What a Show!

Pepsi North America Cup Night at Woodbine Mohawk Park provided a plethora of highlights, led by It's My Show's victory in the 40th edition of Canada's richest 3-year-old pacing event.

by Dave Briggs

If we learned anything from the 40th edition of the Pepsi North America Cup it is to never underestimate the following: A Hall of Fame trainer with a rock-solid belief in her horse; a driver with golden hands, particularly when the pile of gold is highest; pedigree, pedigree, pedigree and the sometimes magical powers of the big snip.

Thanks to a crafty steer from Scott Zeron on Saturday (June 17) at Woodbine Mohawk Park, Richard and Joanne Young's homebred It's My Show — out of their $2.4-million winning mare Put On A Show — held off a prodigious late charge from Confederate to win the $1 million race for 3-year-old pacers by a head in a career-best 1:47.4.

Harness Racing Update

The victory left It's My Show, a gelded son of Sweet Lou, perfect in six starts in 2023 a year after the then fully-intact colt was winless in eight.

For winning trainer Linda Toscano, her first NA Cup victory came from never giving up on extracting the talent she knew It's My Show possessed in spades, even if that extraction meant taking the pacer's testicles.

"He's an amazing horse," Toscano told the Woodbine broadcasting crew. "He disappointed me so much last year and at the end of the year I said, 'Let's castrate him. I can't be this wrong about this horse.' And he's come back, and he's been nothing less than perfect. When you can win these kinds of races, this is what you do it for."

Toscano is the sixth woman in the last nine years to train a Pepsi North America Cup winner to go along with Joann Looney-King in 2015 (Wakizashi Hanover), Casie Coleman in 2016 (Linedrive Hanover), Nancy Takter in both 2019 and 2020 (Captain Crunch and Tall Dark Stranger, respectively) and Kathy Cecchin in 2021 (Desperate Man).

For Richard, who like Zeron is a native Canadian, it was one of his greatest triumphs in his home and native land. It also ended a four-year major stakes drought. The long-time Floridian's last taste of the harness racing high life came in 2019 when It's My Show's half-brother Best In Show (sired by Bettors Delight and also trained by Toscano) won the Meadowlands Pace after finishing sixth in the NA Cup.

"It means a lot," Richard said. "I've been in the business for 30 some-odd years. His brother won the Meadowlands Pace four years ago and he was in the North America Cup and finished sixth. I haven't had a horse between them, so coming back and winning this one is almost like back-to-back. So, it feels really cool."

It was the second Pepsi North America Cup triumph for driver Scott Zeron, who also won in 2019 with Captain Crunch.

For Zeron, it was his second Pepsi North America Cup triumph to go with the one he earned in 2019 with Captain Crunch.

"This is my favorite race," Zeron said. "It always has been."

It's My Show, one of four NA Cup eliminations winners in one of the deepest finals in recent memory, started from post 2. Off the gate, it was Save America, with Yannick Gingras in the bike, who crossed over from post 9 to take an early lead as Zeron settled It's My Show into second spot, followed by Cup elimination winners Christchurch and Fulton.

After marching the field through a brisk opening panel in :25.4, Save America was overtaken by It's My Show who reached the half in :54.

"Well, the thing is my horse can leave faster than anything I've ever driven, and then at the same time I can calm him down if I ask him to," Zeron said. "I was confident that I could start him up as hard as I did and was able to seat a bunch of horses. I knew Yannick would be leaving from a better angle from out there and honestly, to get away second was best case scenario for me. So, to be able to remove and control from there was great for me."

It's My Show's happy connections include breeders and owners Richard and Joanne Young. Richard (blue coat, to the left of Joanne) is being presented the NA Cup by Woodbine CEO Jim Lawson.

Ahead by a 1 ¼ lengths through three-quarters in 1:20.4, It's My Show looked to power away from the pack as a host of hopefuls soon set their sights on the pacesetter. Zeron called upon the gelding for his best as Fulton attempted to reel in the leader while fellow elimination winner and slight choice on the tote board Confederate began to make headway to the far outside.

It's My Show was able to repel the fast-closing Confederate and Tim Tetrick. Fulton held third. Voukefalas was fourth.

"Fulton was giving me a hell of a run in the last turn, and I figured Timmy [Tetrick] had to be right behind him with how great Confederate is. I knew it was going to come right down to the finish," Zeron said.

It was far from the only stirring victory on a beautiful early-summer evening at the beloved Campbellville plant that too is celebrating a milestone anniversary -60 years to the NA Cup's 40.

In the Goodtimes Trot, there was a decided passing of the torch. A little more than six months after the race's namesake died at age 31, John Bax, the trainer of the legendary WEG-circuit warhorse and Canadian Hall of Famer, handed the trophy to his son, trainer Matt Bax. The younger Bax trains Southwind Coors, who, with Zeron at the reins, edged a just-as-game Gaines Hanover by a nostril hair in 1:52.

Immediately afterward, Grace Hill's owner Tom Hill went pro wrestler, grabbing the winner's circle microphone from Woodbine's John Rallis and chastising the weekly Hambletonian Society poll voters for not including his mare among the 10 best in the Week 1 tally. Hill, who is from England, went so far as to accuse the harness racing press as being Anglophobes.

If nothing else, it was great spectacle from a passionate harness racing devotee with a lot of skin in the game. It also provided a nice distraction from the heart-stopping spill in the race prior. Fortunately, at press time, it appears all horses and people involved escaped serious injury. But given the challenges the thoroughbred industry has faced of late with horse deaths — a virtual epidemic in that breed that some are rightly worried could unfairly spread to standardbreds, too — seeing horses go down at the top of the stretch on one of our biggest nights was downright heart-stopping.

Yet, despite a gut-wrenching visual, kudos to Woodbine for not reshowing the race and for addressing the accident both via audibly-shaken race caller Ken Middleton, Jr. and the simulcast team of Elissa Blowe and Randy Waples.

Fortunately, the accident was about the only blemish on an evening in which McNair and Grace Hill's trainer Virgil Morgan, Jr. also teamed up to win the $210,000 Armbro Flight for older trotting mares with Refined powering to a late victory over reigning Trotter of the Year Bella Bellini in 1:52.

Meanwhile, Sylvia Hanover was as dominant in the $420,000 Fan Hanover as Grace Hill was in the Roses Are Red. The former was driven to a 1:48.2 victory by Bob McClure for trainer Shawn Steacy. Sylvia Hanover did it with ease, but it appears as if she has much more to give in the weeks ahead.

All of which makes a great night — in which over $5.2 million was bet — even greater.

Stakes season is just getting started for all of these talented standardbreds. If North America Cup Night is anything to go on, this year promises to be a doozy.

by Trey Nosrac

Poor Lottie, I can imagine what she tells her husband, Richard, the oracle of Olive Grove Lane, before the annual summer block party, "Now don't drink too much, do a little listening, talk to the neighbors, and don't pontificate, it's embarrassing."

Lottie's etiquette rules last until her husband crosses his tidy tree lined lawn. This year, Richard is fashionably clad in a blue bowling shirt straining against his prodigious belly and lime green shorts that cover his pasty knees. Most of the residents of Olive Grove find Richard obnoxious but strangely loveable. He will always pull on his latest baseball cap over his bald head and pitch in to help folks unclog a toilet, shovel a sidewalk or fix a missing roof tile. He genuinely seems to enjoy being the go-to neighborhood guy.

Richard does know a lot, but he also lets you know that he knows a lot. He built a successful scrap yard business, but his son Richie runs the day-to-day operations. We are a neighborly street, except for the political feud Richard wages with Mike Bennet and Reilly Gainsboro, an endless battle that worsens yearly. Like mating cobras, the parties give each other a wide berth. During election seasons, they have an unfriendly competition to see who can place the most political yard signs per cubic square foot of lawn.

Richard was in typical form as he greeted me with a shoulder punch, "Well, neighbor, the Kentucky Derby horses were dropping dead like a Civil War cavalry charge. If this doesn't send you to the exit door, you're an idiot."

"I don't believe any horses died during the Kentucky Derby race this year."

This technicality did not register. Richard made a face like he just bit into a piece of rotten fruit and said: "You told me at the picnic last year that a mob of horse trainers were on their way to the big house. Unless you are completely naïve, you gotta know you're racing against drugged horses."

Looking for cover, I said: "Those aren't our type of horse races or our breed of horses. We have the carts."

He rolled his eyes: "C'mon, pal."

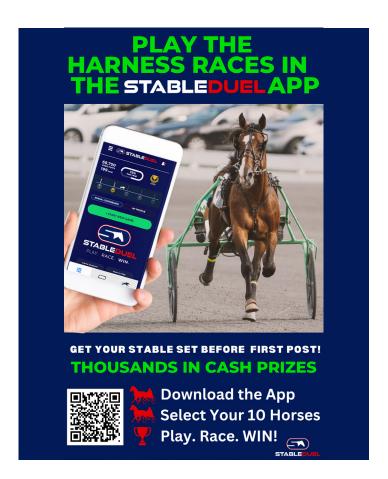

I replied softly, hoping he would take the hint: "It's complicated. People in horse racing, heck, people in any sport, hate cheating. They hate the drugging and inside information. Still, people are people. You will always find honest people, cheaters, and corner-cutters. Some folks feel they need to keep pace. There are a hundred reasons and a hundred levels of cheating. Policing and prosecuting the participants isn't a job I would want"

Richard waved me off with his non-beer hand: "Drugs are going to kill horse racing."

I sighed and shrugged: "Drugs have been a problem for 150 years. They may be more sophisticated, but looking for an edge in any competition is an eternal problem."

"So, you just turn a blind eye and race on, wondering if you are getting the shaft? That would never happen to me."

I nodded toward the hot dog table. We each grabbed a paper plate, a couple of dogs, and a little bag of potato chips then found a pair of empty side-by-side white Adirondack chairs on

Lily Pennell's driveway. The wide arms on our chairs gave us a place to rest our beers and paper plates. While loading up on food and beverages, I thought about Richard's harsh and simplistic take on cheating in sports, so I reopened the topic.

"Richard, I'm more hopeful than ever about level playing fields in sports."

"What? These days they got more chemists than ever."

"Maybe, but not for long. I think doping racehorses is, and always has been, a human problem. People are always involved, making drugs, using drugs, selling drugs, testing for drugs, analyzing blood samples, surveillance, prosecution, adjudication, etc. People, fallible people, all along the line."

Richard is smart. He figured out my thesis with just a few scant clues. He pointed his chubby index finger at me and pulled the trigger: "Artificial Intelligence? Farm out the testing and enforcement to the machines?"

"Exactly. I've been thinking about this for a few days. I watched a segment on the PBS NewsHour. They interviewed a top doctor who was almost giddy with the prospects of AI in medicine. The doctor said: 'If I have a large tumor on my neck, I will see a specialist at my hospital, a topnotch hospital, and the doctor will run some tests. The specialist will probably consult with a few professionals and recommend a course of treatment."

For once, Richard listened. I continued my report: "The doctor said his specialist had seen my type of tumor maybe a dozen or a hundred times. He reads reports, labs and studies. Then he renders a considered opinion and treatment. Bard or Chat box medicine will look at my tumor and labs and will have access to every detail of this problem. The machine will know the optimum treatment, and the machine will get smarter and more efficient every single time. And Al works relentlessly without pay, hopefully driving insane medical bills down."

"And you think this will take the drugs out of horse racing?"

"I do. And I believe Bard will take over testing, and AI will design the best methods to implement an anti-doping program. At the core, we pose a problem: 'Bard, keep horse racing safe for the animals and fair for the competitors."

Richard finished my spiel for me: "And AI is on the case, communicating and working with all available data, on all levels, showing how, where, and why to regulate, and then enforcing regulations that mere mortals cannot challenge. The machines at the racetrack will communicate with the labs in real time and scratch any horse with a chemical profile that does not fit the Bioscan."

The dream we should hold is that soon horses will race free and clean, and those who operate in the shadows will not stand a chance against artificial intelligence and the algorithms.

I nodded: "AI will make a testing program that humans cannot conceive; a program free from human biases. The racing industry can save a ton of money, the public confidence in horse racing will rise, and nobody will need to look the other way. Blood analysis could be in real-time and full body scans for potentially lame horses. Today, this is very expensive and time-consuming, but tomorrow the primary employee will be an ever-improving, ever-working, cost-effective AI program."

Richard asked: "So you are going to keep playing? Waiting for the rise of the machines."

Luc Ouellette had one 'Hall' of a career

by Murray Brown

I recently asked Luc Ouellette how it was possible that a driver with his credentials was neither in the Hall of Fame at Goshen, nor in the Canadian Horse Racing Hall of Fame.

Consider the facts:

Ouellette has driven the winners of 8,589 races and the winners of $130,044,157: That is over 130 million dollars.

In 1995 and 1996, he was Harness Tracks of America's Driver of the Year.

THE NEXT GENERATION on July 1st at Scioto Downs.

Selling Wednesday, June 21st at 3pm.

In 2004, he was the Canadian Driver of the Year.

In 1999, he led all drivers in earnings with $10,834,745.

In each season of the 10-year span between 1997 and 2006, horses driven by him won between 228 and 336 races per season and earned between $5,477,177 and $10,834,745.

He has a lifetime UTRS of .288.

On July 22, 1995, he won nine races on a single race card at Yonkers Raceway, a record that still stands today.

Why do you think you haven't been chosen for the Halls?

"If I were guessing, I'd say that perhaps the main reason is that I've probably been forgotten by most of the people who are doing the nominating and installing. I left the arena at an age before most in this game do. I suppose that I hung around not at my best for a few years, but for not as long as some others do. When I stopped driving, I was still relatively young as drivers go. I had been hurt in accidents a few times. I stopped getting many of the good drives that had become regular for me. In this game, as I suppose it is in most competitive sports a, 'What have you done for me lately mentality persists.'

Dave Landry

Ouellette said he left the day-to-day grind of racing to spend more time with family.

Harness Racing Update

"I wasn't winning as much as I previously had been. When you are winning a lot, the tendency is that you get more drives. When you are not, the number and quality of your drives tend to diminish. That's what happened with me. You could say that I had lost some of the fire and the driven ego that enabled me to stay at or near the top. You would likely be right. In order to do well as a driver, you need to be focused, almost to the exclusion of everything else. You could also say that I might have been burnt out. That would probably also be correct, at least to a degree. Probably the main reason was that my priorities in life had changed somewhat. I suppose I had enough of life in the fast lane. I was ready to settle down and enjoy life with my family. That is exactly what I've been able to do and have done since."

What is life like for you these days?

"My wife Anita and I have a 45-acre farm very close to Mohawk Raceway in Campbellville. We have two children, Luc, now 19 and a college student in Carleton University in Ottawa. He is studying to become a civil engineer. Our daughter, Isabella, is 17 and is living at home. We now breed, raise and race a few homebreds for our own account. I don't think the folks at Hanover are worrying about the competition, but I think that we've done fairly well for the numbers that we've had. On the farm we have two mares and their babies, two retired mares and a riding horse that Anita and Isabella use. We also have a couple of 2-year-olds in training that we will probably be racing sometime later this season. We don't believe in rushing the babies, preferring that they tell us when they are ready to race. If they aren't ready to race at 2, we can wait until they are ready. I think that we've been fairly successful in what we do. From our modest group of mares, we've probably raised about 25 horses who have earned somewhere around $3 million."

Do you miss driving?

"I would say no. I know that I could not do as well as the young men we now have driving for us do. I did well in my time, but my time is over."

Who were the greatest drivers in your era? What made them great?

"I'm not about to rate them, but in no particular order I'd have to mention: Carmine Abbatiello, John Campbell, Walter Case, Herve Filion, Mike Lachance, David Miller, Bill O'Donnell and Ron Pierce.

There are others who I am not purposely leaving off the list.

"The first prerequisite to becoming great is natural talent. That is something that you either have or you don't. Chances are if you don't have it, you never will. From that point forward, you need to build on it. You can build in many ways. One of those ways is to learn by watching and learning from your competition. Another large factor is mental acuity. You have to believe in yourself. You need to have self-confidence and assuredness. You also need to be smart: not necessarily book smart, but smart on the racetrack. Another factor is the ability to forget or as Herve so aptly stated it, the ability to turn the page. All drivers, even the best of them make mistakes. More often than not, the best ones will learn from their errors and rarely repeat them."

How about the greatest horsemen you have known?

"There are two that really stand out: Jean Pierre Dubois and Jimmy Takter. DuBois is quite possibly the greatest all-round horseman that ever lived; not only in harness racing, but in all equine pursuits. He has reached the summit in harness racing, thoroughbred racing and even with jumpers. He is not only a great hands-on horseman, but he also has been able to excel in breeding, equine business, horticulture and just about everything related to raising and racing horses. Jimmy Takter has earned his achievements almost entirely in our sport. I have no doubt that if he tried anything else horse related, he would excel there as well."

When breeding horses, what do you look for?

"With mares, they must have redeeming qualities. We operate on a fairly restricted budget. It's quite difficult to get and be able to afford all that you would like to have in a broodmare. The mares that have it all are usually beyond our budget. Given my wishes I'd like to have a combination of a great pedigree, beautiful looks and ability on the racetrack. At a minimum I'd like to have two of driving]. I know that I could not do as well as the young men we now have driving for us do. I did well in my time, but my time is over.

the three, but sometimes even that is unattainable. At the least I'd like to have at least one of those qualities, but have it in spades.

"When looking at stallions I want proven production combined with affordability. There are some stallions who have it all, but they are often priced out of what we can afford. #### Ed Dobrowolski takes being a hands-on owner to a whole new level

by James Platz

When Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing & Casino unveiled the First Turn Stable in 2016, Ed Dobrowolski signed on for the experience of owning a piece of a standardbred racing at the Anderson ,IN track. Seven years later, he continues to pursue ownership and a deeper involvement in the sport. Earlier this month, Tell Me You Loveme, a sophomore filly he bred and co-owns with trainer Zach Miller, collected her first career win, a 1:54.1 triumph. Victories like this, and the effort required to reach the winner's circle, are fulfilling a desire developed growing up in his home state of Michigan.

Unlike some of his counterparts, Dobrowolski joined First Turn Stable that inaugural season as an individual with prior racing experience. In the Great Lakes State, his parents owned claimers and raced at several venues. He even spent time around the barn helping out when time allowed.

"We had horses back in the '90s in Michigan," Dobrowolski said. "We were racing at Hazel Park, Sports Creek, Northville and Jackson. Todd Warren was our main trainer back then. Mostly my dad was the owner. I was in high school then. I was just doing my best to help out and learn, working with Todd on the weekends. We kind of lost connection with things maybe around 1999, right before I was ready to graduate. It was getting to be too much, so we quit with the horses for a bit."

As a student at Ball State University, Dobrowolski made his way to Hoosier Park from time to time. Then, the track was a dual-breed facility, hosting harness racing in the spring and summer, and thoroughbreds in the fall. He would graduate and pursue a career that sent him away from Indiana for a time, but when he returned, he aimed to become more involved.

"That itch never left," he said. "To work with the horses and get something done in the winner's circle really never left. My dad was the same way. I went to the USTA driving school in Delaware the summer before First Turn began. I took the initiative and wanted to be more involved."

At the driving school he was placed in the barn of Brian Brown. The desire to get back into the business had never left, and his experience in the driving school stoked that fire.

"That did get those embers going again, for sure," Dobrowolski said. "I was able to talk with Brian and his assistant trainers, and work with the horses he had there. It was a lot of fun."

With the experience of the driving school under his belt, the aspiring owner eagerly paid the $250 fee to secure one of 50 ownership slots in the First Turn Stable at Hoosier Park in the spring of 2016. The concept gave fans the opportunity to become first-time owners. Jeff Cullipher trained for the First Turn Stable, sending four different horses to the winner's circle for a total of five wins that season.

"That was awesome to reconnect and get more involved," Dobrowolski said. "That was hands on a little bit with Jeff Cullipher. I wasn't able to get to the backside, but I did go visit him in the offseason at Pace Setter a couple times, so I made that personal connection as well. I still chat with him in the paddock. He's always asking how things are going. We still communicate with each other."

In the midst of the First Turn experience, Dobrowolski and his family connected with owner and trainer Alvin Miller and his son, Zach. His mother met the elder Miller when traveling to a painting competition in Converse that summer, noting how she and her husband missed racing. Dobrowolski would later meet Alvin at the Hoosier Classic Sale.

"At the end of the year, First Turn Stable had a meet and greet with certain trainers that were interested, and I met Zach in person," said Dobrowolski, a hydrologist with the U.S. Geological Survey. "I told him I met his dad at the sale and I wanted to come up and visit and talk about things. I made that effort to go up there and visit, and I wasn't up there every weekend, but at least a couple times a month. He got me jogging horses again, and I was like, 'I remember how to do this."

Dobrowolski rejoined First Turn Stable during the 2017 season, but in the meantime, he had partnered with Miller on pacer Youda Shark. The experience wouldn't last long, as Youda Shark was claimed the next week. But the experience of owning a horse outside the First Turn Stable and visiting the Converse Fairgrounds and helping around the barn tapped into Dobrowolski's growing interest.

"I wanted to be more involved, in person, and learn," he said. "When we lost that connection with Todd, I really felt that void I guess. For some folks, sitting in the grandstand and saying, 'That's my horse out there,' that's enough. But I wanted more. I wanted to get more involved and learn, and I'm still learning today."

In May of that year, Dobrowolski, his father, and Miller and his wife, Dessa, purchased Shadyshark Hanover mare SS Lover. She made seven starts for the partnership, registering three runner-up finishes. Then, an injury abruptly brought the 4-year-old mare's racing career to an end.

"There's a lot of ups and downs in this business," Dobrowolski said. "We thought we had a great horse with SS Lover. All of a sudden, I get that text from Zach saying she tore a tendon. Anything can happen. We tried to bring her back, but she ended up tearing the tendon again. Zach and I had that discussion about what to do next. We decided to try her as a broodmare. We had never done that before. This is our first go at the breeding game."

Tell Me You Loveme is the first foal from SS Lover. The Tellitlikeitis filly made two starts last season at Hoosier Park, pacing fourth each time. This year she has lined up behind the starting gate nine times, tallying four runner-up efforts before her victory June 3. She has banked $18,605 in seasonal earnings. Her full-brother, freshman Lovers Trouble, has notched a pair of second-place performances on the Indiana Sired Fair Circuit. Racing over the home oval at Converse, he recorded a beaten time of 1:59.3. Also in the pipeline is a Night Pro yearling filly and a Tellitlikeitis filly that arrived in May.

"Zach and Dessa said that we take a lot more pride in the ones we raise from babies," Dobrowolski said. "We put all that effort in them and they make things more special. It is different. It's just so much work. People just reading the program have no idea what it takes to raise these horses and get them to go. [The win] did mean a lot to me, for sure."

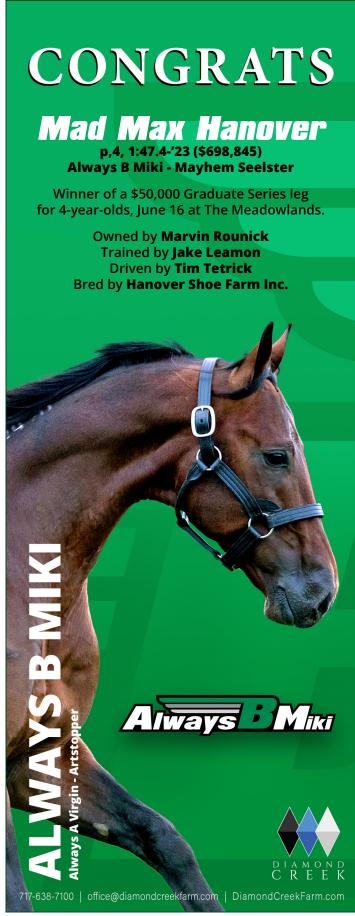

The 41-year-old is a hands-on owner. If his horse is racing at Hoosier Park, you can find him in the paddock offering a helping hand. It's all part of the learning experience.

"We don't just race here. I'm going with Zach to Hawthorne and we don't get back here until three in the morning. But I'll go. He buys me a sandwich. I'm pretty cheap labor," he said with a laugh. "I want to learn as much as I can, and eventually help Zach and Dessa more. As my skillset grows, eventually I want to be out there helping him train horses. It's going to take time. With my career, I can't be out there every day."

Dobrowolski used Hoosier Park's First Turn Stable as a means to reignite his involvement in harness racing. Where the journey of horse ownership will take him is unclear, but he is enjoying the priceless moments and friendships forged along the way.

"Just being in with the Millers has meant quite a bit for us," Dobrowolski said. "We've grown to be great friends. Our experience has been very successful because of the amount of effort and care Zach and Dessa put into their stable and the horses. I really respect them and I'm grateful for their friendship and mentorship as well."

Ray Williams hopes for clear sailing as Magnificent Storm descends on Queensland

by Adam Hamilton

Life has gone the full circle for Ray Williams since the veteran Western Australian trainer last took a horse across Australia to race in Queensland.

It is more than half a century — 51 years to be precise — since Williams packed his bags and left WA to campaign a horse at the 1972 Inter Dominion series in Brisbane for his father, Les.

The horse deserves this chance. I think he's a bit special and he's earned the chance to see how he stacks up against the very best [in Australia]. It's a bit daunting on one hand, especially at my age, but it's also very exciting. I think I'll be a lot more relaxed and happier once we're over there and settled in.

When the 77-year-old Ray returns to Queensland with his stable star Magnificent Storm next month, his son, decorated harness and thoroughbred trainer Grant Williams, will be helping him out.

"Gee, that's a long time ago when I took Bay Brigade across for dad," Ray said. "It was a terrific holiday and the people were great, but we didn't have any success.

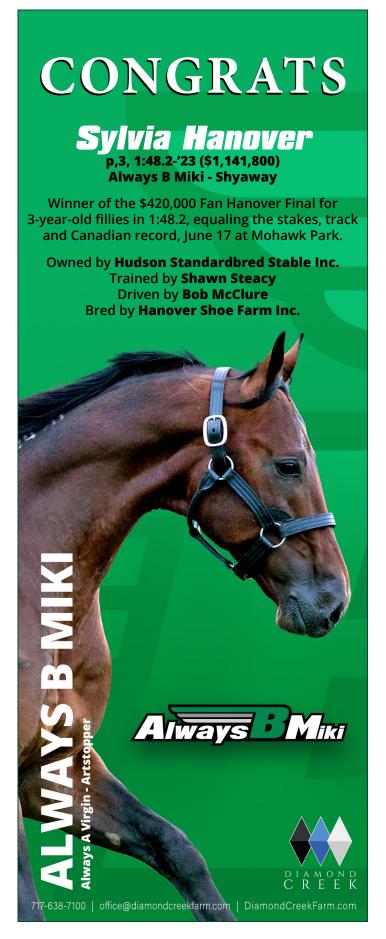

"It will be a very different Albion Park we'll race at this time. Back then they still raced clockwise and it was the old track. Bay Brigade didn't handle the opposite direction of racing and didn't show his best. I hope things go better with Magnificent Storm."

Ray's wife, Dottie, was pregnant with Grant during that 1977 trip. That adds to the lovely symmetry of their upcoming trip for a trio of Albion Park feature races with Magnificent Storm, starting with the $50,000 Mr Feelgood on July 8, and going onto the $200,000 Sunshine Sprint (July 15) and the $400,000 Blacks A Fake (July 22).

Grant is one of WA's top thoroughbred trainers after changing codes about 20 years ago following a successful stint in harness racing as a trainer and driver.

He was the long-time main trainer for leviathan WA owner/breeder Bob Peters and won a string of major races with superstar gallopers like Arcadia Queen and Regal Power, including some Group 1 features in Victoria.

A nudge, or several nudges in fact, from Grant are major reasons his father has somewhat reluctantly agreed to travel with Magnificent Storm.

"He's been at me to take the horse away," Ray said. "He and quite a few others, including Robbie [Tomlinson, Magnificent Storm's managing owner].

"Grant's campaigned lots of horses, pacers and thoroughbreds, away from home and I'm lucky to have him for advice and help."

Grant's nudges came with a promise. If Ray ever took Magnificent Storm away, he would help.

"I think it's great he's going," Grant said. "I'm happy to help. He doesn't need my help, but if it means he can relax and enjoy it more, I'll take the horse across and dad and mum can meet me there. I wanted him to go to the Inter Dominion in Melbourne last year. This is a once in a lifetime horse for dad and it's come along right in the twilight of his career.

"I can understand his reluctance to travel, but this horse deserves it. He's good enough and dad deserves to have the great experience that will go with it all. I'm not saying Magnificent Storm will just turn up and beat the best he'll meet in Queensland, but I'm sure he'll be very competitive if he takes his best form across."

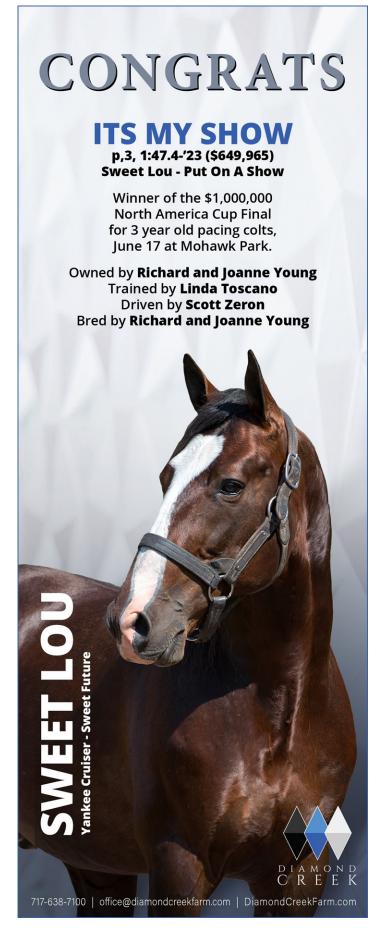

Grant will stay for the first week of the trip, taking in the first target race, the Mr Feelgood.

Magnificent Storm, a son of American Ideal, started his career in New Zealand with just one start before being purchased by the Williams family's long-time friend and supporter Tomlinson and shared amongst a large and enthusiastic group of owners.

He was an instant smash hit in WA, winning his first 12 starts and 18 of his first 19.

I think it's great he's going.
I'm happy to help. He doesn't need my help, but if it means he can relax and enjoy it more, I'll take the horse across and dad and mum can meet me there. I wanted him to go to the Inter
Dominion in Melbourne last year.
This is a once in a lifetime horse for dad and it's come along right in the twilight of his career.

~ Grant Williams

Harness Racing Update

Magnificent Storm has since taken his record to 49 starts for 32 wins, seven placings and $744,117 in earnings.

That's impressive, but could and really should be even better.

Largely, it's been a story of heartbreak in the biggest races for Magnificent Storm over the past 18 months.

It's hard to fathom how he's gone without even a top-three finish in the five biggest races he has contested.

He ran ninth in the 2022 Fremantle Cup and fourth in the WA Pacing Cup two weeks later. Then, earlier this year, he ran eighth in the Fremantle Cup and fourth in the WA Pacing Cup.

But the real dagger in the heart came in the inaugural $1M Nullarbor at Gloucester Park on April 14, this year.

"It was the first time we'd had him exactly where we wanted him, where he needed to be for a big race," Ray said. "We just felt he was spot on.

"In those Fremantle and WA Cups he just had little niggles and wasn't quite right. It's been so frustrating, but we thought the Nullarbor was our chance to turn it all around."

Hopes and confidence soared when Magnificent Storm drew ideally and was sent out the raging hot $1.70 favorite (for a $1 bet).

Then came the greatest of heartbreak.

Magnificent Storm was crossed at the start and then driver Aldo Cortopassi left punters and onlookers stunned when he let eventual winner Betterzippit whiz around him, take the lead and essentially steal the race.

Meanwhile, Cortopassi was shuffled back to last and got clear when the race was over before making some late ground for seventh.

Soon after, Cortopassi was sacked and Aiden De Campo given the drive.

Magnificent Storm has impressively won all four starts since, albeit in much easier races.

De Campo, who is unbeaten in seven drives on Magnificent Storm, will partner the star in Queensland and spend plenty of time over there, too.

"He's a horse who thrives on racing," Ray said. "We've deliberately given him a good foundation under him before he heads across. He'll have one more lead-up run [June 23] and head to Brisbane.

"The horse deserves this chance. I think he's a bit special and he's earned the chance to see how he stacks up against the very best [in Australia]. It's a bit daunting on one hand, especially at my age, but it's also very exciting. I think I'll be a lot more relaxed and happier once we're over there and settled in."

For Wyatt Long, harness racing ain't his first rodeo

by Chris Lomon

It certainly isn't like trying to pull teeth when asking 19-yearold Wyatt Long to talk horses and horse racing.

He comes from one of Delaware and Maryland's most successful standardbred racing families, a respected name in the harness racing game for decades.

And while his own career is still in its early stages, Long, who balances a busy life as a trainer and catch driver with a full-time equine veterinarian job, is already tracking success on the dirt oval.

He's picking up momentum and attention for his efforts in the race bike and he recently added a personal milestone to his racing resume when he recorded his first training win with 4-year-old mare Imnotforeveryone.

The triumph was a trifecta of sorts, considering Long owns and pilots the daughter of Racing Hill.

Add the fact that Imnotforeveryone, bred by Wayne and Linda Shaffer, came into her 34th start without having made a trip to the winner's circle, and the victory was that much sweeter.

After getting away third in the race at Shenandoah Downs on May 13, Long and his pacing partner took the lead at the stretch call and went on to secure a three-quarter length score in a time of 1:59.2.

The Delaware native felt confident both he and his charge could break their respective maidens when they were in front by a length heading for home.

Having no one in front of them at crunch time was the ideal position for the duo to be in, recalled Long.

"She isn't one for passing horses," he said with a laugh. "But I had a good feeling she could win the race when the draw came out. I figured it could be the one. It was a great feeling. I was glad to get it out of the way so that I could focus on winning the next one. She isn't the most talented horse by any means, but she certainly stands out a lot to me now because it was my first training win."

There have been other special horses for Long over the years, including a son of Art Official who has nearly 200 career starts to his name.

"I've had a connection to some really nice ones," Long said. "Dragon Strikes, I haven't seen him race in a while, but he was one who helped me learn a lot in the short time we had him. One we have now, Ginger Tree Finny [a bay son of Captaintreacherous], he's another one who I built a strong connection with. We've had some good trotters over the years, but I would say those two stand out the most to me."

Although he still works in his father Wayne's barn, Wyatt has branched out over the past couple of years, chasing his own success, both driving and training.

"I've been working for my dad since I was old enough to hold a pitchfork," Wyatt said. "I've been in the business my whole life, so I felt the time had come to go out on my own. I'm still learning a lot from my dad. He told me that in this business you will only get results if you are willing to put in the effort. And that's what I've always done."

Wyatt's top priority each morning is to make sure he comes into a barn of contented pacers and trotters.

It's the same objective whenever he heads home every night.

"I want every horse to be happy," he said. "When you have a happy horse, you have good horses. I want them to know that they are cared for, and we have their best interest at heart." Something that he is also able to show through his equine dentistry work.

When he isn't helping out his father or sitting behind a horse, Wyatt is a fixture in several barns and other spots, a well-respected and in-demand tooth specialist.

"I went to school in Florida," Wyatt said. "Since the start of this year, I've been non-stop, going barn to barn. I've worked on around 250 horses since the middle of February. You really get to understand just how important it is for horses to have healthy, strong teeth. So, it's a busy life, but a good one. Having the full-time dentistry job has been great, and so is working to educate myself more and more on the racing side of things."

When he's not learning more about the standardbred ropes, he's honing his roping skills in a much different arena.

On Saturdays and Sundays, Wyatt can be found competing in team and calf roping. His talents will take him to several places in the northeastern U.S. when he saddles up as a professional in PRCA (professional rodeo cowboy association) events.

Wyatt, who once participated in youth and junior rodeo ranks and also took part in National High School Rodeo Association (NHSRA) competitions, will be on the road from May until September.

"I'm usually working with the racehorses during the week and then it's the rodeo on the weekends," he said. "It kind of gets my mind off everything and relax from the racing. It's something I've Since I was old enough to hold a pitchfork. I've been in the business my whole life, so I felt the time had come to go out on my own. I'm still learning a lot from my dad. He told me that in this business you will only get results if you are willing to put in the effort. And that's what I've always done.

always enjoyed doing and it does help you unwind. And when I'm done on the weekends, it's back to the racing. I've always been a person who isn't happy doing just one thing. I like to have a lot going on."

As for the harness racing world, Wyatt will look to raise his profile as a catch driver.

While that means logging a lot of hours on the road, he's certainly up for the challenge, and grateful for the opportunities that come his way.

"I'm really just getting things underway with the driving," Wyatt said. "I was at Rosecroft at the end of the winter last year. I went to Shenandoah as well and right now, I'm at Ocean City. I'm still in the amateur club, but I'm picking up drives there and keeping the trainers happy, which is the most important thing. I'm getting more drives each week, so that's been good to see. By the end of the year, I'd like to get out of the amateur ranks and to get overnight drives."

What does Wyatt see as his best skill in the sulky?

Spoiler alert: it's about going as fast as possible without getting flustered.

"I've definitely been able to slow the race down in my head," he said. "At first, everything seemed so fast, but I've been able to slow it down and make better moves, to give the horse the best chance to succeed. You might go in with a plan, but I drive the horse the best way I can, to give them the best trip I can."

He does it all with a familiar look, an homage to his famous horse racing family.

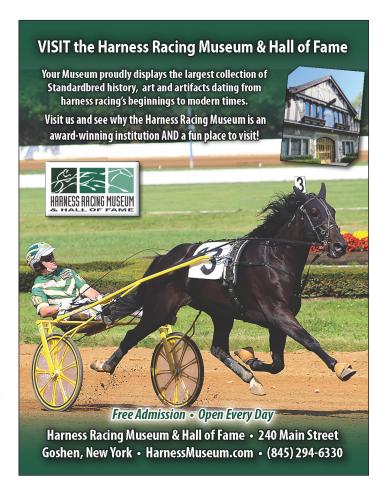

"My colors are blue, gold and tan, which come from my grandfather. The design is the same as my dad's and my uncle's. I just wanted to be able to show how much their support has meant to me and I want to carry on what they have done for the sport. Our family, at one time, was one of the biggest families in racing throughout Delaware and Maryland. Their knowledge has been so helpful, and it helps me get better each race. They always watch every race, and they always have my back."

It's one of many thoughts Wyatt carries with him whenever he lines a horse up behind the starter car.

He's optimistic about what the future holds for him.

"I love the sport and I love the horses," he said. "I'm just going to keep learning as much as I can, work as hard as I can, and do what it takes to be successful. I know I have a lot of people in my corner, which means the world to me."

Amy O'Toole – A woman sporting many different hats

by Victoria Howard

Amy O'Toole, the manager of equine programming at The Raceway at The Western Fair District is no stranger to the sport. Her maternal grandparents were involved in harness racing. Thus, when Amy's father met her mother, Kim Bakker, he was bitten by the bug and jumped on board.

"Growing up, my family had a small stable with my mother as the trainer," Amy said. "My mom doesn't train anymore. She works at The Raceway as the assistant paddock judge.

"My fondest memories growing up were going to the track in London with my dad. It's funny but some of the mutuel tellers that are still working there tell me stories about me running around as a little girl, so I guess you can say it's come to a full circle."

Currently, Amy does not own any racehorses, but will always remember her first one: Ideal Assault.

"He wasn't the fastest or best racehorse, but I will never forget that feeling when he won at Woodstock Raceway under my name," Amy said. "After Ideal we owned some homebreds out of our broodmares. We still have one horse out of that mare — Justalittleluck — who is now retired and the family pet."

The Raceway at The Western Fair District is a popular track that is located in downtown London, ON. It is the #2 wagering harness track in Canada and was the first to introduce nighttime racing in the province in the 1960s. The Raceway is not a fair track, but a signature track, and it is there that the sport's Hall of Fame driver, John Campbell, got his first of many winning drives.

The Raceway is part of the larger Western Fair Association that operates a four-rink sports center, an agri-business hub called the Grove, a Farmers Market and a multipurpose Agriplex, where the London Classic Yearling Sale is held.

While attending high school, Amy got a job cleaning and distributing saddle pads the horses wear in a race.

"My mom was working at the track and I was at the right place at the right time when they were looking for someone to fill in distributing the saddle pads," Amy said. "I then learned how to time the races and did that for a couple years. When we weren't racing in the summer months, I worked in the simulcast [department] as one of the floor mutuel managers, and later I was running the social media and marketing.

"On Friday nights, I would work in the dining room teaching newcomers how to bet and also ran the on-track promotions. I feel very lucky for if I hadn't been at the races that night, I might not have gotten that first job. I still remember Ian Fleming, who was the manager of the Raceway at the time, telling me very early on in my career never turn down an opportunity to learn a new job."

When COVID-19 hit in 2020, lockdown slowed everything down.

"I had been away from The Raceway for two years during the pandemic and during that time I worked at an insurance company," Amy said. "When a job opened for manager of equine programming, it was too tempting not to apply. Given my previous job history and having so much knowledge at the racetrack, I applied, and was offered the position.

"My job involves working closely with Greg Blanchard — the director of equine programming — with the daily operations of the racetrack, as well as planning and operating the London Classic Yearling Sale that we host in October."

According to Amy her first three months back at the Raceway has been a very smooth transition thanks to the help and guidance from Blanchard and track announcer Shannon Doyle.

"I really enjoy working closely [with them] and am learning so much from them," she said. "We have a great team and just finished up our racing season on a high note with a very successful Camluck Classic night. I'm excited to jump into the planning of the yearling sale and learning more about the background details that go into it."

Kierkegaard K equals all-time track record for trotters during EBCs at Vernon

by John Horne for Vernon Downs

Kierrkegaard K (Ake Svanstedt) equaled the track record for trotters during a great afternoon of racing on Friday (June 16) at Vernon Downs featuring four Empire Breeders Classic (EBC) races for 3-year-old trotters.

Kierkegaard K ($2.80) charged late to capture the second $97,022 EBC division for colts & geldings.

Chapercraz (Joe Bongiorno) and Kierkegaard K battled early out of the gate, but Chapercraz took the lead to the quarter in :26.1. He used a :28.2 second quarter to be first to the half in :54.3. Tillio's Action (Jordan Stratton) was first to make a move first-up from third as Chapercraz was first to three-quarters in 1:22.2.

As they reached the stretch, Tillio's Action wrestled the lead away. Kierkegaard K came three-wide late and was flying in deep stretch to overtake the second-place finisher Tillio's Action and set a new mark for 3-year-old colts of 1:50.3 that also equalled the overall track record set by Atlanta. Chapercraz settled for third.

Kierkegaard K is a colt by Chapter Seven—Gone Baby Gone S. He is trained by Svanstedt for owner Knuttson Trotting Inc. It was his second win this season and his third career victory.

Sadie Hanover (Scott Zeron) dominated the field to win the $104,371 second division for EBC fillies.

Sadie Hanover ($2.70) gunned out of the gate and led to the quarter in :26.1. She controlled the race using a :29.2 second quarter to be first to the half in :55.3. Instagram Model (Jason Bartlett) was first to make a move heading around the final turn but stalled some as Sadie Hanover led to the three-quarters in 1:24.1.

As they made the turn for home, Sadie Hanover put it in another gear and cruised to her lifetime best of 1:51.3. Usosweet Hanover (Marcus Miller) came on late to finish second. Canterbury Hanover (Jeff Gregory) was third.

Sadie Hanover is a filly by Chapter Seven—Southwind Percy. Linda Toscano trains for owners Bay Stable, Blue Ridge Stable, Carmen Iannacone, and Gary Coco. The trotter is now five-for-five in 2023. This was her sixth career victory.

Royal Filly (Tyler Buter) went gate-to-wire in the $104,371 first division of the EBC for sophomore filly trotters.

Royal Filly ($5.70) jumped right out of the gate and surged to the front to lead to the quarter in :27.4. She slowed things down using a :29 second quarter to be first to the half in :56.4. She breezed to three-quarters in 1:24.3.

As they reached the stretch, Royal Filly played catch me if you can. Second-place finisher Gigi Hanover (Ake Svanstedt) and third-place finisher Kayleigh S (Brian Sears) tried to do just that but Royal Filly was too strong and won in 1:52.3.

Royal Filly is a filly by Chapter Seven—Swinging Royalty. She is owned by Crawford Farms racing and trained by Tony Alagna. It was her second win this season and of her career.

Kilmister (Brian Sears) captured the $95,771 first division for EBC colts & geldings.

Cecil Hanover (Ake Svanstedt) was first to the quarter in :27.1. He used a :29.3 second quarter to be first to the half in :56.4. He still showed the way to three-quarters in 1:26.

As they made the turn for home Kilmister ($4.20) popped the pocket and went after the lead. Cecil Hanover and Kilmister battled all the way down the stretch. Kilmister surged to the front and won in 1:52.4. Cecil Hanover had to settle for second. Sevecheetah (Joe Bongiorno) finished third.

Kilmister is a colt by Chapter Seven—Treviso. He is owned by Courant Inc. and trained by Marcus Melander. It was his first win in 2023. He now owns six career victories.

Thunder Hunter Joe ($3.80) is a gelding by Huntsville—Thunder Angel. He is trained by Nicholas Devita for owners David Hamm, Glenn Phillips, Christopher Giaccio and Devita Racing Stable. He is three-for-three in 2023.

Huntingthelastdolar (Scott Zeron) hunted down I Was Tricked (Braxten Boyd) with his last strides to win the $39,233 second division in a lifetime best of 1:49.2. Taste Of Honey (Joe Bongiorno) was third.

Huntingthelastdolar ($7.90) is a colt by Huntsville out of Eighthunrdolarbill. He is owned by trainer Gregg McNair, George Kerr, and Brad Grant. It was his first win this season and third career victory.

It's A Me Mario (Brian Sears) won the $39,233 third division in a lifetime best of 1:49.4. Pacino Hanover (Matt Kakaley) finished second. Goldin Greatness (Scott Zeron) was third best.

It's A Me Mario ($6.80) is a colt by American Ideal—NF Salsa. He is owned by Joshua Graber and trained by Shane Tritton. He is a perfect five-for-five in 2023.

Ponda Jet, Coach Stefanos winners in Indiana Sires Stakes

by Emily Gaskin / Harrah's Hoosier Park

Ponda Jet continued his winning ways at Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing & Casino after he captured the featured event of the evening, the $95,500 Indiana Sires Stakes for 3-year-old trotting colts and geldings, on Thursday (June 15). Stopping the timer in 1:53.3, Ponda Jet pushed his undefeated streak to five and remains undefeated in stakes action this season for trainer Jay Hochstetler and driver Kyle Wilfong.

Talent Scout (driven by Peter Wrenn) left alertly to get the first call through the opening quarter in :26.2 with Texsong Soprano (Michael Oosting) grabbing a pocket seat and Ponda Jet next in line in third. As the field approached the second station, Wilfong gave Ponda Jet the green light and he ranged up to grab command just before the half in :56.

Ponda Jet led the field to the three-quarters in 1:26 as Helpfirstedition (John DeLong) were applying pressure from first-over. The stage was set for an epic battle to the wire and the top pair did not disappoint. Just when it appeared Helpfirstedition had the momentum on the outside, Ponda Jet refused to lose and found another gear. Using a :27.3 closing quarter, Ponda Jet got the win over a game Helpfirstedition. Know Stopping Now (Brandon Bates) were a hard-charging third. Sent off as the post time favorite, Ponda Jet returned $4.00 at the betting windows.

"That was an incredible effort," trainer Jay Hochstetler said. "For him to get the win after all of that is just incredible. He's more manageable this year than he was last year and that has made all the difference."

With the win, the son of Dover Dan—Ponda's Lucky Lady recorded the fifth win of the season from five starts and 6th lifetime victory from 16 trips behind the gate. Ponda Jet pushed his lifetime earnings to $160,950 for owners Connie J. Hochstetler, Robert J. Buddig, and Allen Schwartz. Ponda Jet was bred by Pond-A-Acres. The victory was also one of two winners on the evening's 14-race card for driver Kyle Wilfong.

Coach Stefanos and driver Trace Tetrick turned in a dominant 1:49.3 performance in Friday's (June 16) featured $97,500 Indiana Sires Stakes for 3-year-old pacing colts and geldings, establishing a new lifetime best and remaining undefeated in two starts this season.

Leaving from post 7 in the field of 11, Coach Stefanos left just enough to grab a seat along the rail in fifth. Why Not Now (driven by LeWayne Miller) was the quickest away through the :27.1 opening quarter while Ifudntnomebynow (Brandon Bates) grabbed the pocket seat.

As the field approached the half, John DeLong had Buzzsaw Russ out and firing, and the post time favorite grabbed the lead just past the :53.4 half. Buzzsaw Russ continued to call the shots through the three-quarter clocking in 1:22.1, but David Allan Whoa (Joey Putnam) was on the attack with Coach Stefanos in tow. Coach Stefanos tipped off cover and used a :26.2 final panel to track down his competitors and edge Why Not Now by a head. David Allan Whoa finished third.

"I couldn't have asked for a better trip," Tetrick said. "It worked out perfect for us. He's a super colt. Erv [Miller] and his team have done a great job with him, getting him ready and bringing him along. He qualified great and he's been very sharp in both his starts. He's a very talented, very versatile colt. You can do just about anything you want with him."

Trained by Erv Miller, the son of Tellitlikeitis—Watch N Be Watched has now won eight-of-13 lifetime starts while bankrolling $318,805 for owners Kenneth W Duffy, D&M Trading II LLC, and John Stefanos. Coach Stefanos, who was bred by Victory Hill Farm, returned $5.40 to win.

The victory was also one of seven winners on the program for Tetrick.

Wild-eyed Etonnant tops in Finland

by Thomas Hedlund

Richard Westerink's Etonnant (Timoko) made a more or less impossible performance in Saturday's (June 17) $215,000 Kymi GP in Kuovola, Finland.

In a fast paced race with an eager Global Withdrawl in front, Etonnant was left three wide during the race's first 1,050 meters, before he landed outside of new leader Callmethebreeze.

The race continued to roll fast down the back stretch and in the last turn Etonnant put the claws in the leader and disarmed him in a few steps.

Go On Boy, runner up in the Elitloppet three weeks ago, tried to challenge and got really close to Etonnant in mid-stretch and the two French-bred trotters battled side by side towards the finish line. Anthony Barrier worked hard behind Etonnant and succeeded in taking the trophy in Kuovola with Etonnant as Go On Boy had to settle for second beaten a nose at the wire.

Etonnant won in track record 1:53.2 over 1.3 miles and Callmethebreeze was third.

AUSTRALIA'S JUST BELIEVE IMPRESSES AS RUNNER UP IN BODEN

Greg Sugars was probably as happy as winning trainer Daniel Redén after the $180,000 Norrbottens Stora Pris in Boden in the northern part of Sweden on Saturday (June 17) night.

Sugars' Just Believe made his last performance in Europe before the return to Australia and after last week's third place in Östersund, Just Believe climbed one step up on the ladder and finished second to an unstoppable Francesco Zet (Father Patrick).

such a great race today. He's been racing three times in Sweden and they have presented him in great shape, so it was fair that he was this good today. They've been on a long trip, to say the least.

~ Daniel Redén

The race became quite uneventful when Francesco Zet managed to take the lead after the first turn. Mellby Jinx opened quickly from post 7 but that didn't cause any problems for Francesco Zet from post 1. Örjan Kihlström noted that none of the other outside horses challenged for the lead, so he could calmly ask for the lead after the first turn, and Daniel Wäjersten had no plans in defending the position with Mellby Jinx.

Francesco Zet was on the run towards his 15th consecutive win and when in front, the game was basically over. The 5-year-old Father Patrick son jogged to a safe win in a mile rate of 1:54.1 over 1.3 miles and the Redén was happy after the race, but not only for his horse's performance, but also happy for the Australian team's success as runner up.

"I'm glad that Just Believe did such a great race today," Redén said. "He's been racing three times in Sweden and they have presented him in great shape, so it was fair that he was this good today. They've been on a long trip, to say the least."

Just Believe had a very strong race after a first over trip, outside of winner Francesco Zet and Greg Sugars was asked if it would be possible for them to stay a little longer in Sweden.

"I would really like to come back, but this journey is over for this time," said Sugars adding with a big smile. "I must go back home and work."

Mellby Jinx did a good job as third in the Norrbottens Stora Pris.

Refined rallies for Armbro Flight upset

by Ray Cotolo for Woodbine communications

As Bella Bellini bounded to the lead in the closing stages of the mile, she had a swiftly surging challenge from Refined she could not turn away, leaving the Virgil Morgan Jr. trainee to land a 7-1 upset in the $210,000 Armbro Flight final on Saturday (June 17) at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

HP Mama B planted herself on the point at 55-1 motoring to a :27 first quarter with Adare Castle sitting second and Raised By Lindy in third. Raised By Lindy soon pulled off the pegs towards the backside and swept to the top before a :56.2 half; at which point 1-5 favorite Bella Bellini made her move out of fourth to charge uncovered along the rim.

Bella Bellini loomed nearer to Raised By Lindy coming to threequarters in 1:24 with Refined loosely following cover several lengths off the lead. Raised By Lindy folded inside of Bella Bellini entering the final eighth, but Refined and Warrawee Xenia began hitting their best strides down the center of the track. Driver Doug McNair implored Refined to the finish and downed Bella Bellini by a half-length at the beam in a 1:52 mile, while Warrawee Xenia came rolling wide of them to just miss in third and Raised By Lindy held fourth.

"I was following the right horse right off the bat; I was just thankful Dexter [Dunn on Bella Bellini] didn't move her to the front or we would've been a long first over," McNair said. "I still didn't think — even though I was following her — that I had a real good shot of beating her. She lugs in a little bit in the turns and runs out a little bit in the straightaways, but she does it fast. I just figured once we got out of the last turn, as long as we kept her on the right foot, we'd have a shot to get some good money. And halfway down the lane, it looked like she was going by and she did."

Claus Andersen

Refined (1, Doug McNair) posted a 7-1 upset over Bella Bellini (5, Dexter Dunn) in the $210,000 Armbro Flight final on Saturday at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

Harness Racing Update

Claus Andersen

Refined is trained by Virgil Morgan Jr. (far left in the Armbro Flight winner's circle).

Virgil Morgan Jr. trains Refined, a 7-year-old daughter of Uncle Peter—Reinvent competing for owners Joyce McClelland and Larry Wills. She collected her 34th win from 95 starts and has now amassed $910,228 through her career, which lacked a black-type victory until Saturday night.

"She's just matured," Morgan Jr. said. "She's always been good, as far as being on the national scene. But last year, she showed up in the Breeders Crown and did some work. She did really good and finished third, then she finished second in the TVG [Mares Trot at The Meadowlands]. So, we had some high hopes coming into this year for her. Late, late [in the mile], she's just so game; she tries so hard. And it showed up tonight."

In the minor upset, Refined paid $16.30 to win.

Southwind Coors prevails in emotional Goodtimes nailbiter

by Heather MacKay for Woodbine communications

For the second time since the Goodtimes Trot was introduced 19 years ago, John Bax presented the trophy for the race named in honor of his career-changing horse to himself and his partners. That honor was courtesy of Southwind Coors in an extremely exciting $250,000 Goodtimes final for 3-year-old trotting colts on Saturday (June 17) at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

As the race got underway it was What An Angel leaving hard from post 7 to grab the early lead but he was covered up before the opening quarter of :28 by Warrawee Yang. Gaines Hanover then swept up to grab the front well before the :55.4 half for Louis-Philippe Roy.

Scott Zeron pulled the right line on Southwind Coors, sitting in fourth, and they started their charge for the top and had reached the leader by the three-quarters reached in 1:23.4.

As they turned for home it was Gaines Hanover and Southwind Coors battling throughout the stretch with neither colt giving way. It was very tough to separate the two at the wire reached in 1:52. After a review it was announced that Southwind Coors' nose reached the wire first. The tables were turned for Gaines Hanover who defeated Southwind Coors by a neck in their elimination but had to settle for second tonight. Tuscan Prince was third.

James MacDonald had driven Southwind Coors in his elimination, but he was up behind Hasty Bid, who ended up finishing fourth in the final, as he owns a share of the gelding.

"After the elimination James asked me who I was going to go with and I said, 'I can throw a rock on North America Cup night and probably hit about three great drivers.' I thought Scott was a great fit for him and they worked well together tonight," said trainer Matt Bax, John Bax's son.

Zeron noted that he talked to James before tonight's race. "I knew he'd raced well coming into this race. James couldn't praise him enough. He owned his own horse in this race so I was lucky I was able to get this one. I feel like last week he was tracking [Gaines Hanover] late; he sure went past him after the wire. I was confident in his ability, he's just a little bit green.

In the winner's circle, Goodtimes' trainer John Bax (fourth from the left) handed the trophy to his son, Matt Bax (fifth from the left), who trains Southwind Coors for the family and partners.

"As much as it's nice having everyone cheer him on, I think he was more focused on people in the crowd and that's why he made it as close as he did. I don't think we hit the bottom of his lungs."

As to whether he thought he'd won at the wire Zeron said: "I thought I did. I don't think his head could have been any lower to stick his nose out so I was confident he got it."

Matt Bax said it has been a long journey with Southwind Coors.

"He was a little nervous, green. I have to give a lot of credit to [driver] Mike Saftic last year. He really managed him," Matt said of Saftic, who drove Southwind Coors in all 11 rookie races. "He wouldn't be here where he is now without that. He's been coming off trips, he likes coming off a helmet and this year he's really turned a corner. Coming into tonight he's never been better."

A $65,000 yearling purchase at the Lexington Select Sale, Southwind Coors is owned by the Bax Stable, Glengate Farms, Dave Hudson and Craig Wilson. The son of Walner—Southwind Cabaret has now banked over $230,000 lifetime from 16 starts.

While Southwind Coors' win was a very popular one and fitting for the Bax family in the race named in honor of their iconic trotter Goodtimes, it was also bittersweet as Saturday's final was the first since the great horse — a member of the Canadian Horse Racing Hall of Fame — was laid to rest last December at age 31.

Over the years, Goodtimes provided the family with a myriad of wonderful memories both on and off the track. On Saturday, Southwind Coors provided them an exciting new memory to add.

Abuckabett Hanover takes Mohawk Gold Cup

by Chris Lomon / Woodbine communications

Abuckabett Hanover, in rein to Andrew McCarthy, took top prize in the $100,000 Mohawk Gold Cup on Saturday (June 17), a race that saw a two-horse spill at the top of the stretch.

Abuckabett Hanover, who was an impressive winner in his first start back as a 5-year-old in late May, sat fifth through early opening fractions set by Billy Clyde, who took his rivals through an opening quarter reached in :26.2, followed by Wheels On Fire, Linedrive Hanover and Whichwaytothebeach. Billy Clyde continued to call the shots through a half in :54.3, but found himself under pressure to his outside by Linedrive Hanover around the turn for home.

Billy Clyde went off stride in early stretch, starting a chain reaction that affected Whichwaytothebeach and Wheels on Fire, causing their respective drivers, Travis Cullen and Doug McNair, to be unseated from their respective pacers.

Abuckabett Hanover, trained by Andrew Harris, went on to post a 1 ¾-length score in a career-best time of 1:47.2. Tattoo Artist was second, Linedrive Hanover was third and Captain Kirk finished fourth.

The Gold Cup victory comes three weeks after a sensational performance by Abuckabett Hanover at The Meadowlands, a one-length triumph in 1:48.3 on May 27. It was the first start in over six months for the $160,000 purchase (Hip No. 385) at the 2019 Harrisburg Yearling Sale.

Owned by William Pollock, Bruce Areman, and Andrew Harris, the bay, who went over the $1 million mark in earnings last vear, is now 14-4-8 from 48 starts.

Abuckabett Hanover paid $9.60 for the win.

At press time, Woodbine communications, through its Twitter feed, (@WoodbineComms), provided the following update on the accident: "All horses and drivers involved in the race 8 accident @WoodbineSB are okay and walked off the track. Travis Cullen is being examined by paramedics."

Stakes, track and Canadian record for Grace Hill in Roses Are Red

by Ray Cotolo for Woodbine communications

Driver Doug McNair found his way back to the winner's circle with Grace Hill, who powered to a stakes-, track- and Canadian-record mile in the $305,000 Roses Are Red final on Saturday night (June 17) at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

McNair landed Grace Hill, the even-money favorite, in third as Silver Label scorched a :25.3 first quarter with Kobe's Gigi in behind. As Silver Label tried to grab a breather up the backside, McNair made his move to push Grace Hill to the top and took over control just past a :53.4 half, but kept rolling through the final turn.

Grace Hill coasted to three-quarters in 1:21.1 and peeled away from Silver Label through the lane to a healthy cushion by the eighth pole. McNair began his celebration with a pumped fist at the sixteenth pole and posed for the camera as Grace Hill crossed the line in 1:47.4 to eclipse a decade-old record set by Anndrovette, who in 2013 won the Roses Are Red in a time of 1:48 to set a stakes record along with a track and Canadian record for aged pacing mares. Silver Label finished second, beaten 2-1/2 lengths, while So Much More took third and Kobe's Gigi fourth.

The race prior, McNair was involved in a spill in the $100,000 Mohawk Gold Cup while driving Wheels On Fire.

It was the second stakes win of the night for driver Doug McNair (left) and trainer Virgil Morgan, Jr. They also teamed up to win the Armbro Flight with Refined.

"Fifteen, 20 minutes ago I was lying on the track not knowing what's going on," McNair said. "Next thing you know, I'm standing in the winner's circle for the Roses Are Red on one of the greatest mares to ever see through a bridle, I think.

"She felt great. Dexter [Dunn with Treacherous Dragon] had the two-hole, so we kind of wanted to get advantage of him coming out of the turn. Once the dust settled, I put her on the front and she did the rest. I was just a passenger... it was just outrageous."

The victory for Grace Hill pushes her deeper down into millionaire territory with $1,465,380 banked for owner Tom Hill. The 5-year-old daughter of Always B Miki—Western Silk won for the 24th time in 51 tries and collected her first Canadian stakes win since upsetting star mare Test Of Faith in the $540,000 Breeders Crown Mare Pace last fall at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

Owner Tom Hill, in the post-race interview, grabbed the microphone and said "Virgil [Morgan Jr.]'s been telling me for the eight, nine months he's had her that she's the best mare on the planet. She's proved it tonight."

Grace Hill paid $4.10 to win.

Sylvia simply sensational in Fan Hanover

by Heather MacKay for Woodbine communications

She didn't have the best trip but that certainly didn't deter the talented 3-year-old pacing filly Sylvia Hanover in the $420,000 Fan Hanover final, part of the stakes laden North America Cup undercard Saturday night (June 17) at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

The incredible daughter of Always B Miki—Shyaway was recording her third win in as many tries this year. Last season she won eight-of-nine (second in the other) and Saturday's effort put her well over the $1-million mark in addition to tying the track, stakes and Canadian record established by American Jewel in 2012.

Sylvia Hanover and driver Bob McClure were looking for the lead early in the race but it was Beach Cowgirl from post 8 who went directly to the top and she paced by the opening quarter in :26.4. McClure let Sylvia have her way as she did not want to sit and she was on top by the :55 half.

She had company in Twin B Joe Fresh nearing the 1:21.3 third panel but dismissed that rival and could not be caught down the stretch winning easily in the record-tying mile of 1:48.2. Charleston got up to take second while Twin B Joe Fresh held for third.

"She likes a target [but she doesn't need one]," McClure said. "Last year she used to get lazy on the front. But she wasn't sitting in that hole any more today. We got slowed up and she wanted to roll, I couldn't let horses get outside me and take the chance of never getting out, so I took a shot.

"When she cleared the front and Dex [Dunn driving Twin B Joe Fresh] came at her, she just did the rest on her own. She's a very special horse, I just have to stay out of her way. I've never sat behind anything like her, she's always going to give you everything she's got."

Trainer Shawn Steacy certainly agreed with his driver's sentiments.

Claus Andersen

Sylvia Hanover (Bob McClure) was dominant in the Fan Hanover, winning in 1:48.2.

"She's an amazing animal," Steacy said. "I don't think she knows how to get tired. She's incredible. I don't know how else to put it. She can do things most normal horses can't do."

Bred by Hanover Shoe Farms (just like the race's namesake) Sylvia was a $135,000 yearling buy from the Harrisburg Sale by Hudson Standardbred of Hudson, Quebec. She's following in her mother's footsteps as her dam, Shyaway, raced in the 2011 Fan Hanover eliminations and final for trainer Chris Ryder. Sylvia is Shyaway's seventh foal, her first being $2 million winner Western Fame.

Introduced in 1983, The Fan Hanover Stake is named in honor of the pacing filly who accomplished what no other sophomore distaffer had done before or since: win the Little Brown Jug. Owned by Dr. Glen Brown, who passed away last year, and trained and driven by Glen Garnsey, the Albatross miss defeated her male rivals in the 1981 edition of the coveted race. Dr. Brown's granddaughter, Jenna Hague, was on hand Saturday to make the trophy presentation following in her grandfather's tradition.

'Jiggy' Jogs in Graduate at Big M

Jiggy Jog S lived up to her resume — as well as the 1-5 odds on the tote board — during an easy score in the $75,000 second leg of the Graduate Series for 4-year-old trotters at The Meadowlands Friday night (June 16).

"She's been very impressive in her two races this year," said Sarah Svanstedt, who along with her husband Ake trains Jiggy Jog S. "I'm very happy to see the way she's racing."

The 2022 Breeders Crown and Kentucky Filly Futurity winner wasn't in a terrible hurry early on, as driver Dexter Dunn had her sitting fifth past the quarter and half as Pappardelle and Pretender led at those stations in :27.2 and :54.4, respectively.

At the five-eighths, Jiggy Jog S was in a live flow on the rim racing third-over, getting a live tow from Justice and Keg Stand, who were making up ground on the leader. Pretender was still on the lead at three-quarters in 1:23.2, but looked vulnerable, as Jiggy Jog S swung three-wide off the turn and exploded down the stretch in :26.3 to report home a 2¼-length winner in 1:50.3, the same time she took her first start of the season, leg one of the Graduate two weeks ago at Woodbine Mohawk Park. Iwon't Backdown As and Looks Like Moni rallied late for second and third, respectively.

"She trained back since February and everything has been normal," Sarah said. "She's been eating and drinking well, and mentally, she's also taken a step forward."

A daughter of Walner—Hot Mess Hanover who is no stranger to beating the boys, Jiggy Jog S returned $2.40 to her backers. She's now won 12-of-26 career starts and banked $1,202,201 for owner Jorgen Sparredal Inc.

FAST, THEN FASTER: Mad Max Hanover and Stonebridge Helios displayed amazing speed in taking the two $50,000 leg two Graduate splits for 4-year-old pacers, as the fastest Big M mile of the year was first established, then lowered two races later.

First up was Mad Max Hanover (a gelding by Always B Miki—Mayhem Seelster), who was parked while fourth around the first turn from post 9. He continued on with it as Pleaseletmeknow scorched the opening fraction in :26.3, then Mad Max Hanover made the top at the three-eighths, and went all the way from there, lasting to the wire in an electric 1:47.4. After reaching the half in :53.1, he paced his back half in :54.3 to equal his lifetime best.

"Every time he's ever been on the lead, he does not get tired," said winning driver Tim Tetrick of the Jake Leamon trainee. "I just wanted to go forward. He leaves better from the outside. It's a little better angle. I let him roll because he doesn't know how fast he's going. I thought the ones that were following me, if we went really fast, they wouldn't be able to catch me."

Mad Max Hanover hit the finish a neck in front of Pleaseletmeknow, who was disqualified for interference through the stretch and placed eighth, as third-place finisher, 3-5 favorite I Did It Myway, was placed second. 'Max' paid $15.60 as the 6-1 fourth choice in the wagering.

Just 56 minutes later, another horse from post 9 took the other Graduate pacing division, as Stonebridge Helios stopped the clock in 1:47 to record the second-fastest mile of the year in the sport. Only Ruthless Hanover has gone faster by virtue of his 1:46.3 clocking at Harrah's Philadelphia on May 28.

Stonebridge Helios followed Energetic Hanover (post 8) around the first turn and down the backstretch before making the top while parked at the half in a blistering :53.1 before finally clearing shortly thereafter.

The son of Sunshine Breeze—Ken Doll J then reached threequarters in 1:20.2 before a powerhouse :26.3 kicker sealed the deal by 1¼ lengths over Dreamfair Arnie B to give Team Svanstedt two Graduates on the night. Stonebridge Helios lowered his previous lifetime best by two-and-one-fifth seconds.

"I was pretty confident [with the way things worked out]," said winning driver Dunn. "I couldn't be more happy with him. He felt sharp right from the get-go."

As the 9-2 third choice in the wagering, Stonebridge Helios paid $11.20 to win. He's now won 11-of-19 lifetime outings and banked $457.105.

A LITTLE MORE: A rare carryover made for a big pool in the Early 10-cent Hi-5, as $59,098 in "new money" was added to the carryover of $15,446 in the seventh race for a grand total of $74,544. The winning combination of 9-4-3-6-7 was good for $414.37 for one thin dime. In what has been a big year at the windows, betting at The Big M busted the $3-million barrier for the 38th time from 47 completed programs, as $3,023,156 was put in play on the 14-race card. Edison Hatter's $300 win bet on Jiggy Jog S proved to be enough to grab a victory on night 5 of the track's "Battle of The Meadowlands Masterminds" handicapping contest.

London Classic Yearling Sale sees large spike in entries for 2023

The second edition of the London Classic Yearling Sale (LCYS) will take place this Oct. 17 & 18 at the Agriplex of The Western Fair District and organizers report that the response from consignors this year has been overwhelming.

Following the close of entries, a total of 310 yearlings have been accepted, up from the 195 that were catalogued in 2022.

"It is tremendous to see this type of growth in year two," sale manager Greg Blanchard said. "This, coupled with the quality of the yearlings that have been entered, has us excited for this October."

Harness Racing Update on Twitter

@HARNESSUPDATE

Two major consignors joining the LCYS this year are Winbak Farm of Canada and Stonebridge Farm who, between them, will offer 65 yearlings for sale. They will join flagship consignors like Seelster Farms and Preferred Equine Inc. as well as a host of other top local consignors.

First crop trotting stallion Green Manalishi will be well represented in this year's sale including a brother to $826,000 winner Logan Park who goes by the name of The Hitman Heart. The colt will be consigned by Dean & Ashley as part of their 35-horse consignment. On the pacing side, Dancin Lou will also have a strong first-crop representation over the two days of the sale.

Some other high-profile yearlings being offered include a Shadow Play brother to Bernie ($566K) and Bernadette ($320K), a Lookslikeachpndale brother to Hemi Seelster ($856K) and Henderson Seelster ($363K) and a Control The Moment brother to Ellis Park ($856K) and Fat Mans Alley ($777K) just to name a few.

The London Classic will take place this year on Tuesday (Oct. 16) and Wednesday (Oct. 17), beginning at noon both days. Viewing will commence at 10 a.m. on Monday (Oct. 15).

Those who wish to request a sales catalogue or to make hotel accommodations can do so by visiting www.londonclassic.ca. The online sale roster will be posted in early August and hard copy sale catalogues will be available in September.
