Clay Horner is bucking the trend by doubling down

The longtime owner/breeder has recently increased his investment in harness racing.

Clay Horner 2006.

Normally my interviews take somewhere from 30-60 minutes. When I got off the phone with old friend Clay Horner on Tuesday morning, we had been on for over 140 minutes - that's well over two hours. Over two hours and I felt we could have probably gone on for another two and still not come close to covering everything. But when you are speaking with someone as well versed in this game of life as Horner, two hours might just touch the surface. Then again, it might not even reach that level.

What did we speak about? To begin with horse racing - both of the thoroughbred and harness variety. We then segued to kids and grandkids - how today's youth are so much smarter than we are and were. Yet, they face so many more challenges than we did. We also discussed the old guy's refrain about how our youth was so much more enjoyable than what is faced by young people today.

But this is a harness racing column, so let's focus on that subject and Horner's status in it today.

At a time when most people in the game are in effect pulling in their horns so to speak and some are just leaving it entirely, you are expanding both your interest in the sport and your investment in it. Even though you've been in it fairly continuously since your youth, its only in the last couple of years that you've spread your wings in becoming significantly more involved in both breeding and racing. Why?

"There are several answers to that question. I suppose answer number 1 would be that the bulk of my time for the previous 40 years had been devoted to the practice of law. To be a successful lawyer, as I suppose it applies to most professions, you must in effect become its slave. A good part of your life becomes enmeshed in it.

"After 40 years, I decided that I had enough. There were other venues available for me to explore and with which to become involved.

"It's not only harness racing that has picked up the void created by my leaving the legal profession. My typical day might be divided thusly: Three hours devoted to investments. Two hours to the study of pedigrees, almost all to standardbreds, but a small amount to thoroughbreds and the happenings in our sister sport. That includes a daily perusal of the various websites involving both sports and discussions with people involved with them. An hour, sometimes more, involving working with charitable boards and organizations with which I am involved. At times, I'm involved in mentoring people in the legal profession and out of it, reaching down to my experience in several facets of it.

"In all of these areas I've been immensely aided by the advances in artificial intelligence available to those who have the desire to learn from them. This is especially so in the study of standardbred pedigrees.

"In all of these pursuits, relationships with people play a very significant role. Although there are undoubtedly those who might disagree, I consider myself to be at heart a people person. A good part of my involvement in harness racing is based on my mission to get more people involved in our great sport and to have them reap the many pleasures involved in having them do so."

Let's speak specifically to your standardbred involvement. In slightly more than a year, your horse numbers have more than doubled from 13 to 27. That number includes 2-year-olds in training, broodmares, yearlings, and newly born foals. Where are you going with these numbers? Will they increase? In a business, where many look upon it as being moribund, you are increasing your involvement to a number previously unmatched in all your years of having been involved. How are the various parts of your horse holdings made up?

"To answer your first question, they will almost certainly increase. Although I really don't know by how much.

"In terms of broodmares, I am focused on those descending from great matriarchs who in turn have established their own significant branches of great families. Although Cabrini Hanover may not have quite yet reached that status, I look upon her as being, at least in my mind, a sure thing towards getting there. My breeding portfolio includes her daughters, granddaughters, and will include two or more of her great granddaughters.

"All of the horses which I pay bills on are owned by partnerships. They include:

- Seven 2-year-olds in training, five with Tony O'Sullivan and one each with Blair Burgess and Linda Toscano.
- My 12 broodmares are booked to Bulldog Hanover (two), Captaintreacherous (one), Cattlewash (three), Confederate (four), Legendary Hanover (one), and Papi Rob Hanover (one).
- We have 2026 foals by Bettor's Wish, Cattlewash, and Confederate.
- We also own 24-year-old Cabrini Hanover who looks great at 24 and is living out a well-deserved retirement at Seelster Farms."

With having that large and growing number of horses, one might ask why haven't you started your own farm?

"I really haven't given it that much thought. I suppose that if I were 20 years younger than my present 66, I might.

"If I would put pen to paper, I think I'd find more reasons to not do so than to go in that direction.

“ There are probably a few reasons [I currently only have pacers]. I was raised with pacers. The vast majority of the horses with which I've been associated were pacers. That's certainly not to say that I have any sort of antipathy towards trotters. Through the years, I've actually owned a few of them - with no success. The natural tendency is to go in the direction in which you've been successful and maybe to steer away from where you haven't done well. ”

~ Clay Horner

“If one were building a new farm today, the logical place to start would be in Kentucky. The most important reason for doing that would be the Kentucky residency program which has been a bright star with what some see as a renaissance of standardbred breeding.

“Starting a new farm calls for a great deal of capital investment. At my age, am I prepared to make that significant a long-term investment?

“Another question might be who would I get to run it. My horses are presently in the hands of Steve and Cindy Stewart at their beautiful Hunterton Farms. Why would I be so presumptuous to think that I could possibly match or even improve upon their knowledge and proven stewardship.

“Steve and Cindy have proven to be great sources of advice. They bring timely and substantive communication to our relationship. Of at least equal importance, they have become great friends.

“Another reason might be that I am Canadian. I don't live in the States. A foreign investment in the United States today might include some unforeseen problems especially in these sometimes-troublesome days.”

Speaking of all your horses. I notice that you have only pacers. Not a single trotter among them. Why?

“There are probably a few reasons. I was raised with pacers. The vast majority of the horses with which I’ve been associated were pacers. That’s certainly not to say that I have any sort of antipathy towards trotters. Through the years, I’ve actually owned a few of them - with no success. The natural tendency is to go in the direction in which you’ve been successful and maybe to steer away from where you haven’t done well. That’s not to say that if the right situation came to pass and that if the stars were properly aligned, maybe? If the chance to own a trotter presented itself and I liked the situation, I would likely avail myself of the opportunity.”

It might be argued that in just a handful of years in being involved in the thoroughbred business, you have reaped earlier and more success than in your 40-year involvement with standardbreds.

“I suppose you could make that argument and that there are a couple of factors which might support it. However as with most areas of life, the answers rest with the minutiae. With the [thoroughbreds], we got very lucky in two ways. The first and most fortuitous was that we placed our fate in the hands of one of the greatest horsemen, Donato Lanni, with whom it has been our fortune with which to have been involved. If one were looking for the ideal bloodstock agent, one would certainly choose Donato Lanni. He brings together a great combination of horse knowledge, the ability to plan, either for the short or long term and the great ability to work with those people for and with who he works. I look back and think of how lucky we are to have become associated with a person whose advice and ability is also counted upon by many leaders in the thoroughbred business.

“The second most important factor is luck. Luck, in that Donato chose to work with a group of Canadians who in effect, relative to his ordinally successful present clients were prepared to just be dipping their toe into a market where he had among his clients the great thoroughbred trainer Bob Baffert and such world-wide personages as George Soros and numerous others. Luck, in that with a relatively limited bankroll, he chose a filly named Moira from among the thousands of blue-blooded fillies he might have otherwise chosen and some of which he actually picked.”

We’ll close on your telling us how your thoroughbred group X-Men came into being and its success story.

“The X Men group was formed in 2020. The first group consisted of 12 of us each putting up $150,000, plus existing Donato Lanni clients George Soros and Mandake who invested $500,000. Among the group were several standardbred people including myself, David Anderson, John Fielding, Robert Leblanc, Daniel Plouffe, and Robbie Pryde. We put Donato Lanni in charge. We decided to concentrate on reasonably well-bred fillies that Donato liked. We knew we couldn’t afford the top of the colt market or even a step or two below that. That’s not to say that we could compete for the top pedigreed fillies. Most of them were well beyond our price range. Donato knew how much we had to spend. He determined how and where the money would be spent. Wouldn’t you know, we struck gold right from the beginning. One of the fillies that Donato bought for us was named Moira. To say that she turned out well would be a vast understatement. We bought her for $150,000. She went out and earned three million. She won several graded stakes included the Queens Plate and the Breeders Cup. We then sold her for $4,300,000. She was bought by Australian breeding powerhouse Yulong Investments.

“Through the years the X Men Group has transitioned in several ways, including budget, its members, and in some cases varying investments. We get a weekly update on how each one is training and a timely report on its health. Thus, we are kept apprised as to how our horses are doing on a timely basis.

“The present group of, 2-year-olds, X Men Group Number Six consists of 21 fillies and one colt. Donato bought the colt for get this - $6,000. We asked him, why a colt, and why that colt? He said the colt that he bought last fall was not the colt that he believed it would become. So far, he is right on the money. He appears to be one of the most precocious colts in training at [Mohawk]. He has grown into a strong, robust individual as Donato believed he would become. Like the New York Lottery guy says - “You never know.”

Gural hopes to melt away winter with casino at Big M

by Meadowlands media relations

The numbers are in. And they aren't good.

The first quarter of 2026 was nothing short of disastrous from a fiscal point of view for The Meadowlands, as well its off-track wagering facility, Winners Bayonne, and the FanDuel Sportsbook.

The need for casino gaming at The Big M, the very thing that has extended the lifelines of so many tracks along the Eastern Seaboard and Pennsylvania, has never been more evident.

During January, February, and March, the incredibly cold temperatures and many snowstorms forced the cancellation of six live racing programs, not to mention a complete facility closure on several occasions, which knocked out both simulcast and sports betting.

The numbers would make any track operator's stress level rise.

Import revenues at the track were down by 13 per cent from budget and down from prior year by 16 per cent. Winners Bayonne import revenues were down from budget and prior year by 2 per cent. Live revenue and export revenue decreased by 14 per cent compared to last year. Account wagering is down from budget by 19 per cent and down last year by 18 per cent.

Sports wagering retail revenues were down 28 per cent from budget and down 41 per cent from prior year.

The numbers motivated Meadowlands chairman/chief executive officer Jeff Gural to release the following statement:

"As you can see, our business has been terrible because of the weather and the continued slow decline as our customers age out or switch to sports betting. More importantly, my effort to try to get a referendum on the ballot that would allow for casino gambling at The Meadowlands is facing stiff opposition from Atlantic City interests, and while I was originally optimistic, that is no longer the case.

"I am working very hard to convince the N.J. State Legislature, as well as Gov. Mikie Sherrill, to put it on the ballot, but those in South Jersey are strongly opposed, and the legislative leaders have asked us to wait another two years. If we have to wait another two years, [Monmouth Park operator] Dennis [Drazin] and I would need a state subsidy of somewhere between $40 and $50 million annually in order to cover money for purses and operating losses. This year, we received $27 million, which we split, but that is not nearly enough to cover our actual losses.

"We have also lost several major sponsors, who are angry that we asked stallion owners to contribute half of the stallion fee in order to make their progeny eligible to race at The Meadowlands. This raised about $400,000, which still left us with an operating loss this year of over $5 million. We also charged $400 for 2-year-olds to race at The Meadowlands and that money was added to the purses for stakes events. Despite these tough times, The Meadowlands remains the top track in the sport when it comes to the stake races that every trainer, driver, and most of all, owner, want to win.

"This has really been a struggle. I wish I had better news, but we should know by the end of June where things stand."

I've known Jo Ann Looney-King since she started in year one at The Meadowlands on the new MSG (Madison Square Garden) Network nightly TV show in May 1982. She has been a staple in my life since.

She's a good person, brutally honest, and an accomplished trainer/driver who has today morphed into a Horse of the Year co-owner and observer of every single thing happening in the business.

"I never miss a Commission meeting; I want to see what is going on," said the Harrington, DE resident.

Married to Jim King, Jr. and mother of the one and only Heather Vitale, this is exactly how I presented this column idea to her: "Listen I want to acknowledge your 80th birthday with 10-to-12 questions, not a full bio, or "Where are they now?" segment. You good with that?"

Her response was, "Let's do it."

You and your husband were in this together early on, since he also drove regularly at The Meadowlands and Freehold back in the day.

“We often talk about how we saw the best of The Meadowlands and the Dover/Harrington period when the slots came. Jimmy pointed out just recently that everything we have is the result of a horse and racing.”

As a female driver, when you started, did you have difficulty getting the same respect accorded male drivers?

“Not really. Everyone knew I was from a racing family. They could see I could handle a horse. I had knowledge of what I was doing.”

How much of yourself do you see in your daughter Heather?

“Not much really; she has a lot more personality.”

What were you thinking you had when you bought Wakizashi Hanover at the very end of the 2013 sale at Harrisburg?

“Well, he was a $20,000 horse. He is the ultimate example of a horse peaking at just the right time [defeating eventual HOY Wiggle It Jiggleit in 2015]. Amazing how it all came together at that exact time.”

What is your best recollection from the early 1980s and working on The Meadowlands nightly show?

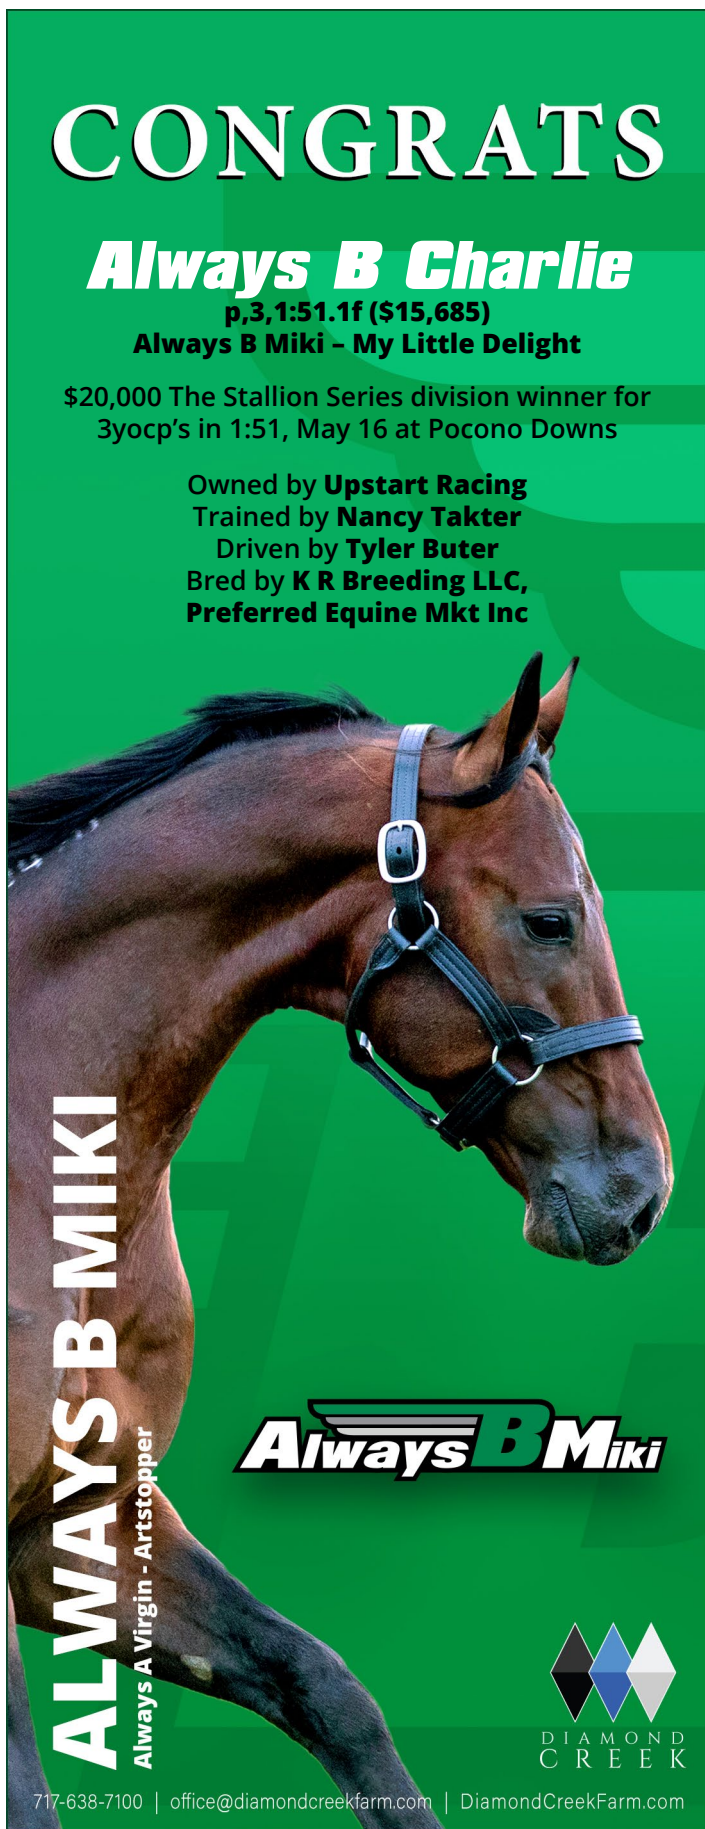

“I was just doing my thing. I was friends with Steve Nagler [publicity assistant and TV director at The Meadowlands]. I had never done anything like that before. The thing I wanted to see most was the press box. I remember that well. So real, so professional; I was fascinated by it all.”

Are you and Jackie Ingrassia the “Matriarchs” of today, especially to the younger ladies?

“I look at that word as a compliment. As for Jackie, she’s amazing, and respected by all the drivers and trainers, and still doing it. I love her. And I like Lauren Tritton and what she’s been able to do. Especially to have the stock that she does.”

Would your parents Helen and Elmer be happy with how things have turned out for you?

“I would say yes. This has to be the greatest business!”

You were co-owner of a Horse of the Year and still the fastest female ever Shartin N (1:46.4). Would you take us back to that Hambletonian Day and the moment she set that record?

"I almost always watch from the back of the paddock, and maybe make my way towards the front during the race. That is what I did that day [in 2019]. It's funny because we were worried about getting her to the gate that day. She was funny that way; you had to gradually ease her along and time it just right. After the race I asked Timmy [Tetrack] that and he joked he just closed his eyes and let her go."

Your daughter Susan still holds the New Jersey and Meadowlands record as the youngest driver to win there at 16 in June 1984 with One For All. How nervous were you that night?

"Very. But then again, I get nervous a lot before races. I remember coming back from Pocono to watch that one."

You have had cancer and also a kidney removed. Now at 80, how are you doing?

"Feeling great. I know it's corny but I really don't feel like I ever worked a day in my life. Still do feel that today."

Is there a chance we could see you with another Horse of the Year?

"I would say no, but we are still in it."

LOOKING BACK AT THE CUTLER

With the 29th edition of the Arthur J. Cutler Memorial this weekend at The Meadowlands, here are a few notes to remember from this 4-and-up open trotting event that has been a great indicator in the past of what was coming that season.

- Magician was the first repeat winner (2000-01), and was third in the 2002 edition at 3-2, won by Fool's Goal.
- Victory Margin was second to Magician in 2000 and he is the brother of Fool's Goal.
- It would be great to see a repeat of the finish of the 2013 Cutler, where Sevruga went all the way and a yardstick was more than enough to separate the top four on the wire. Sevruga won by a nose over Guccio and Wishing Stone, in a dead heat for second, and Modern Family in fourth. You can check out the replay to see those four horses across the track at the wire here.

ADVENTURES IN ILLINOIS

with NEIL MILBERT

Push for Decatur racino

by Neil Milbert

With bankrupt Hawthorne Race Course in suburban Chicago on life support and the spring session of the state legislature in its final month the push for passage of a law permitting a standardbred track/casino to be built in downstate Decatur has taken on added urgency for members of the Illinois harness racing community.

“We’ve got our [lobbying] team down here,” said Illinois Harness Horsemen’s Association executive director Tony Somone, speaking from the state capital in Springfield. “We’re trying to get a House bill across the finish-line before the end of the session on May 31.”

A bill calling for the Decatur racino and also for an end to the provision in state law that allows Hawthorne to veto any racetrack/casino project within 30 miles of its property passed the Illinois Senate 49-8 last fall.

While no one has made a concerted effort to build in suburban Chicago if the boundary is eliminated Conor Lucas and his father, Larry, (son-in-law of the late Illinois Racing Board chairman Gene Lamb) are the prime-movers in the Decatur project.

Decatur is a city of approximately 70,000 located midway between Champaign-Urbana, where the University of Illinois is located, and Springfield. It’s about a 45-minute drive to each of those two thriving communities.

“Geographically, Decatur would be a great fit,” said Conor Lucas. “The site is on the west boundary of the city, basically where Interstate 72 and Route 72 meet, and across the street from the Convention Center. This was our first pick of the sites. It has great visibility from the Interstate and it’s a good billboard for the city.

“That’s why we chose the name Decatur Downs. We wanted to have the city unofficially identified as part of the project. The city is very enthusiastic and Macon County also supports it. In addition to being great for Illinois racing it would be great for economic development in the city and county. This is a $100 million-plus project with all union construction jobs.”

State Senator Dorris Turner emphasized that Decatur Downs also could provide as many as 300 permanent jobs.

The Lucas father and son are the principals in Decatur Downs but they also have outside investors involved, solidifying its financial foundation.

If the lawmakers pass the enabling legislation, the tentative date for the opening of Decatur Downs is the second quarter of 2028.

Under the Illinois statute the casino gambling positions will be capped at 900.

“Our plans call for some grandstand seating but we want to make the racing part [of the racino] more of a family event with coolers and picnic tables,” Conor said. “The paddock will be easily accessible and fans can stand on the rail to watch the races.

“We’ll have some barns but the horses will be mostly ship-ins. We want to utilize the State Fairgrounds’ barns [in Springfield].”

If Decatur Downs is granted a license, Somone said the members of his organization hope to have “some kind of meeting in 2027” (under the track’s auspices) while the racino is being built.

Conor and his father are agreeable to discussing such an arrangement at the State Fairgrounds as well as for a temporary casino at another location.

“Let’s first get the okay from the legislature and then work out the details with Larry and Conor, the Racing Board and the Gaming Board,” Somone said.

Decatur Downs would be the first track built in Illinois since East Moline Downs opened in 1973.

Later renamed Quad City Downs to broaden its regional appeal it served as a feeder for the now-defunct Chicago harness tracks, Sportsman’s Park, Maywood Park, and Balmoral Park, that were flourishing at the time.

Arlington Park bought it in 1988 and conducted harness meetings until September 1993 when live racing was terminated and it became an off-track betting outlet.

Illinois now has only two surviving tracks – Hawthorne, which, since 2016, has been conducting both thoroughbred and harness racing, and Fairmount Park, a thoroughbred track and casino located in Collinsville, across the Mississippi River from St. Louis.

The only other pari-mutuel meetings in Illinois are a handful of late summer dates at the State Fairs in Springfield and DuQuoin.

Larry and Conor are hoping that Hawthorne survives and finds financial ways and means to construct its long-awaited casino but limits its racing to the thoroughbreds and a new harness track/casino is built in Chicago’s southwest suburbs.

Thus, there would be a thoroughbred and a harness track in the Chicago metropolitan area, a Decatur harness track in central Illinois and a downstate thoroughbred track across the river from St. Louis and they all would complement one another.

Hawthorne currently is conducting twice-weekly thoroughbred programs that began on April 19 and are scheduled to continue through Nov. 1.

All 14 of Hawthorne’s Suburban Downs harness dates in January and February had to be canceled because of the track’s inability to pay its huge number of creditors and the subsequent Jan. 26 suspension of the Suburban Downs racing license by the Illinois Racing Board.

Hawthorne filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy on Feb. 27 and on April 20 U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Timothy Barnes issued an order on Hawthorne’s debtor-in-possession loan from JDI Loans, enabling harness owners, trainers, and drivers to be reimbursed for the $1,345,382 they were owed in bounced and uncashed checks and $1,560,073 in frozen purse account funds.

But those amounts are figurative molehills in the mountain of debts an assortment of other creditors are pursuing.

Hawthorne is taking offers to either obtain a racing operation/ racino partner or sell the land for real estate development.

Under Chapter 11, the target for a sale is July 13.

“Then, we should know if they’re either going to have a [racing] partner or if they’ll have to file for Chapter 7 bankruptcy,” Somone said.

All of Hawthorne’s assets would be liquidated as a consequence of a Chapter 7 filing and that would almost certainly mean the death of racing at the 109-year-old track.

Dexter Dunn to drive in Elitloppet

by Thomas Hedlund

It was confirmed on Friday (May 15) that Gio Cash (Victor Gio), trained by Daniel Wäjersten, has secured a place in this year's Elitloppet at Solvalla on May 31.

And the Swedish-trained, German-bred, Dutch-owned trotter will be paired with a New Zealand-born driver currently dominating the American scene: Dexter Dunn.

Wäjersten already has Borups Victory (Googoo Gaagaa) in Elitloppet field, leaving Dunn with the opportunity behind Gio Cash.

Daniel Redén has also finalized the driving assignments for his two Elitloppet contenders. Örjan Kihlström will partner 5-year-old mare Allegiant (Tactical Landing), while Frenchman Paul-Philippe Ploquin reunites with Don Fanucci Zet (Hard Livin). That duo finished second behind Go On Boy in last year's Elitloppet.

STUNNING UPSET IN TINGSRYD MILE

Saturday's (May 16) mile race at Tingsryd Racetrack – the sixth E-series qualifier – turned into a spectacular contest, even though the winner will not be heading to Elitloppet.

Two already invited Elitloppet horses lined up: Jobspost and A Fair Day. Yet the spotlight instead fell on a highly unexpected winner.

Lutfi Kolgjini's 7-year-old Barack Face (Ready Cash) had effectively been retired from racing and pointed toward stud duty when he suddenly resurfaced in an overnight earlier this spring. After a modest fourth-place comeback effort, the connections aimed at Tingsryd and the $44,000 Milemästaren. There, Barack Face stormed past A Fair Day, Jobspost, and Double Deceiver over the long stretch to score in 1:53.3.

A top-class horse has clearly returned to the elite ranks – but Kolgjini is not interested in the Elitloppet just yet.

"The horse isn't ready," Kolgjini said after the victory. "He's only been training for three months, and right now I'm just happy he gets to show how talented he really is."

KEEP GOING RECEIVES ELITLOPPET INVITATION

Half an hour later, invitation number 13 to Elitloppet was officially announced. Ola Lernå, racing director at Solvalla, welcomed French 6-year-old Keep Going (Follow You) to Stockholm. The handsome stallion, trained by Mathieu Mottier, has long been considered one of the more intriguing horses in Europe by the author of this column, and his participation adds yet another fascinating layer to this year's Elitloppet.

ALL OVER ONTARIO

with MATTHEW LOMON

A strong family tree helped Clarke Steacy branch out

by Matthew Lomon

When veteran pacer Midnight Mood crossed the wire a half-length clear on April 29 at Flamboro Downs, his devoted conditioner Clarke Steacy watched on with pride and gratitude.

On paper, it was Steacy's first career training win. But in reality, it was simply the first with his name listed in the program.

While the thrill of victory is always cherished by the son of O'Brien Award-winning trainer Mark Steacy, sharing it with family is what gives it meaning.

"My wife [Cara Steacy] and I have been training horses outside of working for my dad for 12-to-15 years now – it's always nice winning together," Clarke said.

"My sister-in-law [Crystal Johnston] owns that horse, too. She claimed him a little while back when she was going to race him at Rideau Carleton, but after they shut down, the horse got sent to me. He's a family horse right now and it was nice to get a win with him."

The 8-year-old JK Endofanera bay out of Rockin Image mare La Diabla spent all of 2025 racing for Clarke's father-in-law Jamie Johnston, mostly in the $8,500 claimer ranks at Rideau, reeling in nearly $40,000 in prizes.

The Johnstons lost Midnight Mood to a claim near the end of his productive campaign, but Crystal returned to Rideau to re-acquire the sturdy winner of over $180,000 lifetime.

"He's a great big horse," Clarke said. "Big, big, strong horse. If he puts his mind to it, he can take a lot of air, he can go a long way. He's a big, old grinding kind of guy."

That's exactly how a determined Midnight Mood reached the winner's circle on that memorable Wednesday night at Flamboro.

"I had a pretty good feeling that he was going to get there right around the three-quarter pole," Clarke said, adding with a laugh, "He didn't end up winning by any more than he had to, but he probably had it in the back of his mind that he was going to get his big nose out there in front of everybody."

“Even though I’m branching off on my own, my wife [Cara] and I will always help him [my dad Mark Steacy] out with anything he needs, and he will always help me and my brother [Shawn Steacy]. We all work together – it’s one, big happy family.”

~ Clarke Steacy

"He's the type of horse that does his job. He's very good-gaited. He's so big that you wouldn't think he'd be able to get around a half-mile track like Flamboro but he did. Crystal was over the moon to get him back and get that one on the board."

Midnight Mood's hard-earned triumph in 1:57-flat came nearly six years after the first horse to ever compete under Clarke's name faced the gate in June 2020.

That horse, a now retired 9-year-old trotting mare named Shiloh Seelster, was one of the countless babies Clarke trained on behalf of his father.

The Royalty For Life bay showed flashes of excellence at home, but struggled to find her footing as a professional racehorse.

"Cara and I partnered with my dad, and I bought her as a yearling," Clarke said. "Usually, the babies will go up to my brother [Shawn Steacy] in Guelph when they get to race speed, but I kept her at home, and she actually trained down with some of the best ones that year."

"I thought she was going to really pan out and be something special. Unfortunately, that wasn't how it ended up going."

For Clarke, who broke into the industry as a driver and found great success at Rideau, the experience of training his father and brother's horses, star or not, was invaluable to his growth as an all-around horseman.

"There were a lot of nice young horses that I was able to sit behind and develop with my dad over the years," Clarke said. "You learn a lot from those kinds of horses, but it teaches you to be a better driver, driving in races and vice versa."

“There were a lot of nice young horses that I was able to sit behind and develop with my dad [Mark Steacy] over the years. You learn a lot from those kinds of horses, but it teaches you to be a better driver, driving in races and vice versa.”

~ Clarke Steacy

“You learn things in races that you can put onto the track when you’re teaching these young horses how to train. I’m training some of these cheaper-type claiming horses right now, and I enjoy them.”

Every horse to come through the heralded Steacy family racing program started with Clarke and his wife Cara at the Steacy’s Lansdowne Stable in Lansdowne, ON.

On the star-studded list of pacers and trotters was Sunshine Beach, Parisian Blue Chip, Warrawee Xenia, Front Page Story, and the exceptional Sylvia Hanover, who Clarke trained down to 2:15 on their home track.

The do-it-all horseman spent countless hours with the decorated earner of nearly $2.9 million, learning just as much from her as she did him.

“Patience,” Clarke said with a laugh. “That’s the biggest thing she taught me. I’ve really learned that over the years training all horses, but young horses, especially, because they’re just like humans; they have good days and bad days, and they have good traits and bad traits. If you can work with them patiently and stay in the moment to overcome those things, then you can hopefully get the best out of them.”

“Sylvia was not an easy horse to train down. Her laziness could really frustrate you, and we’ve even seen it in some of her biggest races, but she was a superstar – she knew how to overcome it. Some horses don’t know how to overcome it, but she does.”

His time with a megastar didn’t inflate his expectations for every horse that followed – rather it reinforced what Clarke already knew.

“They all have different attitudes; they’re not one and the same,” he said. “You like to have your own training regimens for the whole stable, but certain individuals won’t fit the same program as others. Some need to be trained a little differently, and you can’t just expect every horse is going to fall into place on one set of principles.”

“I think the best trainers adapt to the horse, and they find different training regimens to fit each one.”

As he learned with Shiloh Seelster, not all horses that show promise training down translate on the track. Others, like Sylvia Hanover, are to some degree, anomalies.

Between the two paths, though, is the space you can control – and when that part is handled with care, the rest tends to take care of itself.

“You never know exactly what you’re getting into,” Clarke said. “Some things end up being easier when you don’t expect it to happen, and sometimes it’s the opposite. Sometimes you have to work twice as hard at it because things just don’t go your way.”

“When it comes down to it, you take your time with them, try to teach them everything the right way, try to make sure they have lots of foundation underneath them, that they’re healthy and happy, and the majority of them will end up rewarding you in the long run.”

In the present, Clarke remains committed to building a stable of his own with Cara.

While he still helps out his father, who does the same in return, Clarke recently relocated to Guelph in search of more opportunities to fuel his passion of working with young horses.

As he embarks on his latest adventure, with Cara by his side, the legacy-continuing horseman will carry with him what’s always mattered most to Team Steacy: each other.

“Everything I’ve learned, I’ve learned from my dad and my brother – they’re fantastic horsemen,” Clarke said.

“Even though I’m branching off on my own, my wife and I will always help him [my dad] out with anything he needs, and he will always help me and my brother.”

“We all work together – it’s one, big happy family.”

GRASSROOTS PERSPECTIVE

with CHRIS LOMON

Harness racing is picture perfect to Wendy Lowery

by Chris Lomon

Wendy Lowery had never imagined focusing her life on horse racing – until one day, she did.

For the past four years, soon to be the start of five, Lowery, who hails from Chili Center, NY, has been capturing picture-perfect moments as the track photographer at Batavia Downs.

“I have been a photographer for over 20 years,” Lowery said. “My daughter has a love of horses and I started covering some of her stuff when she was doing barrel racing and I just loved it.”

It was Lowery’s husband, Andy, who first introduced her to standardbred racing.

“Andy’s father trained horses, so he took me to the track,” she said. “I was always interested in thoroughbreds, but I didn’t know much about standardbreds. He brought me into that world.”

The photographer in Wendy marveled at what she saw the first time she sat in the Batavia grandstand.

Each sight and sound resonated with her.

“It was love at first sight,” she recalled. “The excitement of watching the horses and the bravery of the drivers was incredible. You would never catch me doing that.”

Capturing it, however? That would be a different story.

Muddy drivers are a favorite subject of photographer Wendy Lowery.

“ Nothing against the winner’s circle photos, but I love meeting the horsepeople – grooms, trainers, and others – and being right in there with them and showing everything that they do. You can see the love these people have for horses. I am watching the grooms snuggling the horses as they are getting them ready, giving them hugs and kisses. It is just incredible. ”

~ Wendy Lowery

Her photographic association with racing started through the lens of a fan.

It began with a simple question and a promise.

“I asked the general manager of the racetrack at the time if I could bring my camera,” Wendy said. “I wouldn’t charge or sell my photos – I only wanted to post them so people could know more about the sport.”

Horsepeople, at Batavia and beyond, quickly praised her posts, grateful to have someone new to their circle highlighting their passion for racing and racehorses.

In 2021, an unexpected opportunity arose.

“When the track photographer decided to retire, my name was mentioned by Shawn McDonough, one of the trainers there, who we know,” Wendy said.

The idea of taking pictures, in photography parlance, clicked with Wendy.

Her images run the gamut from winner’s circle shots to candid moments.

It is the latter that resonates the most with Wendy.

“Nothing against the winner’s circle photos, but I love meeting the horsepeople – grooms, trainers, and others – and being right in there with them and showing everything that they do.

“You can see the love these people have for horses. I am watching the grooms snuggling the horses as they are getting them ready, giving them hugs and kisses. It is just incredible.” Her favorite race pictures to take happen when sunshine and blue skies are absent.

“I don’t even have the words for it,” she said. “This sport is amazing and there is so much that goes into it that people don’t see. So, if I can show others what it means to them, it gives me the greatest joy. I just feel so fortunate to be in a position to share that.”

“I know the drivers hate it, but I love those rainy shots with the mud flying,” she said. “They will give me a dirty look, but they make for fun photos.”

As do the close-up captures that she takes of pacers and trotters.

“It’s also incredible when you showcase the muscles on the horses, how strong and athletic they are,” she said.

One of the most cherished aspects of her job is highlighting those who often work behind the scenes.

Putting them in the spotlight is Wendy’s specialty.

“I try to get to know everyone who is in the paddock,” she said. “It’s not just about what happens in the winner’s circle but seeing people so ecstatic when their horse wins is a great part of my job. A lot of people put so much effort into those wins.

“It makes me happy that the photos I post show people seeing what I see.”

There is one photo that has eluded Wendy so far.

It is a moment she hopes to frame and hang in her family home one day.

“I would love to take a photo of my own horse winning,” she said. “My husband and I bought three babies last year and we have one, Filet Mignon, trained by Jim Rothfuss, racing right now. It’s a lot of fun. She has been second for us, but we haven’t got that first win with her yet.”

Should it happen, Wendy will have plenty of familiar faces joining her in the winner’s circle for the milestone celebration.

And while it was her husband who brought her into racing, Wendy, who has seven grandchildren, is emphatically embracing her role as an unofficial ambassador of harness racing.

“I have had my daughter, granddaughter, and friends come out to watch the races with us,” Wendy said. “My husband is a big supporter of mine, the person who nudged me in this direction, so I’m happy to do the same for other people.”

Wendy is also looking to expand her life behind the lens.

“There is nothing else I would rather do,” she said. “I cover some fairs, like Dunkirk and Goshen. They asked me to do them last year and again this year. I would love to travel more and cover more tracks.”

Away from the races, family trips, angling, and a certain barnyard animal occupy her time.

“We like to travel and we like to fish,” she said. “We have some goats, so we are looking to expand our farm a little bit more.”

Add in a full-time job – she is a supervisor/technician at a local Walmart pharmacy – and her life is rarely at a standstill.

But that is anything but a burden for Wendy, who has found her happy place amid the action and excitement that comes with standardbred racing.

It has been an unexpected, but treasured path to the finish line and other places at the racetrack.

“It absolutely has been – and it’s the best journey in the world,” she said. “My husband and I are finally here. This is going to be my retirement job when I leave the pharmacy.”

And those posts she shares on Facebook, they will continue to, in every way, showcase Wendy’s deep admiration for horsepeople and their craft.

“I don’t even have the words for it,” she said. “This sport is amazing and there is so much that goes into it that people don’t see. So, if I can show others what it means to them, it gives me the greatest joy. I just feel so fortunate to be in a position to share that.”

SUPERSTAR FEMALES OF HARNESS RACING

with VICTORIA M. HOWARD

Doreen Dailey started her career with Clint Galbraith and Niatross

by Victoria Howard

Doreen Dailey began her career in harness racing working for Hall of Famer Clint Galbraith who trained the great Niatross. For those who may have forgotten about Galbraith and his champion Niatross, Galbraith was the first harness driver to win two sub-1:50 miles: The initial Time Trial in 1:49.1 with Niatross and the 1:49.3 race mile behind Call For Rain (the Older Pacing Horse of the Year in 1988).

Galbraith expertise training and conditioning made Niatross into one of harness racing's greatest legends.

“ I’ve lived and raced horses my entire life. I was lucky to have been there when it was at its best. I feel blessed to have been in the sport when it was at its highest point and hope someday, somehow, we can get back to those days when harness racing was so much fun and packed the grandstands every night. It wasn’t a ‘job,’ it was the best life. ”

~ Doreen Dailey

Courtesy Doreen Dailey

Jessica Hallett

At that time Niatross was owned by Elsie Berger who gave Galbraith 50 per cent in return for no training bills. Wow!

What a generous woman and a stroke of luck for the Galbraiths, for the horse went on to a virtually unbeaten racing career at ages 2 and 3 and became the first standardbred ever to break 1:50.

Niatross set 15 world records as a 2- and 3-year-old and shattered the previous mile record of 1:51 set by Steady Star by going 1:49.1.

The champion horse finished his two-year career with 37 victories in 39 races and earned $2,019,213.

Today, many horses who have earned $2 million during their racing career, but remember this was over 45 years ago.

After Niatross' racing career ended, Galbraith, a lover of the sport of racing and standardbreds, continued training horses well into his 70s.

Niatross would also be remembered as a successful sire, He produced offspring that earned over $62 million.

His most notable progeny was the great Nihilator, and like his father, he would also become a world champion and one of the highest-earning pacers ever.

But this story is not about Galbraith. It is about a woman who worked for him, other trainers, and then developed a stable of her own.

"I was born in Vernon, NY, and grew up around standardbreds for both of my parents drove horses on the Buffalo/Batavia circuit," Dailey said. "I got my education and experience working with horses from my mother Michele and my father John Dailey.

"After graduating from high school in 1982, I got a job working for Clint Galbraith. At that time Clint was training Niatross who was in his 3-year-old racing year."

Tell me about Galbraith and what your experience was like working for him?

"Clint ran a Grand Circuit barn, and everything was top notch. While I was a rookie working there, I tried to show my boss I was doing a great job and one day I even waxed the jog cart seat. Well, guess that was a no-no for Clint fell off the bike.

"My next job was working for Lloyd Gilmour at Vernon Downs. That is when I purchased my first horse: an old grey mare for $1,200. The mare also gave me my first qualifying drive and one night proceeded to run off with me coming out of the chute.

"After that I didn't drive another horse for several years until we moved to Freehold. In New Jersey, I worked for Elmer Looney and then Ron Knigge. Although I worked for other trainers, I always had a horse or two of my own."

Who have you worked for more recently and what horses have you been around?

"I decided to apply for my driving license and got my 'A' driving license when I shuffled between Freehold and Ocean Downs.

"At that time, I drove a few winners in the Mildred Williams Ladies Series, at various tracks, including Tioga, Monticello, and Yonkers.

"The fastest horses I ever owned and drove were Tropic Thunder (1:51), and Smile is Near (1:53).

"During the years 2010-12, I was an assistant trainer for Celebrity Farms. In 2012 I worked for Jonas Czernyson (Maven), Jim Campbell in 2020 (Cool Papa Bell), and for the past couple years I've worked for Bruce Saunders (Manolete), who I personally broke as a yearling. The horse is now a nice 4-year-old. We mainly race at The Meadowlands, Chester, and the Grand Circuit.

"When Freehold Raceway closed its doors [in December 2024], I sold both of my racehorses, but I still own my broodmare and two retirees.

"After being in the business for decades, I've seen so many things change, and sadly, not for the better. The main thing is the illegal performance enhancing drugs. It's heartbreaking and has hurt our sport immensely. I think there should be more random barn searches and to reinstate the black box at The Meadowlands."

“ I was born in Vernon, NY, and grew up around standardbreds for both of my parents drove horses on the Buffalo/Batavia circuit. I got my education and experience working with horses from my mother Michele and my father John Dailey. After graduating from high school in 1982, I got a job working for Clint Galbraith. At that time Clint was training Niatross who was in his 3-year-old racing year.”

~ Doreen Dailey

What do you think about people in the business today and what else keeps you busy?

“Today there are many talented drivers and trainers. I am a big fan of the McCarthy brothers for they both make speed and also take good care of the horses.

“As far as a female in the sport that I admire, it would have to be my daughter, Danielle DaCruz. Not only is she a great mother of two young children but she has a small stable of her own and also works for Noel Daley.

“Besides my love for horses and harness racing, I am a proud mother of two children. My daughter Danielle is keeping the family legacy going by training horses, and my son Joe Dailey was a successful high school and college quarterback. Today Joe is a football coach at Boston College. He is married to Carrie and they have four kids. At one time Joe coached in the NFL one year for the Panthers.

“Presently I rent a small turnout farm in Chesterfield, NJ, where my retired broodmare, who helped me get my 'A' license, is enjoying life.

“I've lived and raced horses my entire life. I was lucky to have been there when it was at its best. I feel blessed to have been in the sport when it was at its highest point and hope someday, somehow, we can get back to those days when harness racing was so much fun and packed the grandstands every night. Who will turn the lights back on?

by Trey Nosrac

The lights went out at Rideau Carleton in March. Another racetrack slips quietly into the past. The Quebec track, which I once had the pleasure of visiting, joins a heartbreaking list:

Rideau Carleton – March 2026

Fraser Downs – Aug. 15, 2025

Cal-Expo – May 2, 2025

Freehold Raceway – Dec. 28, 2024

Pompano Park – April 17, 2022

Michigan and Illinois have their own list of ghost racing ovals.

Racetracks where hooves once pounded down the lane are empty grandstands or real estate for another business. The trend is discouraging. The heartbreak is real. Chances are good you've had that feeling where someone has taken something you loved.

Other businesses I cared about have disappeared. Magazines folded. Franchises lost. Projects that felt permanent... weren't. The lights go out.

Our first instinct is to find someone to blame. Track management. Regulators. Horsemen. The government. The weather. The younger generation. The older generation. The internet. Politics. People blame the parking situation, but the last time I visited a racetrack, parking was not a problem.

Racetracks don't die from villains. They die from math and algorithms. They die from competing businesses. They die from unfavorable politics. They die from social and economic trends. They die from demographics. They die from competition.

The lights going out is business as usual. The numbers don't work, and one day, someone looks at a spreadsheet and makes a decision that feels like betrayal but is really just arithmetic.

The darkness hurts like hell and leaves an ache that never completely goes away. Rideau Carleton won't be the last. More venues where trotters and pacers circle a half-mile oval today will one day exist only in stories told by people who start sentences with, "You should have seen it back in..."

Who can do anything to stop the bleeding?

No rescue parties are galloping our way. Neither the state nor the national government has a solution waiting in the wings. There isn't a new wave of horse gamblers about to flood the grandstands and log into the ocean of gambling products. There isn't a secret plan tucked away in a desk drawer marked, "Open when things get bad."

If something different is going to happen, it will come from a person who can imagine a different model.

Recently, this space has been more unusual than usual because I have been posting columns for an audience of six. Interviews, writing, buying, selling, and raising foals brought me to the barn doors of a wonderful bunch of folks in the harness racing business. I do not know many personally; they may not even remember me. But I remember them.

Before starting these rambles about private leagues, non-gambling models, smaller and more controlled environments, I made a list of six people who crossed my path who seem to have the money, an entrepreneurial spirit, a deep love of the sport, and who are not afraid to march to their own drum. If they had the desire, they could try to build a new model of our old sport.

People of this ilk are our best hope. Not committees, commissions, or subcommittees that meet quarterly and produce a report no one reads will rescue us. Big changes in niche industries rarely come from large groups. They come from one or two individuals willing to look a little foolish.

Alas, my outlandish suggestions have yet to find purchase in any of those six fertile minds.

It's understandable. Doing something new outside the traditional track is risky business. Not just financially, but socially. You risk being wrong. You risk being criticized. Doing nothing is the safer play. Let the system run. Let the tracks stand as long as they can.

If something different is going to happen, it will come from a person who can imagine a different model. Smaller. Private. Detached from the gambling dependency. Built around participation, ownership, community, and the simple joy of competition. A person who decides to roll the dice and purchase a large track of virgin land, build barns, a racing oval, maybe a hotel, and of course, fill the barns with racehorses.

We need a person to turn the lights back on.

Spencer Hanover scores in Oak Grove Trotting Derby; Jailbird Jog a knockout in Trotting Oaks

by Oak Grove Racing Publicity

Oak Grove Racing, Gaming & Hotel hosted the inaugural editions of the $500,000 Oak Grove Trotting Derby and $300,000 Oak Grove Trotting Oaks on Preakness Saturday (May 16), which saw Spencer Hanover emerge supreme from a game stretch battle in the Oak Grove Trotting Derby as well as a powerhouse performance by Jailbird Jog to take the Oak Grove Trotting Oaks.

Driver Jason Bartlett masterfully steered Spencer Hanover to a track-record equaling 1:51.3 to slide by 2-5 favorite Endurance (driven by Andy McCarthy) and win the Oak Grove Trotting Derby.

Leaving from the pylon post, Bartlett settled towards the middle of the pack and worked a seat right behind Endurance as Silverstein hustled out of post 9 to lead into a :26.2 first quarter. With longshot Geologic (Marvin Luna) parked and attempting to push forward from mid-pack on the rim, McCarthy was forced to angle Endurance off the pylons moving to the second turn and advance towards Silverstein on the march to a :54.4 half. Bartlett caught cover from Endurance heading for the backstretch and strode comfortably perched while the odds-on favorite gradually ground by tiring a Silverstein to three-quarters in 1:22.4. Endurance remained on the muscle but fatigued turning for home as Bartlett tipped outside to lay his attack, and he surged by with fresh legs to snag victory by a half-length. Endurance fought to hold his ground but settled for second while Requiem (Ronnie Wrenn, Jr.) rallied for third and Al (Yannick Gingras) weaved from a pocket trip for fourth.

“In the first turn, it was a battle between me and Andrew [McCarthy], who wanted to follow who,” winning driver Bartlett said after the race. “Me, Marcus [Melander] and Mattias [Melander] last week said we hoped we could get the second-over trip behind Endurance next week. He loves a target and he’s just a good horse.”

Marcus Melander trains Spencer Hanover, a 3-year-old colt by Chapter Seven—Secret Passion, for owners Jeff Snyder and Arthur Pronti. He won his fifth race from 15 starts in his career, earning $924,889, and paid $10.28 to win. His win in 1:51.3 ties the track record for 3-year-old trotting colts set in the Oak Grove Trotting Derby eliminations by Endurance.

Jailbird Jog (Anthony MacDonald) capitalized stylishly off quick early fractions the race before to blowout her competition with a 7¾-length romp in the Oak Grove Trotting Oaks.

MacDonald settled into seventh from post 2 behind a :26.2 skirmish to the first quarter, in which Victorianas Secret (Wrenn, Jr.) came out on top of the shuffle to lead the field by the grandstand the first time. Victorianas Secret carried her momentum to a :54.3 half, at which point MacDonald had Jailbird Jog rolling three wide around parked and tiring Little Road (Brady Brown) to loop into contention. She caught cover from Carve (McCarthy), who pulled off the pylons from third, into the backstretch and bided her time following the helmet to three-quarters in 1:23. Once Carve cleared, Jailbird Jog zipped by and quickly widened to an open-length lead before coasting by the beam geared down for a 1:52.2 win, equaling her lifetime best. Victorianas Secret held second with maiden Chiquita Ba-beeman (Scott Zeron) grabbing third and Custom (Bartlett) recovering from a break at the start for fourth.

“I looked right leaving the gate and everybody’s fired up and leaving, and coming to the half I know Toddy’s horse [Naked And Famous] was in a tight spot, and it’s racing, [so] I’m not going to let him out,” winning driver MacDonald said after the race. “I put her in gear in the backstretch and she’s just a super nice filly; she’s very unassuming. When you look at her, you’d never think she’s that fast, but she’s crazy fast. The filly’s just been a real treat for us and all of our clients. I’m just really happy for them. Anybody could’ve driven her today, that’s for sure; I didn’t do anything special.”

Eric Patalan trains Jailbird Jog, a 3-year-old filly by Tactical Landing—Miss Don Fanucci S, for owners Thestable Jailbird Jog, P23 Bloodstock, and Hutchison Harness LLC. She won her fifth race from 14 starts, earning $298,532, and paid $18.22 to win.

The Oak Grove Trotting Derby also had a $75,000 consolation on the undercard won handily by 1-5 favorite Big Ranger (Ronnie Gillespie, $2.40 to win), who took his competition pillar-to-post in a lifetime-best 1:52.3 mile. Dexter Dunn swept the pair of consolations for the Oak Grove Trotting Oaks with Brattitude ($4.82) taking the $50,000 Bronze consolation in 1:54.2 and Decreed ($6.46) winning the $75,000 Silver consolation in 1:53.3.

The $1.5-million day of racing at Oak Grove to conclude the $2.75 million Festival of Racing began with the first of four $100,000 Kentucky Sire Stakes (KYSS) finals for 4-year-olds. Gimpanzee Dancer (Andy McCarthy) capitalized on a pocket trip from odds-on favorite Go Dog Go (Todd McCarty) bobbling off stride into the last turn to win the KYSS final for trotting horses and geldings in 1:51.3 over 37-1 shot Royal Comet (Luna) and 15-1 shot My Degenerate (Tyler Miller). Chris Beaver trains and co-owns the 4-year-old stallion by Gimpanzee—Weslynn Dancer with partners Carolina Ortiz Acosta and Derek Ivany. He won his 10th race from 35 starts, earning $439,667, and paid $10.02 to win.

Harrisburg Heist (Wrenn, Jr.) motored by weary rivals to deliver as the 1-5 favorite in the KYSS final for 4-year-old pacing horses and geldings, stopping the clock in 1:48.4. Following a recall before the race, Wrenn, Jr. sat third as stablemate Banderas (Gingras) battled with Higher Ground (Dunn) through early splits of :25.3 and :53.3. As the dust settled, Wrenn, Jr. fired Harrisburg Heist off the pegs and brushed to the lead with a sharp sprint to three-quarters in 1:20.2. He held momentum through the lane to register a 4½-length win over Banderas with Captain Arturovico (Zeron) closing for third and Fusion (Todd McCarthy) taking fourth.

Ron Burke trains Harrisburg Heist, a gelding by Downbytheseaside—Cashaway, for owners Burke Racing Stable, Knox Services Inc., Phil Collura, and Weaver Brussemi. The gelding won his 15th race from 34 starts, has now earned $650,202, and paid $2.76 to win.

Three Times Bettor (Dunn) persisted through a methodical first-over push in a quick tempo to score a track-record equating 1:48.3 win in hand in the KYSS final for 4-year-old pacing mares. Dunn tipped his charge out of third after following a clip of :25.4 and :53.1 and inched comfortably towards pacesetter Odds On Chesapeake (Todd McCarthy) rolling to three-quarters in 1:20. As Odds On Chesapeake began to tire, Three Times Bettor grabbed the lead and scooted away confidently for a length win over pocket-sitter Aintnothingucando (Zeron) zipping up a seam at the pylons for second. Unreasonable (Bartlett) follow the winner's cover to take third while Odds On Chesapeake held fourth.

Brett Pelling trains Three Times Bettor, a mare by Bettors Delight—Three Times A Lady, for owner Thaddeus Wier. She won her 12th race from 20 starts, earning $263,814 in her career, and paid $2.50 to win. Her 1:48.3 win equaled the track record for older pacing mares set in 2022 by Blue Diamond Eyes.

Last season's leading driver Luna orchestrated the biggest surprise of the day when he got Aperfect Annie, the longest shot on the board at 58-1, to edge by odds-on favorite Yo Tillie (Todd McCarthy) in the KYSS final for 4-year-old trotting mares. Luna procured the pocket seat to Yo Tillie passing a :27.2 first quarter and followed intently through a :56.2 half and 1:23.4 three-quarters. Winnpanzee (Gingras) mounted a blitz out of third to the far turn but jumped off-stride, leaving Yo Tillie seemingly to herself turning for home. Todd McCarthy asked his charge to quicken and drifted off the pylons when reaching for the finish, giving Luna ample room to accelerate by late with Aperfect Annie and land a neck in front in a 1:52.2 mile. Longshots Best Friends Girl (Wrenn, Jr.) and Grand Reserve (Zeron) finished third and fourth, respectively.

Carter Pinske, who led all trainers on the day with three wins including his sweep of the Trotting Oaks consolations, trains Aperfect Annie for owners Pinske Stables, Melvin Hartman, and Andray Farm. The daughter of Googoo Gaagaa—Asixpakfromperfect won her seventh race from 28 starts in her career, earning $496,514, and paid $119.62 to win.

Live racing at Oak Grove resumes on Monday (May 18) with a 13-race card headlined by a $30,000 open handicap pace, carded as race 4. With the major upset by Aperfect Annie on the Saturday card, the $1 Pick 4 with a guaranteed pool went unclaimed, leaving a carryover of $11,542.62 into the Monday sequence which covers the last four races on the program. First-race post time at Oak Grove is 1:10 p.m. (CDT).

Another C Note (Tyler Buter) becomes a double PASS winner on Saturday at Pocono.

SIRE STAKES REPORT

Another C Note, Sneaky Squeaky double in PASS prelims

by PHHA / Pocono

Another C Note and Sneaky Squeaky both captured their second straight win in the Pennsylvania Sire Stake preliminaries for 3-year-old pacing males at Pocono Downs at Mohegan Pennsylvania Saturday afternoon (May 16). The winners were driven respectively by Tyler Buter and Joe Bongiorno, who between them drove nine of the 15-race program's winners.

Another C Note started his season paying $60.40 in "nw 4 races" company, but he is now six-for-six in 2026 after equaling his mark of 1:50.4, controlling most of the pace and defeating stablemate Melillo by a length for the partnership of Burke Racing Stable LLC, Weaver Brusceci LLC, Let It Ride Stable Inc., and Scott Dillon. The son of Captaintreacherous (who, to the chagrin of improvers of the breed, was the only "entire" who won during nine stakes races worth a collective $231,095) was one of six overall winners on the card for Pocono's leading driver Buter, two of which came for trainer Ron Burke.

Bongiorno trains and drove the winners of the other two Sires divisions, both of which resulted in a victory margin of only a nose. Sneaky Squeaky (Heston Blue Chip), who now matches Another C Note not only with two Sires wins but with an unbeaten record in six starts this season, showed great gameness in again winning a PASS contest by the smallest possible margin, here over Captain Apple in 1:51.1 after a pacesetter vs. pocketsitter stretch duel. Morrison Racing Stable owns the developing youngster.

The other nose winner was $58.40 proposition Apocalypsebluechip (Papi Rob Hanover), who in fact was a nose ahead of both second-place finisher Superchamp Hanover and third-place Southwind Spencer after utilizing a pocket trip. Apocalypsebluechip, despite this being only his second lifetime win, had the day's fastest stakes clocking, 1:50.3, a new mark, in triumphing for Bongiorno's Joseph Bongiorno LLC, Country Club Acres Inc., Joe Sbrocco & JAF Racing, and Don Latore.

Buter and Bongiorno drove the two Stallion Series (StS) winners who won for the second time in their grouping's prelims. Buter, who had three Stallion Series wins in addition to his Sire Stakes success, guided the faster one, Really Bright (Tall Dark Stranger), who was one of four StS winners in 1:51, all of whom took a new lifetime speed badge. Hunter Oakes trains Really Bright for owners Howard Taylor and Chuck Pompey.

The other StS doubler was Ballroom Affair (Papi Rob Hanover; he and Captaintreacherous would have siring victories at both levels of stakes), in 1:51.4 for Let It Ride Stables Inc. and Odds On Racing. This horse completed the Bongiorno triple; Joe's win rate and UTR at the mountain oval are 27 per cent and .394, which are great but still lag a bit behind his incredible success stats at Philly, which are 52 per cent and .693.

Buter had a pair of the other 1:51 winners for trainer Nancy Takter: Always B Charlie (Always B Miki), reducing his mark in his third lifetime start for Upstart Racing, and Louaville (Sweet Lou) for owners Lemon Drop Racing, R A W Equine Inc., Christina Takter, and Joe Sbrocco & JAF Racing (who won a PASS race as co-owners of Apocalypsebluechip, though with Team Bongiorno).

The fourth 1:51 win in the Stallion Series was Spunky Hanover (Stay Hungry), who was driven by Braxten Boyd for trainer Timothy Lancaster, co-owner with Mark and Joy Lancaster. Completing the StS winners was the son of Captaintreacherous mentioned above, Barrow, who lowered his mark to 1:51.1 for driver Brad Chisholm, trainer Brett Pelling, and owners Let It Ride Stables Inc. (three stakes winners including two in the Stallion Series), Morrison Racing Stables (a win in both sections), and Jesmeral Stable.

After all catch their breath, Pocono will be back in action on Monday (May 18) at 1 p.m., featuring three $30,000 divisions of Pennsylvania All-Stars racing for 3-year-old trotting colts. Free Pocono program pages are or will be available at www.phha.org.

PASS MEADOW BRIGHT HIGHLIGHT FRIDAY CARD AT THE MEADOWS

The main attraction Friday afternoon (May 15) at Hollywood Casino at The Meadows featured 3-year-old trotting fillies. Four divisions of the PA Stallion Series led up to the day's main events, two $49,000 divisions of the Pennsylvania Sire Stakes (PASS) known as the Meadow Bright.

Maya Patel Hanover had lifetime earnings of $118,153 but zero lifetime wins before Friday's Sire Stakes event. She now has earnings of $142,816 and one victory. Dave Palone landed and raced the Captain Corey filly third before angling off the rail in the final turn and outsprinting Atlantic Summer to the wire. The Åke Svanstedt trainee used a :27.3 final quarter to earn her first victory from nine lifetime starts. Maya Patel Hanover is owned by Åke Svanstedt Inc. and Brittany Farms.

Following a Stallion Series victory earlier in the card, the driver Ronnie Wrenn, Jr. / trainer Vernon Beachy combination teamed up again in the PASS. Wendalyn Hanover was sent right to the lead by Wrenn, Jr. where she faced a brief challenge in the final turn and a late surge from Frattina Diablo S before holding on for the lifetime-best 1:54.4 victory. 518 Group, Ryan Smith, and Gitup Racing, all of Ohio, own the Greenshoe filly.

In the first Stallion Series event of the day, JL Serenity (Wrenn, Jr.) secured the 2-hole through an opening first quarter of :27.3, and from there the duo used the Lightning Lane and a :28.2 final quarter to seal the victory. The daughter of Captain Corey is trained by Beachy for owners 518 Group LLC and Ryan Smith of Ohio. JL Serenity's time of 1:54.4 was the fastest Stallion Series division and a new career best.

A second-over trip to the head of the stretch gave Dulcinea Hanover her Stallion Series victory, as well as her maiden-breaking score. Nico Karna followed Intisaar Mil to the top of the stretch, tipped off cover, and trotted away to a two-length victory in 1:55. Noel Daley trains the Greenshoe filly for Harbor Racing Stable LLC, Joe Sbrocco, JAF Racing, James McGovern, and Vincent Urciuoli.

Willow Oak Racing LLC's Sister Wine went wire-to-wire from post 6 to earn her Stallion Series victory. Driven by Andy Miller for trainer Julie Miller, the Bar Hopping filly capitalized on favorable early fractions to pick up her first win of the 2026 season in 1:56.3.

Chris Gooden

Chris Gooden

The final Stallion Series division of the day saw Cocktail Captain and Mike Wilder upset their field at odds of 58-1. Sitting fourth throughout, Wilder moved the Captain Corey filly just before the three-quarters and chase down the front-runner and favorite, Just Teasing, for the 1:55.4 victory. Owned by Matthew Miller of Pennsylvania and trained by Nathan Bresnahan, Cocktail Captain now has three wins on the season and a new lifetime mark.

For the day, Palone took top honors with four driving victories, while trainer Brandon Presto edged Beachy three wins to two.

Beau Jangles romps in SBOA Stakes

by Mark McKelvie / Woodbine communications

Beau Jangles undefeated record moved to a perfect 14-for-14 with a blowout victory of 9½ lengths in Saturday's (May 16) SBOA Stakes for Ontario sired 3-year-olds.

The $131,475 SBOA for 3-year-old pacing colts and geldings was one of four finals on Saturday's 12-race card at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

With a large crowd cheering him on, Beau Jangles and driver Bob McClure put on a show by taking off on their rivals going to three-quarters and posting one of the largest stakes final margin of victories in recent memory.

The Dr. Ian Moore trained Beau Jangles left out well for the front, while Windor and Tilthecowscomehome looked to sprint ahead. Windor got the top going into the turn with Tilthecowscomehome sitting parked to the outside of Beau Jangles at an opening quarter of :26.4.

Tilthecowscomehome cleared to the lead entering the backstretch before immediately being overtaken by a third to first moving Beau Jangles. Off a half of :55.4, Beau Jangles started to ramp up the tempo approaching the three-quarter pole, leading by 2½ lengths in 1:23.3.

The stretch drive saw Beau Jangles open a lead of several lengths and power home with ease in :26 for a stakes record win of 1:49.3.

Race replay here.

Borderline Mobby won the well back battle for second over Windor, Redland Rocket Man and Mega Moves.

Following his SBOA victory, McClure noted just how ready Beau Jangles was for his second start of the season.

"Tonight, you could feel him vibrating in the harness," said McClure. "Doc [Moore] told me before the race 'he's ready to go'... he was just vibrating and wanted to get at it.

"He's such a pro. Halfway around the last turn, I didn't want to risk getting outsprinted or a sprint making it close, so I started chirping to him and talking to him and he throttled into another gear and halfway down the lane he shut himself down. It's scary how easy he can go those miles."

Moore trains Beau Jangles for owners Graham Grace Stables LLC, Kiwi Stables LLC, and Bolton Stables. The top ranked contender for this year's Pepsi North America Cup now has $1,766,987 in career earnings.

"I'll see how he comes out of this race and if all is well, we'll probably do the [OSS] Gold next week and then we'll have to miss the Somebeachsomewhere to have a couple weeks to get him ready for the North America Cup," Moore said.

With no place and show wagering available, $124,154 of $132,999 in the win pool was wagered on Beau Jangles.

The first Ontario Sires Stakes Gold event of the season for 3-year-old pacing colts and geldings will take place next Saturday (May 23).

STROBE LITE RETURNS TO WINNER'S CIRCLE IN SBOA: O'Brien Award winner Strobe Lite grabbed his first win of the season in the $130,475 SBOA final for 3-year-old trotting colts and geldings.

Entering off a traffic trouble runner-up finish in his elimination, Strobe Lite and driver James MacDonald avoided any repeats by marching to the lead in the second-quarter and never looking back.

Strobe Lite (James MacDonald) won the SBOA Stakes for 3-year-old male trotters on Saturday at Mohawk.

Last season's OSS Grassroots final winner, Blue Jean Gal is now two-for-two this season and nine for 11 overall.

Strobe Lite settled early in third after contender First Class Mass made a break. Dream For Peace at 18-1 posted a :28.2 opening-quarter before handing over the lead to the backstretch moving Strobe Lite.

The Ben Baillargeon trained Strobe Lite put up fractions of :57.4 and 1:26.2 before completing the victory with :27.2 final-quarter for the 1:53.4 mile. Dream For Peace, who couldn't find room up the rail on the leader until the very final stride, finished second by a length. Stablemates Touchedbyanangel and Mike Me Up completed the superfecta.

A son of Alarm Detector, Strobe Lite now has four wins and $451,408 earned for owners Baillargeon, Claude Hamel, Nunzio Vena, and Glengate Farms.

"He's a horse I've been looking forward to all winter," said MacDonald. "There's always a little bit of pressure and I think Ben was a little worried last week. I told him he raced well, but when they don't win then in the back of your head, you're worried. It was great to see him just do his job tonight and everything I asked."

Alarm Detector paid $2.80 to win.

BLUE JEAN GAL STEPS TO SBOA FILLY TROT SCORE: The Julie Walker trained Blue Jean Gal came a long first-up and kept on marching to win the $142,725 SBOA final for 3-year-old trotting fillies.

Driven by James MacDonald, Blue Jean Gal got away fifth and leaving from a post-5 draw after winning her elimination. The daughter of Trixton tipped out partway up the backstretch and started making her way after leader Cher Hill, who had just cleared to the lead before a :58 opening half.

After a three-quarter clocking of 1:26.2, Blue Jean Gal overtook the lead at the head of the lane and never looked back to win in 1:55.4. My Ghost finished well for second, beat a length and a quarter, while Lo And Behold was third. Cher Hill settled for fourth.

"I know my filly can carry her speed a long way and her best quality is her toughness," said MacDonald. "I tried not to get in a rush and when the paced slowed up just started grinding away and try to work my way inch by inch and she did the rest."

Owned by the Estate of Leonard Gamble, Blue Jean Gal has now earned $182,362. She paid $3.10 to win.

A CLEAN DEAL POWERS TO SBOA VICTORY: O'Brien Award winner A Clean Deal followed up a big effort in her elimination to win Saturday's $138,725 SBOA final for 3-year-old pacing fillies in 1:51.

Teaming with her pilot Doug McNair, A Clean Deal shot from post 5 to get away second behind P N G Shadow through a :27.4 opening-quarter. With other elimination winner Shes A Bulldog on her back, A Clean Deal made a quick loop to the lead entering the backstretch and got to the half in :56.2.

Shes A Bulldog moved out from third at the half to take a run at A Clean Deal, with the fillies sprinting to three-quarters in 1:23.2.

In the stretch, A Clean Deal had Shes A Bulldog put away and just needed to hold off a late push from P N G Shadow to close out the win by a neck. Malicia Speed was third, while Romantic Beauty was fourth.

A daughter of Cattlewash, A Clean Deal is trained by Kyle Fellows for owners Yolanda Fellows, Blair Corbeil, Windermere Stable LLC, and James Ross.

"She just keeps going... she's all heart," said McNair. "A few times last year you'd think she's beat and then she just opens up down by the wire. Tonight, [P N G Shadow] was getting to her, but I figured she'd kick back in. She knows her job and does it well."

A Clean Deal has an almost flawless career record at eight wins in nine starts. Now two-for-two on the season, the Fellows trainee has $536,326 in career earnings in less than 10 starts.

A $2 win ticket returned $2.80.

Periculum repeats in Grade 3 Cutler Memorial

by James Witherite / Meadowlands media relations

Despite being out of action since December, Periculum demonstrated midseason form in his 7-year-old debut, cascading off cover and rolling to a 1:49.4 win in the $150,100 Grade 3 Arthur J. Cutler Memorial on Saturday (May 16) at The Meadowlands, his second consecutive triumph in the annual event for open trotters.

The son of Muscle Hill—Amour Heiress was in no hurry in the race's early stages, taking back from an early logjam that saw French Wine (driven by Jason Bartlett) push clear of Aetos Kronos S (Dexter Dunn) at the end of a :27 first quarter.

"It looked like there was a lot of excitement going into the first turn, and I didn't want to be part of it," said driver Scott Zeron, who activated Periculum out of sixth as 2025 FanDuel champion Lexus Kody (Yannick Gingras) pushed to the fore midway up the backstretch and seized control from French Wine at the :54.4 halfway stage. Meanwhile, Periculum had gained steadily in the breeze before flushing stablemate Aetos Kronos S off the pegs with seven-sixteenths to go, setting up a cover trip through the far turn. Aetos Kronos S ground forward to take a narrow lead from Lexus Kody just past the 1:23.2 three-quarters, but his biggest challenge was on his helmet as the field turned for home.

"We were able to pick up great cover," Zeron said. "Once we shuffled three-wide, my horse put his head down and went forward."

Lisa Photo
Periculum (Scott Zeron) scored his second consecutive Arthur J. Cutler Memorial, rallying off cover for a 1:49.4 victory on Saturday night at The Meadowlands.

In mid-stretch, Zeron fed Periculum racetrack, and the defending Cutler champ vaulted off his stablemate's cover and unleashed a :26.1 sprint home to win going away by 2¼ lengths and miss his lifetime mark, taken in the 2025 John Cashman Memorial, by a fifth of a second. Aetos Kronos S finished second; French Wine saved third from a failing pocket.

Marcus Melander, who trains Periculum for Brixton Medical Inc. and Holly Lane Stud East Ltd., opted to give his star trotter a second qualifier in preparation for his seasonal debut, as opposed to a single prep as was the case in 2025.

"Last year, even though he won [the Cutler], he could have been a bit sharper," Melander said. "I figured we'd take two qualifiers this year. He was very good last week, and he's very good when he races week to week."

Now a 17-time winner with $2,191,346 in career earnings, Periculum paid $3.80 to win as the 4-5 favorite.

The Arthur J. Cutler Memorial is named for the New York City restaurateur who founded Carmine's Italian restaurant in Times Square, named in honor of Hall of Fame driver Carmine Abbatiello.

Following the race, Jeff Gural, chairman/chief executive officer of The Meadowlands, spoke of his friendship with Cutler and their trips to the racetrack.

"He would go to the restaurant, walk inside and take about $2,000 out of the cash register, and he'd be even for the night and I'd be broke," Gural quipped before recalling his experience owning horses together with Cutler.

"He would park in the garage near my office [in Manhattan], and we would meet and head to The Meadowlands. We owned a mare, Cyclone Beauty, and she had a filly, Cyclone Annie. A few days after [Cutler] died, Cyclone Annie was here in the final of the [1997] New Jersey Sire Stakes. One by one, the horses broke, and God carried Cyclone Annie over the finish line."

HARNESS RACING PRESS RELEASES, NOTES & ANNOUNCEMENTS

Brett Miller hits driving win number 11,000 at Scioto on Friday

Friday night (May 15) was fire at Eldorado Scioto Downs as driver Brett Miller eclipsed 11,000 lifetime wins.

Brett Miller bookended the second race, winning the first and third on his way to needing one more win to secure his 11,000th driving victory. Miller's win in the first race with Ryan Holton's Dan's Victory set him up with win 10,998. Then his win in the third race with Heather France's Seaside Party put him at 10,999. Win No. 11,000 came 29 minutes later with Kayne Kauffman's Vekna. All told, Miller had 14 drives Friday with four wins and finished second or third in four other races.

"I checked about a month ago and I was kind of keeping track there," said Miller. "The last, I'd say, four race nights that we've had, I knew I was kind of closing in on it and things weren't really going that good. So, starting off the night good really helped.

"Truthfully, it was very special [to win with Vekna], cause Kayne and I, we go way back. Kayne and Natalie, we've been friends since we were in our 20s. Before we went out, I thought I had a shot of getting it with this horse but I didn't say anything to Kayne cause I didn't want to jinx it. That was special getting it with his horse.

"When I started racing and I was racing at Raceway Park, I was 20 years old. I used to say to myself, if I could win a 1,000 races in my career that would be awesome. And then when I got to a part in my career where I was like, you know what I got a shot at winning 10,000, I was like that would be awesome if I could win 10,000 and retire around there. But now, hopefully I'll stay healthy and hopefully can win [15,000]."

A native of Columbus, 52-year-old Miller first started driving in 1987 but made his first purse start in 1991. His first win came in September 1992 behind Slickasaseel for his father, trainer Del S. Miller, in 2:03.2. Times sure have changed as Miller's wins averaged about 10 seconds faster this Friday evening. Miller has continually had over 1,000 driving starts each year since 1999 and to date has 68,277 starts and horses he has driven have earned over $128.8-million.

Running Aces set for season opener

The trotters and pacers will go to the gate for the 2026 season opener at Running Aces on Sunday night (May 17) at 6 p.m. (CDT). The kickoff program will mark the start of the 19th racing season at the Minnesota five-eighths-mile oval.

Nine competitive races await racing fans and the card will be headlined by the $15,000 open trot in race 6 where 5-year-old gelding Escaper has been installed as the 7-5 morning line choice. The talented son of Muscle Hill made eight trips to the Running Aces winner's circle last summer and also captured the 2025 Steve Wiseman Memorial trophy, en route to a $163,576 season.

Rick Magee, who posted a career best year in 2025 with just shy of $1 million in purse earnings, will pilot the top choice for trainer Harold Herrera and the Maria Alvarez Stable. Escaper shows one win and one third-place finish in his last three starts and appears in good recent form, in fact he crossed the wire first in his most recent outing at Yonkers on May 1 but was placed back due to interference.

Escaper has some formidable company to deal with in the opening night feature, including 3-1 second pick Chapolier (Chapter Seven) who will make his local debut for owner/trainer/driver Luke Plano. Chapolier has one win in four outings so far in 2026 but spent many weeks as one of the winningest horses in the sport in 2025 with 15 trips to victory lane. He appears in good recent form as well but comes in off of a scratched sick line on April 24. If he is back to his best, he demands respect.

2023 Minnesota Horse of the Year Iron Sharpens Iron (7-2) drew the pole position and will make his 6-year-old season debut with Scott Cisco in the bike for trainer Dan Roland. The sharp son of the late, great Banker Volo posted a very good campaign last year with five wins including a Night of Champions trophy. He is making his first start of the year and was an impressive winner in a May 12 qualifier.

The current richest Minnesota-sired trotter Bringoverthemoney is also in this wide-open field and has kicked off his 11-year-old campaign with two wins over the local county fair track. The gritty son of Money Talks is on the cusp of $500,000 in career earnings and has 51 wins to his credit. He is a definite contender in this group and is listed at 4-1 with Dean Magee as driver for trainer Katie Horvat.

BP's Lucky Star (Lemoyne Svendsen, 7-2) rounds out the feature race field and is no slouch himself, he is a current Aces track record holder and will begin his 6-year-old stand today. Last season he picked up four wins from 13 starts while banking a respectable $40,222 for trainer Rick Huffman. He was a solid second in his May 12 qualifier as well.

RUNNING ACES LIVE RACING DETAILS: The exotic wagering at Running Aces includes 50-cent Trifectas, $1 Exactas and 10-cent Superfectas each race while our Daily Double, Pick-3, and Pick-4 wagers offer a 50-cent base per combination.

In addition to being offered at hundreds of other racetracks, ADW's and simulcasting centers, you can catch the Running Aces action on YouTube as well. Our live races and qualifiers are streamed live on the channel "Running Aces Live Racing Coverage by Darin" or with the YouTube handle @runningacesliveracing. HD race replays are also posted on the channel.

Running Aces offers action on Tuesday, Thursday, and Sunday nights and the 2026 season runs through Sept. 19.

Johnathan Ahle records 1,000th driving victory at Philly

Johnathan Ahle drove the 1000th winner of his still-young career on Friday afternoon (May 15) at Harrah's Philadelphia, guiding the Stay Hungry filly Staying At Tony's to a 1:53 victory in one of two $12,000 features for developing pacing distaffs. The filly and Ahle wasted little time making the top, and the pair was not threatened in the victory, winning by 2¼ lengths for trainer Tony Alagna, whose Alagna Racing LLC co-owns the winner with Brad Grant.

Ahle, 29, was working in the restaurant business after graduating high school when learning that Shaun Vallee, based nearby, needed some extra help at his barn, as he was going on a Down Under mission. Ahle, who had not worked with racehorses before, took to his new environment immediately and worked under Vallee and Noel Daley, eventually bridging into amateur driving, where he showed talent quickly. In August of 2022, Ahle decided to become a full-time catch driver, and he has posted over 950 of his 1,000 winners since then. The fact the milestone win came behind an Alagna horse also is representative of the confidence that many top trainers have developed in him.

The best card of the year to date at Harrah's Philadelphia will take place today at 12:40, when millionaires Captain Optimistic and Maximus Miki will both make their 2026 debuts in a $20,000 open handicap pace. That "best card of the year" designation will last for exactly seven days, as on May 24 Philly will host its annual "Super Sunday," with three $100,000 invitationals for top free-for-all horses joining with Pennsylvania Sire Stakes action for the glamour boys of the 3-year-old pacing male division. Free Philly program pages are or will be available at www.phha.org.

So Much More inducted into Raceway's Wall of Fame and Forest City Pace renamed

A true Canadian harness racing icon was celebrated in fitting fashion on Friday evening (May 15) as So Much More was officially inducted into The Raceway at Western Fair District's prestigious Wall of Fame, cementing her legacy as one of the sport's most accomplished and beloved mares.

The ceremony brought together owners, connections, racing enthusiasts, and community members to honor a mare whose career success and enduring popularity have left an indelible mark on both the local racing scene and the national stage.

Owned by Don Beatson, along with his son Kenn and grandson Cole England, So Much More has become a remarkable success story. Originally a modest purchase out of Atlantic Canada, she quickly rose through the ranks after arriving in Ontario, capturing the hearts of fans and earning widespread recognition for her consistency, grit, and class. Over time, she became affectionately known across the country as "Canada's Queen."

On the racetrack, So Much More delivered a career worthy of the highest honors including 79 career wins – many in the preferred ranks at Woodbine Mohawk Park – $1.86 million in earnings and a race record of 1:49.1. Among her many achievements, she etched her name into local history by winning the Forest City Pace – London's signature race for pacing mares – on two occasions, showcasing her dominance on the half-mile oval at The Raceway. Her excellence extended well beyond regional success, as she was twice recognized with the O'Brien Award as Canada's Older Pacing Mare of the Year, underscoring her standing among the nation's elite standardbreds.

FOREST CITY PACE RENAMED FOR SO MUCH MORE: Friday's celebration was highlighted by the unveiling of So Much More's official Wall of Fame photograph, a permanent tribute to her remarkable accomplishments and connection to The Raceway. The evening also featured a major announcement that further cements her legacy in London racing history.

Beginning in 2027, the Forest City Pace will be renamed 'The So Much More' in her honor. A new race logo, unveiled during the ceremony, reflects her impact on the event and ensures that her name will be synonymous with one of the track's marquee races for generations to come.

"This is a truly special moment for everyone involved and she will now join the late, great Camluck with a signature event at The Raceway named in her honor," said The Raceway's director of equine programming, Greg Blanchard. "So Much More represents everything that is great about harness racing – heart, determination, and a deep connection with fans. Renaming the Forest City Pace in her honor ensures that her legacy will continue well into the future."

For the Beatson family and England, the recognition is a deeply meaningful milestone in a journey that began with humble expectations and grew into one of the most celebrated careers in Canadian racing.

So Much More's induction not only celebrates her extraordinary achievements on the track but also her role as an ambassador for the sport – one whose story continues to resonate across the industry and beyond.

Live racing resumes with a 13-race program this Monday evening (May 18). The season will wrap up on Camluck Classic night, Friday (May 29).

Always A Virgin dies at 22

Always A Virgin p, 3, 1:48.4 ($1,135,559), the all-time leading money-winning sire in Indiana with progeny earnings of more than $82 million, has passed away at the age of 22. After an incredible racing career, Always A Virgin went on to an equally remarkable 14-year stud career at Victory Hill Farm in Indiana, which includes four seasons at Pepper Tree Farm in Australia. In 2022, "Virgin" retired from stud duty and enjoyed the remainder of his life as a cherished member of the retirees at Bluestone Farm in New Jersey.

Always A Virgin's son Always B Miki p, 1:46 ($2,715,368) blazed to a 1:46 world record performance in 2016 at The Red Mile. That record stood until 2022 and is still the second-fastest of all time. Always B Miki is currently the leading active pacing sire of Breeders Crown wins with 10. Always A Virgin and Always B Miki were both bred by Joe Hurley's Roll The Dice Stable.

Always A Virgin sired three Breeders Crown winners – Always B Miki, Colors A Virgin p, 4, 1:49.2s ($1,070,533) and Beckhams Z Tam p, 4, 1:49s ($885,056), in addition to numerous Indiana Sires Stakes champions.

Following a successful racing career in which he narrowly missed sweeping pacing's Triple Crown for owners Bluewood Stable, Val D'Or Farms, and breeder Joe Hurley's Roll The Dice Stable, Always A Virgin was retired to Victory Hill Farm in Indiana, which is owned and operated by the husband-and-wife team of Dr. Jeff King and Dr. Maria King. As a son of Western Ideal out of the Big Towner mare Neverhadneverwill, he brought the important Western Hanover blood to Indiana offering Indiana breeders one of the most successful male sire lines in standardbred breeding.

Always A Virgin's ownership stayed the same throughout his racing and stallion career. Mitchel Skolnick of Bluewood Stable and Bluestone Farms recalls how that partnership came to be after he witnessed the early talent of Always A Virgin himself.

“It was 2007 and I had several horses training with Joe Holloway,” Skolnick said. “Virgin had arrived at Joe’s barn that same year to begin training for his 3-year-old season. Joe had not trained him at 2. I was often at Showplace to watch my horses - sometimes two, three times a week. Joe and I would talk about all the horses he had in training, often mentioning Virgin. I believe his exact words were ‘He might be alright.’ So, aside from my own horses, I would watch Virgin as well.

“Sometime before his first qualifier, I called Bob Boni about the horse and told him he was a very nice colt; we should consider buying a piece. Bob demurred. Maybe a week later, I asked Bob to come watch the colt train. Again, Bob demurred. Just about a week before Virgin would qualify, I insisted he [Boni] come to Showplace Farms to watch him train. He finally relented. Joe took Virgin out for his final training mile that day. He may have gone in 2:02, but halfway through the mile Bob says to me ‘Make the deal.’

“We purchased half of Virgin from Joe Hurley, and as often is said the rest is history.

“Always A Virgin was a truly great champion for his ownership group, both on the track for trainer Joe Holloway, and as a sire at Victory Hill Farm. We are so grateful to have been a part of his incredible life and career.”

Trainer Joe Holloway remembers Always A Virgin as “a special horse! He was a very good and underrated racehorse, he almost pulled off the Triple Crown and all three legs would’ve been on a half mile – something we have not seen in quite some time. He was also an accomplished sire and a beautiful animal. He will be missed.”

Rusty’s For Real dies at 22

Fox Den Farm and the Maryland racing community mourns the passing of the remarkable Standardbred stallion Rusty’s For Real, who passed away Thursday (May 14) following a sudden cardiac event. His loss leaves an undeniable void not only in the Maryland breeding industry, but in the hearts of the many horsemen, families, and fans who were fortunate enough to know and race his offspring.

Standing proudly at Fox Den Farm in Maryland for his stallion career with exception to his test breeding in 2011, Rusty’s For Real became one of the cornerstone sires of the Maryland Sire Stakes program and a name deeply respected throughout Mid-Atlantic harness racing.

Born at Winbak Farm in Maryland, the son of Real Artist out of the accomplished mare Cams Exotic carved out an impressive racing career of his own, earning $429,747 while taking a lifetime mark of p,3,1:50f. Among his greatest accomplishments was winning an elimination of the prestigious Max C. Hempt Memorial at age 3 for trainer Robert (Bobby) Myers.

While his racing accomplishments were significant, his greatest impact came as a stallion. Rusty’s For Real developed a reputation for siring tough, gritty, and durable racehorses that excelled throughout Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, and beyond. From just 100 starters, his offspring earned more than $6.3 million collectively, a testament to both the consistency and quality of his bloodline.

Among his most accomplished progeny were:

- Totally Rusty – p,4,1:49.3m – lifetime earnings of $392,509; a multiple Delaware Standardbred Breeders Fund champion and was his fastest and most decorated offspring.
- Stunners Wish – p,4,1:51.1f – lifetime earnings surpassing $369,000; a consistent Maryland Sire Stakes standout and durable aged competitor.
- Hillbilly Kisses – p,6,1:51.3f – lifetime earnings exceeding $318,000; a multiple Maryland and Virginia stakes winner who became a fan favorite.
- Fancy Like That – p,4,1:53.2f – lifetime earnings over $253,000 and a dominant Maryland Sire Stakes filly of her generation.
- Brooksforreal – p,4,1:50.3f – lifetime earnings amassing $240,000 already, highlighted by winning eleven consecutive races in the Maryland Sire Stakes program and continuing the Rusty legacy for a new generation.
- Val’s Girl – p,2,1:53.1f – lifetime earnings of $208,620; undefeated through much of her freshman season and one of the premier Maryland Sire Stakes fillies in recent memory.

Additional standouts including Berzerker, Don’t Say Maybe, Owzitgoin, Kelseys For Real, Officer Wholihan, Playin For Real, Rusty’s Houdini, Sea Ya Mystery, Tough Old Hickory, Tony Babe, Trump That Rusty and many others proudly carried his name and spirit onto racetracks across the region.

More than the records, purses, and championships, Rusty’s For Real will be remembered for what he represented to Maryland harness racing – toughness, consistency, heart, and homegrown excellence. His offspring gave countless owners, trainers, drivers, and families unforgettable nights in the winner’s circle and helped elevate the Maryland Sire Stakes program for years to come.

Though the shedrow at Fox Den Farm will now feel a little quieter, the legacy of Rusty’s For Real will continue each time one of his sons or daughter’s steps onto the track carrying a piece of him forward.

He was truly “for real” in every sense of the phrase.

Rest easy, Rusty.

Bravo! 'Angel' stays perfect in Big M feature

Bravo Angel S made the lead down the backside before holding sway to the wire to stay perfect in four seasonal starts after taking the Friday night (May 15) feature at The Meadowlands, a $27,500 high-end conditioned event for trotters.

The 6-year-old daughter of Readly Express—Cilla Sisu left alertly from post 7 in the eight-horse field to grab the 3-hole as Miracle Maven led at the quarter in :27.3.

Defending Dan Patch Driver of the Year Jason Bartlett moved the Per Engblom trainee off the rail soon after the quarter and blew past the leader before taking the field past the half in :55.4.

"With the reasonable quarter, I had to move her," Bartlett said. "She's very quick. Once she makes the front, she really relaxes."

Bartlett and "Angel" were on the point at three-quarters after a rated third fraction, stopping the tele-timer in 1:24.2.

"I knew if I could back the third quarter down, I didn't really think the horses behind me were going to move too early because they were coming off qualifiers," Bartlett said. "I know [my horse] can sprint once she turns for home."

A final quarter of :27.2 finished the job, but not without some anxious moments, as the pocket-sitting Miracle Maven came calling with a rush in the final sixteenth.

"I was a little worried about Yannick's horse," Bartlett said. "She did qualify very well and made [almost] $400,000 last year. She's a nice mare. But we got everything our own way and she did finish it off.

"My horse has come back this year really, really well. She's always been racing — even last year — against the best trotting mares. She's always right there with them when she draws inside. She's started off the year great four-for-four and we're very happy for the upcoming stakes races."

After upping her lifetime stats to 14 wins from 54 tries, Bravo Angel S now has $335,276 in lifetime earnings for owners Consensus Racing Stable Inc. She completed the mile in 1:51.4, hitting the wire a neck in front of Miracle Maven with Mr Mouton third. As the 4-5 favorite, Bravo Angel S returned $3.80 to her backers.

A LITTLE MORE: Joe Bongiorno led the driver colony with three winners, and tied with Andrew Harris atop the trainer leaderboard with two walks down victory lane... All-source wagering totaled $2,549,673 on the 14-race card.
