$90 million bid made for bankrupt Hawthorne

by Neil Milbert

ADVENTURES IN ILLINOIS

with NEIL MILBERT

An aptly-named “stalking horse” is in pursuit of Hawthorne Race Course.

In bankruptcy court jargon, according to legalclarity.org: “A stalking horse bid is a pre-negotiated offer to buy a bankrupt company’s assets filed with a bankruptcy court to set a price floor before an open auction. The stalking horse signs a detailed asset purchase agreement specifying which assets and contracts it will acquire, what liabilities it will acquire and the purchase price. This agreement becomes the benchmark every other bidder must beat.”

Such an agreement – containing a bid of $90 million from ALLIMAC LLC of Wilmington, DE, to Hawthorne Race Course, Carey Heirs Properties, LLC, Suburban Down, Inc., and Post Time Catering, Inc. – was approved on Friday (June 26) by Judge Timothy Barnes in U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Illinois.

Carey Heirs Properties refers to the descendants of Thomas Carey, who bought the track in the Chicago suburb of Stickney in 1909; Suburban Downs is the track’s harness racing entity; and Post Time Catering encompasses its off-track betting parlors and food services.

But there is virtually no information about ALLIMAC.

“I googled it all over and can’t find anything except that they’re based in Delaware,” said the Illinois Harness Horsemen’s Association’s executive director, Tony Somone. “A lot of these companies will register as a LLC (Limited Liability Corporation) in Delaware so they can stay hidden. Apparently, whoever this is does not want anybody to know who they are at this point.

“Anybody who is a qualified purchaser can still bid.”

Hawthorne representatives said at a bankruptcy court appearance earlier in the week that the track has received non-binding overtures from more than 50 persons and entities.

ALLIMAC’s bid appears to be confined to the real estate rather than that of the land plus racing operation and license to operate a casino that was authorized by the Illinois Gaming Board in 2020. Despite innumerable assertions since then by Hawthorne president Tim Carey that he was on the verge of reaching an agreement with a partner to construct the racino, it never has been built.

Friday (June 26) was the deadline for submission of bids and Tuesday (June 30) is the deadline for submission of claims.

An auction, if necessary, will be held on July 13.

TROTting INTO THE FUTURE!

“ I googled [Hawthorne Race Course bidder ALLIMAC LLC] all over and can't find anything except that they're based in Delaware. Apparently, whoever this is does not want anybody to know who they are at this point. Anybody who is a qualified purchaser can still bid. ”

Hawthorne has notified the Illinois Department of Commerce and Economic Opportunity that it will terminate 290 employees if it is sold to a land developer rather than a buyer who wants to continue racing.

Confronted with a reported $138 million in outstanding debt owed more than 200 creditors, Hawthorne filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy on Feb. 27.

As a consequence of the track's financial instability, all 14 of its Suburban Downs harness dates in January and February were canceled and the Suburban Downs license was suspended by the Illinois Racing Board on Jan. 26. At last fall's hearings the Racing Board authorized the January and February dates and a Nov. 6-Dec. 27 meeting.

Currently, the dual-purpose facility – the lone racetrack in the Chicago metropolitan area that once had seven operating – is conducting a thoroughbred meeting that is scheduled to run through Nov. 1. The meeting began on April 19, three weeks later than scheduled because of the financial turmoil.

But if Hawthorne is sold to a developer who wants it solely for real estate purposes, the thoroughbred meeting probably will come to a premature end and the Fox Valley harness meeting won't be held.

to capture the opening leg of the Trotting Triple Crown at MGM Yonkers Raceway.

With favored Spencer Hanover starting from the second tier, Requiem, with Ronnie Wrenn, Jr. was the first to the front but yielded quickly to Al with Yannick Gingras. Second choice Silverstein then advanced rapidly and secured the front before the :29.1 opening quarter had been reached. The complexion of the race changed on the second turn when Spencer Hanover made a break.

With little movement on the outside, Matt Kakaley slowed the fractions, with Silverstein hitting the half and three-quarters in :58.1 and 1:27.2, respectively. With about a half-mile remaining in the mile and one-quarter contest, Dexter Dunn moved Kingmen to the outside and flushed Requiem to gain cover. Tetrick advanced third-over with Inexpressable as the pace picked up.

The field hit the 1:56 mile marker with Silverstein still in control and looking strong, and he had control into the stretch. However, he was slowing down noticeably at that point, opening the door for the closers. Al looked to the inside but couldn't advance. However, Kingmen rallied wide and had plenty of trot to overtake the leader but not enough to stall the Lucas Wallin-trained Inexpressable, who motored on past to a neck victory. Kingmen held second with Silverstein third, followed by Al and fifth-place finisher Nordic Dancer S.

The mile and one quarter time was 2:25.3.

It was just the third race of the year and second win for Inexpressable, an impeccably-bred son of Walner from the same immediate family as Maryland. Owned by Wallin Racing Stable and Karin Walter-Mommert and a 7-1 offering, Inexpressable paid $16.68 to win. He keyed a $136.32 exacta and a $493.88 trifecta.

"Last thing I wanted to do was make a break early," said Tetrick. "He's a big, strong colt, and he seems like he's got big lungs."

Trainer Wallin suggested that Inexpressable would be pointed towards the Stanley Dancer next (July 11 at The Meadowlands).

Busy Miss Lissy S won for the first time in three starts as the 9-5 second choice in the field of five.

Owned by breeder Panamera Racing, Busy Miss Lissy S returned $5.88 to win with Myths And Legends second and Wishuponastar Deo third. Favored R Ro broke at the outset and was never in contention.

Emmas Mystery CCL and Todd McCarthy needed every inch of the stretch but finally went past pace-setter Sparks on the wire to capture the second $55,000 New York New York division. A Muscle Hill-sired filly, Emmas Mystery CCL raced from off-the-pace in third as Sparks led from the outset for Ake Svanstedt. With three-eighths-of-a-mile remaining, McCarthy gave Emmas Mystery CCL her cue, and she forced the action through the final turn and right to the wire, prevailing in a 1:56.3 mile. Sparks was second and Atlantic Summer third.

Fragment triumphs in MGM Grand Messenger Stakes final

by Yonkers Raceway media

Fragment, who was last year's New York Sire Stakes, Big Apple, and Matron winner, rebounded off a third-place finish in the sire stakes most recently at Buffalo to capture the Grade 2 $200,000 MGM Grand Messenger Stakes final for 3-year-old male pacers on Friday night (June 26) at MGM Yonkers Raceway. The Messenger, which was conducted at the distance of a mile and a quarter this year, is the first leg of the Pacing Triple Crown.

Driven by Jason Bartlett, Fragment showed speed from post 2 but allowed a two-wide Al Papi (Yannick Gingras) to clear him going to the :28.1 opening quarter. Al Papi would be unchallenged to the half in :57.1, but an outer tier that included Frantic Hanover (Tim Tetrick), Melillo (Ronnie Wrenn, Jr.), and Hunt Off The Press (Scott Zeron) formed up as Al Papi raced toward three-quarters in 1:26.2.

Al Papi staved off fellow Ron Burke trainee Frantic Hanover to the mile marker in 1:54.1, but Frantic Hanover began to tire on the last turn, and that gave Bartlett and Fragment a path to the outside they needed. Al Papi was game to the wire, but he couldn't withstand the charge of Fragment, who got up to tally by a half-length in 2:21.4. Mighty Matt (Braxten Boyd) held off Melillo for third and Apocalypsebluechip (Todd McCarthy) got up for fifth.

"It's good for the horse," Bartlett said. "He's been very special to us the last two years. For him to bounce back like that and to beat those type of horses, we're not surprised. I'm happy that he's back on track. For him to race like that in Buffalo was really not like him.

"This race kind of went the way we wanted it to. I was going to re-move him, but the pace was enough, so I just kind of sat there. I know he's a little horse, but for me, on the front, he can get away from me a little bit because he floats over the ground. I was better off in the 2-hole, to be honest."

Per Engblom trains Fragment, a Huntsville colt bred by Steve Stewart, Black Creek Farm, Michael Robinson, and South Mountain Stables, for the ownership group of Engblom Farm LLC., Douglas Sipple, and Peaceful Acre Farm. He has 11 wins and three seconds from 19 lifetime starts, has earned $758,057, and paid $4.40 to win as the favorite. He keyed a $7.24 exacta and a $35.90 trifecta.

"He bled a little bit at Buffalo, so we had to skip the next leg of the sire stakes to get him right," Engblom said. "I think we did right by him. I didn't stake him to any of the races this summer on the bigger tracks. I tried to stick on the smaller tracks and hope to have a good fall with him.

"He's got the New York Sire Stakes and the Empire Breeders, and then we'll aim for the Little Brown Jug and the Breeders Crown."

The companion Grade 3 Park MGM Pace for 3-year-old fillies was split into a pair of $50,000 divisions.

In the first flight, Two Twenty Swift (Bartlett), the 4-5 favorite, led through fractions of :27.2, :55, and 1:23.2 while she parked out Existential (Matt Kakaley). The swift tempo and battle made Two Twenty Swift vulnerable in the lane, and pocket-sitter Ideal Beauty Queen (Scott Zeron) took advantage, rallying past Two Twenty Swift to prevail a half-length in 1:53.2 at odds of 22-1. Two Twenty Swift held on for the runner-up spot and Bettor Be A Star (Dexter Dunn) had pace in the stretch from second-over to get up for third.

A famous neighbor helped move Dawson Blair into harness racing

by Matthew Lomon

To the harness racing world, James MacDonald stands among the sport's most revered and respected figures.

To soon-to-be 17-year-old caretaker Dawson Blair, he was simply the guy who moved in next door.

"I knew his first name and that he was my neighbor, that was all," Blair said. "It wasn't until my grandpa said, 'James MacDonald moved in beside you? He's famous.'"

“If you really have something you enjoy, it can be hard sometimes. There’s really high highs and really low lows, but if you love what you’re doing, you can do it for the rest of your life. I’d do it for the rest of my life if I can. If you like horses, then this is the business for you.”

– Dawson Blair

“So, I looked him up on Google and it was like, ‘Holy! He is famous!’”

While the five-time O’Brien Award-winning reinsman’s arrival in Blair’s Guelph, ON, neighborhood didn’t initially stand out to the teenager – beyond the occasional backyard barbecue and friendly head nod – it would ultimately ignite a passion he never knew was within him.

“James reached out to my dad to ask if I’d want to come check out the horses someday, so one day I just went,” Blair said. “I had barely ever seen a horse in my life. My grandpa gambled at the track, but I’d never been.

“The first day, I didn’t know what I was doing; I was just petting horses. But then I thought, ‘Wow, I really like this.’ Then I came back and started cleaning stalls. I started from the bottom, but I enjoyed it and kept coming back.”

That eye-opening visit to First Line Training Centre in the summer of 2022 marked the springboard for Blair’s education in standardbred racing.

What started with petting progressed to cleaning stalls and then brushing, harnessing, and bathing in the months that followed.

Blair, who credits MacDonald and his wife, trainer Paige MacDonald, with laying the foundation of his horsemanship, remains grateful for the humble guidance of the future Hall of Famer.

“I think coming from where I didn’t know who he was helped me build a real connection with him,” Blair said. “It’s been an honor to learn from him. He’s famous and I’m learning all this stuff directly from him – it’s been amazing.

"Then he got me into the job that I have now, which really helped me learn a lot more. I still talk with him and he still helps me out."

With his mentor always within arm's reach, Blair's life in racing has accelerated at light speed in his new role as caretaker for father-and-son, trainer-and-driver tandem Carl and Jody Jamieson.

It was through James that Blair got in touch with Jody, an earner of nearly $160 million in lifetime prizes, during weekend visits to First Line and the occasional racetrack meet-and-greet.

"One day Jody came by on the race bike and he yelled, 'Hey, you want to come in on Sunday and clean a couple stalls for me?'" Blair said. "I said, 'Sure, why not?'"

"I went in one day and worked with him on and off, just on weekends cleaning stalls, and then I went back to school. Then when that first summer came around, he asked if I wanted to come work for him and I said, 'Absolutely.'"

Blair's 2023 summer vacation saw him divide his time between James, and Jody and Carl, each in one-week intervals, before eventually signing on with the Jamiesons full time.

"They've been amazing," Blair said. "James taught me the basics, and they've taught me more of the advanced stuff like different equipment and vet work."

The up-and-coming horseman never takes a day with the Hall of Famer, and harness racing encyclopedia in Carl, and future Hall of Famer and winner of 9,000-plus races in Jody, for granted.

"I try to pick Carl's brain every day," Blair said. "There's always something he can teach me and I'm always willing to learn. I want to know everything that I can. Every day, he'll teach me something new or he'll show me how to do something. He never runs out of stuff. The same goes with Jody."

"There's always something that I can learn, and I really appreciate it."

Picking up each Jamieson's teaching style, alongside the trade, has been equally valuable for Blair.

"Jody will go a bit slower, which is helpful, but I also like the way Carl does it because he'll teach me something and then quiz me on it the next day, like 'You remember how to do it?' Most of the time my answer was, 'Uh, no,'" Blair said, adding with a laugh, "Sometimes I'd even say to Jody, 'Hey, so Carl showed me how to do this. I know he's going to ask me about it tomorrow,' and Jody would show me. I just wouldn't tell Carl and say, 'Yeah, I remember how to do it.' But eventually I learned how to do it and started understanding things a lot easier."

Blair's time with Carl and Jody has remained consistent through the school year, as he was able to secure his position with the Jamiesons through a school-sanctioned co-op program.

With his guidance counselor very agreeable to the idea, Blair has been able to structure his days with greater flexibility.

“I think coming from where I didn't know who [James MacDonald] was helped me build a real connection with him. It's been an honor to learn from him. He's famous and I'm learning all this stuff directly from him – it's been amazing. Then he got me into the job that I have now [with Carl and Jody Jamieson], which really helped me learn a lot more. I still talk with him and he still helps me out.”

– Dawson Blair

During the summer, he wakes up between 3:30 a.m. and 4 a.m., and stays until the work is done.

“When I get there, I feed the horses and wait until they're done eating,” Blair said. “I take care of the two I have a stake in, and another one named Paquet. Earlier, I took care of five, but now I help jog and train the rest of them, so it's less horses, but then I'm on the track most days.

“Weekends, I'm usually in the barn more. It's training day, so it's nice and busy, and I like to stay in there and give everybody a hand where I can.”

When school is on, Blair leaves the barn around 11 a.m. to make sure he's back in time for a pair of classes.

His schedule will remain predictable for the foreseeable future, as Blair will stick with the Jamiesons through summer and head back to school in the fall with his co-op already settled.

In the meantime, the knowledge-hungry apprentice will continue to hone his understanding of young horses.

“Last year, when we got all these babies, it was a really great learning experience for me because I didn't know how to break a baby, or anything,” Blair said. “I learned a lot because it was every single day, one after another. We were up to almost 30 babies.”

Inside that group of youngsters were the pair of rookies that Blair purchased stakes in, Blazin Amazin and Rockstar Vibes.

While both have yet to race, each has supplied Blair with meaningful learning opportunities.

"I bought in 10 per cent on Blazin Amazin, and that helped me build a really nice connection with this horse because I've been with him all the way," Blair said.

"Rockstar Vibes, I own 5 per cent because he was a bit pricier, but he got injured, so he's been off a little while. Obviously, it's unfortunate and you never want that to happen, but he's still been able to teach me a lot. I had to change his bandages every day and give him his medication. Now he's walking around and his stitches are out, so he's making progress."

For as much as Blazin Amazin and Rockstar Vibes have taught Blair, the most important lesson thus far has come from former Jamieson pacer, Fifth And Five.

"You want to get attached because you care about all the horses, but that makes it harder sometimes," Blair said. "I got really attached to Fifth And Five; I got a tattoo of him and everything.

"Unfortunately, he was sold. They didn't want to, but I think that one horse is what really kept me going. He taught me a lot, and I taught him a lot. It was a really great learning experience for me before I got my own."

The last few years have been an enriching whirlwind for the young man who had rarely been around horses before an introduction from his superstar neighbor.

The influence and encouragement of James, Paige, Jody, Carl, and the countless people around him has guided Blair down a path he never foresaw for himself.

"I have such a great support system," he said. "I can't say enough about how much they've all taught me. But there's so many people. Even the other people in the barn, the other grooms, they've all taught me something.

"I tell everybody when I first meet them, 'I'm still learning, but if you see me doing something wrong or you have a different way of doing it, tell me, because I want to know. I want to know everything.'"

That eager mindset has Blair planning to follow in the footsteps of his mentors, and working his way into the race bike.

Until that day arrives, the high-schooler who found his passion with help from some of harness racing's finest will continue to set the example for the next generation of horsepeople.

"If you really have something you enjoy, it can be hard sometimes," he said. "There's really high highs and really low lows, but if you love what you're doing, you can do it for the rest of your life. I'd do it for the rest of my life if I can.

"If you like horses, then this is the business for you."

EUROPEAN REPORT

with THOMAS HEDLUND

Björn Goop sweeps both E3 finals

by Thomas Hedlund

Two $300,000 E3 finals for 3-year-olds highlighted Saturday's (June 27) card at Bergsåker Racetrack in central Sweden – and it turned into the Björn Goop Show.

THAI MEDINA OVERCOMES BRUTAL TRIP IN FILLIES FINAL

Only three lifetime starts, a trip parked three-wide for nearly 1,200 meters, and it still wasn't enough to stop Thai Medina from producing a sensational rally in the E3 final for fillies.

"It's hard to describe," said trainer/driver Goop after the victory. You're almost empty at first."

Courtesy TR Bild
Björn Goop.

“The pace was strong [in the E3 final for fillies] and I had good cover, but we raced three-wide for a long time without gaining any ground. Then, when we turned into the stretch, [Thai Medina] really took hold. It’s difficult to describe – you almost feel empty at first and think, ‘Can this really be happening?’”

– Björn Goop

The 2,140-meter event looked wide open beforehand, with Mattias Djuse-trained Fusion Blaze (Southwind Frank) going off the favorite. Instead, stablemate Najade Quesnoy (Enino du Pommereux) dictated the pace after Mats E. Djuse sent her directly to the lead.

The early stages were fiercely contested, with multiple horses racing three-wide through much of the opening half-mile.

Morning Rain (Face Time Bourbon) advanced into second-over after Västerbo Sparkly (Django Riff) reached first-over following the opening 500 meters, leaving favorite Fusion Blaze buried third-over.

The decisive moves came from the backstretch.

From sixth-over, Goop launched Thai Medina (Face Time Bourbon) with 1,200 meters remaining. His move was followed by Mezzanine (Gimpanzee), which in turn provided cover for the favorite through the final circuit.

Despite the sustained three-wide flow, the outside movers initially made little impression as Robin Bakker continued to apply heavy pressure with Västerbo Sparkly, who looked like the winner entering the stretch. But the demanding first-over trip eventually took its toll. Meanwhile, Thai Medina was just getting started.

Swung four-wide turning for home, she unleashed a devastating late kick, mowing down the leaders before drawing clear for an authoritative victory.

“The goal is always to develop the best young horses possible. So many things can go wrong along the way, which makes it incredibly rewarding when everything comes together.”

— Björn Goop

“The race didn’t unfold at all the way I’d hoped,” Goop said. “I wanted to land third-over, but everyone inside left hard, and when I finally got in, I was last.”

The finish, however, could hardly have gone better.

“The pace was strong and I had good cover, but we raced three-wide for a long time without gaining any ground. Then, when we turned into the stretch, she really took hold. It’s difficult to describe – you almost feel empty at first and think, ‘Can this really be happening?’”

Thai Medina had made only three career starts entering the E3 final, winning her first two before finishing second in last week’s elimination.

“She’s become much more mature,” Goop said. “Earlier she was still quite immature.”

The filly stopped the clock in 1:57 (mile rate) over 2,140 meters.

Daniel Wäjersten-trained Morning Rain closed sharply for second after Wäjersten himself executed a clever drive, securing second-over before splitting horses in deep stretch. Rosie Bros (Maharajah), meanwhile, rallied strongly from fifth-over to finish third.

GROSBOIS GIVES GOOP THE DOUBLE

Earlier on Elitloppet weekend, Grosbois wired the field in $200,000 Breeders Course. This time, he proved just as effective grinding first-over.

The versatile colt delivered Björn Goop his second E3 championship in less than an hour by capturing the colts and geldings division. City Slicker (King City), driven by Örjan Kihlström, defended the inside and led early, while Goop settled Grosbois into fifth-over.

City Slicker first faced pressure from Raidhour Newport (Kadabra), but after only 400 meters Mats E. Djuse launched In The Wind Gar (Captain Corey) three-wide. Stablemate Reagan Boko (Chelsea Boko) also advanced and ultimately secured the first-over position.

With 1,300 meters remaining, Goop made his move. Grosbois swept forward decisively to the outside of the leader before the final lap and from there the race was effectively over. The colt simply proved a class above the field.

“He had an incredibly tough trip, but he was absolutely outstanding,” Goop said.

In The Wind Gar dropped into the pocket during the final lap and finished strongly once clear in the stretch to claim second, duplicating his runner-up finish in the Breeders Course final at Solvalla on Elitloppet weekend. City Slicker stayed on for third after tiring late.

“The goal is always to develop the best young horses possible,” Goop said after completing the E3 double. “So many things can go wrong along the way, which makes it incredibly rewarding when everything comes together.”

Grosbois scored in 1:56 (mile rate) over 2,140 meters, capping a dominant afternoon for one of Sweden’s premier trainer/drivers.

MANE ATTRACTION

with JOHN BERRY

by John Berry

I just heard that two great Hall of Fame Communicators have had their run ended at Goshen Historic Track – yes, that iconic venue just off Main Street at 44 Park Place in Goshen, NY.

I'm still trying to believe it, and can't do so.

Yup, both Roger Huston and Dave Little have been relieved of their announcing chores at that famed half-mile oval just a “ns” away from our sport's magnificent Hall of Fame, if one is at the top of the stretch, and a “nk” away if you're in the winner's circle.

To pour salt on those wounds, Rod Newhart, the exceptional race secretary at the track, has, reportedly, been asked – make that axed – and exits the scene, as well.

Of course, Huston and Little are two of the most popular and well-known purists in our sport and the way they were told that their services were not needed was anything but storied. No phone call. No thanks for their 20-plus years of service in continuing the tradition enshrined at the oldest track in the United States – 1838.

Huston was told in a text message and he, in turn, had to tell Little, who, by the way, would have showed up on Hall of Fame Day expecting to call the races.

Goshen Historic Track president Steve Jones said, “The decision to make the change this year was, quite frankly, a financial necessity.

“We all know that Roger and Dave are icons in harness racing but, since the track is in financial straits with the show put on by volunteers, we were forced to make the change.

“We are not a part of the Hall of Fame, you know, so we struggle just like many other tracks today.

“We are trying to raise $1 million to modernize our grandstand, which was built in 1911, a daunting task in these trying times.

“I understand that the decision was carried out by text by the board and that was not the proper way to handle it. However, it is difficult to handle certain situations and I can understand their quandary here.

Courtesy Dave Little

“We, will miss their service to Goshen Historic Track, but there was just no funding available.”

Huston had, of course, been the voice of the Little Brown Jug from 1968 until 2024 and has been on the microphone for more than 185,000 races from 1960 until the present covering over 160 tracks in 17 States and eight Countries – his initial call two-thirds of a century ago.

Not only elected to the Communicators Hall of Fame in 2000, he also has been elected to several other Halls of Fame and received the prestigious Proximity Award in 2011.

He has also been “blessed” to be the master of ceremonies at numerous special events, including for those inducted into harness racing's Hall of Fame during their Hall of Fame weekend in July, drawing sellout crowds to an otherwise quiet and quaint Central New York locale.

Personally, Huston, who called his first race at Historic Track in 1990, was a key factor in holding the Hall of Fame Trotting event together featuring the sport's leading drivers. He was frequently on the phone calling Hall of Fame drivers, convincing them to participate in the prestigious event year after year. It's unclear if anyone other than Huston has ever called the Hall of Fame Trot prior to this year.

Back about 45 years ago, when I was fortunate enough to win the National John Hervey Award for my story “Catching a Bug for the Jug,” the story contained a Huston “race call in writing” and over the years I received many comments about how readers could actually hear Huston's voice while reading the words.

There is no better compliment than that.

“Calling races at [Goshen Historic Track] meant a lot to me and that’s why it is part of my Hall of Fame sketch. Nothing can take away the happy memories I have had there, as well as the countless friendships made, over the years.”

– Dave Little

Little has played a huge role in the world of harness racing over the years as a quadruple threat: television host, racing editor/writer, race caller and handicapper.

His rise to the pinnacle honor in our sport – the Communicators Hall of Fame – began at age 16, when he took a part-time position at New Jersey’s Bergen Record, which, eventually, turned into a full-time gig.

In 1986, Little moved to the New York Post and, in short order, established himself as that aforementioned handicapping guru with a nine-race complete-card sweep of winners at the iconic Roosevelt Raceway.

Over the years, he has expanded his expertise as mentioned while working for the New York Daily News as a columnist and covered some of our sport’s most prestigious events.

His announcing experience includes stints at Monticello Raceway, the New York State Fair at The Syracuse Mile, Freehold Raceway, the Orleans County Fair in Barton, VT, and, of course, The Meadowlands, where he spends most of his time on their broadcast set.

In 2002, then general manager Thom Young awarded the annual Grand Circuit announcing position at Goshen Historic Track to Little and he excelled behind the mic with Huston as his backup until he was notified of his release by his Hall of Fame Goshen partner by phone.

Reflecting on his announcing career at Historic Track which started in 1988, Little said, “Calling races at that track meant a lot to me and that’s why it is part of my Hall of Fame sketch.

“Nothing can take away the happy memories I have had there, as well as the countless friendships made, over the years.”

Little was elected to the Communicators Hall of Fame in 2018.

Both Huston and Little had 20+ years of service to Goshen Historic Track helping to keep its stellar reputation over the years and the Hall of Fame Trot a highlight during Hall of Fame weekend.

The way Huston was let go left me in tears, and the fact that Little had to be advised by Huston that his Goshen services were no longer wanted or needed brought even more of them.

As an elder statesman in harness racing, this incident brought back memories to me of the grand musician Cole Porter (1891-1964), the great composer and songwriter, who crafted many of the most iconic musicals in history, among them, Silk Stockings

(p, 3, 1:55.2, $694,894 back in 1975), Kiss Me Kate (t, 3, 1:51.3, $283,839 back in 2009), and Can Can (t, 2, 2:08.1, $8,839 in 1977). Remember them?

Like our sport, most of his compositions were hits, and a few not so much.

But one of his greatest compositions was the song A Picture of Me Without You.

It goes something like this:

*“I suppose I’d struggle through
But I’d hate to picture myself without you.
Picture Henry Ford without a car,
Picture heaven’s firmament without a star
Picture good cigars without Havana,
Picture (Governor) Huey Long without Louisiana
Mix them all together and what have you got
Just a picture of me without you”*

There are many more lyrics to the song picturing Central Park without a sailor and just picture Mister Lord without Mister Taylor and picturing poet Ogden Nash without a rhyme and Mister Bulova without the time.

Anyhow, the rude release of Huston and Little make me think of Porter and just how I would have loved to add to the lyrics of A Picture of Me Without You.

Something like this:

*“Picture a woodman’s knife without a whittle
Picture Goshen’s races without Dave Little Picture Mister Ohtani as not a Dodger Picture the Hall of Fame Trot without Roger Mix them all together and what have you got
Just a picture of me without you”*

TALES FROM THE CURMUDGEON

with MURRAY BROWN

A conversation with Mark MacDonald, Part 2

by Murray Brown

Last week's column dealt with the career of Mark MacDonald. This week we are doing a follow up, focusing on his observations on horses and people during his three decades as a participant in the sport.

You've seen them all. You've raced against and watched all of the great horses in your 30 years as a participant in the sport. Who were the best that you've seen?

"It's not much of a surprise that among trotters it's Muscle Hill and with pacers it's Somebeachsomewhere. I'm guessing that if you polled most horsemen active in that time period, the vast majority of them would have felt the same.

"It's really not that much of a horse race. These two did not only excel, they dominated. They were far better than not only their competition, but in my opinion, quite a bit better than any horses that I've been privileged to have seen.

"In each case, we never really saw how good they really were or perhaps could have become.

"It was to the great detriment of the sport that they retired to the stud after their respective 3-year-old seasons. They did that without ever, over any period of time, having been truly tested. I suppose that the argument could be made that Somebeachsomewhere was tested and defeated in the Meadowlands Pace, but the manner in which he went down was not a shame and the margin of victory was quite small. On the other hand, his wins, especially in the Messenger and the Confederation Cup, were among the greatest that I've ever had the privilege of seeing.

"Muscle Hill did not only dominate, he did so seemingly effortlessly. Never did he appear to be stretched out. Never did a single one of his races seem to be in doubt or close to it.

"In each case, I believe that if they had been allowed to come back at 4, they would have dominated in all age groups. I don't think that a racehorse really comes of age, so to speak, until

“There have been a few [trainers] who were extraordinary. You mentioned Jean-Pierre Dubois. Some might say Jimmy Takter. Others will say Ronnie Burke. I'm not prepared to argue or disagree with you or them. For me it's Ake Svanstedt. All I need to say is look at the record. His is exceptional.”

the latter part of their 4-year-old season. I think that if Muscle Hill, in particular, had come back, he would have dominated not only in North America, but wherever trotters are raised and raced. If he had been prepped for and raced in the Prix d'Amérique and Elitloppet, there is no doubt in my mind that he would have become and been recognized as the true GOAT of worldwide trotting.”

Who were the best that you've sat behind and steered?

"With trotters, it was undoubtedly King Of The North. He was an outstanding 2-year-old. He did not come back at his best early in his 3-year-old season. He did round into shape. By Hambletonian Day, he had become the trotter that we envisioned him becoming. If not for the misfortunes of racing luck, he might have won the race. Horsemen always have excuses and that is mine. There is no doubt though, that from that race forward, he was North America's best 3-year-old trotter.

"With pacers, the two best that I've driven were Sportswriter and American Ideal. Both were exceptional racehorses. For pure speed American Ideal might have been as fast a horse as ever lived. Sportswriter was a great racehorse. He is one of the few to have won the Metro at 2, who then came back to win the North America Cup at 3.”

“Speaking specifically of [John] Campbell, [Dexter] Dunn, and James [MacDonald], the one factor that they share in common and one that I believe defines all great drivers is the absence of mistakes. If one were to ask me when was the last time that I saw John, Dexter or James drive a horse poorly, I would be hard pressed to come up with an answer. Simply put, they don't make them or when and if they did, they made far fewer than anybody else.”

— Mark MacDonald

Let's talk about horsemen. Who is the greatest all-around horseman that you've known?

“There have been a few who were extraordinary. You mentioned Jean-Pierre Dubois. Some might say Jimmy Takter. Others will say Ronnie Burke. I'm not prepared to argue or disagree with you or them.

“For me it's Ake Svanstedt. All I need to say is look at the record. His is exceptional.

“Sure, some might say that he has the money and owners behind him. This was not always so. He and others who have climbed the rungs of success, such as Burke, Takter, Melander, and others, almost always started at the bottom and worked their way up by working hard and achieving success as they competed.

“Among other things, what impresses me about Svanstedt is his ability to have horses ready to race when he enters them. It is rare when he has a horse in to race where that horse is not competitive. A horse may not have raced for months or even longer, but when Ake starts one it is always race ready.

“Another thing that really impresses me about his horses and his operation is the physical appearance of his horses. You never see one that looks dead in the shell. For lack of a better term, I would say they glow. Their coats shine. They are in good flesh. Rarely are they rigged in other than a simple manner. All those assets speak to his ability as an exceptional horseman.”

Who are the best drivers, both now and throughout your length of time in the sport?

“Today, most people would point to Dexter Dunn. I'm not inclined to disagree. In terms of ever, I would probably go to John Campbell. Referring to the present, although I might be somewhat prejudiced, I would include my baby brother James [MacDonald] in any conversation of great drivers.

“People might ask ‘What makes a great driver?’ Primarily of course is the undefinable God-given talent to be able to sense how he can best utilize the assets of the horse that he is sitting behind. Add to this, numerous other factors such as knowing his competition, both the horses and those that are driving them and the ability to sense the flow of the race and how to benefit from that flow.

“Speaking specifically of Campbell, Dunn, and James, the one factor that they share in common and one that I believe defines all great drivers is the absence of mistakes. If one were to ask me when was the last time that I saw John, Dexter or James drive a horse poorly, I would be hard pressed to come up with an answer.

“Simply put, they don't make them or when and if they did, they made far fewer than anybody else.

“Dexter hasn't been driving near as long as John did. Time will likely define where he ranks among the GOATs. But in a relatively short period, he has accomplished what few others have. The same applies to James. The question with him is whether he chooses to remain in Canada where he seemingly reigns alone or whether he chooses to hit the road on the Grand Circuit where he will be undoubtedly be competitive. We might get some idea on how things might go in following the racing year of Odds On Mr Mamba.”

GRASSROOTS PERSPECTIVE

with CHRIS LOMON

Bevins Haunty's future is shaped by passion and purpose

by Chris Lomon

"The saddest thing in life is wasted talent, and the choices that you make will shape your life forever."

Those words were never spoken directly to standardbred caretaker Bevins Haunty, but they have guided much of her life.

The quote, delivered in the 1993 film A Bronx Tale, has remained with her since childhood.

"It's one of my favorite movies," she said. "I would watch it with my dad and every time I heard that line, it stuck with me. I always wanted to make sure that I didn't have any regrets and that I didn't go after something I didn't want."

The horsewoman from Bridgeport, a city in eastern Harrison County, West Virginia, has had to make several choices – big, small, and everywhere in between – throughout her time in horse racing.

Thankfully, the overwhelming majority of those decisions turned out just as she'd envisioned.

A lifelong horse lover, Bevins' first hands-on experience came in her early teens when she was offered the chance to work at a local show barn.

"I always had a gut feeling I loved horses and I wanted to be around them, but I never had the connections growing up," she said. "Then I got an opportunity to start working at a show barn on Sundays."

The experience proved transformative.

"This is when I knew horses are what I wanted to do," Bevins said. "I would work from sun-up to sundown on the farm just to be around the horses. A lady who I worked with, Jayne, taught me everything I needed to know, and started letting me ride her horse Silent Arrays Barb, also known as Sophie. One day, Miss Jayne asked if I would like to buy Sophie and she would be my own horse. With tears in my eyes, I said yes and saved every penny I made. This little sorrel cow horse is what started it all."

Bevins opted to take her high school courses online, affording her the chance to work every day and spending more quality time with Sophie.

Little did she know at the time that furthering her equine education would lead her to an entirely new horse world.

"I stayed at the riding barn until I was introduced to standardbreds," she said. "I started working for a smaller trainer who raced at The Meadows, where I learned the basics of harness racing and grooming. I was there for a year."

At 18, she made a major life and career decision, packing her bags and heading off to the Blue Hen State.

"I moved away from my family and everything that I knew," Bevins said. "I didn't go to college, so I always said Delaware was my college. I learned even more – grooming, equipment, I even started jogging on the track and I was paddocking every day."

She also saw a new side of the industry.

"I raced at Dover, Harrington, Ocean Downs, and Rosecroft," she said. "I was a part of a good team with good horses, so winning became an addiction. I stayed in Delaware for a year. I gained a lot of knowledge and met a lot of amazing people and some great friends. At this time, I was also training my own off-the-track horses to be riding horses.”

Despite all of the upside to her new racing life, Bevins felt something was missing.

Once again, she had to make a difficult decision.

“When I turned 19, I started to get homesick, so I packed up my cow horse and an OTTB [off-track thoroughbred] that I gained while I was there and came home,” she said.

Bevins, who lives her life “taking things day-by-day,” had no idea what was in store for her when she returned.

The lure of horses brought her back to The Meadows and an unexpected job offer.

“I had no clue what my next step was, so I started paddocking,” she said. “One day, [trainer] Norm Parker asked me if I would work for him. I was just supposed to be a fill in, but he ended up giving me a full-time position as a groom. I immediately fell in love with the Parker stable, the team, the horses, the program – it was perfect.

“I started with five colts, who were just starting to be broke. This is where I learned how to break baby racehorses. I love working with the babies, growing trust and a bond, and teaching their little minds how to be horses. A lot of people think training horses is just in the saddle or on the track but all of it is actually in the stall.”

“[The Breeders Crown experience with Mr Big Spender] was everything. I looked back at 14-year-old me, who would do anything just to be around a horse to being 20 and at the biggest race in the sport. I owe it all to Norm [Parker], taking a chance on the kid with an unknown last name.”

It was with Parker where she met a pair of top-shelf talents, namely, Hamlet Hall and Mr Big Spender.

She took an immediate shine to both.

“They were always both smart, easy to work with, and have great personalities,” Bevins said. “Mr Big Spender really stood out to us. Being one of the first Captain Corey colts, we didn’t know how he would turn out. Further into his training, we realized he was fast. He won his first qualifier and then his first race and he kept going up from there. This is when I learned about stakes races and stallion series. We started to travel with my colts to different tracks. I loved every bit of it. Almost every week was a bigger race and another new track for me.”

Bred in Kentucky by Kentuckiana Farms LLC, Mr Big Spender took her places she had never been before.

“He made his way up to be eligible for the Breeders Crown, so the whole team was ecstatic,” she said. “Last year, the Breeders Crown was held at Woodbine Mohawk Park in Canada. I had never left the country before, so Norm helped me get my passport. We went for the first time for eliminations and he finished second, so we were in to go for the Breeders Crown. The pressure was on and we had to make sure everything was perfect for the next race. We went back to Mohawk for the finals and we were all nervous.

“It was a lot different from any other race. There were photographers everywhere and all the best trainers in North America. We were definitely the underdog, but the whole team was rooting for us at home. Mr Big Spender finished third and that was good enough for us. We were just happy to be there.”

When she returned home, she realized just how profound the Breeders Crown experience was and prompted a look back on her horse racing journey.

“It was everything,” said Bevins, who owns retired standardbred Blacktree, a 15-year-old son of Dali. “I looked back at 14-year-old me, who would do anything just to be around a horse to being 20 and at the biggest race in the sport. I owe it all to Norm, taking a chance on the kid with an unknown last name.”

Perhaps one day, even more horsepeople will know that name.

Working in the Parker barn remains her sole focus for now.

There is a chance, however, that she will follow in his footsteps in the future.

“I love working for Norm and for however long he is training, I want to be there with him and his team,” Bevins said. “I have thought about maybe going out on my own at some point down the line and having my own stable and horses.”

It’s also a reminder that every choice she makes is a stride toward a future shaped by passion and purpose.

SUPERSTAR FEMALES OF HARNESS RACING

with VICTORIA M. HOWARD

Nadia Tarnawa has staked her claim in harness racing

by Victoria Howard

The sport of harness racing has been around for centuries. Trotting racing in the United States began in 1788, it was introduced to France in 1836, cart racing began as early as 1808 in Italy, and Sweden launched harness racing in the 1880s.

Throughout history, horsepeople from other countries traveled to the United States. Drivers, trainers, owners, breeders, and caretakers all crossed the ocean in search of fame and fortune by doing what they love to do best: work with racehorses.

In fact, some of the sport's most renowned horsepeople such as Jimmy Takter came from Sweden, the McCarthy brothers (Andrew and Todd) from Australia, Yannick Gingras arrived from Canada, Chris Page and Dexter Dunn from New Zealand, and we can't forget the late Herve Filion, who also came from Canada.

Nadia Tarnawa, was born in Bielsko-Biala, Poland. Although harness racing is not as popular in Poland as it is in other countries, it is noted for Arabian horse racing and Arabian breeding.

Not only does Tarnawa have a very important job in the business today — overseeing staking, event planning, and winner's circle responsibilities — but she is the daughter-in-law of Hall of Fame trainer Chris Ryder, and the wife of Chris' son, driver Patrick Ryder.

So, how did a young woman with zero experience or knowledge in the sport end up being so heavily involved?

"As a young girl my father got me involved in every sport under the sun: swimming, skiing, and volleyball. Everything that is, except horses.

“I truly did not know much about harness racing until I met my husband [Patrick Ryder]. To be honest, at first the business and horses did not impress me. When I was at Chris Ryder's house, I would walk past all his trophies and winning photos and didn't pay much attention to any of it the first few years... Over time, especially when my husband decided to pursue a career in harness racing, I began to understand the dedication, passion, and hard work that harness racing truly involves.”

"After I finished getting my undergraduate degree at Rutgers [summa cum laude], the plan was to hopefully attend law school. I worked at an immigration law firm in Princeton [in New Jersey] which I loved but since my husband-to-be at the time decided to follow in his father's footsteps in the horse business, I knew it would be best for our marriage if I used my brains in the harness racing industry instead. This led me to work with John Campbell and Moira Fanning, two of the greatest mentors in the business, who gave me an opportunity to learn and grow.

attention to any of it the first few years. I was a bit oblivious to the world of harness racing and history behind the sport.

“Over time, especially when my husband decided to pursue a career in harness racing, I began to understand the dedication, passion, and hard work that harness racing truly involves.

“What once seemed like just trophies and photos, slowly became stories, memories, and accomplishments that I grew to deeply appreciate.”

So, you jumped in and got a horse.

“Presently, I own racehorses with my husband. Our very first horse we owned together was Lisa Lane. When Patrick decided to make harness racing his career, I said, ‘We need a horse, and we need one now.’

“At that time Patrick was heading to the Lexington Sale while I stayed home for, I was eight months pregnant. As he walked out the door, I told him, ‘Do not come home without a horse.’ The horse he brought home was Lisa Lane, who became the start of everything to us. Today, I am completely hooked, and I continue growing our involvement in the sport.”

Besides being an owner of standardbreds, in what other ways are you involved in the sport?

“Several years ago, I got a job working with the Hambletonian Society as a stakes manager. My job is to oversee all staking for the 164 races that we own and/or service. My role involves working closely with John Campbell, the racetracks across North America, and Jessica Schroeder from the USTA.

“The job is much more than simply collecting payments. It also includes promoting stakes races, creating new opportunities, and planning schedules at least a year in advance to determine when and where races should be held. A large part of my work involves analyzing which stakes may need adjustments in order to remain successful and continue growing.

“This year, we moved the Colonial Trot and Colonial Oaks to Chester, and the result was an increase of more than 60 per cent in stakes payments for those races. Seeing that kind of growth and knowing the positive effect it can have on the sport is incredibly rewarding.

“As I said, my main role is overseeing staking, but when it comes to our major events, such as the Hambletonian and Breeders Crown, I am heavily involved in event planning and winner’s circle responsibilities.

“Because we are a small office, all of us wear many different hats. Being involved in both the operational side of the sport, and the excitement of race day, has given me an even greater appreciation for harness racing and the people behind it.”

This column is dedicated to all the women who are in our sport. Is there any particular female that you admire most?

“That’s a tough question for I have deep admiration for all the women in the sport, the trainers, drivers, TV hosts, grooms, the ladies who work in the office, but especially the mothers and wives whose work often happens behind the scenes. They are the steady support system that keeps everything running, balancing responsibilities, making sacrifices, and holding things together when the spotlight is elsewhere.

“It’s easy to overlook that side of the sport, but it truly is a team effort, and their dedication is a huge part of what makes everything possible: the impact they have may not always be visible, but it’s essential.

“But I especially want to add that a perfect example of this would be my mother-in-law, Nicola.”

Of all the horses you have owned or have been involved with, do you have a favorite?

“Yes. It is Lisa Lane. She was our very first horse and over the years she has become a part of our family. Our son, Harry, absolutely loves her and even calls her his ‘big sister.’

“Patrick was able to learn to drive with her, which made their bond even more special. ‘Lisa’ is a sweetheart and we have her groom, Chrissy Reichenberger, to thank for that. During Lisa’s racing career, Chrissy took incredible care of her and helped shape her into the loving horse she is today.

“Lisa is going to be a mommy, and we are all so excited for this next chapter. I wish we had a bigger backyard so she could live with us at home, because to us, she is so much more than a horse, she is family!”

As a girl who came from Poland with no involvement with horses, you have as they say, “come a long way.” What is your life like today?

“Today my family lives in Bordentown, NJ. Patrick, who I met at one of Ron Pierce’s son’s birthday parties, is quite busy with the horses, and he also drives a lot at Chester, Meadowlands, and Pocono.

“When we have a quiet day, we enjoy doing things with our son Harry. He is our sunshine and brings so much joy into our lives. Thankfully Harry loves the horses and always wants to go to the barn. He enjoys learning all the horse’s names and spending time with them.

“Something that is very dear to my heart is every year, I organize a ‘Kids Day’ at the farm for Harry’s preschool friends. Harry loves teaching the children all about the horses, how to care for them, what they eat and where they live.

“‘Kids Day’ has become a huge success and is a hit every year. It helps promote our great sport and the children, our future, absolutely love it. I strongly believe we need to involve more children in harness racing and what better way than a field trip to Chris Ryder Stables?”

Behind the scenes at the Circus Maximus

by Trey Nosrac

Chariot racing was big business for a long time. The Circus Maximus began around 600 BC and endured for approximately 1,100 years. The first spectators attended races before the birth of Socrates; the last spectators attended races after the fall of the Western Roman Empire.

There were other, smaller circuses throughout the Empire, including the Circus at Maxentius, Circus at Antioch, Circus at Alexandria, and numerous provincial tracks. But the Circus Maximus dominated the racing scene.

The popularity and longevity of the sport are interesting. Putting on the races, and they often raced daily, was a complex task that required scores of people. Perhaps a modern-day equivalent would be the New York Yankees baseball organization or, in our little racing world, the Burke racing stable.

Each elite racing stable required an entire team: horse trainers (magistri) who were highly respected, grooms (strigiles), feed specialists, stable managers, horse doctors (mulomedici), and a business department.

Other occupations differed from today's racing. One of these jobs was the spartor; his job was to prevent horses from choking or getting tangled in the harness equipment.

There were Roman officials called agonothetes, whose duties were arranging and starting the races, resolving disputes, enforcing rules, maintaining order, drawing for post position, and awarding prizes.

Another interesting occupation was that of counting laps during a race. In effect, they were a scoreboard operator. At the Circus Maximus, a giant-sized bronze dolphin with eggs was used to count laps. After each lap, the dolphin was lowered and rotated as the race progressed.

The illustration with this text shows the carceres, the starting gates of the Circus Maximus. To call them mere gates understates the innovation. Occupying the entire flat end of the immense racing arena, the carceres consisted of a series of individual stalls where horses and chariots waited anxiously for the signal to begin.

Roman engineers arranged these stalls in a shallow curved arc, with the outer positions set slightly forward, ensuring that every competitor had the same distance to the first turn. More than 2,000 years before modern racing adopted staggered starts or the starting car, the Romans recognized the importance of fairness at the start of a race and devised an elegant solution.

The start of a Roman race was normally triggered by the dropping of a mappa, a white cloth or napkin-like signal visible to both the drivers and the crowd. The official presiding over the games would drop the mappa from an elevated position above the carceres. Once the cloth fell, an attendant engaged a mechanical system that released the gates simultaneously. With fortunes wagered and factional loyalties running high, a fair start was essential.

As many as 12 starting horses stormed towards the first curve of the spina. The length of a standard race at the Circus Maximus varied slightly over the centuries, but a typical race was seven laps. Each race was slightly over two miles.

As for speed, it was important, but not as important as it is in modern racing. Roman chariot races were more of a tactical and endurance event. The races had more action and were more unpredictable than modern harness racing. The turns were tight, the risk of collision was high, and pacing the horses was crucial. Sheer speed alone didn't guarantee victory; strategy, handling, and avoiding disaster mattered just as much.

The finish line was located at the same end of the Circus Maximus as the starting gates. The chariots would begin their race at the carceres, complete the required laps around the spina (the central barrier with monuments), and then finish in front of the carceres.

Fairness, danger, drama, pageantry, and large personalities – it was quite a package.

Breakfast With The Babies session produces season's fastest 2-year-old trotter by Jeff Porchak for Meadowlands media relations

The Meadowlands hosted the final Breakfast With The Babies session of the month on Friday (June 26) under cloudy conditions with temperatures in the mid-70s and a track listed as fast.

Breakfast With The Babies (BWTB) is presented this year by the Tactical Landing Syndicate, Ecurie D Syndicate, and Karl Syndicate, with those talented trotters standing at Southwind Farms of New Jersey.

Three trainers picked up training triples during Friday's 15 baby races. Petter Engblom, Marcus Melander, and Ake Svanstedt each conditioned three winners, with the latter sending out the fastest 2-year-old trotter of the year to this point.

Starstruck Dreamer kicked off the morning with an impressive effort, winning in 1:55.2. Todd McCarthy sat the bay in third and off the lead as Bona Fide Bluechip (driven by Dexter Dunn) doled out fractions of :29.3, :59.1, and 1:28.3. Edging off the pylons at that third station, Starstruck Dreamer paced home powerfully to pick off the pacesetter and win by 1¼ lengths over Bona Fide Bluechip, with Steamboat Willie (Pat Ryder) charging hard at the end of his mile to complete the top trio.

A son of Captaintreacherous and the first foal from the accomplished award winner Scarlett Hanover, Starstruck Dreamer was a $105,000 purchase from the Lexington Selected Yearling Sale with Steve Wienick Racing LLC of Delray Beach, FL, Pryde Stables Inc. of North York, ON, and Jfoderatritchiecanamerica of Staten Island, NY, as the owners. Bred by Sergent Stables LLC of Blairsville, PA, Starstruck Dreamer is trained by Noel Daley.

JK Simcha made every call a winning one for driver Scott Zeron and trainer Nancy Takter in the session's second baby race. The daughter of Bulldog Hanover—Joyride Hanover left alertly from post 7 against her seven rivals, delivered splits of :29.3, :58, and 1:27 before willingly pacing home in :27.3 to win in 1:54.3, fending off a late bid from Glittering (Ryder) by 1½ lengths. Butterfly Effect (Tim Tetrick) showed good late kick to finish third.

Bred by Eric Good of Davidsonville, MD, JK Simcha is owned by 3 Brothers Stables of New York, NY, after a $125,000 transaction at Lexington last fall.

A winner in the first BWTB session of the season, Wall Of Fame picked up another victory and lowered her lifetime mark with a pocket-popping score in the third dash. Grandiflora (Todd McCarthy) fronted the field through fair fractions of :31.1, 1:02, and 1:31.1, but couldn't hold off Wall Of Fame in the stretch as Andy Miller angled the daughter of Walner—Saadet from the pocket and she trotted by through a :26.2 final quarter to trip the timer in 1:57.4. Grandiflora stayed for second, two lengths back, with Fascination (Jason Bartlett) next best.

Trained by Julie Miller, Wall Of Fame was a $60,000 Lexington purchase from breeders 30 Plus Stable and Klemmer Holdings Inc. of Trenton, ON. She's now owned by Andy Miller Stable Inc. of Cream Ridge, NJ, Jean Goehlen of Franconia, NH, Hutchison Harness LLC of North Ridgeville, OH, and Rick Huffman of Sigourney, IA.

Internal Dialog has shown she's got a nose for the finish line in her pair of appearances, now winning twice by the slimmest of margins. Zeron landed the Megan Scran trainee in third as A Million Reasons (Dunn) delivered panels of :29.3, :59.3, and 1:30.2. At that third station, Zeron started his outer flow approach and took aim at the leader with Internal Dialog. HL Kapara (Tetrick) followed that move from fourth, and those two fillies trotted to the line as a tandem with Internal Dialog holding on to win by a nose in 1:58.3. Besame Chula (Bartlett) finished 2½ lengths back of the top pair in third.

A daughter of Ecurie D DK—Livininthefastlane, Internal Dialog was purchased in Lexington by Ontario-based owners Stephen Palermo of Etobicoke, Todd Coleman of Paris, Jeff Ruch of Innisfil, and Dean Lockhart of Collingwood. She was bred by Concord Stud Farm LLC and Julie Meirs of Cream Ridge, NJ.

Making the biggest splash of the morning, Kountry Plunge showed signs of why she attracted a final bid of $200,000 in Lexington last fall. The daughter of Chapter Seven from world champion Plunge Blue Chip cut all the fractions in her BWTB debut, towing trainer/driver Ake Svanstedt through fractions of :29.3, :58.3, and 1:27.4 before closing in :27.1 for the 1:55 jaw-dropper to win the fifth dash and post the fastest 2-year-old trotting mile this season in North America. Extremely Tactical (Todd McCarthy) was next best, more than six lengths back, with Done And Dusted (Bartlett) in for third.

Kountry Plunge was bred by Kountry Lane Standardbred LLC of Nappanee, IN, with ownership now in the hands of Obm Stable of Delray Beach, FL, Svanstedt & Midnight Sun of Wrightstown, NJ, Bender Sweden Inc. of Vero Beach, FL, and Ecurie Diocles Ab of Sigtuna, Sweden.

The sixth dash of the session produced a positive outcome for Positive Process, a wire-to-wire winner in 1:53.3 to procure today's fastest mile on the pace. Bartlett pointed the daughter of Captaintreacherous—Ideation Hanover to the top from post 6 and she made every call a winning one from there. After fractions of :29.3, :58.1, and 1:26.3, Positive Process persisted on top to fend off late rallies from second-place finisher JK Lady Liberty (Zeron) and Wendy J Stings (Dunn) for the 1:53.3 decision, best by a nose.

Now a two-time BWTB victress, Positive Process is trained by Engblom for owners Engblom Farm LLC of Wrightstown, NJ, and Douglas Sipple of Georgetown, DE. She was purchased at the Standardbred Horse Sales Co.'s yearling sale in Harrisburg, PA, for $65,000.

New Hope appeared collared turning for home in the morning's seventh baby race, but the son of Greenshoe—Cloud Nine Fashion showed force and grit to re-rally for the 1:57.4 score on debut. Tetrick asked the Linda Toscano trainee to set the tempo from post 7, and the colt obliged through fractions of :30.1 and 1:00.2 before being confronted by overland challenger Bentley Blue Chip (Svanstedt) at the 1:30.1 third station. Turning for home, Bentley Blue Chip took over and looked to pull away from his fellow trotters, but New Hope would not yield and came back on for the victory by a neck. Book It Armitage (Yannick Gingras) closed well to complete the top trio.

Plucked from Harrisburg for $40,000 from breeder Fashion Farms LLC of New Hope, PA, New Hope is now owned by Camelot Stable Inc. of Freehold, NJ, Bill Elliott of Woodstock, ON, J P Huber of Dublin, OH, and Radio Racing Stable of Waynes, NJ.

Presidente prevailed in the morning's eighth qualifier, showing a strong late brush to earn himself a 1:57 speed badge. Zeron sat the son of Walner—Grandma's Moni in third as Orpheus (Svanstedt) and Gio's Hope (Dunn) took turns fronting the field through early fractions of :30.2 and 1:00.1. As Gio's Hope tripped the third timer in 1:29.2, Zeron was out from third and starting his rally. Once at the head of the stretch, Presidente said farewell to the also-rans and hit the wire 2½ lengths to the good over Gio's Hope and Orpheus.

Takter trains Presidente, a $175,000 Lexington yearling owned by Black Horse Racing of Pompano Beach, FL, Helene Anderberg of Malmo, Sweden, and Pryde Stables Inc. with breeder Moni Maker Stable of Enfield, CT, retaining an ownership piece.

American Lou just missed in his qualifying debut two weeks back, but the son of Sweet Lou—American Sara found the wire first in the session's ninth baby race. Bartlett pocketed the pacer behind pacesetter Captain Kangaroo (Andy McCarthy) through fractions of :29.3, :58.1, and 1:26.4 before angling out in the lane and wearing down the leader to win by three-parts-of-a-length in 1:54.1. Dog Dare You (Dunn) finished third.

Trained by Engblom, American Lou was purchased in Harrisburg for $70,000 by Engblom Farm LLC and Daniel Sarafian of Unionville, ON. The colt was bred in Ontario by Kim Laird and Farhi Standardbreds Corp. of London.

The 2-year-old colt with the baby race session's highest yearling price tag was Jimdougie Armitage, selling last fall at Lexington for $750,000. The son of Captain Corey—Quick Bet made a statement in his BWTB debut, setting all the fractions and repelling all challenges in a 1:57.2 performance for trainer/driver Svanstedt. Out stoutly from post 2, Jimdougie Armitage trotted through splits of :30.4, 1:00.4, and 1:30 before storming home in :27.2 while fending off a stretch bid from Top Reacher (Dunn) to win by two lengths. Pul Biber (Zeron) snuck up the pylons to best Top Reacher for second.

Jimdougie Armitage is owned by breeder S R F Stable of Del Ray Beach, FL, with co-owners Knutsson Trotting Inc. and Brochart Stable Inc. of Del Ray Beach along with Svanstedt & Midnight Sun.

Secret Lover now sports wins in both of her appearances at The Meadowlands. A winner in 2:00.2 here two weeks ago, the daughter of Chapter Seven—Elegant Touch took five full seconds off that mark with a determined 1:55.2 effort in the morning's 11th baby race. Bartlett asked the trotter to leave early and the filly responded, clearing Orchestra (Dunn) before the :30 opening quarter. After an accelerated :58.3 half and 1:27.4 third station, Orchestra was the only challenger to Secret Lover and those two were noses apart at the wire. In the photo, Secret Lover held off Orchestra, with Dandelion Wine (Svanstedt) completing the top trio.

Bred by Diamond Creek Farm LLC of Lexington, KY, Secret Lover is trained by Engblom for owner Joost Van Riet of De Pinte, Belgium. The filly was a $115,000 yearling purchase in Lexington last fall.

Athena's Girl made a miscue in her Big M baby race debut on June 11, but the Melander trainee minded her manners in the 12th dash and maintained control throughout her morning test for a 1:58 mark. Dunn guided the daughter of Walner—Fashion Athena through the winning effort, with the filly on top through fractions of :30.3, 1:00.3, and 1:30.1 before trotting home in :27.4 to best Creamy Armitage (Tetrick) by a half-length. Oneiromancer (Svanstedt) was best of the rest in third.

Brad Grant of Milton, ON, owns Athena's Girl, purchased from breeder Fashion Farms in Harrisburg for $300,000.

Now perfect in both of his qualifying efforts, Lifetime Dreamer showed poise and potential with his 1:55.4 performance in the 13th baby race. Gingras pointed the gelded son of Ecurie D DK—Lifetime Gift forward off the car and landed on top to front the field at the :29.3 opening quarter. From third, Tactics Guy (Tetrick) brushed to the lead down the backside to take over through middle splits of :58.4 and 1:28, but couldn't hold off Lifetime Dreamer in the stretch as Gingras angled back out turning for home and his colt responded with a final quarter in :27.3 to win by 2½ lengths in 1:55.4. Tactics Guy finished second with Run For You (Andy McCarthy) in for third.

Svanstedt trains and (as Ake Svanstedt Inc.) owns Lifetime Dreamer, a $65,000 Lexington yearling. Co-owners include breeder Brittany Farms LLC of Versailles, KY, Bruni Racing Team Inc and Suleyman Yuksel Stables Inc. of Delray Beach, FL.

Headline had a big bow on his neck before the 14th baby race began, and the son of Walner—Vogue certainly delivered on that amped-up appearance with an impressive wire-to-wire victory. Zeron allowed Headline to put up panels of :30.2, 1:00.1, and 1:29.3 before trotting home in :28.3 for the 1:58.1 tally. Supreme Chapter (Mattias Melander) finished 2¾ lengths back in second with Kountry Win (Dunn) showing better manners in his third attempt to close for third.

Marcus Melander trains Headline, a $160,000 Harrisburg yearling owned by Brad Grant along with breeder Order By Stable of Boras, Sweden.

Love's Passion closed out the 15-dash session of baby races with her second winning effort in as many tries. The daughter of Walner—Secret Passion stepped away quickly from post 5 for Dunn, made the lead heading into the first turn, and then held that lead for the rest of the mile. After fractions of :29.4, :58.3, and 1:27.4, Love's Passion took the final turn wide but stayed strong as City Of Light (Zeron) flashed sharp late speed down the lane to make it interesting in the final strides. Those strong strides couldn't collar the tempo-setter in time as Love's Passion prevailed by a neck in 1:56.2. Caught Speeding (Lucas Wallin) completed the top three finishers.

A three-quarter sibling to sophomore Spencer Hanover — presently the top ranked trotter in harness racing and 5-2 morning-line favorite for tonight's G2 MGM Yonkers Trot — Love's Passion is owned by Jeffrey Snyder of New York, NY, and Arthur Pronti of Jersey City, NJ. The $300,000 Harrisburg yearling, bred by Hanover Shoe Farms Inc. of Hanover, PA, is trained by Marcus Melander — also the conditioner of the accomplished older sibling.

Indiana SIRE STAKES REPORT

Swiss Lights upsets Odds On Mr Mamba in Indiana Sires Stakes

by Connor Mahoney / Harrah's Hoosier Park

Swiss Lights driven by Trace Tetrick for trainer Jeff Cullipher spoiled the Hoosier Homecoming of Odds On Mr Mamba as the Rockin Image gelding pulled off the upset in the third leg of the $95,000 Indiana Sires Stakes 3-Year-Old Colts and Geldings Pace on a wet Friday (June 26) night at Hoosier Park.

Slotted into post 6, Swiss Lights jumped out of the gate the quickest compared to the rest of the field. Grabbing the rail to take an early lead, Swiss Lights led the eight-horse pacing field to the first turn in :26.1 with Dancingdreamer (Marcus Miller) following closely.

Swiss Lights stayed strong to the halfway point in :54.3 with Dancingdreamer, What Nooo Waay (John De Long), King Tellit (Jay Cross) and the post time favorite Odds On Mr Mamba (Peter Wrenn) giving chase. Nearing the turn, Odds On Mr Mamba transitioned to the outside to eventually be first-over on Swiss Lights. Building momentum through the sloppy track, Swiss Lights led the field through the three-quarter turn in 1:22.2.

Swiss Lights refused to open the door to his pursuers, picking up steam down the homestretch in :26.2 to fend off a late charge from Dancingdreamer and Odds On Mr Mamba. Traveling as quick as light, Swiss Lights crossed the wire in 1:48.4 for a new lifetime mark, 2¾ lengths clear. Dancingdreamer got up for second, while Odds On Mr Mamba had to settle for third.

The Rockin Image gelding is owned by Pollack Racing LLC and Jeff Cullipher while being bred by Merlie Schwartz. Swiss Lights added his third win of the season boosting his lifetime earnings to $207,846. Swiss Lights paid $11.20 to win.

Later on the card, M-M's Bud remained hot to repeat in the $22,000 open pace with John De Long aboard for trainer Alvin Miller.

M-M's Bud was able to find a seat in third from the outside post 7 on the first turn, with Golden Bay N (Tetrack) cutting the quarter in :26.3. The field raced single-file to the half in :55.4, before M-M's Bud steamrolled first-over on the far turn to wrestle the lead away at three-quarters in 1:23.1. Carrying momentum into the stretch, M-M's Bud cruised home by 2½ lengths on the wire to stop the clock in 1:49.3. Crooked Smile (Jordan Ross) was second, with Golden Bay N holding for third. M-M's Bud has won half of his 10 starts at age 5, banking $73,790 on the year. Owned by Ted Comerford, Alvin Miller, and Marvin Schwartz, the Tellitlikeitis gelding sports a career bankroll of $379,821.

Atlee Bender also had a night worth celebrating, tacking on a win on the card with Go Pikachu Go after the reinsmen scored his 1,000th career driving victory that morning at the Lebanon Fairground in Kentucky aboard Aww Suki Suki Na for trainer Joey Ayotte.

Bender has been one of the top drivers at Hoosier park the last few years, having a career year in 2025 accumulating $3,665,115 in money won with 235 wins across the Midwest. Back in 2022, Bender totaled 1,000 career starts in a season for the first time in his career kickstarting consistency in the years to follow despite injury in 2024 that knocked him out of half of that season.

Bender's first career win came on July 30th, 2016, at Vernon Downs taking Jet Airway's for trainer Erv Miller to the winner's circle. Likewise, Bender's first win at Hoosier Park came in 2020 with Adjacent for trainer Erv Miller. Building his career with Miller, Bender became a regular for the Miller barn still driving his horses today with his most recent win for him with Dan D Man Can in the third leg of the $97,000 INSS 3 YO Trot on Thursday (June 25) at Hoosier Park. Additionally, Bender shares his talents by driving at Oak Grove where he has become a staple at the Kentucky track.

This season, Bender has 71 of his 120 wins in 2026 at Hoosier Park, putting him in the top six for driver wins. Bender has already hit the million-dollar mark on the year, putting him in a strong position to achieve another career year in the business.

DAN D MAN CAN CONTINUES TO IMPRESS IN INSS

Closing quickly down the stretch, Dan D Man Can, driven by Atlee Bender for trainer Erv Miller, continues his hot streak winning the third leg of the $97,000 Indiana Sire Stakes 3-Year-Old Colts and Geldings Trot at Hoosier Park on Thursday (June 25) to remain perfect on the year.

Out of the gate in post four Dan D Man Can faced a familiar battle with August Salazar (John De Long) before transitioning to the rail forcing August Salazar to claim the lead the long way at the first quarter in :26.4. Getting in on the action, the post time favorite San Patricio (Trace Tetrack) moved up the ranks to snag the lead from August Salazar before hitting the halfway mark in :56.2.

San Patricio looked to stretch his lead dragging August Salazar with him with Dan D Man Can continuing to pursue from third. Maintaining the advantage, San Patricio led the field to the three-quarters in 1:25 followed by August Salazar, Dan D Man Can, and Swan Affect (Marcus Miller). Waiting to pounce, Dan D Man Can took the chance to strike immediately upon hitting the stretch.

Dan D Man Can moved off from the pylons swinging three-deep as August Salazar tipped from the pocket. San Patricio's lead started to dwindle as the challengers gained on the favorite. Dan D Man Can kept his foot on the accelerator blitzing along the outside in :27.1. Ticking off San Patricio, Dan D Man Can strode past August Salazar to hit the wire in 1:53.1. Swan Affect rallied for second, while August Salazar settled for third.

The Dover Dan gelding Dan D Man Can is owned by Red Barn Stable, Douglas Overhiser, and Lava Java Stable. The 3-year-old was bred by Homestead Acres. Dan D Man Can boosted his lifetime earnings to $238,215 for his fourth win in four starts in 2026. Dan D Man Can paid $6.40 to win.

Ontario SIRE STAKES REPORT

Borderline Mobby upsets Beau Jangles, wins first career OSS event

by Dave Briggs / Ontario Racing

Borderline Mobby and James MacDonald upset reigning Canadian and U.S. Horse of the Year Beau Jangles in the lone $140,000 Ontario Sires Stakes (OSS) Gold Series leg 2 event on Saturday (June 27) at Woodbine Mohawk Park. The mile was 1:48.2.

Beau Jangles finished fifth in the field of seven.

The mile was just one-fifth-of-a-second off the 1:48.1 OSS record set by Michael's Power in 2012 at Woodbine Racetrack and came just a week after Borderline Mobby set his career record of 1:48.1 in an overnight at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

MacDonald pushed Borderline Mobby off the gate from the outside post 7 and settled in third as No Waitlist (Doug McNair) led the field to the :25.4 quarter with Redland Rocket Man (Louis-Philippe Roy) in hot pursuit. Beau Jangles (Bob McClure) made his move to the front from fourth up the backstretch and took the field to the half in :53.3. Before the three-quarter pole, Roy put Redland Rocket Man in gear with Borderline Mobby taking his cover. Redland Rocket Man poked a head in front of "Beau" right at the three-quarter pole reached in 1:21.3. In mid-stretch Borderline Mobby took the lead and led a four-horse rush to the wire as Beau faded.

Borderline Mobby defeated Redland Rocket Man by a head, followed by No Waitlist, Wholetthedogsout (Mark MacDonald) and Beau.

Watch the race replay here.

Borderline Mobby paid $14.70.

MacDonald told WEG broadcaster Randy Waples that he didn't think he had the race won, "until halfway down the lane, because 'Mobby,' last year, he'd give you a big kick, but then he got green when he got by them or close to them. Until you get all the way by, especially going for big money, and in with great horses, you never know. About halfway down the lane, he kind of stuck his head in front and kept driving, and it was a four across finish."

It was the first OSS victory for the son of Cattlewash out of Hot Gossip bred by Nicholas Malcolm of Milton, ON and owned by trainer Dave Menary of Cambridge, ON, Larry Menary of Branchton, ON, Ryan Morefield of Howell, MI and Pit Bull Stable LLC of River Vale, NJ. Borderline Mobby was purchased for $25,000 U.S. at the 2024 Standardbred Horse Sales Company's yearling auction.

It was also the first OSS defeat for Beau Jangles, who won all five OSS starts and the $300,000 Super Final as part of his perfect 12-for-12 season last year. He won the first Gold event of 2026 on May 23 at Woodbine Mohawk Park. Beau Jangles came into the race after back-to-back third-place finishes in the elimination and $1 million final of the Pepsi North America Cup at Mohawk.

"That's why we always say they race the horse race," MacDonald said. "We all thought, obviously, if Beau Jangles is himself, he's probably next to unbeatable in there, but my horse has been getting better and better, and raced super last week, and there was a whole field of great horses. It just goes to show you how deep this whole 3-year-old crop is across the North America, and it's going to be a lot of fun."

Borderline Mobby improved to 4-4-0 in 18 career starts and increased his bankroll to $253,645. He is now 3-3-0 in eight 2026 starts and has seasonal earnings of $156,636.

A CLEAN DEAL SETS 1:49.3 CAREER BEST IN LONE SOPHOMORE PACING FILLY GOLD EVENT

A Clean Deal made it two-for-two in 2026 Ontario Sires Stakes action with a career-best 1:49.3 victory on Friday (June 26) at Woodbine Mohawk Park in the lone $140,000 Gold Series leg 2 event for sophomore pacing fillies.

A Clean Deal (Doug McNair) winning the lone $140,000 OSS Gold Series event for 3-year-old pacing fillies on Friday (June 26) at Woodbine Mohawk Park in a career best 1:49.3.

“What makes her so good is you can start and stop her. A lot of fillies, you start them up like that, you won’t get them stopped.”

The victory improved A Clean Deal to 4-0-1 in six 2026 starts and 10-0-2 in 13 career starts. She upped her seasonal bankroll to $205,262 and her career total to $659,726 with the win.

A Clean Deal was bred by Winbak Farm and was sold for $20,000 U.S. at the 2024 Lexington Selected Yearling Sale.

Doug McNair drove the slight 6-5 favorite to victory for trainer Kyle Fellows and owners Yolanda Fellows of Rockwood, ON, Blair Corbeil of Leduc, AB, Windermere Stable LLC of New York, NY, and James Ross of Wingham, ON. A Clean Deal won one of two Gold Leg 1 divisions on May 23 at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

In Friday’s start, Jen Tilly (Trevor Henry) pressed hard off the gate from post 9 and led the field to the sharp :25.4 opening quarter with A Clean Deal on her heels in the pocket. McNair had A Clean Deal out and moving up the backstretch and on top before the :54.3 half. Daya (Jody Jamieson) took her shot before the three-quarters but never quite reached the leader. A Clean Deal hit the three-quarters in 1:22.3 and then pulled away in mid-stretch and cruised to the wire. She defeated Daya by 1¼ lengths. Pownal Bay Bobbi (James MacDonald) was third. Shes A Bulldog (Bob McClure) and Lavender Seelster (Louis-Philippe Roy) grabbed the final two checks, respectively.

A Clean Deal – Canada’s 2025 Two-Year-Old Pacing Filly of the Year – paid $4.40.

Watch the race replay here.

“She kind of paced away a little bit down by the wire,” McNair told WEG broadcaster Greg Blanchard. “I said to the Fellows [family], ‘One [ear] plug came out, the other one didn’t,’ but she paced through the lane real strong.”

The victory was the first start since the daughter of Cattlewash out of Ideal Talker finished eighth in the $420,000 Grade 1 Fan Hanover on June 13 at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

“She had the 10-hole in the final, and I didn’t drive her very well in the elim,” McNair said. “I kind of stretched the favorite out, the filly [Loua Dipa] that ended up being the winner of the final. I stretched her a little too far, and she ended up going a big three quarters and just sucked the wind out of us. It was a bad drive on my part, but sometimes she makes up for it. Tonight, she was just bionic. We rolled out of there in :25 and she kept going.

Miki And Minnie wins in track record time at Plainridge Park

On a day that saw a total of three track records fall, two-time Dan Patch Award winning Miki And Minnie stopped the clock in 1:49.1 in the $27,500 distaff open to establish a new standard for 4-year-old pacing mares at Plainridge Park on Thursday (June 25) afternoon.

Brett Beckwith left from post 5 with Miki And Minnie and battled with the front-running Rocket Deo (Bradley Chisholm) through quarters of :26.3 and :54.4 to the half, where she crossed over, settled on the pegs and really got down to business. Miki And Minnie opened up 1½ lengths passing three-quarters and had a three-length advantage at the top of the stretch. When they straightened out for home, Rocket Deo rushed from the pocket and made up about a length. But Miki And Minnie was relentless on the point and closed out the deal as a 2¼ length winner in 1:49.1, setting the new track mark.

It was the 22nd lifetime win in only 30 lifetime starts for the two-time millionairess, Miki And Minnie ($2.10), who is owned by Craig Henderson, Robert Mondillo, and Lawrence Minowitz and trained by Chris Ryder.

Brett Beckwith had a colossal day at the lines on Thursday. He won four races, including the already mentioned Miki And Minnie, Custard Dolce, Soho Spectre A, and Chalk Hanover to close out his grand slam.

Trainers Brett Pelling, Enrico Robinson, and Cory Stratton each sent two stable members for win photos during the afternoon.

Endurance sets Currier & Ives record and freshman fillies shine in Pop-Up Series

The Friday (June 26) card at Hollywood Casino at The Meadows gave racing fans a featured attraction in the Currier & Ives Trot for 3-year-old colts, along with a glimpse of the future in two Pop-Up Series divisions for 2-year-old pacing fillies.

Endurance lived up to his name in the $90,675 Currier & Ives for 3-year-old colt trotters, overcoming post 9 in the 10-horse field to establish a stakes record with a 1:52.4 victory.

Unhurried early, regular driver Andrew McCarthy avoided the brisk early fractions and settled mid-pack. When Hamlet Hall moved first-over, McCarthy followed at the three-eighths, but stalled cover left Endurance three-wide approaching the five-eighths. As the leaders began to tire, Endurance and McCarthy found room along the rail and held off Hamlet Hall to secure the victory.

A 3-year-old son of Captain Corey, Endurance now owns nine wins in 12 starts and has earned more than $750,000 for trainer

Chris Beaver and owners Super Endurance Stable, Bill Manes, Leo Fleming, and Mark Moger.

The two Pop-Up Series divisions for 2-year-old pacing fillies produced a pair of impressive front-end performances.

In the opening division, the Brown-Schoeffel team captured the victory with That's Faith. Driver Brady Brown guided the Stay Hungry filly patiently through three-quarters in 1:31.4 before asking her for more turning for home. Joined late by pocket-sitter Ea Gator Soup, That's Faith paced her final quarter in :27.4 to prevail by a head in 1:59.3, with a back half of :58.2.

That's Faith was a $17,000 yearling purchase and is owned by Kathy Schoeffel, Roger Romesser, Marian Schilling, and Brett Schoeffel.

In the second Pop-Up Series division, Mike Wilder sent lwillalwayslouveu to the lead, reaching the half in :58.2 with a two-length advantage. After a comfortable backside, the daughter of Sweet Lou sprinted home in :27.2 to score an eight-length victory in 1:55.1.

Trained by Ron Burke, lwillalwayslouveu was bred by and is owned by Burke Racing Stable LLC, and Weaver Brussemi LLC.

On the 12-race program, drivers Brown, Wilder, Justin Irvine, and McCarthy each recorded driving doubles. The Burke stable was the only training operation to post multiple victories, winning twice.

'Gentleman' clubs foes in Big M Pace prep

Friday (June 26) night's feature at The Meadowlands was a high-end conditioned pace for 3-year-old males, but it might as well have been written as a Meadowlands Pace prep, with six of the seven entrants eligible to the track's signature event, which will have eliminations – if necessary – on Saturday (July 4).

Gentleman's Club, who by virtue of a seventh-place finish failed to qualify for the North America Cup final in his last outing, rebounded in a big way, making a bold statement in the 13th race that he intends to be a prolific Pace player, putting on a powerhouse performance during a mile where he went anything but a good trip on the way to a scorching 1:47.4 score.

The time lowered the Aaron Lambert trainee's previous fastest winning time by two-and-three-fifth seconds, and was the fastest in North America for a 3-year-old on the pace thus far in 2026.

"It looks like we're back on track for the Meadowlands Pace," said Lambert. "I just hope we can have a bit of luck next week."

If he has another effort like this one, he won't need much.

With regular driver Andy McCarthy at The Meadows guiding Endurance to victory in the Currier & Ives, Dexter Dunn was in the sulky, and the five-time Dan Patch Driver of the Year hustled Gentleman's Club away from post 5 going parked around turn one as Lindy Dragonwater sprinted away from the field at the start from the rail.

Lindy Dragonwater was on the point at the quarter in :27, and continued to stretch Gentleman's Club out down the backside, as the eventual winner did not clear the lead until just before the half, which went in :54.2.

The action continued fast and furious, as Ubrute then took the top and took the field into the far turn. Gentleman's Club deuce-popped nearing three-quarters, where Ubrute clung to the lead in 1:21.2.

Gentleman's Club now had a full head of steam, but was providing a live tow for a fresh Azrael Blue Chip as they straightened away in the lane.

But Gentleman's Club, the even-money favorite, had little trouble putting Azrael Blue Chip away, and he did so decisively, going on to an easy 1 $\frac{3}{4}$ -length win after sprinting his final quarter in :26.1 in what was nothing short of a breathtaking performance. Azrael Blue Chip, the 8-5 second choice, claimed the place spot, with Ubrute holding third.

"I couldn't have been happier with him," said Lambert. "Dex said he settled down and raced well tonight. He said he seemed to do it very easily."

Owned by Anthony Licastro, Gentleman's Club (a colt by Downbytheseaside—See You At Peelers) recorded his seventh win from just 15 lifetime starts and raised his earnings to $272,581. He returned $4.20 to his backers.

A LITTLE MORE: Brett Beckwith led the driver colony with four wins, giving The Big M's leading pilot a total of 82 for the year. Joe Bongiorno scored twice, and is right behind Beckwith with 79 victories... Lambert, Per Engblom, and Geovany Hernandez each took a pair of walks down victory lane to tie atop the trainer leaderboard... Track announcer Ken Warkentin treated his followers to a big night at the windows, giving out eight winners... All-source handle on the 15-race program totaled $2,390,688... Live racing resumes Thursday (July 2) at 6:35 p.m., the first of three days that The Meadowlands is racing this week (Thursday-Friday-Saturday).

This week's fines and suspensions

HRU is providing links to publicly-available fines and suspension lists for convenience.

Readers are reminded that because a person's name appears on the list does not necessarily mean they are guilty of an offense. Many times, cases are not finalized and many of the accused are still entitled to due process.

Also, please note, for context, the first link is to the Association of Racing Commissioners International's classification system of drug penalties to give readers a sense of the difference between a Class 1 and a Class 4 positive.
