucky because my parents support everything I do and I’m grateful for what they’ve done for me.”

As for her contributions to the sport, Copp just might have a magic touch when it comes to converting people into horse people.

Case in point, her boyfriend.

“He works at the races too,” Copp said. “He carries water buckets and halters and helps around the barn and paddock. He wasn’t really into horses when he started, but he’s grown to really enjoy it. So, it’s nice to have him there when I’m there.”

Simply enjoying the races and the camaraderie amongst her fellow horse people is enough to keep her coming back to the track with a smile on her face.

The tight-knit racing community is on full display throughout the racing calendar, but none more so than on Saturday nights, when dozens gather to sit down for dinner on the racetrack grounds.

Regardless of the results, it’s a chance for those who race at Shenandoah Downs to share a laugh or two at a place they are proud to call their own.

“The VHHA (Virginia Harness Horse Association) does a meal every Saturday night, so all of us, the horse people, just sit and talk, have fun and play games,” Copp said. “There’s a basketball hoop there as well, so sometimes we’ll play basketball and have some fun competitions. We’re a big family here and that makes it special.”

It’s something she never takes for granted, wherever she happens to find herself.

“This is my hometown and my hometown track and there are a lot of great, hardworking people who make this a great place to be.”

HOW MUCH DID YOU BET TODAY?

HOLLYWOOD'S HITS

with BOB HEYDEN

May days: Cam Fella remembered

by Bob Heyden

May 14, 1979: The world welcomes a son of Most Happy Fella to the world. Doug Arthur trained the youngster early on for a couple of Norms (Faulkner and Clements). He was sold for $140,000 Canadian after his 2-year-old season ended (3-for-11 $17G).

May 6, 1983: Cam Fella was disqualified from first to second — Perfect Out was placed first — for the only time in his career at Mohawk in a $40,000 Graduate leg.

May 12, 1983: Cam Fella loses for the very last time at The Meadowlands in the opening round of the World Cup.

May 19, 1983: Cam Fella begins his epic winning streak taking the 1 ½-mile second leg of the World Cup in 2:58.2. This is the first of 28 straight that he would take all the way to Dec. 10.

May 9, 2001: The world mourns the loss of Cam Fella five days before he would have officially been 22-years-old.

So, Cam Fella lived 22 years and he passed away 22 years ago. So, here are 22 facts on “The Pacing Machine”:

1. He raced 80 times in his career with 61 wins. He was 28-for-33 at 3 and 30-for-36 at 4. In 1982, he time trialed for his season's mark of 1:54. That was the 17th fastest time among all sophomores that year.
2. Since 1982-83, when Cam was repeat Horse of the Year (HOY), no pacer has duplicated this.

The legendary Cam Fella
(3, Pat Crowe) in action.

“As great a racehorse as he was, I never thought of him for his spectacular talent as much as his grit and determination that had him defeat many that did seem to possess more natural ability. Clearly, he was able to pass that on with his many great performers and perhaps his influence leading to no less than Bettor’s Delight. That might give him the slight edge as a stallion.”

~ Bob Boni

3. He made 17 of his 80 career starts at The Meadowlands, his favorite stomping grounds and the home of his career mark of 1:53.1 set on June 23, 1983 in a dead heat (with Walt Hanover an 83-1 shot driven by Tommy Haughton).

4. Most Happy Fella and Cam Fella were perfect in Triple Crown races. They were 5-for-5. Most Happy Fella swept the 1970 Triple Crown and Cam the 1982 Cane and Messenger, via the supplemental route.

5. As a stallion, Cam Fella had a $2 million winner from his first crop, Camtastic and a $3 million winner from his final crop, Eternal Camnation.

6. Cam competed at 21 different tracks in his career and was 31-for-80 in Canada.

7. He retired on Dec. 10, 1983, the year before the start of the Breeders Crown series (Oct. 5, 1984).

8. Midas Almahurst is the only horse who defeated Cam Fella who also raced against Niatross.

9. Cam Fella often traveled with rival Millers Scout in 1983, who was second to “The Pacing Machine” more times – seven – than any other horse during his career ending streak. Not only that, but Buddy Gilmour would often train them both when Pat Crowe was not yet in town.

10. Cam Fella never raced for a million, but his sons won four straight $1 million Meadowlands Pace finals from 1991-94: Precious Bunny, Carlsbad Cam, Presidential Ball and Cams Card Shark. And seven million-dollar races in just those four seasons.

11. In Cam Fella’s career he raced for a six-figure purse 17 times.

12. The original “Clash of the Titans” at The Meadowlands between Cam Fella and Its Fritz was actually moved from Saturday (July 23, 1983) to Monday (July 25) to accommodate a scheduling conflict for trainer/driver Pat Crowe.

13. Cam Fella was bred by Wilfred Cameron of Washington, PA.

14. Cam had 36 starts and 30 wins in 1983. Both are high water marks for any HOY.

15. Cam’s $2,041,367 lifetime made him the richest pacer of all time, surpassing Rambling Willie. He was then passed first by On The Road Again ($2,819,102) in 1985.

16. The last time he was off the board? The 1982 Meadowlands Pace elims. He finished seventh.

17. Cam Fella started his second HOY season 2-for-8 causing some rumblings in the Cam Fella camp.

18. Cam was named HOY in 1983 over Triple Crown winner Ralph Hanover, who also set the single season money record. Ironically, Cam Fella’s sire was a HOY runner-up as a Triple Crown winner in 1970 to Fresh Yankee.

19. During his 28-race win streak, he raced at 12 different tracks (16 for the entire year).

20. Twenty-two years before Cam, Adios Butler also repeated as back-to-back HOY in 1960-61.

21. The final 28 were not the only streaks in Cam’s career. He won his first 11 at 3 and his last eight.

22. Not a single sire in the past three plus decades has had two different Horses of the Year that is except Cam Fella. Precious Bunny (1991) and Cam’s Card Shark (1994).

SOME MORE CAM

• Ron Pierce on the best offspring of Cam Fella he ever drove:

“That’s easy, Cambest. I drove him some at 3. I think I got him beat in the Tattersalls. He wanted to roll on and I let Artsplace go and he didn’t settle in very well. I think I was fourth or something. He was right there with the best I ever drove. Strong and very fast. I loved the Cam Fella line. A great race sire, a great broodmare sire, tough, my favorite breed of all time.

"I was friends with Bill Sharp back when Cam Fella was racing and he was friendly with Pat Crowe. I got to hang out with them some. It was fantastic for a young guy back then."

- Joe Pavia, Jr.: "A great sire and a great sire of sires."
- Rod Allen won the 1992 Meadowlands Pace with Carlsbad Cam.

"He had an unbelievable attitude and gait, but unfortunately unlike his dad, Carlsbad Cam didn't pass it on to his offspring."

- Jack Darling: "I never trained a Cam Fella. I started buying yearlings at the end of Cam Fella's sire career. I had good success with his son Camluck, though." (Darling trained Northern Luck, a son of Camluck and grandson of Cam Fella).

- Brad McNinch: "I know he was a great sire, but to win that many races in a row, at that level and on all sized tracks, is amazing. I think he was better as a racehorse than a sire."

- Blair Burgess: "I could never really afford the Cam Fellas back in the day. I had Armbro Nautilus early on, very strong with excellent manners who tried hard. The Cam Fellas were thick. I was stabled beside him at Gaitway. He had two grooms on him and 24-hour security. That was common back then on the good ones. Norm Clements would spare no expense. I was a teenage groom in awe."

- Mike Keeling (his father-in-law William Wellwood had a good run with the Cam Fella line in the 1990s).

"It's impossible to say whether he was a better racehorse or stallion. His will to win as a racehorse is legendary. You can ignore the teletimer of today as he would compete in any generation. As a sire he's a sire of sires and that alone makes him special. He was great as a broodmare sire as well. He was just an incredible animal."

- Let's finish up with Bob Boni (Northwood Bloodstock). Boni selected from the first crop of Niatross both Nihilator and Pershing Square among others. From Cam's first crop he landed the richest again, Camtastic. Dreamaire Farms would become prominent going forward.

"As great a racehorse as he was, I never thought of him for his spectacular talent as much as his grit and determination that had him defeat many that did seem to possess more natural ability. Clearly, he was able to pass that on with his many great performers and perhaps his influence leading to no less than Bettor's Delight. That might give him the slight edge as a stallion."

After they race, we find them a place!

Joanne ApSimon brings artistry to WMP grandstand

by Melissa Keith

The on-track experience at Woodbine Mohawk Park keeps getting more colorful during the Campbellville, ON landmark's 60th anniversary year. On May 20, Fireworks and Family Fun Night will return for the first time since 2019. A LED lighting system by Musco Lighting recently debuted, replacing floodlights and allowing for an innovative light show after race 7 on Friday and Saturday nights.

Joanne ApSimon is adding to the celebratory atmosphere with her own brand of equine art. The Guelph, ON artist said she already attends Mohawk regularly, as a fan and bettor.

Watching Bulldog Hanover up close at Woodbine Mohawk Park last season motivated her to create his portrait, combining airbrush, acrylic and oil painting techniques.

"He's just beautiful and I really wanted to get the spirit in his eyes," ApSimon said. "He has such a presence... and so friendly."

The finished portrait led to an invitation for ApSimon.

"I brought in my Bulldog Hanover painting and just walked around with it [at WMP] on a Saturday night," she said. "One manager said, 'That's beautiful, I need that'... I went in and talked to some of the other managers and then they e-mailed. Word got around fast and [WMP general manager] Heather Flaherty contacted me. She said, 'Your timing is perfect. We need a mural.'"

At deadline, ApSimon's design for the mural was just awaiting Flaherty's go-ahead to proceed.

"It's pending her approval," ApSimon said. "She so far likes it. I'm going to finalize details with Heather this week [May 11]."

ApSimon said she is hoping to be able to paint during hours when WMP customers can see her working on the mural, perhaps when on the way to track photographer Clive Cohen's office, located along the same grandstand wall.

"I'm going to figure out that detail," she said. "I'd like it so that people are able to watch, because that's fun. What I will [also] do is document the process, time-lapsed [for later online viewing]."

ApSimon's background includes an extensive education in illustration and graphic design, coupled with years of creating original artwork, originally in Europe and later in Canada, where she raised her three children. The harness racing connection began in a past relationship; she said she helped with looking after the horses.

"We went to different tracks... I learned a lot and was able to assimilate that knowledge," she said. "My children's grandfather is Bill Megens... They have horses named after them, especially Bianca, my youngest."

Now 89, Megens is one of the few active drivers to have competed in every decade since Mohawk opened on April 26, 1963. He is also the oldest reinsman to win a race in Canada, having done so with homebred trotter Opas Faith in her maiden victory on Sept. 5, 2021 at Flamboro Downs.

Although she is no longer involved as a caretaker, ApSimon's appreciation for standardbreds is currently becoming very visible at Woodbine Mohawk Park. Her proposed mural is part of Flaherty's efforts to "really spruce up the track for the season... to commemorate 60 years of racing" at Mohawk.

Flaherty also approved three shows of ApSimon’s equine artwork in the building’s “community corner.” The first took place in April; two others are scheduled for upcoming Saturday nights, June 3 and Aug. 26.

“The first [show], I had more Bulldog [Hanover]... I painted Somebeachsomewhere and right now I’m just developing my list of ‘who are the greats of Mohawk?’” ApSimon said, adding that she is about to begin work on a Cam Fella portrait. “I’m working pretty much solid right now for the June 3 [show].”

Racegoers are welcomed to check out her equine artwork, which will be for sale and talk horses. She is currently accepting commissions for custom equine portraits at varying price points.

ApSimon added that she would like to hear from other racing fans about their favorite Mohawk trotters and pacers of all eras, so she can try to include their portraits in her upcoming WMP exhibits. Bettors Delight filly out of half-sister to Tall Dark Stranger arrives at MeadowCreek Farm

This Bettors Delight filly out of Beautyonthebeach arrived recently at MeadowCreek Farm in Kentucky. Beautyonthebeach is a daughter of Somebeachsomewhere out of Precocious Beauty. That makes Beautyonthebeach a half-sister to 2020 Horse of the Year Tall Dark Stranger ($2 million, 1:47.1), sired by Bettors Delight. Beautyonthebeach has two other foals, both by Bettors Delight — a 2-year-old filly, Blazing Belle, and a yearling colt named Crack Shot.

Vernon Downs to close without tax relief

Workers United Upstate New York, the labor union representing Vernon Downs Casino Hotel employees, announces the racino will be forced to close in stages by the end of this year.

Vernon Downs filed a WARN notice with the New York State Department of Labor on Tuesday (May 9) to notify that it will shut down and lay off 250 employees in stages by Dec. 31, as it cannot continue operating without the increased agent commission: the portion of net win paid to casino operators as compensation for running a gaming facility.

Workers United is calling for the state to grant Vernon Downs $2 million in tax relief by reconsidering its request to restore the previous 6.4 per cent agent commission fee. Last year New York State collected $13 million in tax revenue from Vernon Downs. This $2 million vendor fee increase would allow Vernon Downs to break even, remain open and save 250 union jobs. The legislative session ends on June 8, leaving representatives with less than one month to act.

"I've been at Vernon for just over 13 years now, I basically worked my way up. I started as a dishwasher, and now I'm one of the lead line cooks, the fine dining venue at Vernon," said Dale Nicholas, a lead line cook and union steward at Vernon Downs. "It's really disheartening to feel that all that work, all that success, is being thrown away. My family and I need the State to help us out so I can keep my job."

WHAT: Press Conference

WHEN: Today (May 12) at 11 a.m. (EST)

WHERE: Vernon Down Hotel Casino, 4229 Stuhlman Rd, Vernon, NY 13476

WHO: Vernon Downs Union Members and Leaders

When Vernon Downs' annual slot revenue decreased from $40 million in 2015 to $28 million in 2017, the New York State Gaming Commission stepped in to increase its agent commission fee by 6.4 per cent of lottery net win if Vernon maintained 90 per cent of full-time equivalent employees in place in 2016. The Commission later revoked the additional fee.

Vernon Downs met the required percentage of employees until New York confirmed its first COVID-19 case in March 2020. Many employees could not return to work with several areas of the hotel closing temporarily and the state mandating it close the buffet, further impacting profit margins.

"Last year, Vernon provided jobs for 250 community members, $13 million in tax revenue for New York State, but lost $2 million dollars," said president and chief executive officer of Vernon Downs Jeff Gural. "COVID decimated our business and without modest tax relief we can no longer operate. We all care deeply about this community and I am hopeful we can work with the Governor and Legislature to keep these jobs and Vernon as an economic engine for Oneida County."

A press conference will be held on Friday (May 12) at 11 a.m. in the Vernon Downs hotel lobby.

Bruce Ranger captures 10,000th career win at Plainridge Park

When Bruce Ranger went gate to wire with HS Shauna in the sixth race at Plainridge Park on Tuesday (May 9), he became only the 19th driver in the history of harness racing to reach the 10,000-win plateau. The milestone victory came as the third of the afternoon for Ranger who put an exclamation point on his big day with a grand slam in the bike.

A native of Portland, ME, the 63-year-old Ranger started his driving career in 1979 at the Skowhegan Fair where he scored his first victory. From there his career path went through Massachusetts at both Foxboro and Plainridge Park as well as Florida, where he was a legendary star and the all-time dash win leader at Pompano Park.

Ranger "momentarily retired" in 2015 because his aches and pains from many years at the lines seemed to catch up to him and he became a starting judge in Maine. But after being out of the sulky for three years, he felt physically refreshed and regained the desire to go from riding in the starting car, to getting back behind it. He returned to action at Scarborough Downs in the fall of 2018 and he's been on a roll ever since.

Since climbing back into the bike, Ranger has been competing at every track in Maine along with being a regular at Plainridge Park, where he is the two-time defending dash title winner in 2021 and 2022, where he averaged $2 million in earnings at The Ridge over that time.

At the current Plainridge meet, Ranger is once again the leading dash driver with 19 wins out of 109 starts, with 15 seconds and 17 thirds that put $235,265 in the bank. Overall, this year he has 191 starts with 36 wins, 34 seconds and 31 thirds and $315,370 in earnings to date.

Ranger's overall career numbers are eye-popping. When the dust settled Tuesday, he now boasts 49,064 starts with 10,001 wins, 7,851 seconds and 6,378 thirds with earnings just shy of the $44 million mark, depositing exactly $43,981,252 into his owners' accounts. His win total puts him 19th on the North American all-time driving wins list with only 14 drivers ahead of him who are still active.

Ranger has won in excess of $1 million during a single season 18 times in his career including 13 straight from 1998 to 2010 and just missed doing it in four other campaigns. He has also won in excess of $2 million in purses five times including $2.4 million in 2021 and $2.5 million in 2022, which were his two most prolific all-time earning efforts. And despite all the starts, Ranger has always been a very high percentage driver and has a career UDR of .337.

Aside from the many driving titles Ranger has earned over the years, he has also been honored with enshrinement in the United States Harness Writers Association's New England and Florida Chapter's Hall of Fame.

Ranger's other wins on Tuesday included another gate to wire effort with Probert ($4.20) in the featured $25,000 winners-over pace for fillies and mares in a new lifetime clocking of 1:50.4. Probert is owned by Howard Jacobs, Jim Winske and Marcus Kemblowski and is trained by Melissa Beckwith, who also conditioned Ranger's 10,000th winner, HS Shauna.

Ranger's grand slam was completed with Colt Bennett (1:54.1, $6.40) and Fox Valley Hadley (1:54.4, $7.40).

Selling mares in foal to Walner, Muscle Hill

Two mares in foal to the sensational Walner and two in foal to kingpin Muscle Hill headline Preferred Equine Online's May 15 Mixed Sale. Bidding will go live starting today (May 12) at preferredequineonline.com.

Three of these mares are carrying their first foals while the other sells with a Walner colt at her side. All four have early 2024 due dates.

To view the mares and their pedigrees, click here for the sale catalog page.

"It's a rare opportunity to acquire mares of this caliber," said sale manager David Reid, "yet alone four that are carrying ready-made select sale yearlings."

The young mares in foal to Walner include Lula Emmylou Me, a Muscle Hill half-sister to world champion, Breeders Crown champion and O'Brien Award winner Emoticon Hanover 4,1:50.2f ($1,778,033) and Pat's Inspiration 3,1:58.1h, a "three-in-one" package who sells with her Walner colt at her side.

The mares in foal to Muscle Hill, both carrying first foals, are the speedy Watyankee 4,1:52.1 and Fashion Princess 3,1:56.3, who hails from the family of millionaires Back Of The Neck and Broadway Donna.

Reid said the value of these mares could stand alone on their individual pedigrees and conformation, but added "Keep in mind that Walner yearlings averaged $121,710 and Muscle Hill yearlings $117,076 last fall."

Reid encouraged potential bidders to visit the Preferred Equine Online website and set up an account prior to Monday's sale if they haven't yet registered.

Raised awareness at Fraser Downs results in record-setting wagering

The 2023 spring meet at Fraser Downs finished with wagering numbers on the rise and "great vibes all around" according to Kelly MacMillan, president of Harness Racing BC.

"Our handles these past four months have been record-setting," MacMillan said. "We'll be analyzing things between now and when we re-start in September with some exciting new approaches to our overall product. Everyone involved is fired-up."

The spring season ran from Feb. 2 thru May 5 on a Thursday/Friday night schedule that included 28 race dates. February resulted in the second-highest amount of wagering over the last nine years for that month.

March had the highest amount of wagering since 2015 and April numbers were the highest in the past nine years.

To break down the comparisons more precisely, the Fraser Downs spring meet handle increased by 18 per cent compared to 2022; it increased by 62 per cent over 2021 and was up by 45 per cent compared to 2020.

"We seem to have been rediscovered thanks to the marketing efforts of BC Racebook," MacMillan said. "Our raised awareness got the attention of the betting public throughout North America, not to mention what a huge hit Friday nights became with so many on-site promotions."

MacMillan noted there were several on-track thrills and accomplishments that kept the momentum going at Fraser Downs, beginning with the international headlines created by veteran driver Brandon Campbell.

Campbell drove Outlaw C My Shadow to nine-consecutive open victories this year for trainer Connie Kolthammer. The 6-year-old gelding has won 11 consecutive starts dating back to last year for the Outlaw West Stable and with 21 career wins his lifetime earnings are in excess of $180,000.

In the process of capturing the Fraser Downs driving title with an awesome 92 wins during the 28-day meet, Campbell swept the $50,000 Penny Bath and $50,000 Keith Linton Memorial sophomore stakes for the Jim Marino Stable on the final card of the spring season. With the stakes double, Marino tied Kelly Hoerdt to share top trainer honors, each with 45 winners.

Racing resumes at Fraser Downs on Thursday, Sept. 14 with the fall meeting ending on Dec. 15.

Derby Day dynamite at Big M

The action was fast and furious last Saturday afternoon (May 6).

Money was being pushed through the windows at a furious pace, over 60 breweries enticing patrons to sample some great beer, drawings for free $100 win bets, great food and, of course, a hat contest with chapeaus that went from dignified to ridiculous.

Yes, those things took place on Saturday. And you didn't have to be at Churchill Downs to experience them.

From the time the doors opened at 9 a.m. on Kentucky Derby Day until the last live harness race 15 hours later, the place to be – if you didn't happen to be in Louisville, KY – was The Meadowlands.

"We had beautiful weather, a great crowd and plenty of entertainment – in addition to The Derby and our live race card – at The Meadowlands on Saturday," said track chief operating officer/general manager Jason Settlemyre. "There was incredible excitement in the air. It was an amazing atmosphere."

"We are always investing to create a better live experience for our guests. In the metropolitan area, people are looking for fun things to do in a safe environment. The fact that we offer outdoor activities in the spring and summer, as well as racing, can, hopefully, draw a lot of new faces, as we did last weekend.”

Betting on The Big M's live product was $3,621,862, extending the track's streak of consecutive Friday and Saturday night programs with $3-million handles to 34.

“That ($3.6 million) is a huge number,” Settlemoir said. “Equally important is that on Saturday, on-track handle was also up significantly over last year. That tells me that people are enjoying the on-track experience here.

“And, I have to say congratulations to Churchill Downs. It would turn out to be the biggest Kentucky Derby Day ever, as the handle was more than $288 million.”

THIS WEEKEND: Live action takes place at The Big M this tonight (May 12) and Saturday (May 13). Post time for the first race for both 14-race cards is 6:20 p.m.

Saturday's card features seven $30,000 divisions of the New Jersey Sire Stakes for 3-year-olds.

One of the more intriguing matchups has Voukefalas looking for a second straight win in the colts and geldings pace in the eighth race as he takes on rival Handlelikeaporsche, who finished second to him a week ago.

Both horses are in the track's “Road to The Meadowlands Pace” Top 10 poll.

SPORTSCASTERS' DERBY: The fourth annual Sportscasters' Charity Derby will take place on tonight (May 12), as eight local sports broadcast personalities will go at it in a pair of four-horse dashes with professional drivers sitting alongside in double-seated jog carts, one to be conducted after Race 3 and the other after Race 5.

The winner of each one-mile test will get a $5,000 donation to the charity of their choice — courtesy of The Meadowlands — with the personalities finishing second through fourth having their charities getting $1,000 apiece.

The list of personalities: Quincy Enunwa (former New York Jets wide receiver), Wally Szczerbiak (MSG Network), Don LaGreca (ESPN 98.7 FM), Marc Malusis (PIX11), Maria Marino (Action Network), Rebecca Haarlow (MSG), Mark Cannizzaro (New York Post) and Keith Irizarry (MLB Network).

HANDICAPPING FOR CHARITY: Are you part of a local charity that's looking for a great night out?

Then head to The Meadowlands this Saturday (May 13) for the track's annual Charity Handicapping Contest.

The competition is free to local New Jersey charities that are 501C3 organizations. What's better than picking winners? Picking winners that lead to charitable donations.

The 10 charities chosen to take part will be going for a prize pool of $15,000, with each charity receiving at least a slice of the pie after the winner's take $5,000 out of the hat.

For complete details, go to playmeadowlands.com/event/meadowlands-charity-handicapping-contest/.

BIG M GOES NATIONAL: Racing from The Meadowlands will be featured for the second time this year on the networks of Fox Sports next week on both Friday (May 19) and Saturday (May 20) as part of the “America's Day at the Races” broadcast that is put out by the TV team at the New York Racing Association (NYRA).

The show will feature action from both The Big M and Churchill Downs, with Big M TV talent Jessica Otten providing the harness commentary.

“We truly enjoy the pairing of racing from Churchill and The Big M, while exposed to a national television audience,” Settlemoir said. “Showing our product to fans accustomed to thoroughbred racing is something we think can make some players crossover and become fans of our game as well.”

The remaining schedule for when Meadowlands' races will be shown on either Fox Sports 1 (FS1) or Fox Sports 2 (FS2) is as follows:

- Friday, May 19 (9-11:30 p.m.)
- Saturday, May 20 (8-11 p.m.; featuring the Arthur J. Cutler Memorial FFA Trot)
- Saturday, July 1 (9-11 p.m.; Crawford Farms and Six Pack FFA Trots, Dave Brower Memorial and Perfect Sting FFA Paces)
- Saturday, July 8 (9-11 p.m.; Meadowlands Pace eliminations, Graduate finals)
- Saturday, July 15 (10 p.m.-midnight; Meadowlands Pace, William Haughton Memorial, Hambletonian Maturity plus other stakes for total purses of $2.5 million)
- Saturday, Aug. 5 (1-5 p.m. and 6-7 p.m.; Hambletonian, Hambletonian Oaks plus other stakes for total purses of $3.5 million)
- Friday, Sept. 8 (9-11 p.m.; New Jersey Classic Series finals)

THE RACES KEEP ON COMING: Live racing at The Meadowlands will take place every Friday and Saturday for the next 13 consecutive weeks. Post time is 6:20 p.m., except for the last day of the meeting, Hambletonian Day, Saturday, Aug. 5, when the first race heads to the gate at noon.

CHECK OUT THE SHOW: The “Racing from The Meadowlands” simulcast show — broadcast live from the Sam McKee Memorial Broadcast Set — takes place every racing night.

The presentation, which gets underway at 5:45 p.m., features the Big M TV team of Dave Little and Otten, who have news and notes, features, a look at the night's featured races and selections.

This weekend, Gabe Prewitt will be in town and will sit alongside Little on Friday night and Otten on Saturday. In addition, Little will have Ron Burke “In the Sully” on Friday at 5:50 p.m.
