Frank "The Elder" Antonacci on the relationships that enriched a Hall of Fame life

Family, horses and business have intertwined to create an impressive legacy for the co-owner of Lindy Farms and his clan.

by Dave Briggs

Frank "The Elder" Antonacci said he didn't so much fall in love with horses, but rather the relationships horses nurtured. One of his fondest childhood memories was piling into a car with other places. I was just a kid. I was maybe 8, 9, 10 years old and I used to get in the car with all these older guys, like my father and his cousins and we'd go to Liberty Bell," The Elder said. "As a young kid, I was with all those older guys that I idolized, so I'm not sure I fell in love with the horses as much as the situation that I got put into... and the horse was just part of it. The horses were a vehicle to keep me in that realm. Then, of course, you develop relationships and you understand why they like the business so much, why they appreciate the horses so much. From a really young age, it wasn't the horse, it was the situation."

For The Elder, those trips to Roosevelt and other harness racing cathedrals along the east coast in the sport's halcyon days, proved to be the germination of a Hall of Fame life in standardbreds that will be officially recognized tonight (July 2) in Goshen, NY with his induction into the Living Hall of Fame.

Unsurprisingly, family is chief among The Elder's thoughts as he approaches his induction speech. At the top of the list is his wife, Rebecca.

"My wife has been unbelievable for 30, 40 years, putting up with – though, we don't do it as much anymore – driving to The Meadowlands at night and coming back at 3 in the morning," The Elder said.

A close second for The Elder's deep appreciation is his brother, Jerry. Together, Jerry and The Elder operate famed Lindy Farms based in Somers, CT.

"The [Lindy Farms] training center is at Jerry's horse. He's not as visible as I am [in the horse business], but we own the family garbage business and really run the family horse business and golf business [together]. All those things are just different family enterprises. Again, the sum is much greater than all the parts. That's the attitude we have for all of this."

Like the horses, the garbage business — officially USA Waste & Recycling — has been good to the Antonacci family, as have a number of other businesses that include the GreatHorse golf course and Sonny's Place entertainment centre. All of it is intertwined with family and horses.

"I say it all the time, the horse business has made me a better businessman in so many different ways," The Elder said. "I thank the horses for that. There were certain times that certain horses came along early on in the garbage business. The horse business some years made more money than the garbage business. That was many, many, many years ago, but great times."

Preferred Equine's David Reid has been The Elder's friend and business partner for over 30 years. Reid said The Elder, "has a deep rolodex of friends, but what people that don't know him as well probably don't know is how passionate he is about life and people and family. Obviously, from a young age the Antonaccis were instilled to work... They continue to have that old-style work ethic and stress education to move the family and the organization forward. They work hard at it every day."

Working so closely with family can produce more challenges, but the successes are even sweeter.

"Everybody knows there are challenges in partnerships and family businesses... but we try to bring all the people on the boat along with us," The Elder said. "We all have a common goal and that keeps us rowing in the right way and looking at the big picture."

That includes the next generation of family that are active in the businesses. The Antonaccis are the exception to a troubling trend where the heirs of harness racing dynasties often have little interest in carrying on that particular legacy. For the Antonaccis, part of the difference is that important intersection of horses, family and other businesses.

"My three boys and Jerry's kids are all pretty involved [in the horses]," The Elder said of Guy, Sara, Matthew, Philip, Christopher and Frank M. "The horse business, to us, has been really good. We've met a lot of people... You develop different skills and you see successful people all around the world. When the kids see this, I think they like feeling a part of that. I'm very happy that they are all involved."

"We've used the resources in the family to really help us in all the industries. We've got six great kids here that are involved and we're all trying to row together. So far, it's working pretty well."

~ Frank “The Elder” Antonacci

MONI MAKER’S PARIS TRIUMPH TOPS THE ELDER’S HIGHLIGHTS

The Elder estimates he’s owned somewhere in the neighborhood of 2,500 horses in some 50 years in the game.

Despite being a direct part of three of the family’s five Hambletonian winners — Probe, Harmonious, and Victory Dream — campaigning or breeding nine millionaires and winning three Breeders Crowns, one horse racing memory tops

The Elder’s list: when Moni Maker defeated the boys in the 1999 Prix d’Amerique in Paris.

“I consider that the best memory... because I think she was the first American horse to do it in 20 years, 25 years. Growing up, I remember those great French mares. For me, [winning the Prix d’Amerique] was better than anything because it was on the world stage. It was really a dream.”

Yet, The Elder — like his wink-worthy, self-proclaimed moniker suggests — has wise perspective on the horse business. He’s more about the future than the past.

“He always says he wants to move forward and not move backward,” Reid said of The Elder. “He says that from a broad sense, not a selfish sense. He likes to see people thrive. He likes to see the industry thrive. He likes to see other breeders do well.”

Part of being forward thinking led The Elder to lead the charge in America to inject more French trotting blood into American bloodlines.

“It just makes common sense that if you can breed our horses to their horses, then possibly you could come up with a superior individual, considering they are two different bloodlines,” The Elder told HRU in 2016.

GENERATIONAL SUCCESS

Preferred Equine Marketing sends its heartiest congratulations to our friend and longtime client Frank Antonacci, who now joins his father Guy "Sonny" Antonacci and cousin Frank J. Antonacci with his induction into the Harness Racing Hall of Fame.

preferredequine.com

"I'm trying to add a little variety in the pedigree, so that a guy comes here and says, 'Listen, I go and buy all these Muscle Hills and they're all the same, but if I buy this horse and this is the only pedigree in America that might have this, and this is a significant family that produces racehorses, I might have a chance to have a better horse.'"

LOOKING FORWARD, NOT BACK

A steward of the sport, The Elder has served as a trustee of the Harness Racing Museum & Hall of Fame since 2011 and as a director of the Hambletonian Society since 1993. He was a director of the U.S. Trotting Association from 2001 to 2019.

But the propensity to look forward is the main reason The Elder was so passionate about investing in both the Red Mile and the building of the new grandstand at The Meadowlands.

"The Meadowlands, it was a rough time and Jeff [Gural] stepped up and did most of the deal," The Elder said. "We just thought that it was important for us to participate on a higher level, which we did, and we're happy that we did that."

"[Buying] the Red Mile was Bill Perretti, who was a great visionary, but a poor leader. He had to get out of there and it went from five or six different [ownership] groups to three or four different groups now. To tell you the truth, we've really never had a bad meeting with those other guys. I think Joe Thomson realizes how important the place is. George [Segal] for sure realized it and I think we realize it."

With historical racing machines long in place and sports betting coming to Kentucky later this year, The Elder believes big things are in store for the beloved Lexington, KY racetrack.

"With just a few more tweaks, we can become The Meadowlands in the south. I think we could have a big simulcasting signal and we can go to the next level down there, which is really kind of my vision."

"We're building a new paddock this year... It's kind of modelled after some of the thoroughbred paddocks. It will be a free-range paddock and hopefully the fans can walk in there and see the horses. It will be a nice thing for the meet."

"We're trying to make little incremental steps and trying to get a sustainable model so the next generation – the trusts and the estates that will end up owning the racetrack – will have a sustainable model."

And there it is again – the intersection of horses and family and business that made The Elder a Hall of Famer.

Gone but not forgotten

Lucien Fontaine will finally be inducted into the Hall of Fame, albeit posthumously.

by Debbie Little

When asked in July of 2022 how it felt to get the call about being elected to the Hall of Fame, Lucien Fontaine said he was very happy.

"I almost didn't think I'd live to see it," Fontaine said with a laugh. "It feels great. I can't wait to go to Orlando in February [for the Dan Patch awards] and to Goshen in July. I didn't get here on my own and I have a lot of people to thank."

Unfortunately for Fontaine — and harness racing, for that matter — he died unexpectedly in September of last year and never got to revel in or truly celebrate his Hall of Fame election and induction.

USTA
Lucien Fontaine and Forrest Skipper.

His quotes in this story, unless otherwise specified, are from that July interview.

Fontaine said in addition to the horsemen – especially Keith Waples, Clint Hodgins and Forrest Bartlett – that helped him along the way, he also appreciated those writers that never forgot him.

Since Fontaine last drove 34 years before his HoF election, he felt that he may have been a little forgotten by some but said he knew there were a few members of the U.S. Harness Writers Association that supported him and continued to nominate him.

When asked why he thought he wasn't elected years ago like some of his contemporaries, such as Carmine Abbatiello, Buddy Gilmour, Del Insko and George Sholty, he said he really didn't know.

"All I can think is once you step out of the spotlight, they forget about you," Fontaine said.

In 2014, The Meadowlands played host to a Roosevelt Raceway Reunion that both Abbatiello and Fontaine attended.

Fontaine talked about the epic battles he and "The Red Man" had and about how good it felt when he made it to the wire first.

"When I beat Carmine, I knew I did well, and I think he felt the same way," Fontaine said.

When asked if he thought Fontaine should be in the Hall of Fame, Abbatiello looked at him and smiled and said with a laugh, "I guess so."

“Being a catch driver was not the same back then. They didn’t have to pay you the 5 per cent if they didn’t want to. I can’t tell you how many drives I did for ‘free.’ It wasn’t right. You can ask any of the guys that drove back then and they’ll tell you the same thing.”

~ Lucien Fontaine

He went on to explain that he and Fontaine should be there together, just like Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig.

In July of 2022, Fontaine said what may have hurt his chances in the years following his retirement was that the game changed and drivers got so many more opportunities.

“You can’t compare what we did then with what they do now,” he said. “The numbers I had were good but they don’t stack up with what guys can do now.”

For example, in 1968, Fontaine had 264 wins (from 1,359 starts), ranking him second in North America. Currently second this year is Ron Wrenn Jr., who has 343 wins (from 1,305 starts), and it’s only the beginning of July.

Looking back on his career, Fontaine was appreciative of all the opportunities that he’d been given. Although it was sometimes tough going as the one recognized with being the first official catch driver.

“Being a catch driver was not the same back then,” Fontaine said. “They didn’t have to pay you the 5 per cent if they didn’t want to. I can’t tell you how many drives I did for ‘free.’ It wasn’t right. You can ask any of the guys that drove back then and they’ll tell you the same thing.

“With so many catch drivers today, I can’t imagine how they’d feel if they didn’t get paid.”

responsible for getting the 5 per cent driver's commission taken out by the track. He said he knew of a similar practice that was in place for thoroughbred jockeys and that's where the idea came from.

He was also a member of the New York State Racing Commission's rules committee and fought hard for pre-race testing for both standardbreds and thoroughbreds in New York, as well as getting long-term insurance and pensions for horsepeople.

"I just wanted to do what I could to help guys that weren't as fortunate," Fontaine said. "Harness racing was good to me and I wanted to be sure it was good to others, too."

Fontaine pointed out that if he had not suffered a heart attack, needed triple bypass surgery, and, on the advice of his doctor, retired, he would have kept on driving. He was on the top of his game at that time and had he not left, especially following his magical year with Forrest Skipper in 1986, he thinks the Hall of Fame would have come knocking sooner, but he had no regrets.

"When everyone in your family is gone by the age of 50 and you live to be 83, you appreciate everything," he said.

Fontaine grew up with 11 siblings and neither they nor his parents lived beyond the age of 50. Heart issues ran in Fontaine's family and plagued him throughout the latter part of his life.

"When I retired, I got to travel with [my wife] Marsha and spend more time with [my son] Marc and that's what mattered," Fontaine said. "My career gave me a good life, but my family was my life."

Those who knew Fontaine are aware of what a gifted storyteller he was and when asked if he had any particular stories in mind for Goshen, he said he hadn't thought about it yet.

"I'm sure I could come up with something," Fontaine said with a laugh. "My career was cut short, but that doesn't mean I don't have anything interesting to say."

One of his favorite stories to tell was about the time he and his best friend, NHL Hall of Famer and New York Ranger Rod Gilbert, were walking down New York City's 8th Ave. in midtown Manhattan and a fan came running up to them looking for an autograph.

"We were just walking up the street and this girl walks up to us and asks for an autograph," Fontaine said. "So, Rod reaches for the pen and she says, 'No, I want your autograph,' and she hands the pen to me. That might have been the first time it happened but it wasn't the last. How great was it to have two boys from Pointe-Aux-Trembles [QC] on the top [in their sports] at the same time? It was really something."

The Hambletonian Society
Per Eriksson will be inducted tonight into the Harness Racing Hall of Fame.

"Americans never forget"

Twenty years after leaving the U.S. to return to Sweden, three-time Hambletonian-winning trainer Per Eriksson will be inducted into the Harness Racing Hall of Fame.

by Thomas Hedlund

An exemption regarding the visa allowing Per Eriksson to leave Sweden for America became life-changing. As a 20-year-old groom, he wasn't initially allowed to enter the U.S. for work. The age limit, at that time, was 21. But, the exemption was approved and Eriksson embarked on a new adventure overseas.

That American adventure produced some memorable moments in harness racing; so memorable, in fact, that Eriksson will be officially inducted into the Living Hall of Fame tonight (July 2) in Goshen, NY.

So how did Eriksson end up as one of the most successful trainers in the world? And why did he leave Sweden in the first place?

"I worked for Ulf Nordin as a groom and his father, Sören, who had left Sweden for America one year earlier, needed some people to take care of his horses. So I thought it would be exciting to try a new job in the business. After six months or so, Sören needed a second trainer and I was asked for the task," Eriksson said this week on the day before he travelled to the U.S. for the induction.

From there, Eriksson quickly opened his own stable.

"Some of the owners in Sören's barn ended up in a schism with him and they eventually asked me if I was interested in training their horses, and so it became," Eriksson said.

He was still very young when he had to face the increased responsibility that came along with his new role in the sport, but pretty soon he began to be successful. In 1983, the same year he became a lead trainer, Eriksson returned to Sweden with Spirits Supreme, who was invited to contest the Elitloppet at Solvalla.

How does it feel to be inducted into the Hall of Fame, as a Swede, and at this point in your career?

"It's fantastic. I'm not bragging now, but with the merits I had in America... I'm not very surprised and that is also because they don't forget you in the USA. But, of course, it feels amazing to get this award 20 years after I left the country."

You never thought that too much time had passed and it was too late for you to be inducted?

"I honestly think that many people wanted me to be in the Hall of Fame and, as I said, Americans never forget."

Looking back, any regrets about leaving the U.S. in 2000 when you were at the top of your game?

"No, we've never regretted that, my wife and I. We had promised our kids that they were going to school in Sweden and there were no negative energies surrounding us when we moved back home to Sweden. But there are things I miss from my years in the U.S. The country, people, the life we lived there... I can miss that sometimes."

What can you tell about, and what do you remember most about your three Hambletonian winners?

"Prakas was a special horse, a star and a damn good horse, while the other two winners, Giant Victory and Alf Palema, were longshots in the Hambletonian. There were many special things about Prakas. My wife took care of him and we weren't even together at that point, so that's a nice story, too. Alf Palema was partly owned by me and economically that victory was important and big, but with Prakas... the pressure I felt — and you must remember that I still was young. I was only 25 years old when he won Hambletonian. Besides, the horse was syndicated for a large amount of money.”

What single accomplishment are you most proud of, besides the Hall Of Fame induction?

”I’m very proud of the entirety of all the years in America. Ninety-eight per cent of my life was about running the company and that became our life. So, the fact that we were surrounded by so many good people — young people that wanted to be a part of the team — for so many years is probably what makes me most proud.”

Which people have been most influential in your career?

”Sören Nordin, for sure, is the trainer that influenced me most. Sören was a master and it was incredible just to be able to sit beside him when we trained the horses. And the fact that Sören was not a master in the English language was an opportunity for me to be even closer to him as he needed help with translations pretty much everywhere we went. Carl Dugan, who bred Baltic Speed, helped me a lot economically when I started as a trainer in the U.S. So, he was important for me for another reason than Sören’s influence on me.”

Who will be by your side tonight in Goshen?

”My wife, three of my four children, Jonas Czernyson... We are 11 in total so it will be a pleasant day.”

Last thing, and it’s another achievement in your professional career. In 2015 you created history in Sweden when your Royal Fighter won one of the elimination heats for the Elitloppet with female driver Jennifer Tillman in the sulky. She was the first woman to win an Elitloppet race.

”Yes, that was really a big thing and a very happy moment for me and Jennifer. The horse had no luck in the final and finished between horses with a lot of power left, but the whole day was very special, and surprising.”

Bob Roberts, Ken Warkentin to be inducted tonight into the Communicators' Hall

by United States Harness Writers Association

The United States Harness Writers Association (USHWA) is pleased to announce veteran racing writer Bob Roberts and broadcaster Ken Warkentin will be inducted tonight (July 2) into the Harness Racing Communicators Hall of Fame in a ceremony at the Harness Racing Museum & Hall of Fame in Goshen, NY.

Also being honored are the new members of the Living Horse Hall of Fame: Hannelore Hanover, McWicked, My Little Dragon, Road Bet and Yankee Glide. Charlie Coleman, Dr. Gordon Gilbertson, Ira Malott, Margot Taylor, Edward Willis, Adios Scarlet and Exciting Speed will be inducted as Harness Racing Immortals. The 2023 Museum Amateur Driving Champion is Charlie Longo. Bulldog Hanover will be honored with the Delvin & Mary Lib Miller 2022 Horse of the Year Perpetual Trophy and Jim Brooks will receive the Pinnacle Award.

Roberts is a "double-gaited" horse racing writer, having worked on both the standardbred and thoroughbred beats for many years. He began his career in 1970 in Cleveland, and worked for several newspapers in the Buckeye State, making most of his fame at The Cleveland Plain Dealer, for whom he worked some 30 years. He also served as publicity director at the Thistledown racetrack on the shores of Lake Erie. For a while he was a columnist for The Horseman And Fair World magazine.

Roberts has been honored several times in his career for his storytelling ability, most notably with a John Hervey Award in 2003. He also interviewed the star-crossed standardbred horseman Walter Case Jr. for his newspaper in a widely-read feature. On the runners side, he won a Golden Quill award for feature racing about the Waterford Park (now Mountaineer) racetrack in West Virginia, and his 1988 piece on the Preakness was judged the top story produced on that year's Triple Crown classic. Roberts has also won numerous state-wide awards for his coverage of racing on both sides, and has shown depth of perspective and extended knowledge in writing about both sports.

Warkentin started race calling in the Toronto area as a teenager, and progressed on to racing at higher levels of tracks, such as Flamboro Downs and Northfield Park, before joining The Meadowlands in 1991 in one of the most high-profile spots in the industry, sharing announcing, television, and publicity duties with the late Communicators Hall of Famer Sam McKee. There he has stayed for over three decades.

Warkentin has called something in the vicinity of 235,000 races, but his best-known two dozen calls have come for The Hambletonian, North America's premier harness race. He has worked for NBC and ABC, ESPN, CBS Sports Network, and Fox Sports during their coverages of the trotting classic. The prolific Warkentin also turns out numerous press releases, including his "Road To The Hambletonian" in the weeks leading up to that race, and conducts an annual Race Callers Fantasy Camp. He has been recognized for his work at the Elitloppet, Sweden's premier harness race, and frequently returns to his native Canada for guest appearances. Somehow he also finds time to participate in and referee hockey.

Scott Zeron is a success on and off the track thanks to mom and dad

by Murray Brown

Scott Zeron's dad, Rick, helped him get started as a driver, while his mom, Joyce, made sure he always had something to fall back on.

"Scott was about 12 years old when he first told me he wanted to become a driver," said Rick. "I believe I responded that I would do everything in my power to help him become the best he possibly could be."

Courtesy Scott Zeron

Scott Zeron wanted to be a driver at age 12. He has long dreamed about winning the Pepsi North America Cup.

"My dad did exactly that," said Scott. "In all the years I've been with him and around the horses, he has been nothing but a positive source. He not only has given me great opportunity, but his guidance and support is incomparable. To this day, he is a great teacher, my best friend and the biggest fan I have. He watches all my races. Every night on my way home from the races we talk and analyze the races; those that have taken place and those that are yet to come. He never criticizes me. I know I make mistakes; hopefully less and less as I grow older. It's pretty great to have him and his vast experience from which to keep learning."

At the age of 34, Scott has already accomplished what few other drivers have done in a lifetime in the sport. He has won two Hambletonians, two North America Cups, the Little Brown Jug, the Metro, innumerable major stakes wins, various Horse of the Year category winners and he's just getting started.

"I've been around horses all my life. I would go to work with my dad when I was around five years old in Montreal. When I was around 12, I had decided that I wanted to become a driver. My mom thought differently, though. She wasn't opposed to my being in the horse business, but she felt that it was of the utmost importance that I had a good education. I didn't see anything wrong with that. I've always been fascinated with numbers. So, I studied and graduated with a diploma in accounting. I thought that being an accountant would be there for me if I needed it."

~ Scott Zeron

Scott Zeron kissing the 2023 Pepsi North America Cup after driving It's My Show to victory.

According to USTA numbers you have driven the winners of over $94 million. As this is written there is a good chance that you will go over $100 million before the year is over. What got you to where you are?

"I've been around horses all my life. I would go to work with my dad when I was around five years old in Montreal. When I was around 12, I had decided that I wanted to become a driver. My mom thought differently, though. She wasn't opposed to my being in the horse business, but she felt that it was of the utmost importance that I had a good education. I didn't see anything wrong with that. I've always been fascinated with numbers. So, I studied and graduated with a diploma in accounting. I thought that being an accountant would be there for me if I needed it.

"I wanted to pursue a driving career first. I had somewhat of a late start at jogging and training horses because my father was stabled at a racetrack where you had to be 16 to be allowed on the track. At 18, I passed my driver's test and dad sent me to some of the "B" tracks in Ontario to learn as he phrases it 'how to drive a bad horse good.' In my first start at Hanover Raceway, I drove a horse named Weird Albert for Victor Puddy who had a large stable. At the time, I weighed in at 119 pounds and had very little arm strength. That horse would have been very hard for a professional to drive; for me it was nearly impossible.

"I was able to keep it in a hole until the quarter pole. We ended up finishing fifth. Both of us were quite tired. My whole family was there. Dad was brimming with pride watching my first race. 'How was it?' he asked. I responded, 'If that is what driving horses is like, I don't want ever to drive one again.' Thankfully I learned that not all horses are like that one. It also taught me the importance of physical conditioning. I have worked out regularly since.

"Fast forward, I became the dash winning driver in Canada in 2010. That gave me the confidence needed to move up to the WEG circuit. I gradually obtained some Grand Circuit drives from trainers like Casie Coleman and Tony O'Sullivan while there. One of them was with Michael's Power who went on to win the Little Brown Jug and subsequently won the O'Brien Award for being Canada's Horse of the Year."

Then you came stateside. How did that evolve?

"I had my first U.S. drives for the Antonacci family while I was still living in Canada. Frank M. would put me down to race some of their young horses on both sides of the border. I have what I suppose is a well-earned reputation for being a conservative driver. That aligned with their methods. It has been a philosophy which has served me well, especially with young horses. The main reason for my heading south was the cancellation of [Ontario's] Slots at Racetracks Program coupled with encouragement from Tony Alagna and Myron Bell giving me confidence to set up shop on the east coast."

From there?

"Tony [Alagna] started using me as a driver regularly in my first year here. Tony and I hit it off with a bang with Artspeak in the Metro. Artspeak subsequently became the Dan Patch winning 2-Year-Old Pacing Colt of 2014. Tony and Myron have always been encouraging forces in my career."

Of all the horses you have driven, which one has been your favorite?

"The favorite is also the best one. That undoubtedly is Atlanta. She showed talent at 2, but made breaks early on. You asked if I could foresee her becoming the great filly that she ultimately became. The answer to that would be an unequivocal, 'No!' How in the world could anybody have foreseen the greatness that was to come? She trained back extremely well at 3. Her first qualifier was quite impressive. From each and every start from then on, she made progress. Then at Vernon, she set the track record in winning the Empire Breeders Trot. At that point I began having visions of having a horse that could win the Oaks or maybe even the Hambletonian itself.

"I remember the conversation with my dad. 'Dad, you finally have your Hambletonian horse! [His lifelong desire was to have a trotter good enough to race in the Hambletonian]: I think dad may have misunderstood me, thinking I was referring to the Oaks and not the big one itself. He said, 'The Oaks is on our schedule.' 'No,' I responded, 'Not the Oaks, the Hambletonian itself! I've been at The Meadowlands all summer. I've seen the colts she will be facing. She can beat them all.' From that point forward the Hambletonian was our goal.

"In the elimination, I let the speed get away from me. My fractions were too quick and she got nipped at the end. She nevertheless came out of that heat just fine. I still felt she was the best horse going into the final. Dad told me that the last thing I said to him was, 'I'll see you in the winner's circle.' Of course, it happened. Dreams sometimes do come true."

Owner/breeder Richard Young has said that he has decided not to supplement It's My Show to the Meadowlands Pace. What are your thoughts?

"He is almost certainly doing the right thing. If It's My Show was still a stallion, I could see the motivation to supplement him to the race. But then again, if he were still a stallion, he would probably still be eligible to it with no need to supplement. The Meadowlands Pace is one of our great classic races. Of course, Linda Toscano and I would love to have one of the best horses racing in the Meadowlands Pace.

"In terms of what is best for the horse and the Youngs, Richard has made the right decision. If It's My Show were still a stallion winning the race would certainly add to his resume when entering the stud. Richard Young is not your ordinary horse owner. Most owners would be upset at having a horse like It's My Show not being a stallion. Richard thinks otherwise. He loves racing. He looks forward to seeing him race for years of enjoyment rather than losing him to the stallion ranks. I suppose it's an example of differentiating between having one's glass half full or half empty."

What does the future hold for Scott Zeron?

"I hope to continue to capitalize on the great opportunities that I have been given. I will continue to work extremely hard. That is my number one plan. I hope to keep working with top quality horses. I hope to remain in the race bike and not become a guest announcer as I became last year at the Hambletonian.

"I'm looking forward to the Hambletonian and the Oaks, hopefully as a participant. I hope to continue being a part of It's My Show's career. If all continues well and we finish with a successful full season, my father, Megan and myself might head to Florida to train this winter in preparation for what will hopefully be another great season.

Up Your Deo wins Yonkers Trot, Captain Batboy takes Messenger

On the stakes undercard, Secret Volo won the New York New York Mile and Earthwindfire triumphed in the Park MGM Pace.

by Yonkers Raceway media

Up Your Deo, fresh off a track record win in his elimination a week ago, kicked off this year's Trotting Triple Crown with a 1:53.3 triumph for trainer/driver Ake Svanstedt in the $300,000 MGM Yonkers Trot for 3-year-old colts and geldings on Friday night (June 30) at MGM Yonkers Raceway.

Starting from post 2, Up Your Deo, who miscued briefly past the start in his elimination score, got away cleanly this time and settled in third behind Chapercraz (Yannick Gingras) and Ari Ferrari J (Dexter Dunn). Chapercraz would post opening-half fractions of :28 and :57.2, with Svanstedt waiting until early on the third turn to move out first-over. Unfortunately for Svanstedt, his other horse in the race, Kierkegaard K (Mark MacDonald) went off-stride as he was flushing out Up Your Deo to follow, spoiling his chances of success.

Chapercraz quickened once Up Your Deo pulled and maintained command at the three-quarters in 1:25.3, but Up Your Deo had advanced in second on the outside at that point. They would continue to race in that order around the final bend and into the stretch, and although Chapercraz was game and tried to fend off Up Your Deo, it was to no avail, as Up Your Deo sailed by halfway through the drive on his way to the win by three-quarters of a length. Chapercraz was the runner-up, with Ari Ferrari J, Devilish Hill (Andy McCarthy) and Tillio's Action (Jordan Stratton) finishing third through fifth.

"I had to ask him a little. He answered immediately, then it was an easy win," said Svanstedt. "I don't know the schedule right now, but I hope [he's a Hambletonian horse]. We're going for that."

Bred by co-owner Deo Volente Farms, the victorious Warner—Grand Stand colt is also co-owned by Svanstedt, Suleyman Yuksel Stables Inc. and Van Camp Trotting Corp. Up Your Deo now has three wins, three seconds and two thirds from 12 efforts, has earned $281,487 and returned $3.40 to win as the 3-5 favorite. The exacta was worth $21.20 and the trifecta kicked back $70.00.

Up Your Deo (Ake Svanstedt) winning the Yonkers Trot on Friday in 1:53.3.

"The horse has come along really extremely well. He had bad luck as a 2-year-old," said Mike Gulotta of Deo Volente Farms. "We were very lucky to own a piece of this horse. I actually went to congratulate Sarah Svanstedt for buying the horse. He was a $100,000 Walner, and she said 'well, I have 20 per cent left, do you want it?' and I said 'absolutely.'"

"Mike Gulotta is like my brother. I invested in Deo Volente Farms and when I started watching the horse, I said this horse has talent," said Tom Pontone, another partner in Deo Volente. "The best part about it is we still own the mare and we still have a foal on the ground. She's pregnant now, so we hope for great things to come in years to come."

Gulotta added that Up Your Deo is heavily staked for the remainder of his sophomore campaign.

The companion filly race to the MGM Yonkers Trot, the $100,000 New York New York Mile, went to 8-1 shot Secret Volo, driven by Brian Sears. She shot to the early lead from post 7 but would end up third past the :27.1 opening quarter as first Walner Payton (Dexter Dunn) and then heavy favorite Sadie Hanover (Scott Zeron) moved by her.

Sadie Hanover would go on to click off the half in :56.1 and the three-quarters in 1:25.1, with Sears tipping and rolling Secret Volo first-over passing the latter station. Secret Volo advanced to battle with Sadie Hanover, but it was a quick duel as Secret Volo took the top spot on the rim midway through the final bend, and after Sears kicked out the earplugs coming off the turn, Secret Volo widened on her rivals to prevail by 2 3/4 lengths in 2:00.4 for the mile and a sixteenth distance. Walner Payton, Sadie Hanover, Warrawee Yes (George Brennan) and Topsy Moni (Jim Marohn Jr.) completed the top five.

"She's a great filly. She was second behind Special Way last time. The eight-hole didn't bother that much to be honest because she was going around there very good. It was exciting, of course," said winning trainer Marcus Melander. "She's proven herself before that she can race against the best ones. She's been very unlucky in these big races because she draws bad every time. I don't want to blame that, but she really does. She's racing good every week. "She's probably got the Delvin Miller in two weeks at The Meadowlands."

A daughter of Walner—Secret Serenity bred by Jorgen Jahre and Kentuckiana Farms and owned by Heights Stable, Rick Wahlstedt and Kenneth Kjellgren, Secret Volo made her third appearance in the winner's circle and has now banked $304,688. She paid $19.60 to win and keyed a $72.50 exacta and a $164.50 trifecta.

Captain Batboy and driver Jordan Stratton made every call a winning one, capturing the $250,000 MGM Grand Messenger Stakes, the first jewel of Pacing's Triple Crown in a sparkling 1:57.4 clocking for the mile and one-sixteenth distance. The son of Captaintreacherous—Giver To Er, a winner of just $94,468 entering the race, more than doubled his earnings for owner Joseph Smith and trainer Tom Fanning.

With 10 horses in the field the Messenger was turned into an added-distance affair, hoping to balance out the odds for the trailers. The action was hot and heavy with the longer run into the first turn as Strengthfromabove (Yannick Gingras) jetted to the front followed by American Fling (Jason Bartlett). American Fling had the lead early, but Captain Batboy and Stratton used most of the quarter before clearing in a wicked opening fraction of :26 seconds.

Mike Lizzi

Captain Batboy (Jordan Stratton) winning the MGM Grand Messenger Stakes on Friday in 1:57.4 over a mile-and-one-sixteenth.

The 7-5 favored Seven Colors (Tim Tetrick) pulled early on the second turn hoping to fish out cover, and he was followed by It's a Me Mario and Bamboozler, with the latter two racing parked out from the outset. Annapolis Hanover (Hunter Myers) saw Tetrick coming and pulled late on the second turn to challenge for the front. With all the jostling for position behind him, Stratton was able to stall the second quarter to get to the half in just :54.3, and that was too slow for some, including Strengthfromabove and Gingras, who was parallel to the ground while trying to keep his horse safely in the three-hole. Tyler Buter had even more trouble following fourth along the pylons with Thunder Hunter Joe and briefly veered off following the half but did not interfere with It's A Me Mario, with Brian Sears steering around the potential incident and losing no ground.

The outer flow stalled as Stratton kept the motor running on Captain Batboy as he passed three-quarters in 1:22.4 and fought off pressure from Annapolis Hanover. Seven Colors came wide, as did Bamboozler (Dexter Dunn), but neither was able to fire, leaving the top three along the pylons with freedom to pace as hard as necessary. Gingras angled Strengthfromabove to the outside late on the final turn and made a race of it, but after passing the mile marker in 1:50.4, Captain Batboy still had a final sixteenth of seven seconds to his credit and held his rival at bay for the biggest win of his young career. Strengthfromabove was a clear second, with Thunder Hunter Joe pacing home well for third. American Fling, the early leader, faded to fourth, with Joemikiyoursofine never leaving the pylons and gaining the fifth check.

"He races best on the front-end," said Stratton following the victory. "He was really sharp qualifying last week at The Meadowlands and was as good tonight."

As the 2-1 second choice Captain Batboy returned $6 to win. The exacta was worth $40.60 and trifecta $377.50. A 10-cent superfecta returned a healthy $113.65 with the favorite out of the money.

In the companion $115,000 Park MGM Pace for the fillies, Earthwindfire (Tim Tetrick), the odds-on favorite, was able to clear to the point early on from post five, posted fractions of 27.3, 56.1 and 1:24.2, and held on through the stretch and to the wire, defeating pocket-sitter Ucandoit Blue Chip (Scott Zeron) by a nose in 1:53. Turn On The Charm (Marcus Miller) rallied from second-over to be third, followed by Treacherous Penny (Andy McCarthy) and True Blue Hanover (Jason Bartlett).

"It was a good effort. She's a better chaser, but she's had a couple weeks now where she's been in front. She has great speed, and I guess when they have speed, the drivers utilize it. She was good," said winning trainer Brett Pelling. "I think her next race will be at Tioga, which is like two and a half weeks from now."

Pelling trains Earthwindfire, a daughter of American Ideal—Road Bet bred by Stephen Dey III, for owners Mel Segal, Kentuckiana Racing Stable and Tulip Racing. Earthwindfire has a record of 9-4-0 from 14 starts, pushed her earnings to $436,250 and paid $3.30 to win. She was atop an $8.40 exacta and a $25.20 trifecta.

Half Broke, a memoir

Book review by Trey Nosrac

Since you are reading these words, the chances are good that you often interact with humans and horses. The odds are also good that you are fascinated by horses, perhaps even find them somewhat magical. Ginger Gaffney, the author of Half Broke, is a horse trainer cut from the same cloth as many of you. I stumbled across her book at the library and enjoyed the read. But for me, it was a troubling read.

Imagine this scenario:

You are a veteran professional horse trainer with a reputation as a horse whisperer. You receive a text asking for help. The text comes from a prison ranch, an unusual prison of approximately over a hundred prisoners run by inmates without staff or guards. Among this prison population are a dozen women inmates. These are not white-collar criminals. The inmate population has drug addicts and tattooed gang members, all transfers from traditional prisons that have petitioned to spend part of their sentence on a working ranch. Inside the 12-foot walls of this prison in New Mexico, the horses have turned feral and dangerous, injuring some inmates.

The inmates/residents have horrific addictions, criminality, or poverty in their backgrounds. The prison farm is another stop on their challenging road to a better future. But if they backslide, they return to the traditional prisons they came from. Within this milieu of prisoners, 10 prisoners compose the livestock group. This group oversees the horses despite being inexperienced and wary of the marauding herd.

The horse trainer answers the call. This book recounts a year and a half that the author spent teaching and working at this alternative prison. The troubling aspect of the book is the harsh reality that everyone involved, the convicts, the horses, and the author are all damaged physically, mentally, and socially. The pain, the problems, and the baggage of all parties are relentless. The troubled and addicted will not necessarily find recovery or redemption. This book is not a happy ending fairytale.

Gaffney is magnificent in her ability to read and communicate with horses. Each movement, twitch of a horse's ears, eyeball turn, and breath intake mean something to her. The beautiful descriptions she shares of horse communication will interest any horseperson.

Gaffney is magnificent in her ability to read and communicate with horses. Each movement, twitch of a horse's ears, eyeball turn, and breath intake mean something to her. The beautiful descriptions she shares of horse communication will interest any horseperson.

"With horses, it is best to do everything right first. Otherwise, you spend all your time undoing the unwanted behavior. That first night I take Rootbeer and Moo home to my barn. Early the following day, I got Rootbeer out of her stall. She moves away into a corner, turns, and faces me. Then she raises on her hind legs like a circus elephant doing a trick.

"She comes back down and rears, with her ears bright and pointy. I think I see a smile on her face. Every horse has a signature move. They do it for fun in the pastures or corrals with fellow horse mates. She is not trying to hurt me. This is the Best of me - she seems to be saying. And who are You? Watching Rootbeer in the air, with her belly exposed to the sun, I understand that she wants to play, that she wants me to know something about her."

Gaffney sees the struggling humans in the livestock group through a horse's eyes. She is much more at ease and comfortable with horses than with people. Horses seem to be her only relief from her troubled past. There is growth and healing using horses as a bridge, but the development and trust are fragile. Heartbreak and pain are around every corner, lurking, waiting to drag every member back into the darkness.

The structure of this memoir is jagged (several of the chapters appeared as stand-alone stories or essays). The flashbacks to Gaffney's struggles with sexuality, her early work with horses, and her loneliness are fascinating and well-presented. However, the flashbacks interrupt the meat of the story, which is building relationships with these horses and these people.

Many of you might put yourselves in her boots, asking what you would do with a problem like this:

"Luna's wound site is swollen and full of puss. Her right eye is shut and padded, like an overstuffed pillow. It looks like it is ready to blow. A trickle of yellow oozed from the corner where the infection had sunk beneath the surface of a five-inch zigzag crack blazing across the center of her face.

"Luna and her sister Estrella, black and white paint horses, have roamed free on this 17-acre ranch, uncatchable for the past two years. The ranch residents have chased them into every corner and every structure, even the 70-foot pen. No one has been able to lay a hand on them. Sara told me what happened to Luna. One of the residents, a part-time roper and part-time drug smuggler from Las Cruces, ran Luna into a stall six weeks ago. His loop fell halfway across her face as she reared up. She smacked her head on the 12-inch overhanging shelter beam. Blood splattered everywhere as Lunas shot out of the shelter, knocking the cowboy off his feet and catching her left hip on a t-post. Her flank sliced open like two parting lips."

Gaffney finds a way to solve the equine problems, but the human issues; not so much.

SUPERSTAR FEMALES OF HARNESS RACING

with VICTORIA M. HOWARD

Ellen Bartley – Trainer/ driver/equine sports therapist

by Victoria Howard

You may not be familiar with Ellen Bartley. She reigns from the other side of the world – Australia.

“I was born in Kyabram, Victoria, but now reside in Narrandera, New South Wales,” Bartley said. “My father and grandfather were both involved in harness racing, thus I followed their footsteps.

“Currently, I have 18 horses that my partner, Blake Jones and I, own and train. The majority of the time we race our ‘kids’ at Wagga Wagga, but also head to Sydney, and up the interstate to Melbourne.”

The ‘kids’ she’s talking about are: Tygerphinn, Ella’s Reason, Major Thinker NZ, Dun Me Up Fancy, Hy Proactive, Red Shores, Bolanalong, Pirani Princess, Hereshecomessassy, Admirable NZ, Be My Girl, Manhattan Bridge, Miki Pins NZ, Brooklyn Bridge Resume NZ and Island Bouhenia.

Bartley has been training standardbreds for nine years and driving them for 10. Her best horse to date is Miss Chantilly NZ, who had a personal best time of 1:51.6 before being sold and shipped to her new owners in America.

“Although my fiancé, Blake, does 90 per cent of our driving, I still hop in the gig if we have a double up or if he has a drive for another stable,” Bartley said. “My biggest win as a driver was in the TAB regional championships. It was so thrilling as it was a pretty big race with the purse of $100,000.”

Bartley shared her thoughts on the differences between harness racing in the United States versus Australia.

“The style of racing can be quite tactical here for we race over a lot of half-mile tracks,” she said. “We tend to race over longer distance, and tactics and race styles are very different here

Rebecca Brewer

“Sports massage is something I’m very passionate about. Racehorses are pro athletes and need to be treated as such. I’m a firm believer in pre- and post-race massage therapies and stretching exercises.”

than those in the States. A lot of times, the tactic is that when you’re on top to back off the speed through the middle half and then sprint home, which can encourage other tactics like horses making a move three wide from the half and trying to catch the leader napping.

“The Wagga Wagga track we race at is a 1,000 [meter] track, which is one of two 1,000 [meter] tracks in our region. From where our stable is located there are seven different racetracks we can race at – all within 2 ½ hours apart – so we have quite a selection to choose from.”

Bartley is not only an accomplished horsewoman, but also a qualified equine sports massage therapist.

“Sports massage is something I’m very passionate about,” she said. “Racehorses are pro-athletes and need to be treated as such. I’m a firm believer in pre- and post-race massage therapies and stretching exercises.”

Presently, Bartley breeds several horses each year and has recently added to her family a Captain Crunch filly she purchased at a sale.

“We have had quite a few Sweet Lou’s come through our stable and loved them all for they have been nice, honest horses,” she said. “We also have had a couple by Captaintreacherous.”

Trainers Down Under either breed or purchase standardbreds from the U.S. or go to one of the many horse sales that are available to them.

One sale is the NZB Standardbred’s National Yearling Sale that is held at Karaka and Canterbury Agricultural Park that offers many well-bred yearlings.

“Some of the ‘more popular’ horses at the sales are Art Major and Bettor’s Delight yearlings. Also offered are hopefuls by Captaintreacherous, Downbytheseaside, and Majestic Son.”

Note: Lately there’s been a lot of news about the successful women who have made their mark in the sport of horse racing.

Although women have always been instrumental in contributing to the progression and advancement of the sport, horse racing remains a largely male-dominated world. Women continue to break down barriers as successful drivers, trainers, breeders, caretakers and managers.

In the world of harness racing, Sandy Fisher, Jacqueline Ingrassia, Kerry Manning and Bea Farber are just some of the women who made a name as top drivers; and there are some very notable female trainers such as Casie Coleman, Linda Toscano and Nancy Takter to name just a few.

The female drivers may not have gotten the breaks, top horses and driving opportunities that the men get, but they deserve the same praise, honor and recognition as their male counterparts.

Thanks to HRU this column continues to be one place where they will always get their due.

Record handle at Cumberland as Davies sweeps Maine Trots

by Chris Tully for First Tracks Cumberland

Fans showed Maine harness racing some love on Friday (June 30) at First Tracks Cumberland with an all-time record handle of $265,000. In addition, trainer/driver Ivan Davies swept both $14,000-plus divisions of the Maine Sire Stakes for 3-year-olds, with both trotters being bred by the late Mike Andrew, sired by Boy Band and owned by Anita Anastosopolous.

The early $14,502 non-wagering event witnessed Davies cruising toward the front with his sophomore filly Wild Ending, while navigating several breakers to finally capture the lead past the :33.2 opening panel. With a snappy 1:03.4 half, Davies had put eight lengths between himself and the rest of the field. Last week's winner She'salilbitmouthy (Aaron Hall) caught the field at the 1:36.2 third panel, after an earlier miscue just past the start.

As the field turned for home Davies let out another notch and cruised to victory in 2:06.2, with a final quarter in :30 seconds flat. It was the first lifetime victory for Wild Ending who is also trained by Davies. She'salilbitmouthy finished second; Another Adventure (Kevin Switzer Jr.) was third.

A little over an hour later Davies came right back to capture the $14,641 Maine Sire Stakes 3-year-old colt and gelding trot with Wabanaki in 2:01.1.

As the wings folded all the boys behaved, putting six sophomore trotters into contention through the tight Cumberland first turn. Davies and Wabanaki (3-1) benefitted from pylon position and held sway through the bend and onto the backstretch. Stealin Money (Nick Graffam, 6-1) tracked closely in second, with Outlawofthevalley (Kevin Switzer Jr, 2-1) in third.

Davies and Wabanaki continued to call the shots at the 1:00.3 half, but when the leader hit the third panel in 1:30.4, Outlawofthevalley pulled first over to make a bid for the top. However, Davies had other ideas as he and the son of Boy Band used that cue to quicken the pace. When the pair hit the head of the stretch Wabanaki drifted out, but had sufficient distance on the field to score by 3-1/2 lengths at the wire.

Wabanak paid $8.20 to win for owner Anita Anastosopolous. Stealin Money finished second, Pembroke Traveler was third.

Reliable sources confirm that the $265,000 total handle for Friday's card at Cumberland was the largest handle wagered in the state of Maine in over four decades. The previous high was $191,000 set on Dec. 26, 2022.

Live harness racing continues at Cumberland throughout the spring and early summer months with regular racing on Friday and Saturday each weekend. First post is slated for 3:15 pm (EDT) during the extended pari-mutuel meeting, which runs through Aug. 5.

Sierra Girl reigns as sport's fastest freshman trotter after 1:55.2 PASS score

by Evan Pattak for The Meadows
Standardbred Owners Association

Sierra Girl sized the lead with a powerful, if unplanned, move before the half and rolled home in 1:55.2 in her career debut in Saturday's (July 1) Pennsylvania Sires Stake at Hollywood Casino. That makes her the sport's fastest freshman trotter this year regardless of gender or track size.

The $162,944 stake, known as the Meadow Gladys, was contested over four $41,000 divisions, with Slip Sliding Away, Loveyoubunches and Landaluci taking the other splits. Ake Svanstedt enjoyed a training/driving double with Sierra Girl and Slip Siding Away.

Sierra Girl was fourth into the clubhouse turn when, Svanstedt said, circumstances compelled him to move without cover.

"It was not my meaning to do it," he said. "But they pulled up so much she was going up on the wheel of the horse in front of me. I picked up the speed immediately."

The daughter of Bar Hopping—Chuckys Luckycharm responded nimbly to the improvisation, overtaking Little Town Road and striding out to defeat her by 2-3/4 lengths. Standin Over completed the ticket. Ake Svanstedt Inc. owns Sierra Girl with Young Guns, Joe Sbrocco and JAF racing.

Slip Sliding Away, also a first-time starter, let Jakarta Hanover do the heavy lifting on the front end, then kicked by in the lane to down her by a half-length in 1:57. Skyline Seashell was third.

Chris Gooden

Sierra Girl (Ake Svanstedt) winning her Pennsylvania Sires Stakes test for 2-year-old trotting fillies in 1:55.2 on Saturday at The Meadows.

"She showed a good attitude in her qualifiers," Svanstedt said. "She's a strong and nice-gaited horse, but attitude means a lot."

Svanstedt's experience with Slip Sliding Away so far is like a harness racing fairytale. First, he and Little E LLC bred Ice Attraction to Father Patrick to produce Slip Sliding Away. Then, they walked her through the sales ring, where she was purchased for $510,000 by Marvin Katz, Lynn Katz and Al Libfeld. Then, barely a few minutes later, the new owners turned the reins back to Svanstedt as the youngster's new trainer. You can't make this stuff up!

Loveyoubunches never had seen the Lightning Lane before, but when trainer/driver Todd Schadel pointed her in that direction, the daughter of Fordham Road—Lovebeinglucky responded willingly to stay perfect in two career starts. The first-over Diamante Hanover raced well for second, beaten 3/4 lengths, with early leader Better In Aruba third.

"This was her first time in the Lightning Lane, but she was good. She behaved herself and had a lot of go. We always wanted to keep her; she looked like she'd be a good filly," said Rick Beinhauer, who bred Loveyoubunches with Regina Beinhauer. The Beinhauers own the filly with Todd and Christine Schadel.

PENNSYLVANIA STALLION SERIES

Victorious in Saturday's Pennsylvania Stallion Series sub-feature were: Ginger Tree Ashann, Absolutely Hanover, Tequini Hanover and Bar Talk.

When Ginger Tree Ashann was passed by Pull The Shoes near the three-quarters, she appeared to be racing for place. But the daughter of Cantab Hall—Up Front Annika regrouped and defeated Pull The Shoes by 1-1/4 lengths in 1:59 for Aaron Merriman in her career debut. Cantab A Good Name earned show.

"She just needed company," said Sam Beegle, who trains the filly and owns with Ginger Tree Ventures, Knollview Stable 2 and Incognito Racing. "She didn't know what she was doing on the front. We bought her at Harrisburg. What did we give for her? Too much."

Dave Palone collected three wins on the 14-race card.

Prompted by a pair of carryovers, The Meadows and the United States Trotting Association Strategic Wagering Initiative will offer two pool guarantees when live racing resumes Wednesday (July 5): $20,000 in the Early Pentafecta (race 4), $7,500 in the Pick 5 (race 8). First post is 12:45 p.m.

It's Academic scores stakes record in Crawford Farms; Jiggy Jog S dominates in Six Pack

by Frank Coto, for The Meadowlands

It's Academic charged in the final quarter with David Miller in the bike to record a stakes-record mile of 1:50.2 in the $155,140 Crawford Farms open trot at The Meadowlands on Saturday (July 1).

Balenciaga and Ahundreddollarbill left the gate quickly while Ambassador Hanover and It's Academic took a good spot among them as the field straightened. Then, Brian Sears took 8-5 favorite Venerate to the top while passing the :27 first quarter.

It's Academic, the public's third choice, was sitting fourth as Venerate stepped quickly to take the field to a :55.1 half. Dave Miller tipped It's Academic out to campaign for the lead, driving towards Venerate as that one cut the three-quarters in 1:23.4. The pair duelled briefly down the stretch until It's Academic left Venerate 2-1/4 lengths behind to eclipse the stakes record of 1:50.4 set last year by Alrajah One IT.

"He's really easy to get along with," said Miller. "He's been a handy horse, easy, and he waits on me to ask him to go. I decided to take a tuck and I was just getting ready to make that move when Brian had Venerate beat me to it."

Miller said It's Academic is real sharp right now. "At the head of the lane," he said, "I felt confident—and I hadn't popped the plugs yet."

Ron Burke trains It's Academic, a 6-year-old Uncle Peter—Annapolis horse, for owner Bradley J. Grant. He has now earned $1,521,406 and paid $8.40 to win.

In the $112,500 Six Pack mares open trot, five mares worked hard trying to keep up with Jiggy Jog S but could not catch her as she crossed the wire to win by three-quarters of a length in 1:51.

Trainer/driver Ake Svanstedt was determined to command the mile, but allowed 25-1 Fashion Schooner to get the early lead briefly before sweeping from the second spot to take over after a :28.1 first quarter. Bella Bellini, the public's second choice at 7-2, followed in third. Warrawee Xenia broke around the first turn and was eliminated.

Jiggy Jog S strengthened her stride with Fashion Schooner in the catbird seat trotting the half in :56.4. Bella Bellini took the overland route going into the second turn to challenge Jiggy Jog S, still chasing at three-quarters in 1:25. Svanstedt held the reins tightly with little concern as the 4-year-old Walner—Hot Mess Hanover mare measured the finish line to hold Bella Bellini off easily. Fashion Schooner was third and Raised By Lindy was fourth.

Svanstedt said, "I didn't need to ask her. She did it by herself. She has taken one more step [forward] this year from last year. She's a very good horse."

Owner Jorgen Sparredal was nearly speechless about his mare's performance. "She was fantastic again," he said, "I don't know what to say anymore."

Jiggy Jog S scored her eighth win in a row and her third this season, raising her lifetime earnings to $1,257,889 for owner Jorgen Sparredal, Inc. She paid $2.40 to win.

Ruthless Hanover records 1:46.4 mile in inaugural Dave Brower Memorial; Silver Label upsets Grace Hill in Perfect Sting

by Ray Coto for the Meadowlands

Driver Tim Tetrick clung to relentless speed from Ruthless Hanover and clocked a 1:46.4 mile in the $158,140 Dave Brower Memorial Pace on Saturday night (July 1) at The Meadowlands.

Ruthless Hanover reached for the lead and stretched hard-leaving Tattoo Artist through a :25.2 first quarter to sit briefly in the pocket into the backstretch. Once Tattoo Artist crossed over, Tetrick circled Ruthless Hanover back to the lead and kept the Tom Cancelliere trainee firmly on the bit while uncorking explosive middle fractions of :52.4 and 1:19.4. Ruthless Hanover managed to open a sizable lead spinning for home – one too wide for 3-5 favorite Abuckabett Hanover to overcome – and stayed strong to finish 2-1/2 lengths to the good. Abuckabett Hanover settled for second with a gap back to Red Right Hand in third and Lochinvar Art A in fourth.

A 6-year-old gelded son of Somebeachsomewhere out of Rockaroundthetrack, Ruthless Hanover's mile matched the long-standing track record for an older pacing geldings set by Holborn Hanover back in 2006.

The time is also a fifth of a second off Ruthless Hanover's lifetime best he set on May 28 this year – a 1:46.3 mile which set a world record for older pacing geldings on a five-eighths track – as well as four-fifths of a second off the stakes record set by Bulldog Hanover before he became the fastest horse in harness racing history last year.

"He's tough, he's rugged and he likes to go fast. All of those feel really good in my book," Tetrick said after the race. "I wanted to try and get everybody tired. Hopefully I could get somebody that was first up to clog Andrew McCarthy's horse [Abuckabett Hanover] and it worked out for me. My horse raced great."

John Cancelliere owns Ruthless Hanover, a 21-time winner from 48 starts and an earner of $510,415. He paid $8.40 to win.

Silver Label (Scott Zeron) upset Grace Hill to win the the $142,260 Perfect Sting in 1:49.

The Dave Brower Memorial was formerly know as the “Roll With Joe.” Friends, family and colleagues of Dave Brower joined in the winner’s circle presentation to honor the long-time Meadowlands commentator who died suddenly last October at the age of 53.

Laura Brower, sister of Dave Brower, said, “I still get messages into my inbox on Facebook saying how much they miss him, that [harness racing] will never be the same. It’s just constant waterworks hearing the stories about him. And everybody loved him – and he loved everyone, too. This was his thing.”

After Dave Brower’s passing, The Meadowlands played host to a memorial ceremony prior to the night of Kindergarten Stakes finals on Nov. 12. Brower’s ashes were spread on the track.

Silver Label navigated through a sea of mares to take a first-over voyage to pay dirt in the $142,260 Perfect Sting Stakes for open pacing mares.

Treacherous Dragon landed on the point past a :26.1 first quarter to pocket Kobe’s Gigi before yielding command to 2-5 favorite Grace Hill, driven by Doug McNair, who then slowed the tempo towards a :54.3 half. As the speed settled, Silver Label, driven by Scott Zeron, made an uncovered blitz along the rim and drew to near-equal terms with Grace Hill, the reigning Breeders Crown champion, to three-quarters in 1:23.2.

“I’m a realist – second place [to Grace Hill] would’ve been awesome,” Zeron said. “But middle of the last turn, Doug was getting a little loose [in the] line and mine was only getting more on the bit.”

Silver Label kept chugging to the outside and slid clear of Grace Hill through the lane to win going away by 3-3/4 lengths in 1:49. Grace Hill held second from Test Of Faith in third, Racine Bell in fourth and Boudoir Hanover completed the Hi-5.

“Immediately going into the first turn, I knew Dougie’s only choice was to go to the front, and I wasn’t going to follow him to do that,” Zeron said. “We were able to get in for a few breaths and then [moved] right back out into the wind. It was a soft middle portion of the race that I was coming first up into, but she was still amazing.”

A 4-year-old mare by Bettor’s Delight–Hidden Gem, Silver Label has now bagged $843,977 from 31 starts with 17 of those races victories. Nick Gallucci conditions the Millar Farms homebred who, after a coming-out in the Ontario Sires Stakes Super Final last season, is aimed at more Grand Circuit contests down the road.

“We’ve staked her to pretty much every aged stake that there was for the mare. If she’s in good form, we’re going to try to make every one of them,” Gallucci said.

Off at 14-1, Silver Label paid $31 to win.

Magestic Seas, Jurassic Hattie, Spaaaanzano and Midwind Beach Boy tops in Next Generation

photos by Brad Conrad

Eldorado Scioto Downs featured four $150,000 Preferred Equine Next Generation stakes for 2-year-olds on Saturday (July 1). The winners were: Magestic Seas by a neck in the 2-year-old filly pace event, Jurassic Hattie in the 2-year-old filly trot test, Spaaaanzano in the 2-year-old colt trot race and Midwind Beach Boy in the 2-year-old colt pace division.

Jurassic Hattie (Brett Miller) won the $150,000 Preferred Equine Next Generation event for 2-year-old trotting fillies in 1:56.2. Jurassic Hattie (Volstead–High Gear Sahbra) is trained by Eric Nesselroad for owner/breeder Jerry Welch.

Spaaaanzano (Aaron Merriman) won the $150,000 Preferred Equine Next Generation event for 2-year-old trotting colts by a head over Tennessee Tom in 1:56.2. Spaaaanzano (Coraggioso–Grace N Charlie) is trained by Chris Beaver for owners Beaver, Spaaaartners, Bill Manes and Leo Fleming.

Midwind Beach Boy (4, Chris Page) won the $150,000 Preferred Equine Next Generation event for 2-year-old pacing colts in 1:52.4. Midwind Beach Boy (Downbytheseaside–American Major) is trained by Ron Burke for owners Burke Racing Stable LLC, Knox Service Inc., J&T Silva-Purnell & Libby and Ras Racing LLC.

Magestic Seas (Ronnie Wrenn Jr.) won the $150,000 Preferred Equine Next Generation event for 2-year-old pacing fillies by a neck over Seaside Diva in 1:53.2. Magestic Seas (Downbytheseaside–Magestic Blue Chip) is trained by Brian Brown for owners Country Club Acres Inc., Kirk Nichols and Scott Dillion.

Track record for Strong Poison in Nadia Lobell Stakes at Harrah's Hoosier Park

Strong Poison kicked off her 3-year-old season with a bang after an impressive score at Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing and Casino in the featured event of the evening, the $115,000 Nadia Lobell Stakes for 3-year-old pacing fillies, on Friday (June 30). With Ronnie Wrenn Jr. in the bike, Strong Poison converted a second-over trip into a 1:48 victory and established a new track record for sophomore pacing fillies, a stakes record and a new lifetime best in the process. The previous track and stakes record of 1:48.2 was established by Reflect With Me and Andrew McCarthy in 2020.

Leaving from post 3, Strong Poison was eased off the gate to find a spot along the rail in fifth while Sweet Amira and Peter Wrenn were the first to get a call through the opening quarter in :26. Southwind Bella and Brandon Bates benefitted from a pocket-trip while the heavy betting favorite McSeaside and Trace Tetrack were next in line third. The hot pace continued as Sweet Amira clicked off middle fractions of :53.2 and 1:21.1 and when the field turned for home McSeaside was on the attack from first-over with Strong Poison in tow. Sweet Amira was bracing for the cavalry charge behind her but wasn't going down without a fight. Just as Sweet Amira began to give way, Strong Poison was winding up and ready to strike.

Using a :26.3 closing kick, Strong Poison was able to wear down McSeaside and hold off a late surge from the pocket-sitting Southwind Bella to get the victory. McSeaside finished third. Sent off at odds of 5-1, Strong Poison returned $12.00 to her backers at the betting window.

"Ronnie [Burke] has done a great job getting her ready," said Wrenn. "I wasn't sure with it being her first start how strong she would be but it was good to land second over and she raced phenomenal."

"I had a game plan coming into the race, I knew I just wanted to move her late. It worked out with some hot fractions up front. I had to move her a littler earlier than I would have liked but she was running over the horses in front of us and was ready to go. She's a super talented filly who knows her work."

Trained by Ron Burke, Strong Poison notched the first win in her first start of 2023 after a 2-year-old campaign where she won five-of-14 starts and banked $424,359 on the season. The daughter of Always B Miki—Fiyonce is owned by Burke Racing Stable, J&T Silva, Knox Services, and Beasty. Strong Poison was bred by Steve Stewart and Charles and Julie Nash. With the victory, Strong Poison now sports a lifetime bankroll of $481,859.

With a post time of 7:00 pm, live racing at Hoosier Park will follow a Tuesday through Saturday schedule and be conducted through Dec. 9. Harrah's Hoosier Park 30th season of live harness racing will feature the richest open stakes schedule to date. Worth over a combined $12 million, the 160-day season will be the most lucrative stakes program in the track's history culminated by hosting the 40th edition of the Breeders Crown events in October. Harrah's Hoosier Park's premier pacing event, the $300,000 Dan Patch Stakes, is slated for Friday, Aug. 11 and the coveted Breeders Crown events will take place on Friday, Oct. 27 and Saturday, Oct. 28. Dan Gall to exit as president and CEO of Standardbred Canada

Standardbred Canada (SC) announced on Thursday (June 29) that Dan Gall will be leaving the association as president and CEO in early 2024.

Gall, president and CEO of Standardbred Canada since July 2016, is leaving to pursue other interests to allow for a better work-life balance, and to create an opportunity for others to lead the association.

"The hardest part is leaving the incredibly dedicated and passionate SC team that I have come to know and respect, along with the great people that I have been fortunate to meet and work with," said Gall. "For the past seven years, I have worked alongside some of the greats in this industry and I will truly miss my colleagues, and while there is still a lot of gas in the tank, I am hoping to pursue other interests that I can dedicate more time and energy to."

"During the past seven years, Standardbred Canada has strived to become an essential support to our members, stakeholders and industry, and there is no doubt in my mind that we have moved closer to achieving our overall vision by adopting our corporate values and working with the industry to improve the sport overall."

Gall, who took the position of president and CEO after having several senior leadership roles with Ontario Lottery and Gaming (OLG), including general manager of OLG Slots at Woodbine, went straight to work to re-establish partnerships by promoting accountability, integrity and transparency within the organization.

"As the late great Dr. Ted Clarke said to me, 'the Standardbred Canada badge was tarnished and in need of polishing,' which was the first thing I set out to do by visiting racetracks to see and hear from members across the country," said Gall.

Other highlights have included hosting the 2017 World Trotting Conference in Prince Edward Island, developing and designing five-year and annual strategic plans with a strong focus on data governance and stakeholder relations, creating a more robust online presence and experience for members that includes online entries and self-serve capabilities, launching the Membership Value Program (MVP), microchipping all standardbred racehorses in Canada, conducting a full governance review of the association, establishing the Rules of Racing committee with provincial regulators, restructuring the organization with a focus on operational excellence, authoring a post-pandemic "Return to Racing Blueprint" to assist getting the racing industry back on track, launching the online auction service Bid & Buy, overhauling SC bylaws, establishing a National Horse Association group while hosting Quarterly Provincial Horse Association meetings, negotiating member insurance enhancements, launching Direct Deposit in Ontario, overseeing a major office renovation, releasing the Quarterly Standardbred Racing Statistics Report Card, collaborating with the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society on Traceability and Identification and now getting ready to release the first ever National Economic Report Card on the horse racing sector.

"On behalf of the Standardbred Canada board of directors, I would like to thank Dan for his energy, leadership and vision to further enhance Standardbred Canada's role within the industry. His honesty, commitment and integrity are inspiring and aspiring for the board and staff," said Joanne Colville, chair of Standardbred Canada. "I was chair of the board when we first elected Dan as the president and CEO and having returned as chair it is refreshing but not surprising that Dan still maintains the same drive, desire and values that he brought to the association which will help ensure a smooth transition for a new president and CEO. And, we have Dan's commitment that he is available and will continue to work with the association and the board on potential future projects.

"Next steps for the board are to immediately begin work with Dan and the executive committee in the recruitment for the next Standardbred Canada president and CEO and to continue the journey of making the association an essential service to this industry."

One of the most important goals that Gall successfully achieved was bringing strong corporate governance to the association which included creating a vision statement, establishing corporate values, developing annual strategic plans, and launching a rewards and recognition program for employees.

"It has been the thrill of my lifetime that I have been able to see and learn firsthand from the hard-working individuals that we have within our organization," said Gall. "From our senior directors to our racing reps, the SC team gives their all to our members and to our sport and while change has always been difficult to navigate, I am forever indebted to the Standardbred Canada team, which has supported and assisted these changes over the past several years.

"I look forward to my next adventure and in the search for our next president and CEO. I hope that I can assist Standardbred Canada and the industry in moving forward into the future."

Jim Devaux notches 7,000th career win at Monticello

It's only fitting that Jim Devaux set a major career milestone at Monticello Raceway, where it all began for the 56-year-old in 1990. He's come a long way since his first year, where he had just three starts and earnings of only $496. On Wednesday (June 27) he won his 7000th race aboard Luvcrunchess, who scored a four-length wire-to-wire win in 1:58.3. It was the 10th win of the year for the Candace Brandstatter-trained mare.

Devaux has been no stranger to the winner's circle. His impressive body of work includes winning purses of $35,817,674. He's also a three-time leading dash winning driver at Monticello Raceway. Last season he was the leading dash winning driver at Saratoga Raceway and he is well on his way to securing another title at the Spa. Currently, Devaux is ranked 11th in the nation for dash winning drivers with 187 wins and purses totaling $1,647,437.

He splits his racing between Saratoga on the weekends and Monticello Raceway during the middle of the week. He hasn't trained since 2013, relying solely on catch driving. His most productive year was 2017, when he registered a career high of 544 wins and drove winners worth $3,005,547.

The horseman was born into a family with harness racing running through its veins. Born in Kingston, NY, he currently resides in Port Jervis. His father is in his late 70s and is still an active participant in the sport at Saratoga Raceway, as well as his brother, Ken, who races his stable at Monticello Raceway. Devaux cut his teeth training and driving at Monticello Raceway in the early 90s with a small stable, proving early on he had a talent and prowess for driving.

Extra! Extra! Newsroom wins at Big M

The bettors at The Meadowlands crushed Newsroom down to 1-2 in the wagering and the son of Always B Miki—Well Hello There delivered in the Friday night (June 30) feature, a $34,050 Tompkins-Geers division for 2-year-old colts and geldings on the pace.

“I think he has an opportunity to be special,” said winning trainer Joe Holloway. “He’s just a nice horse.”

Off a 1:53.4 baby-race win at Gaitway Farm, Newsroom had the public’s confidence in the field where every starter was making their first career appearance in a betting race, and Dave Miller drove him as if he were best by going directly to the top and carving out fractions of :29, :59 and 1:28.1.

Mirage Hanover, who sat a four-hole to the half, came alongside with a rush to challenge the leader around the far turn, but Newsroom shrugged that one aside during a final quarter of :25.4 to record a half-length win in 1:54. Mirage Hanover held second with Lou’s World third in the field of six.

“Dave said he’s kind of lazy on the front end,” said Holloway. “So, he tried to wake him up during the third quarter. Once he popped the plugs, Newsroom did the rest.”

Next week’s Kindergarten is next up for Newsroom, who returned $3.00 to win.

GETTING IN ‘GEER’: Before the betting card, Grab The Chance S scored in a $33,000 Tompkins-Geers (T-G) split for 2-year-old fillies on the trot. The daughter of Trixton—Opportunity went the mile in 1:56.4 for driver/trainer Ake Svanstedt.

In a $35,325 T-G division for 2-year-old colts and geldings on the trot, Stormcloudfashion (Walner—Cloud Nine Fashion) reported home first in 1:55.4 for trainer Jim Campbell and driver Todd McCarthy.

A LITTLE MORE: Drivers Dominik Miga (That’smytype, $31.80 to win) and Michael Whelan both recorded their first-ever wins at The Big M. Miga did it in a Meadowlands Amateur Driving Club event while Whelan scored in a conditioned race, guiding the Jeff Cullipher-trained Better Take It ($13.80) to a lifetime-best 1:48.3 effort. All-source handle topped $3 million for the 40th time in 52 race cards during 2023 after $3,192,296 was pushed through the windows on the 13-race program. Gabe Prewitt was the big winner on Night 9 of the track’s “Battle of The Meadowlands Masterminds” handicapping contest. He tabbed the $43.40 exacta in the fourth race and had a $200 ticket, which created a $4,340 score.

Alagna and Tetrick star in morning trials

Breakfast With The Babies, sponsored by Jules Siegel's Fashion Farms, got underway on the morning of Saturday (July 1) under near perfect conditions. Temperatures were in the low 70's under smoggy skies with virtually no wind.

Before the babies got underway, Voukefalas (Jordan Stratton) tuned up for next week's Meadowlands Pace eliminations by zooming around the oval in 1:50.4, :25.3 for the final quarter with remarkable ease in a qualifier. He is ready.

Tony Alagna had a big day at the races, winning four paces and one trot on the day while Tim Tetrick scored with four impressive filly trotters.

Alagna's top winner on the day was the Captaintreacherous filly Sundaykindoflove, who drew some "Wows" from the tiny legion of attendees still in attendance when she dragged Andy McCarthy around the oval in 1:53.4, home in :26.2 under restraint in race 14. She is a Riverview (Myron & Stephanie Bell) and trainer Alagna, as Alagna Racing and Visionary Breeders homebred.

Tetrick started early with the highest priced yearling sold at auction in 2022, Epoch. The costly filly flashed speed and talent this morning, trotting home in :27.1 while converting a pocket trip into a 1:58 win. Epoch was content to follow Green Fee (Yannick Gingras) through reasonable fractions then responded to a bit of coaxing from the driver to edge slowly by that rival to get up by a neck. The price was $725,000 at the Lexington Sale (LEX) for the eponymous Epoch Stable to halter the Chapter Seven filly. The Epoch Stable consists of breeders Ben Schmucker's Maumee River Stables, John & Martin Schmucker and includes Diamond Creek Racing. Marcus Melander is her trainer.

Tetrick and Melander came right back with Dreaming Of Sydney, a $200,000 (LEX) Walner filly. The trip was much like the previous race, following the leader then brushing by the leader to win in 2:03. AMG Stable, Kenneth Kjellgren, Heights Stable and Mantorp, LLC own the winner, bred by Kentuckiana Farms and Eddie Gran.

Tetrick and Lucas Wallin combined on a sharp looking Muscle Hill filly named Dolce Amara who impressed the crowd this morning with a :27.1 rally to win in 1:56.3 over Walla (Dexter Dunn). A Kjell Magne Anderson homebred, Dolce Amara seemed to get lower and longer as she accelerated when asked through the stretch.

Tap Dance (Tetrick and Wallin), a Greenshoe half-sister to Chapter Seven, was a 1:59.2 winner, trotting home determinedly with a :27.2 final quarter to track down Graceful Design (Andy McCarthy) near the wire. Louis Baudron owns Tap Dance as Follow Me Stable, he gave $110,000 in Lexington to buy her from Steve Jones.

Bohemian Hanover (Dunn) was a winner at first asking for trainer Chris Ryder. Dunn released a rival past the quarter and sat behind slow numbers before a stretch move that propelled the Walner filly to victory in 2:01.1, home in :28 seconds over Mimi (Wallin). Frederick Schwartz, Joe Sbrocco, Joe Barbera and Steve Wienick & John Fodera's In The Gym paid $160,000 for the Hanover bred in Lexington.

Last week's leading tandem of baby racers, Gingras and Nancy Takter combined for a winner when Magic Hill pounced out of the pocket and edged by the nimble Reggianito (Dave Miller) in a snappy 1:56.4, home in :27.2. A $100,000 (LEX) Muscle Hill colt bred by Mel Hartman and Herb Liverman, he is owned by John Fielding and Morrison Racing.

Trainer Tony Alagna had his first of the day when he sent out the Canadian import Twin B Showboat to a front stepping 1:59.4, home in :28 for Dunn this morning. The Tactical Landing gelding went along comfortably and sprinted away from his rivals when asked. Longfellow S was trotting well under careful Brian Sears handling in the stretch to nab second. The winner is a Twinbrook Limited homebred.

Scott Zeron directed Custom Fit to a nice 1:59.2 score over Implacable (Dunn) in wire-to-wire fashion in the ninth. The Muscle Hill colt, trained by Mark Harder for his interest along with Jean Dion's Racing Team Of America and Deena Frost was bred by Fred Hertrich and went through the Harrisburg sale for $42,000.

When the pacers began it was Captain Albano flying by four rivals through the stretch to win in 1:54.3 for Todd McCarthy. Sitting last throughout, the Captaintreacherous colt got rolling wide and paced a :26.2 last quarter on his own to sweep by the field. Noel Daley trains the winner for Patricia Stable, Lawrence Thomases, LA Express Stable & Sjoblom Racing who paid $150,000 for the colt at Harrisburg. Fred Hertrich is the breeder.

Alagna and Twin B teamed up again with the Sweet Lou homebred colt Twin B Loudacris (Dunn) who rallied from a few lengths back in the pocket to track down a gritty Bonesaw (Tetrick) through a :26.3 end to a mile in 1:53.2. One Point Six Racing, Inc is a partner on the colt.

First crop sire Bettor's Wish had a winner today in Alagna's homebred colt from his own Thatsoveryverynice, Better Is Nice (A. McCarthy). The lead changed between the winner and Gem Quality (Dunn) near the 1:01 half, then the third quarter was on idle before Better Is Nice fanned out and engaged Gem Quality and the pacing began. The pair eyeballed each right to the wire and it took a :25.4 final quarter for Better Is Nice to get the win. Seth Rosenfeld's Birman Woods Farm and Pryde Stable are Alagna's partners on the winner.

Alagna harnessed his last winner of the day, only because the 2-year-old races ended, when Watching You got clear on the inside of Reachingforthemoon to win in 1:53.3. The He's Watching filly is a Brittany Farms homebred.

USTA announces new Outrider instructional clinic slated for Aug. 31 to Sept. 2

The U.S. Trotting Association announced Thursday (June 29) that it will conduct its inaugural Outriding Clinic and education program from Thursday, Aug. 31, through Saturday, Sept. 2, in Ashville and Columbus, OH, to identify and train candidates who potentially could become outriders at USTA tracks across the country.

The clinic will consist of three days of intense classroom and on-track instruction to learn the basics of outriding. Thursday and Friday, the program will be held at trainer Virgil Morgan Jr.'s Winner's Circle Training Center in Ashville, and on Saturday at Eldorado Scioto Downs during morning hours for riders deemed capable. Riders will not participate in live racing.

"Outriders are critical to ensuring the safety of the horses and drivers when a mishap occurs," said USTA executive vice president/chief executive officer Mike Tanner. "There's a need for more of them in harness racing and our new program is a great opportunity for the USTA to assist in finding and training potential outriders for our tracks."

Veteran outriders, including the USTA's Wendy Ross, will be on hand to assist in teaching proper fundamentals, correct methods and important techniques that are critical skills to learn about outriding. In addition, the veteran outriders will also participate in a mentor program following the clinic for those candidates that choose to further pursue a career as an outrider.

Participants will also hear from judges, drivers, and the track starter. They will spend two nights at Eldorado Scioto Downs to get a behind-the-scenes look at how live racing is conducted.

Participants are required to bring their own horse, preferably with track experience, helmet and safety vest and are responsible for having their own transportation. There is no registration fee for the clinic.

All horses are required to have a current Coggins and health certificate.

Candidates must submit a riding resume and a video of their horse to wendy.ross@ustrotting.com no later than Friday (July 14). Riders and horses with track and/or extensive riding experience are preferred.

The selection of candidates and decisions regarding on-track participation are completely at the discretion of the USTA staff.

Horses will be stabled at Eldorado Scioto Downs for the three days and will ship to the training center (10 minutes away) for the on-track training.

A special room rate will be offered for the Hampton Inn and Suites adjacent to the track and meals will be provided.

Middleton injured in training accident

Ken Middleton, the long-time voice of Woodbine standardbred racing, has been hospitalized following a serious training accident.

Middleton, who trains his own stable in addition to the announcing role, was injured on Thursday morning (June 29), suffering cracks and breaks to multiple vertebrae. Middleton is currently at Hamilton General Hospital and is set to undergo surgery for the injuries this weekend.

Woodbine Entertainment and its racing community extends best wishes to Middleton for a full and safe recovery.
